Monopoly? No!

MONOPOLY is abhorrent to the minds of the American people and will not be tolerated by them.

Monopoly means arbitrary control; it means curtailing opportunities for the individual and such curtailment strikes at the root of American institutions.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is American to the core. It has no desire to achieve a monopoly, believing that, because of its carefully worked out plan of organization, [illegible] efficiency in every department and its carefully trained, hard-working, loyal body of employees, it has no need for arbitrary control to meet any competitive condition which may arise.

The detailed service, the insistence upon quality, and the consistently fair price at which its products are sold, insure the Company its fair share of the business in ten Middle Western States where it is organized for service.

No organization can acquire a monopoly in the oil business. The source of supply of raw material is too scattered and its value is too great for any one company to get an effective control. Without such control monopoly is impossible.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is the largest single factor in the oil business of the Middle West. Yet, the principal source of its crude oil supply is in the hands of others.

Its competitors have twice as many service stations as it has, and about an equal number of bulk stations, while their combined refining capacity is more than five times that of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

To indicate the futility of attempting to monopolize the oil industry it is only necessary to quote the following paragraphs from the New York Journal of Commerce:

During 1921 there were organized 936 new oil companies, with a total capitalization of $1,255,675,000 and

During 1922, 784 new oil companies were organized with a capitalization of $1,639,693,000.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is growing as the need for its products and service grows. It is ambitious, not to secure a monopoly of the oil business, but, to maintain a steady, healthy growth, by rendering the greatest service possible to thirty million people in the Middle West.

Penalties for Delaying Registration and Transfer of Cars more Severe

The new automobile registration law that becomes effective July 1 leaves the Registrar absolutely no discretion as to penalties, according to information received from Mike Holm, secretary of state.

Transfers must be made within three days. Registrations also must be made within three days after the car becomes subject to the tax. The penalty for delay in either case is 25 cents per day for twenty days and two dollars per month thereafter for not to exceed five months. This means a possible penalty of $15.00 for delayed registration with no power to waive either under any circumstances.

Emigration from Norway is still increasing. During the first five months of the present year more people left Norway than during the entire preceding year.

TEAMS SCORE THREE EACH IN LOCALS VS RED L. FALLS GAME

Eleven Inning Game Results in Tie; T. R. Nine Getting Into Condition

The Thief River Falls nine clashed with the Red Lake Falls team at the fair grounds here last Sunday, neither side being able to claim the victory, the interesting game of eleven innings ending with an even score of three each. Both teams did good work and a fair sized crowd witnessed this second game of the season. Spider Yost performed for the locals in his usual good style both on the mound and behind the bat and was ably supported by Herron as pitcher in the first part of the game and Dalton as catcher during the latter part. Klefenheim and Legee formed the battery for the visitors thruout the game.

Jonas, Brudle and Herron scored for the locals in the second, eighth and ninth innings, while E. Kelfenheim with two and Legee with one run, scored for Red Lake Falls in the third and sixth innings.

ENTIRE VILLAGE IS BURNED FOR SCENE IN MOTION PICTURE

Thrill Scenes in 'The Ninety and Nine' Prove Costly But Worth Price

Pleasing the public is not as easy a task as it appears upon the screen. Often a scene is very costly, yet no producer thinks of expense. In making "The Ninety and Nine," which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre on Sunday and Monday, Vitagraph gave Director Smith cart blanche so far as expense was concerned. He was to produce a picture that would stand out among the others of the year as something different, something big. The main thrill of the production is a forest fire which entirely envelops and burns up a good sized town. Thru the flames and smoke the hero drives a locomotive to rescue the people of the village. An entire village was burned for the sequences. This village was especially built for Vitagraph in a deserted place where danger of a big conflagration which could not be checked was remote, and then it was entirely destroyed by fire, the big thrill of the picture. Warner Baxter, the hero, did not escape danger. He drove a locomotive through a furnace of burning timber. The heat scorched his hair and at times it seemed as though he would be burned before he could get out of the swirling, seething mass of flame. But all this added to the realism, and when the picture was finished those who saw it declared that it was well worth the cost in trouble.

WILLIAM DE PARCQ BREAKS BACK WHEN THROWN FROM AUTO

Car Overturns When Wheel Breaks on Sandy Road Near Strathcona Saturday

William DeParcq sustained a broken back and a dislocated shoulder and Jim Thompson, Chesterfield salesman, a broken collar bone and shoulder blade Saturday afternoon when a Ford roadster driven by Mr. Thompson overturned two miles east of Strathcona when a stretch of sandy road was encountered.

The two young men were on their way to Warroad where Mr. Thompson intended to attend to business matters in the interests of the company which he represents and where they also intended to spend Sunday. When the car struck the sand the left front wheel snapped off and the car swung around in a position cross-wise to the road overturning and throwing Mr. DeParcq from the car. Mrs. Thompson remained in the car which righted itself, making a complete revolution.

Breaks Back

DeParcq was thrown thru the top and struck the ground a short distance from the car and it is thot that it was then when the vertebra of his spine where cracked and dislocated. His shoulder joint was also dislocated and a few minor bruises sustained. Thompson's collar bone was broken and his shoulder blade was cracked besides other minor injuries. He immediately came to the side of DeParcq, who was conscious, and who spoke to Thompson asking him if he could help him. Emile Johnson, firewarden, arrived at the scene of disaster about an hour later and according to the wishes of the two young men who were injured flagged the train which came shortly after Johnson's arrival. Word was wired from Middle River to W. H. DeParcq, William's father, and William was taken to the Physicians hospital by Dr. Froehlich and Williams parents.

Operation Performed

An examination was made by Dr. T. Bratrud of Warren who was called in consultation and arrived that evening and the operation on DeParcq's back performed by Dr. Froehlich assisted by Dr. Bratrud about 10. The two vertebra were dislocated and pressure brought on the spinal cord which caused the paralysis. The operation was a very intricate one, the pieces which were bearing on the spinal cord had to be removed and then the vertebra moved into their normal position.

Adjustments were made to Mr. Thompson's shoulder immediately and he is in a very good condition, except that his arm which is still in the sling will be some time in healing.

Condition Encouraging

William DeParcq's condition is encouraging at the present time. Wednesday he took nourishment which he retained. It is impossible to say how soon or how rapidly he will recover from the accident. He is displaying unusual recuperative powers.

Jim Thompson is to be credited for the manner in which he attended to his accompanying friend. He realized immediately that William was in a very bad condition and gave no thot to his own injuries. When the adjustments were made to his collar bone he insisted on the doctor paying all attention to William and did not know until the third day of the three cracks in his shoulder blade.

THIEF RIVER FALLS HOST TO SINGERS OF VALLEY FRIDAY-SUN

Noted Minneapolis Soloists To Assist Choruses At Annual Sangerfest Here

Concerts On Friday and Saturday Evenings By 200 Singers. Picnic On Sunday

Everything has now been arranged by the Brage chorus to entertain the biennial convention of the Red River Valley Scandinavian Singers association Friday, Saturday and Sunday this week. About two hundred singers, members of singing organizations thruout the valley, will be in the city for the occasion and will be heard in joint concerts at the city auditorium Friday and Saturday evenings. Large numbers of out-of-town visitors are looked for, many of whom will arrive this evening and others during the day tomorrow.

The choruses in session here will be assisted by the Bethany church orchestra of Grand Forks under the direction of Prof. Rognlie, which has been engaged to play in a number of the great classics to be given. There are also three soloists engaged for the occasion. John Nyborg, baritone, and H. S. Hauglum, tenor, both of whom are widely known soloists from Minneapolis, will render groups of solos and also take the solo parts in some of the choruses. They are artists in their work and according to press notices from the twin city and other papers have pleased the most critical audiences. Piano solos will be rendered at both concerts by Miss Doris Halvorson who in addition will also furnish the accompaniment for the chorus singing and soloists. Miss Halvorson's reputation as a pianist of ability has been established and her part in the event will add much to the success of the extensive concerts, the complete program for which has been arranged.

The numbers arranged for the concerts will be largely in the Scandinavian language but there will also be several selections in the American. Most of the solos are the latter.

The local Brage chorus which is in charge of the arrangements for the gathering, is under the able direction of Dr. P. L. Vistaunet and is said to be one of the best in the association. Much effort has ben put forth by its members in making the necessary plans and arrangements.

At 1 o'clock on Friday afternoon a grand parade thru the city will be staged by the singers, all of whom are to meet at the auditorium at that time.

The auditorium stage has been enlarged to accommodate the large number of participants in the program.

On Sunday the Sangerfest visitors are invited to attend the annual picnic festival given by the Sons of Norway lodge. Among the features of the program arranged for that day will be an address by Bj Bjornaraa, Knud Wefald of Hawley, congressman from this district, has also promised to appear.

ENTIRE COMMUNITY TO CELEBRATE JULY 4TH IN THIS CITY

Committees Named To Have Charge of Events and Many Details of Program Arranged

Planning Biggest Celebration in Years — Many Visitors Expected In City

Plans for the grand Fourth of July celebration in Thief River Falls are now well under way and those in charge give every assurance that those who visit this city on Independence Day will have a glorious time. Judging by the interest taken in the event thruout the city and vicinity Thief River Falls will entertain one of the largest crowds in its history.

At a special meeting of Elmer Eklund Post held at the clubrooms of the Legion last Wednesday evening, various members of the post and citizens were made to take charge of important committee work and these were privileged to name their own workers. Roy Lambert will have charge of the racing program and already has most of his entries booked. M. T. McFarland will have charge of the motor races, and Alvin Holzknecht has been placed at the head of a committee to arrange for the big dance that will be held during the afternoon and evening. T. F. McGinn will have the last word in all things pertaining to the grandstand at the fair grounds and the concessions, all of which will be under the management of the Legion. O. C. Paulson, commander of Elmer Eklund post, is the pilot of the whole thing and has named S. V. Arneson as his publicity manager and advertising man. This week three-color Fourth of July posters were distributed about the city and sent to towns up and down the line from Thief River Falls. Press notices have also been sent to newspapers published in the northern part of the state.

A big street parade will be staged, led by the Legion band under the direction of H. S. Snyder, and all merchants of the city have been invited to prepare floats for entrance in the pageant. A silver loving cup has this week been purchased by the Legion and will be awarded the local business house judged as having the prize-winning float in the parade. A competent committee will have charge of the judging of the entries. Service men will be in uniform and will take part in the parade.

A $500 display of fireworks will be a feature of the evening's entertainment at the fair grounds, admission to which will be absolutely free thruout the entire day. There will be a small charge made for entrance to the grandstand, but outside of this all admissions will be free. No one has as yet been chosen to take charge of the fireworks display, but it is expected

ANNUAL FESTIVAL OF SONS OF NORWAY WILL BE HELD NEXT SUNDAY

Public Invited to Picnic at J. Eide Grove; Visiting Singers To Partake in Program

"Sankt-hans" will be celebrated next Sunday, June 24, by the local Sons of Norway lodge with a picnic and festival at the Jorgen Eide grove north of the city on the banks of Thief River, near the golf grounds.

Not only members of the Sons and Daughters of Norway will enjoy the event but the general public has also been extended an invitation to take part. The out-of-town visitors who stay over from the Sangerfest Friday and Saturday are also given a cordial invitation as honor guests. About two hundred singers from points all over the Red River valley in Minnesota and North Dakota will be in the city this week, and most of them, it is expected, will wind up the convention with merrymaking at the festival Sunday.

A committee comprised of Bernhard Knudsen and J. S. Arneson has made arrangements for an entertaining program of addresses, music and minor sports for the enjoyment of the visitors. Several song numbers will be given by visiting singers and choruses. An address in the Norwegian language will be delivered by Bj. Bjornaraa of Winke, who has been secured as speaker of the day.

The picnic begins at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and people are requested to come early and enjoy the whole day. Those who remain thru the day should bring their picnic lunches, altho it is planned by the lodge to serve various refreshments at the grounds.

TOWN BOARD CHAIRMEN MEET IN CITY; DISCUSS WEED LAWS

Chairmen of Townboards Become Weed Inspectors Failing Action of Commissioners

All Land Owners Responsible For Cutting Weeds on Adjoining Roads. Changes in Law

Town Board Chairmen of Pennington and Marshal counties met yesterday in the court rooms with D. E. Willard, special state weed inspector, to get the noxious weed situation in hand and interpret the new weed laws.

Under the new law, approved and declared passed, April 18, the chairman of the each town board is official weed inspector of that township. The county commissioners may or may not attend to the cutting of noxious weeds along the road sides or enforce any of the weed laws as passed this spring, but, in the event that the county commissioner does not attend to the enforcement of the law the town board chairman must perform the duties of weed inspector.

The weed inspection is required to examine the roadsides of all roads in his township and all fields. Every person, owner or tenant, is required to cut all road sides adjoining his farm or other property. In the event that any noxious weeds are not cut by occupant of the property the weed inspector serves a notice on the occupant stating that if such weeds are not cut by a certain time, number of days to be decided by the weed inspector, depending on condition of weeds as to maturity, and if they are not cut or otherwise destroyed the weed inspector shall cut or hire cut the roadsides named and the work will be paid for by the town and charged to the taxes of the property. The town receives its money when the taxes are paid.

Where there are fields, which in the opinion of the weed inspector, contain a number of weeds that will do more damage to surrounding territory than the crop is worth, he must call a county commissioner, county agent, mayor of the municipality or any county officer and if he agrees that said field should be destroyed the weed inspector will serve a notice on the owner, or tenant, that the field be cut within a time specified by the inspector. If the owner of the field refuses the field will be cut and costs charged to the land in the form of taxes.

In the case of unoccupied land, where the owner is not a resident and there is no tenant, the weed inspector is required to post a notice in a conspicuous place on the property, the notice to require destruction, by whatever means, of the weeds before a certain date, that date to be determined by the next step of procedure which is; a notice must be published in one issue of a local paper and paid for at advertising rates. The weeds must be destroyed by seven days after the date on which the publication reaches the reading public. The notice posted on the property must bear this date. As a third and final step in the lawful procedure, the owner, if his address be known, must be mailed a copy of the notice. Then if the weeds, whether on the road side or in field, are not destroyed the weed inspector must have them destroyed, costs to be added to the tax bill.

The weed inspector, as remuneration for his time spent in making inspections and posting notices is allowed thirty-five cents per hour for time consumed and expenses which include 10 cents per mile for travel and meals, such expenses to be paid by the county.

These laws differ from last year's laws in many ways. They provide for reaching non-resident land-owners which is a very desirable feature. They make the careless or indifferent land owner, which is a menace to successful grain production, keep his land clean.

All threshing machines must be cleaned before moving from farm on which they have been employed. Machine owners are subject to arrest for not complying to this rule.

The chairman of the town boards of Pennington county are: Bray township, John Scholin; Black River, Ed. Morin; Cloverleaf, Thos. H. Smith; Deer Park, Frank Lundeen; Goodridge, Henry Lien; Hickory, Peter Erickson; Highlanding, Elo Sanders; Kratka, Christ Gimmestad; Mayfield, A. J. Stenes; Nordon, Charles Schnabel; North, Jorgen Eide; Numedal, Chas. Johnson; Polk Centre, Herman Harder; River Falls, W. P. Wilson; Reiner, Oleander Uglum; Rocksbury, Henry Pope; Sanders, Ole Larson; Silverton, H. P. Rued; Smiley, Lewis A. Nelson; Star, Oliver Tommerdahl; Goodridge Village, Nick Bundhund; St. Hilaire village, A. J. Hed; Thief River Falls city, John Bratrud.

A. B. Isaacson, H. P. Nabben, Geo. C. Breece, Ole J. Lunke, Willis Waring, O. G. Tharaldson, E. O. Wangedahl, Victor Strong, Casper Dale, Bernard A. Anderson, of, Marshal county were present at the meeting as it was considerably closer to this city for many of them, than their own county seat.

Tien Gulingsrud, Lester Roland, Kenneth Streeter and Lawrence Mulry returned Friday from Union Lake where they spent about a week camping. Union Lake makes an ideal place to camp as it provides a good beach and fish are plentiful.

FARM LOAN BLANKS BEING SENT OUT TO FARMERS OF COUNTY

County Auditor Anderson Distributes Supply of Blanks to Many Applicants

Provisions of New Rural Credits Act Given in Complete Summary. Rates 5%.

County Auditor T. P. Anderson announces that he has received a supply of application blanks for farm loans from the Minnesota Rural Credits Bureau of St. Paul and is now distributing them among the farmers of Pennington county. A number of applicants have called at the auditor's office in person while many made written inquiries which were filed and blanks sent to the respective parties upon their arrival from the state bureau.

The business is not administered in any way thru the auditor's office with the exception that those desiring to apply may secure the necessary blanks there. The blanks will be sent out by Auditor Anderson to anyone writing to him requesting them.

No actual loans have been made as yet, altho a large number of farmers in this vicinity intend to avail themselves of the new credit established by the recent legislature. No appraisals have been made so far but it is expected that the system will be in full operation within a short time. A letter accompany the blanks states that it is not known as yet just what the rate of interest will be, but it probably will not exceed 5¼ per cent per annum.

The fee which must accompany each application is fixed on the following basis: For amounts of $2,000 or less, $15; for all amounts over $2,000, $20. Remittance must be made by bank draft payable to the Minnesota Rural Credits Bureau.

The 1923 Minnesota Legislature passed the Rural Credits bill "for the purpose of fostering and encouraging agriculture, dairying and livestock raising in Minnesota and the development and improvement of farm lands."

The Rural Credit Bureau may issue bonds payable by the State of Minnesota, not to exceed $40,000,000, for the purpose of making farm loans.

Before a mortgage loan is made competent appraisers must appraise the value of the land offered as security.

Only first farm mortgages are accepted and only from actual occupiers of the land.

The loans are to be repaid on the amortization plan by means of semi-annual payments to cover interest and reduce the principal so as to terminate the loan within the period agreed upon which in no case is to exceed forty years.

After the mortgage has been in force five years, more than one installment of the debt may be paid upon any semi-annual payment date.

Provisions are made for the selling of such mortgaged lands and for liens for drainage payable in installments.

Loans may be made for the following purposes and no others:

1. To purchase equipment and livestock.
2. To provide for buildings and other improvements.
3. To liquidate existing indebtedness or subsequently incurred for purposes mentioned in this section.
4. For part payment of the purchase price of improved farm land, in this case the vender takes a second mortgage for the balance of the purchase price.

No such loan shall exceed 60 per cent of the value of the land plus 33 1-3 per cent of the appraised value of the improvements thereon. The value of the improvements shall not exceed 50 per cent of the value of the land, and in no case shall the value of the improvements exceed $8,000.

No loan shall be made to any person who is not at the time of loaning in good faith occupying and engaged in the cultivation and development of the farm land mortgaged. In case of death of mortgagor or the sale of his land the Rural Credit Bureau may permit the mortgage to be assumed by the heirs or purchaser. In case the mortgager vacates or ceases to occupy the land in good faith, unless with the written permission of the Rural Credit Bureau, the security is thereby impaired, the bureau may declare the whole loan due and payable. No loan shall be less than $500 or more than $15,000.

Other provisions of the law cover (1) carrying insurance, (2) default in payments, (3) taxes, (4) liens, (5) judgments, (6) assessments, (7) abstracts of titles, (8) recording papers, (9) foreclosures, and similar matters, to safeguard the security.

An amendment to the Act provides a larger loan to disabled soldiers than to others when the approved applicant can show to the satisfaction of the Rural Credit Bureau "that he is an honorably discharged veteran of the war with Germany, that he was a citizen of the State of Minnesota at the time of his enlistment or induction or at the time of the taking effect of this Act, that he served on active duty as a part of the military or naval forces of the United States at some period between April 6, 1917 and November 11, 1918, that he is recognized by the United States Veterans' Bureau as suffering from disabilities incurred in such service and that he is pursuing or has completed a course of vocational training in agriculture under direction of said Veterans' Bureau "the bureau is hereby authorized and empowered to loan to such applicant an amount not exceeding 66 2-3 per cent of the total appraisal value of the improvements on such farms without regard to the appraisal value of the farm provided that no such loan shall be made in excess of $3,000."

The offices of the Minnesota Rural Credit Bureau are located in St. Paul, Minnesota.

Forest Hill Cemetery Last Resting Place of Former Editor Of Times

Funeral services for Thos. J. Austad, former editor of The Times, whose death occurred last Wednesday, were conducted at the Elk's lodge rooms Friday evening. The services were under the auspices of the Elks and Masonic lodges with Rev. J. B. Smith delivering the funeral sermon.

Attorney H. O. Chommie gave a splendid talk in behalf of the brother Elks and a quartette composed of Miss Maud L. Johnson, Mrs. F. L. Christenson, Karl Sundahl and E. M. Bennes rendered several beautiful and appropriate selections. The floral offerings were many and beautiful, the Elks, Masons, Odd Fellows and the Typographical union all paying their last respects with impressive designs.

Following the services the remains were escorted to the Soo station by a long procession, consisting of the members of the Elks lodge, Masonic and I. O. O. F. escorts and the pallbearers, who were past exalted rulers of the Elks lodge. The pallbearers were H. W. Protzeller, G. Howard Smith, L. G. Larsen, A. Anderson, L. R. Johnston and F. H. Herrick.

The remains were accompanied to Duluth by G. W. Connell, exalted ruler of the Elks lodge and W. H. BonDurant, trustee. At Duluth services were conducted at the undertaking parlors by the Elks and Masons and also at the Norwegian Lutheran church, this being the same church in which Mr. Austad was confirmed a number of years ago. Interment was made in Forest Hill cemetery at Duluth.

Final Battle Will Be Between Preus, Johnson and Carley Next Month

The primary election held Monday for the purpose of making nominations for United States senator, brought out a very light vote. Gov. J. A. O. Preus was the winner for the Republican nomination, getting about 30,000 more votes than his nearest opponent, Judge Oscar Hallam. Magnus Johnson won out for the Farmer-Labor nomination with about 15,000 votes ahead of Dr. L. A. Fritsche of New Ulm. Senator James A. Carley had no difficulty in defeating his opponent for the Democratic nomination.

MANY RURAL PUPILS TAKE PART IN PLAY DAY HELD HERE SAT.

Large Number of Eighth Grade Graduates And Parents Hear Address By Geo. Selke

School Boards of County Hold Interesting Meeting To Discuss School Matters

The county Play Day, County graduation and school board officers meeting, combined, held here Saturday under the direction of O. R. Sande, county superintendent of schools, made one of the big days of the season. Hundreds of rural residents were in the city taking part in the various events. One hundred twenty-seven school officers were present.

The school students sports events began out at the fair grounds in the forenoon and were completed in the afternoon on Zeh street. Officers of the school boards of the county met in the city auditorium in the forenoon at 10:30. The first address was made by O. R. Sande and dealt with the need of eliminating waste in school operation. Maintaining the health of the children and keeping them in fit condition to learn and overcoming the great fault of negligence in sending the children to school while it is in session. He also outlined the importance of instilling aims in the minds of students. This may be accomplished to a great extent by play days and graduation exercises. He also stressed the importance of school board officers meets, which provide the only opportunity of their getting together and discussing the various problems which confronted the school board officer.

Geo. A. Selke took the floor and talked with the officers present, in common terms, about "What Makes a Good School," until noon. At 1:15 the meeting again opened and Mr. Selke answered questions asked by those present, and discussed various topics brought out by them.

At 2:30 the county graduation took place and the following program was carried out:

Invocation, Rev. T. E. Sweger.
Vocal Solo, Roy Pryts.
Address of Welcome, Mayor John Bratrud.
Presentation of Class to the State, Supt. O. R. Sande.
Address, Geo. A. Selke, Rural School Inspector, St. Paul.
Presentation of Diplomas, Supt. O. R. Sande.
Benediction, Rev. T. E. Sweger.

SCHOOL NURSE REVIEWS HEALTH WORK IN THIEF RIVER FALLS IN ANNUAL REPORT

Miss Ruth J. Johnson in Report to Board of Education Summarizes In Detail the Health Work Carried On In The Local Schools During Past Year.

The annual report of Miss Ruth J. Johnson, school nurse in the Thief River Falls schools, for the year 1922 and 1923 as presented to the board of education has been submitted to The Times for publication.

The report shows the physical condition of the children in the schools of the city and the various activities and health movements carried out thru the past term. It covers completely the field of work in which the school nurse is engaged and gives a very extensive summary of the number of inspections, home visits, physical defects, communicable diseases and a general survey of the health program of the city.

The children were weighed every six weeks by their teachers and the actual and normal weight recorded on the pupils' report cards. Our aim was to secure the child's interest in his health and to have him desirous of practising health habits as a means of attaining happiness and success.

No special program for health teaching was used this year in the schools although each teacher devoted a short time to "health" according to the need felt in her room. During the last two years, the "Health Crusade" was put on in all the rooms but there were so many objections made to it, that it was probably advisable not to have used it this year. The general complaint seemed to be the fear that it caused dishonesty in children. My own opinion in regard to this complaint is that this "Crusade" does not induce dishonesty but it brings out the fact that special training is needed along with the regular school work, in regard to moral facts, both in the school and in the home. I would like to know that next year the Crusade will be taken up with the proper attention that it deserves.

Milk was served in the schools to the children who desired to have it. The teachers urged the underweight children to buy it and the Creamery furnishing the milk, also provided milk free to those children who needed it and could not afford to buy it. The teacher always ordered milk to be served at school parties for the children.

In co-operation with Dr. J. Biederman, city health officer, diptheria, throat and nose cultures were taken of all the school children and teachers by Dr. H. W. Froehlich, Dr. Gahlon, and the nurses. As there proved to be a large number of children who were "carriers" of this disease, the situation was handled by Dr. Biederman and an isolation hospital provided for at the city auditorium. No deaths occurred from diphtheria although we had several serious cases.

The sale of the Christmas Seals was handled through the nurse in the schools and a report made out of the amount collected given to Supt. I. T. Simley, as the Pennington County Public Health Association had been discontinued. A draft for the entire amount, $160.67, was sent to the main office of the Minnesota Public Health Association at 300 Schubert building, St. Paul. An effort is being made to get a refund of the above amount; probably one-half, to be used locally for health promotion purposes. What has been discussed are, first, playground equipment; second, gymnasium equipment; third, couches for Knox, Washington and Lincoln buildings; fourth, emergency kits for the schools.

The children in many instances have not been properly seated, especially in the lower grades where it is so important. In some cases foot-stools were made for those children whose feet could not touch the floor, this may tend to lessen the fatigue caused from such a position, but it cannot lessen the tendency to cause certain spinal defects. A foot-stool will not aid the child to the proper extent when his seat is too small or too large. It seems to me, as a nurse, that the purchase of better and more seats for the children would be a logical school expenditure.

Fatigue questionnaires of the pupils in Miss Larson's room were made out and sent to the State Board of Health for study.

A Child Welfare Clinic was conducted here June 1 under the auspices of the State Board of Health and the Minnesota Public Health Association. The school nurse assisted in making plans with the local people for conducting this clinic.

My work in the schools of this city has been a pleasure and I wish to thank the ones who assisted me to carry out my health program.

An observer suggests that the fellow who penned "How To Be Happy, Though Poor" must have been a country editor.

AVERAGE FARM HAND WAGE IS $2.33 A DAY

Farm Bureau Leaders Expect Low Rate For Help During Harvest Season

Farmers of Minnesota are paying an average of $2.33 a day for ordinary help, according to the June Labor survey just completed by J. S. Jones, secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation.

Reports received by Mr. Jones from nearly all counties of the state show that farmers are offering $2.84 a day for help in the hay fields, $40.42 for hands working by the month and $48.10 for help during the harvest season, on a monthly basis.

The Northwest section of the state is offering the lowest wages for day labor and the highest for men working by the month. Average conditions prevail in the Southwest and Southeast sections.

Demand for farm help continues heavy, according to Mr. Jones. In a letter he mailed to County Agents last week, he said that the outlook for help this fall is somewhat brighter than it has been for some time, as reports from states to the south indicate that men are going to the harvest fields in unusually large numbers. However, the situation continues serious.

Efforts of J. F. Reed, president of the Federation and others, to obtain a low railroad rate for men coming to Minesota during the harvest season are expected to materialize within a short time. A meeting of Mr. Reed, Gov. Preus and Industrial Commissioner Williams with railroad officials was scheduled for June 11.

Rural Carriers to Picnic In Thief R. F. Sept. 3rd

The Red River Valley Rural Mail Carriers' association held its annual summer convention at Oslo Sunday, June 3, the only carrier from this county to attend, as far as The Times is aware of, being Earl De Veling. A fine program was given and officers were elected.

At this meeting it was decided to hold the annual picnic at Thief River Falls on September 3. The next annual meeting will be held in Red Lake Falls the first Sunday in June, 1924.

Before talking co-operation and pulling-together spirit in the state and nation why not establish it in the community.

IS RURAL CREDITS LAW A FARCE?

This is the question that is being asked by hundreds of farmers in this section of the state at this time and judging from the apparent lack of interest on the part of the members of the board appointed by Gov. Preus to put the Rural Credits law into operation, they have every reason to ask this question.

Last November the voters of the state, by an overwhelming majority, adopted the Rural Credits amendment to the constitution, making possible action by the legislature to provide funds for the state to loan to the farmers at a low rate of interest. The legislature, after playing football with the bill for the entire session, finally passed it during the last days. The bill authorized an administrative board of three members, one to be named from the attorney general's office and the other two to be appointed by the governor. It also provided for selling bonds of the state up to an amount of $40,000,000.00 and loaning this money to farmers at a low interest rate, with payment provisions extending over a period of thirty years.

The farmers were greatly enthused over the carrying of the amendment and later over the passage of the bill by the legislature. They took renewed interest in their farming operations and believed that at last they were about to secure relief from the burdens they had been carrying for years. It is now over sixty days since the legislature adjourned and apparently the farmers are no nearer relief than they were before the law was passed. The members of the Rural Credits board were duly appointed and they are now occupying offices in St. Paul and drawing their $4500 salaries but at this point activities seem to have ceased. They have been bombarded with requests for loan application blanks and the result was the receipt of about a dozen blanks in this entire county. County Auditor T. P. Anderson finally did receive a fair supply of the necessary documents. But the sending out of these blanks seems to have exhausted all of the energy of the board members, for, although a number of loan applications have been sent in, not even an acknowledgement of their receipt has been received.

The program of the board seems to be punctuated with DELAY all the way along and the farmers have at last become sick and disgusted. Their faith in the good intentions of the administration in their behalf has never been any too strong and now they are referring to the Rural Credits law as another "political farce" and "vote getting scheme." Can you blame them? Past due loans have been held in suspension with relief from the state anticipated and now the northwest is facing a period of mortgage foreclosures that will be staggering in its influence on farming operations.

PUREBREDS TO THE FRONT

Dairymen of today want better stock. This fact was clearly evidenced at the Red River Valley Guernsey sale here, attended by breeders thruout the valley, not only from Minnesota but also from North Dakota. Animals from the best herds in the section were consigned for the sale, a large number of which were sold to non-members of the Guernsey association. This means that others who are not at present Guernsey breeders are securing the foundation of a herd, or those who are already raising this variety are enlarging their number. Many of the fifty-six animals sold were purebreds while the remaining were exceptionally fine graded stock. Breeders are willing to pay the price, too, when it is a question of getting high-grade stock, because it pays in the long run.

For proof of the enthusiasm in this direction read the complete account of the sale last week, published in last week's issue of The Times.

PENNINGTON COUNTY GUERNSEY CENTER

Pennington county is recognized as the Guernsey center of the state, an achievement of which the Guernsey breeders of this community may feel justly proud. Not only is this county a center as far as the number of breeders and herds but it is also the home of the champion Guernsey butterfat producer in the state of Minnesota. She is Lady Bruce of Clovercrest owned by F. B. Conklin, prominent dairyman near Thief River Falls. The state champion is only three years old but has a record of 712 pounds of butterfat in one years according to official tests.

The best quality stock can also be boasted of by Pennington county, as animals from local herds on the average sell for higher prices than Guernseys anywhere in the state. Mr. Conklin purchased his champion cow for the sum of $240 at a dispersal sale in this city and was offered $1000 last fall. It is certain that the value of the animal now has increased several times the original purchase price, after she has proven to be a maximum producer.

Buyers from all parts of the state and other states come to Pennington county to purchase purebreds because they know that the breeders here have animals of the best quality. A good boost was given the dairymen of this community by the Twin City trade tourists who everywhere on their trip carried with them the message of Pennington's splendid herds of purebreds and the luxuriant meadows on which to feed. Much favorable comment was given in the twin city papers in the reports of the tour.

Much credit is due the Guernsey Breeders' association and its energetic and efficient set of officials who have been untiring in pushing this section to the front in the dairy world. In this connection the efficient secretary of the association, Leonard Houske, is especially deserving of recognition. He is an exceptionally able official and when it comes to looking after the many details incident to making the sales events of the organization a success he is a human dynamo.

MIDDLE RIVER MAN ELECTROCUTED WHEN HE REPLACES FUSE

Emil Hallquist, Proprietor of Rex Cafe, Instantly Killed By Electric Current

Putting in Fuse at Top of Post On High Tension Line When Accident Occurred

Middle River, Marshall county, was the scene of the second fatal accident within the past few weeks Thursday afternoon at about five o'clock when Emil Hallquist, proprietor of the Rex Cafe, aged about 33 years, was killed instantly when a high voltage electric current passed through his body as he was attempting to replace a defective fuse.

Information was received in this city thru Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Mogensen, Mrs. H. W. Froehlich and Mrs. L. G. Larsen, who motored thru Middle River shortly after the accident occurred.

On Wednesday Hallquist had replaced a fuse and when the lights went out Thursday afternoon he again climbed the pole outside his place of business to remedy the defect. He had been working hard and was wet with perspiration and it was thought that this was the reason for the induction of the current into his body. It was said that the electricity virtually leaped from the wires to his body, killing him instantly and knocking him to the ground. Hallquist was at the top of the pole when he was thrown down and some reports have it that death was caused by the fall, altho it has been reported from authentic sources that the high voltage of the high tension line from Crookston killed him instantly and that he was lifeless when he struck the ground. With him were S. Loveid and Bertil Sollom who witnessed the tragic end.

The accident victim was a married man and had two children at the ages of one and three years. The family formerly lived at Lancaster where Mr. Hallquist had extensive land interests, although he had resided at Middle River before his last stay in the village. He had been engaged in the confectionery and lunch business in the Rex Cafe since November last fall. He took over the place operated by C. L. Lehan of Crookston who purchased it three weeks previously from Thompson brothers who are now operating a cafe in this city. Funeral services were held at Lancaster where the burial took place.

Only four weeks ago Lloyd Ralston, another Middle River resident, was killed when an acetylene welding tank exploded causing fatal injuries.

BARRYMORE DEPICTS "SHERLOCK HOLMES"

Film Version of Conan Doyle's Great Detective Story at Lyceum Sunday-Monday

The universally-known Sherlock Holmes, created by the master Conan Doyle, will be seen depicted on the screen when the film version of novel is shown at the Lyceum theatre next Sunday and Monday.

There are several reasons why the screen production of "Sherlock Holmes" differs from most motion picture plays. In the first place it bears the name of that imposing star, John Barrymore, who, unfortunately is too seldom seen on the screen. In addition to this leading dramatic actor, who plays the title role, others in the cast include such names as Roland Young, who plays the part of Watson. The villainous Moriarty is played by Gustave von Seyffertitz, formerly stage director of Charles Frohman and a character actor for many years. Louis Wolheim, who is now creating a sensation on the stage by his portrayal of the rough-neck stoker in "The Hairy Ape," is another member of the cast.

In order to get the proper atmosphere the producer did not attempt to manufacture stage backgrounds, but instead, transported the entire company to England and later to Switzerland. Scenes were taken in the old sections of London, Baker street, the house to which the world has beaten a track; Limehouse and St. John's College, Cambridge. In Switzerland the company had to go to a little mountain town in order to get the proper locations. Then the company returned to this country in order to complete the production and have it authentic, true and wholly artistic.

In "Sherlock Holmes" John Barrymore has succeeded splendidly in his interpretation of the leading role. He has made himself look a great deal like the Holmes pictured in fiction, and has thoroughly humanized the detective while retaining the characteristics Conan Doyle accorded him.

Pure-Breds and Prosperity

There is more to the question of pure-bred stock than a matter of pedigree, registry and conformation to type. Successful dairymen will testify that the superiority of the pure-bred over the scrub also shows in the milk pail, and in the cream check.

In prosperous farming communities, herds are headed by pure-bred sires, not because prosperous farmers can afford the luxury of pure-breds, but because the pure-breds have made the farmers prosperous.

The Citizens State Bank stands ready to co-operate at all times with the man who wishes to grade up his herd with pure-breds.

Looking Ahead

IN ATTEMPTING to vision the demands for its products, which the next ten years may develop, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), taking counsel of its long experience, is preparing to care for an enormously increased business when it develops.

In the decade just past the demand for gasoline has increased far beyond the dream of the most imaginative, as viewed from 1913.

In that year there were 1,287,000 automotive vehicles registered in continental United States.

Today there are more than ten times as many, yet, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is able to supply the demand for its service now more promptly and with greater efficiency than was possible ten years ago.

The Company has been able to keep up with this great, constantly increasing demand because it always is working with a keen eye to the future and preparing, so far as possible, for the extreme demand which may be developed.

During the past ten years the Company has found it necessary to expand its manufacturing facilities to an extraordinary degree; to create and develop processes which would recover a greater amount of gasoline from a given quantity of crude, without in any way sacrificing quality—to expand and perfect a network of distributing outlets which would operate with machine-like precision—bulk storage depots, service stations, delivery trucks and tank wagons.

Not even the remotest spot in the ten Middle Western states is without Standard Oil service.

All of these things have been done. They have been accomplished without any blare of trumpets—just as a part of the day's work.

It is the ambition of the 27,000 men and women who make up the personnel of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to conduct every department of the Company's activities so that you, as an American citizen, will point with pride to the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) as a leader in a highly specialized branch of an essential industry.

GROWERS WARNED OF SALES ON CONTRACT

Unlicensed Potato Buyers Never Return, If Prices Go Below Agreed Price

Potato growers of Minnesota are warned against contracting their 1923 crop to unknown, unlicensed and irresponsible persons in a statement issued this week by N. J. Holmberg, Commissioner of Agriculture.

In years past, it has been a general practice for persons operating with little or no capital to go into the potato growing sections of the state about this time of the year and obtain contracts for potatoes at a given price, usually somewhat above the market at the time. If, at delivery time, the market is above the agreed price, the fellow with the contract is on the ground to demand delivery but if the market drops, the producer is left to sell his crop as best he may.

Mr. Holmberg's statement explicitly states that the warning had no bearing on contracts between farmers agreeing to sell co-operatively through their own agencies. The new Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange is offering a contract which has the indorsement of the state Department of Agriculture.

Farmers are asked to bear in mind that dealers are required by law to obtain a license and put up a bond. Anyone without such a license is operating illegally and should be reported to proper officials. If persons offering contracts can show a license, the producer has the assurance that the license is backed by a bond which will assure fulfillment of such terms as the grower is able to obtain.

Touring In Ford Bungalow

The means of travel by tourists in this day and age are many and varied. The Bemidji Sentinel relates the following:

Gilbert Benson and son Orrin of Malcolm, a town in the northwest part of Beltrami county, were in Bemidji this week on their way to Duluth, St. Paul and points in South Dakota. They had built a special body for their Ford automobile which had sleeping and dining accommodations, in fact it was a home on wheels. Various signs and scenic views adorned the body of the car. They expect to be traveling for several weeks.

A woman in Maine shot another woman's husband. No fair to outside the family for exercise.

FARMERS, ATTENTION!

I had intended to sell my pure bred Percheron stallion, but have decided to keep him another year. This will give the farmers a chance to save five or ten dollars by bringing your mares to town and have them bred to a pure bred stallion that is well known. He has been on the same route for three years and has a good record. His name is Luverne No. 78979. Charges are $10 for a live colt. See

GROWERS WARNED OF SALES ON CONTRACT

Unlicensed Potato Buyers Never Return, If Prices Go Below Agreed Price

Potato growers of Minnesota are warned against contracting their 1923 crop to unknown, unlicensed and irresponsible persons in a statement issued this week by N. J. Holmberg, Commissioner of Agriculture.

In years past, it has been a general practice for persons operating with little or no capital to go into the potato growing sections of the state about this time of the year and obtain contracts for potatoes at a given price, usually somewhat above the market at the time. If, at delivery time, the market is above the agreed price, the fellow with the contract is on the ground to demand delivery but if the market drops, the producer is left to sell his crop as best he may.

Mr. Holmberg's statement explicitly states that the warning had no bearing on contracts between farmers agreeing to sell co-operatively through their own agencies. The new Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange is offering a contract which has the indorsement of the state Department of Agriculture.

Farmers are asked to bear in mind that dealers are required by law to obtain a license and put up a bond. Anyone without such a license is operating illegally and should be reported to proper officials. If persons offering contracts can show a license, the producer has the assurance that the license is backed by a bond which will assure fulfillment of such terms as the grower is able to obtain.

Touring In Ford Bungalow

The means of travel by tourists in this day and age are many and varied. The Bemidji Sentinel relates the following:

Gilbert Benson and son Orrin of Malcolm, a town in the northwest part of Beltrami county, were in Bemidji this week on their way to Duluth, St. Paul and points in South Dakota. They had built a special body for their Ford automobile which had sleeping and dining accommodations, in fact it was a home on wheels. Various signs and scenic views adorned the body of the car. They expect to be traveling for several weeks.

A woman in Maine shot another woman's husband. No fair to outside the family for exercise.

FARMERS, ATTENTION!

I had intended to sell my pure bred Percheron stallion, but have decided to keep him another year. This will give the farmers a chance to save five or ten dollars by bringing your mares to town and have them bred to a pure bred stallion that is well known. He has been on the same route for three years and has a good record. His name is Luverne No. 78979. Charges are $10 for a live colt. See

Middle River Store Robber Now In Pen

Henry A. Brown, who burglarized the Carlson brothers store at Middle River a short time ago, is now in safe keeping in the Minnesota penitentiary having been taken there recently by the Marshall county sheriff.

In the case of this young man justice moved swiftly when he came to Marshall county to commit crime, only twelve days having elapsed from the time the store was robbed until the prison gates were opened to receive the burglar. Sheriff Hanson traced Brown to the Hoffman farm near Steiner, where he was captured. The young man, the only 23 years of age, has a criminal record linked with nearly every state in the union and is a desperate character. Being caught unaware by the sheriff while washing his auto in the Hoffman yard he had no time to reach for his gun only about six feet away. In the jail he knocked a piece of iron from his bed evidently intending to use it in making his escape. The penalty in his case is from one to ten years in the penitentiary.

FORMER T.R.F. BOY IS CRUSHED UNDER WHEELS OF TROLLEY

Walter, 24 Year Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kratka, Former Resident, Dies from Injuries

Lost Footing While Getting Into Car at Santa Monia, Cal. Body Badly Mangled

Those who remember the W. A. Kratka family, residents of Thief River Falls until about eighteen years ago when they moved to Pasadena, California, will be saddened to hear of the accidental death of Walter, the 24 years old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kratka. W. A. Kratka, a brother of the former mayor of Thief River Falls, F. H. Kratka, lived during his stay in this city on the corner of St. Paul avenue and Mussey street. Walter, the victim of a train accident on the Pacific coast, was about six years of age at the time the family moved west. The following account of the tragic death of the young man was given in the Los Angeles Examiner June 11, a clipping of which was submitted to The Times:

Mangled beneath the wheels of a Pacific Electric train at Santa Monica at Sunday at noon, Walter Kratka, 24 years old, 700 Sacramento street, died from loss of blood and shock at Martin's sanatorium Sunday, June 10, in the evening.

With his right leg torn off, his left leg broken in two places and suffering from a scalp cut across the back of his head, Kratka was conscious during the three-quarters of an hour that frantic efforts were being made to extricate him from under the trucks of the rear car of a three car train. He retained consciousness until he was placed on an operating table for the administration of an anaesthetic and rallied after he was operated upon.

Kratka had been waiting 45 minutes for a car from the beach city to return to his home here. At 12:30 o'clock he ran for the last car of a three car Venice Shortline train approaching Ocean avenue and Colorado street. In the crush of other intending passengers he lost his footing and fell beneath the rear wheels.

Miss Alice Kratka, sister of the accident victim is a trained nurse. She reached her brother's bedside three-quarters of an hour after being notified of the accident to him. Dr. F. C. E. Mattison of this city, also rushed to the beach city to assist in the battle to save Kratka's life.

The loss of blood was the serious aspect of the case and members of the Kratka family had arranged for a blood transfusion when word was received that the yong man had rallied and that the transfusion would be postponed until the next day.

He lived about six hours after the accident occurred.

Walter Kratka was 24 years of age at the time of his death and had been a resident with members of his family in Altadena for the past 18 years, having moved here from Thief River Falls, Minn. He was born in Lansing, Iowa, on October 21, 1898. His father, Capt. William A. Kratka, was noted as the owner and pilot of Mississippi and Missouri river steamships. His mother, Mrs. Sophie Kratka, and three brothers, George, William and Charles Kratka, and three sisters, Mrs. Frank Starr and the Misses Alice and Florence Kratka, survive him.

CONSTRUCTION WORK ON STATE HIGHWAY 32 STARTED JUNE 12TH

Work On Highway Near Red Lake Falls Now On—Right-of-way Being Secured

Construction work on Trunk Highway No. 32, near Red Lake Falls, by the contractors Relerson & Nohre of Thief River Falls, was commenced last week. The road equipment arrived in Red Lake Fall Saturday afternoon and the workmen proceeded north of the city and established their road camps. The first ground was broken along the east side of the Lehnkuhl farm in Section 12-151-44.

The new road will run from the Nimsgren corner on the North side and continue east along Ninth St., past the Adam Zins property, and after crossing the Red Lake River turns north thru the center of Section 13-151-44 and 12-155-44 until it strikes the G. N. right ofway, thence continuing north 2 miles cutting diagonally northeast to the south quarter corner of Section 30-152-43 where it joins the present trunk highway and runs north 1 mile to the county line.

With the completion of this road the entire system of Trunk Highways in Red Lake county will have been completed.

The Minneapolis Bridge Company has the contract for the new steel bridge across the river. The bridge will be of steel construction with 171 foot main span and two 60 foot approach spans.

The completion of highway No. 32 will also be started in Pennington county within a short time, the highway reimbursement funds of $90,000 having been sold and men already engaged in securing the right-of-way concessions and surveying the proposed road. As soon as all the concessions have been secured and the state department has let the contracts the work will be begun. The state highway department will have supervision over the construction of the project, which it is expected will be finished this fall, at least as far as to the city limits. The bids for construction will be let by the highway department at St. Paul, thus putting it before a larger number of contractors making it possible to get it done at as low a cost as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ellingson returned Monday from Warren where they spent a week visiting with their daughter Selma.

Odd Fellow Convention Attended By Many

The parade and initiation exercises were especially very impressive. Among the prominent speakers who addressed the gathering were Governor J. A. O. Preus.

The new officers of the Grand Lodge are H. A. Levin, International Falls, grand master; O. L. Turner, Owatonna, deputy grand master; E. H. Ludvigson, Jackson, grand warden; A. L. Bolton, St. Paul, grand secretary and C. M. Sprague, Sauk Center, grand treasurer. The 1924 meeting was awarded to St. Paul over Duluth.

The delegates from the Thief River Falls lodges were N. J. Anderson, Young Pine surodinate lodge, No. 221; E. P. Burstad, Riverside Encampment, No. 22; Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Lyon Rebekah lodge, No. 69. Others who attended were Ed. Iverson, Haakon Grindahl, Geo. Swanson, Erling Dahl and Fred Dahlow.

FIREMEN OF MINNESOTA HELD 1923 CONVENTION IN BEMIDJI LAST WEEK

Local Firemen Take Part In Educational Meetings. 150 Departments Represented

Delegates from the Thief River Falls fire department who attended the fifty-first annual convention of the Minnesota Fire Department association at Bemidji Tuesday and Wednesday of last week have returned and speak of the event as being the best ever enjoyed by the organization. Bemidji people were royal entertainers and nothing was spared in making the stay of delegates and firemen from all parts of the state. Over 800 accredited delegates were in attendance at the regular sessions and a large number also remained for the fire college of instruction in fire fighting which was conducted by veterans and experts in the work Thursday, Friday and Saturday. More than 150 departments were represented and over 1500 persons visited the city during the convention.

The regular delegates representing the local department were Chief Paul Midderigh, Ed. Aga and Geo. Currin, while other members who attended were Wm. Warner and Morris La Salle. Aga, Warner and La Salle remained in Bemidji until Saturday evening receiving instruction in fire drill while the others returned Wednesday evening.

New Ulm was given 1926 convention over Thief River Falls while next year the firemen will be entertained at Mankato and the following year at Crosby.

At the election Chief Ben E. Bangerter of Mankato, was honored with the presidency of the group. C. S. Dalley of Bemidji was the retiring president. Chief W. A. Guth, Crosby, became first vice president and Assistant Chief Fred Pfaender of New Ulm, second vice president. Chief Jno. A. Gross of Red Wing, and Frank Hanson, Rush City, were reelected secretary and treasurer, respectively. Wallie H. Anderson of Mankato, is the new statistician.

Governor J. A. O. Preus pointed out in his address the distressing condition of the northwest farmer. Economy in government expenditures was one of the remedies suggested by the executive. He also advocated the passage of measures looking to the building of the St. Lawrence waterway, pointing out the great saving in freight costs that would thereby accrue to the people in the state of the northwest. Cooperative marketing of farm products as a solution of problems confronting agriculturists was also suggested.

During the three days of educational meetings demonstrations of various means and ways of fire fighting and prevention were conducted by nationally known experts. This is one of the most important features of the annual gathering, as it gives the firemen an opportunity to see the latest and best in protecting the public from the ravages of fires.

PREUS SAYS FARMER MUST SELL PRODUCT DIRECT TO PEOPLE

Elimination of "Middleman" Only Solution of Agricultural Difficulties.

Urges All Municipalities to Hold Down Expenditures And Reduce Tax Burden.

Gov. J. A. O. Preus, speaking at the Auditorium in Thief River Falls Tuesday evening, gave it as his opinion that the only method by which farming can be put on a sound financial basis is through the elimination of the "middleman" in the sale of grain and other farm products. He strongly endorsed the present trend toward cooperative marketing in the sale of everything that the farmer produces and said, "There is no reason on earth why the farmer should not take his products direct from the farm to the 'bellies' of the American people."

He talked at length on the great possibilities of co-operative marketing and cited numerous instances of the success that has attended the efforts that have been made along this line thus far by the fruit, cotton and tobacco growers. He said that he has favored this plan for several years and that A. C. Townley, former head of the Non-Partisan League, is now advocating and working for the same things.

During his address he devoted considerable time to a discussion of the heavy tax burden that the people throughout the country are carrying and strongly recommended retrenchment in the matter of public improvements all along the line until some of the present indebtedness has been eliminated and the receipts at least catch up with the expenditures.

Among other things he spoke briefly on the rural credits law and said a number of difficulties that had delayed putting the law in operation have now been cleared away and that the farmers will soon be receiving benefits through the operation of the law.

In closing he pledged himself, if elected to succeed the late Knute Nelson in the United States senate, to devote all of his energies to bettering the condition of the farmers of the northwest.

The governor arrived here about 7:30 by automobile from Greenbush, where he addressed a gathering that afternoon. He was tendered a banquet at the Evelyn hotel by a number of the citizens and then went direct to the Auditorium where he was greeted by a large audience. He was introduced by F. F. Haynes, chairman of the Republican committee of Pennington county.

SINGERS OF VALLEY CHOSE THIEF RIVER FALLS MAN AS HEAD

G. Halvorson Elected President at Convention of R. R. V. Scandinavian Singers

Choruses, Assisted by Minneapolis Soloists, Local Pianist and Orchestra in Concerts

About ninety singers of the northwest took part in the Sangerfest conducted here by the Red River Valley Scandinavian Singers association which convened in this city Friday and Saturday under the auspices of the Brage chorus of Thief River Falls. Delegates from various towns and communities of the section thoroughly enjoyed the splendid concerts and other activities during the convention, and the attending members of the organization were unanimous in their praise of the treatment afforded by the local singers.

G. Halvorson of Thief River Falls, active in the promotion of the association, was honored by being selected as president for the ensuing two years at the business session held Saturday. Other officers chosen were: Gunder Running, Grand Forks, vice president; Nels Skiple, Grand Forks, secretary; H. P. Halvorson, Fargo, treasurer; T. A. Berg, Grand Forks, Marshall; Knut Johnson, Grand Forks, A. O. Jelle, Devils Lake, and A. J. Wright, Moorhead, trustees. Prof. W. P. Rognlie of Grand Forks, untiring in his efforts to bring the corus work to the highest point of perfection, was again chosen director in chief with Dr. P. L. Vistaunet of this city as assistant. It was decided to hold the next convention at Grand Forks in 1925.

Musical treats were given the people of this city at the two concerts Friday and Saturday evenings, at which exceptionally fine rendition of music predominated. The chorus was well balanced and under the magic leadership of Director Rognlie produced a wonderful effect in such selections as Norröna-kvadet and Landkjending which were well received. Attendance the first evening was disappointing but the crowd nearly filling the auditorium the following evening gave much encouragement to the singers.

YOUNG MAN PLEADS GUILTY TO FORGING CHECK CASHED HERE

Carl Hahner, 22, Admits Forgery of $30.—A. Rasmusson Guilty in Liquor Charge

Oscar Anderson, Rocksbury Farmer, Pleads Guilty of Violating Prohibition Laws.

The June term of district court convened in this city Tuesday with Judge Andrew Grindeland presiding. No trials were conducted the first day, the time being taken up by arraignment of several bound over from municipal court.

Richard Prestebak of this city, who was charged with driving an automobile without proper lights and fined $25 in municipal court from which decision he appealed to the district court, withdrew his appeal Tuesday morning and paid his fine of $25 and $10.56 additional costs.

A verdict of guilty was returned by the jury yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the case of Alfred Rasmusson, who was arrested January 30 on the charge of having intoxicating liquors on his premises for sale. Rasmusson was alleged to be the possessor of liquor found in the garage adjoining the Jefferson Cafe, of which he is proprietor and the case was tried in the February term but the jury disagreed making it necessary to continue it. The jury yesterday was out one hour before they returned the verdict of guilty. The judge has not yet pronounced the sentence, as none will be given before the end of the term.

The following were arraigned before the judge Tuesday and their trials set: E. J. Gilmot, grand larceny, pleaded not guilty; C. B. Bradley, Conrad Vinje, John Wyss and Oscar Anderson, having liquor in possession, pleaded not guilty; Fred Brendecke, James Farr and son Glenn Farr, selling intoxicating liquor, pleaded not guilty; Nick Baker, manufacturing intoxicating liquor, pleaded not guilty; Fred DuChamp, selling mortgaged property, continued until February term by consent; Frank McGinty, selling intoxicating liquor, also continued until next term of court by consent. Axel Anderson, facing gambling charge, was not present and bond declared forfeited. He is expected today. James and Glenn Farr, operating a soft drink place on the corner of La Bree and First street, and Frank McGinty were arrested and brought before Municipal Judge Tarrant Saturday each charged with having sold illicit liquor to one Frank Stroup, a detective employed by the authorities. All theree were bound over to the district court.

Oscar Anderson of Rocksbury township, on Wednesday pleaded guilty to the charge of having in his possession intoxicating liquors, having been pursued and arrested by Sheriff Ihle who found "moon" in his car a short time ago. Sentence has not been given yet.

Carl Hahner, a young farmer residing near the city, pleaded guilty to having forged a check in the amount of $30, forgery in second degree. Young Hahner, who is 22 years of age, on May 25 made out a check payable to Max Rux, forging the signature of Hans Anton and also the endorsement of Max Rux cashing it at Chas. Leiberman's clothing store where he purchased merchandise to the amount of $28.60. The forgery was soon discovered but the young man was not apprehended until Saturday when he was seen on a street corner by Leiberman who ordered him arrested by Chief Berge. He was at once arraigned into municipal court where he waived preliminary examination and was bound over under a $1000 bond.

It was discovered by Leiberman that the $30 check was made out in the same handwriting as one amounting to $15 which he had held for a period of two years, having been unable to locate the person who forged it. The father of the young man paid the sums of both checks and $2.50 interest on the latter. He stated that there was seemingly no reason for his son to do such a thing as write a false check as he always had sufficient funds at his disposal. The judge will pronounce the sentence at the end of the term.

A jury was easily selected last evening to hear the continued case of Ole Yatesund, charged with selling illicit liquor, who is being tried today. Adolf Amundson, O. W. Carlson and Alfred Rasmusson,—the latter on a second charge, whose trials for violation of the Volstead act were continued from the winter term, will be heard in the order of appearance on the calendar.

T. Ness left for Fordville, N. D., Monday where he will be employed during the summer months.

A number of changes in regulations are an improvement over the those heretofore in use. For the first time $100 has been designed for use in awarding individual farmers for the best booth exhibits. Particular attention will be given to Junior livestock exhibits and the work of the boys and girls department.

COUNCILMEN AT MEETING OF STATE MUNICIPALITY LEAGUE

H. A. Brumund, S. Brandon and John Dahl, councilmen of Thief River Falls, represented this city at the annual convention of the League of Minnesota Municipalities at Faribault last week, returning Saturday. More than 300 delegates were in attendance. Carl H. Schuster of Biwabick was elected president of the league and Detroit was chosen as the next convention city.

Among things considered at the meeting were: changing the constitution to the effect that municipalities would have control over certain enterpris s now under the jurisdiction of the legislature; increased corporation taxes; advisability of a state income tax; and various other tax problems. Lower tax rate on buildings and improvements was urged by the league.

W. J. BROWN ATTENDS WHEAT CONFERENCE CALLED IN CHICAGO

President of American Association Takes Part In National Conference Last Week

Marketing Plan of Wheat Growers Association Endorsed by Large Convention

The marketing system of the American Wheat Growers Associated and the state pooling organizations was endorsed by the conference held in Chicago Tuesday and Wednesday of last week.

W. J. Brown of Thief River Falls, president of the American Wheat Growers Associated, and Geo. C. Jewett, of Minneapolis, general manager, were successful in introducing a resolution for the endorsement, by the conference, of the marketing plan of the organization which they represent, and in securing the endorsement.

The conference was called by a self appointed committee of governors, senators and representatives of organizations closely connected with the wheat problem. Among them is J. A. O. Preus, governor of Minnesota; Len Small, governor of Illinois; R. A. Nestos, governor of North Dakota; Arthur Capper, senator from Kansas; O. E. Bradfute, president American Farm Bureau Federation; Aaron Sapiro, Council in Agriculture Economies. The purpose of the conference was to consider methods of controlling the surplus of wheat which, it is claimed, contaminates the market.

A resolution was also introduced by Brown and Jewett for government stabilization of the price of wheat. To affect such stabilization the resolution called for the government to guarantee to purchase any amount of wheat the American Wheat Growers Associated might offer at the price of $1.75. This would work out in the manner of creating, at all times, a market for wheat sufficiently high in price to keep up the market. This would not necessitate the selling of wheat to the government but merely creating a possible market and thereby strengthen the selling power of the organization.

The organization was not successful in securing the adoption of the plan but were not met with bare defeat. The resolution was not brought up until the second day and time to carry on an extensive fight for the proposition was not available.

The Minnesota Wheat Growers association is growing by leaps and bounds. The outlook is good according to statements by the officials, and it is highly probable that a large enough amount of the wheat will be contracted so that the power of the organization will be great enough to control, to a very great extent even the first year, the price of wheat through the orderly marketing system. North Dakota reports an increase in membership of 1000 per week.

The Minnesota organization has now workers in twenty counties in the northwestern part of the state, which is the wheat producing section.

CLIMAX DEFEATED BUT LOCALS PLAY TIE GAME WITH RED LAKE FALLS

T. R. F. Nine Meets Crookston Company M Sunday P. M. 12-Inning Game at R. L. F.

Two good exhibitions of baseball were displayed by the local aggregation the past week. The game Sunday with Red Lake Falls at their diamond resulted in a tie, the score being 4 to 4 at the end of the 12th inning. According to local fans who witnessed the hot contest it was one of the best games played so far. It was practically a pitching duel between E. Kelfenheim of Red Lake Falls and Yost of this city, only six hits being made by each team.

The Climax team was defeated in a fast game here Tuesday evening, the final score being 1 to 0 at the close of seven innings. The run was made by Yost in the last inning when McGinn hit a two-bagger. The local battery was composed of Yost and Dalton. It is only regret that that there were not more spectators as it was one of the cleanest and best games played on the local diamond.

A clash which will assure fans of lots of excitement is that of next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 sharp when the Crookston Company M team comes here. According to reports the visitors Sunday are a fast bunch and the locals will undoubtedly have a fight royal.

The meager attendance at the games played here has been rather discouraging to the team and management and if this popular sport is to be kept up in this city, its citizens will have to show more support, according to the manager of the club. The local team does not play big league style but present as good a brand of base ball as can be seen anywhere in this section where the team is composed of home talent, and is deserving of general support.

Henry Young, of Middle River, was in the city Tuesday on a brief business trip. Mr. Young is a merchant of Middle River. He came by car.

STAFF KING GIVES SPLENDID ADDRESS AT LEGION MEETING

Many Delegates From Posts in Ninth District Meet in Thief River Falls Friday.

Middle River Man Named Commander of Northern Division. O. R. Sande Adjutant

The Elmer J. Eklund Post No. 117 of the American Legion of Thief River Falls, M. H. Bishop, district commander in charge, entertained the annual district convention of Legionares Friday. Many legion posts throughout the district were present at the convention and despite bad roads the convention was one that will leave district legionares with a feeling that the legion work is for a purpose and that a great one.

The Ninth district has been divided into two parts to increase accessibility of the headquarters as the territory is too large to accommodate legion members with any degree of efficiency and this section of the district was organized and officers elected.

Men of state and nation wide prominence were in attendance. Stafford King, state adjutant, one of America's greatest legionares, was present and delivered one of the best addresses that has been heard in the city. R. A. Rossberg, state vice-commander; Thos. F. Rodwell of Mahnomen, district commander; and Harry Klaus, of St. Paul, member of Legion executive committee known throughout the state as legion workers, were also present. The delegates were welcomed to the city by Mayor John Bratrud.

The afternoon was devoted to organization and business affairs constitution and by-laws drawn up, rules of procedure introduced, post activities discussed, officers for the new division elected. Reports from each post were read and discussed.

Mess was served by the Women's Auxiliary of the legion and pleased Staff King to the extent that he asked for the recipe of certain dishes.

After the supper those present were addressed by Harry Klaus, R. A. Rossberg, Thos. F. Rodwell and Stafford King.

When Stafford King had concluded his address all were convinced that M. H. Bishop was right when he introduced him as the backbone of the legion. He is noted for his power of delivery but there is something back of that. There is a sincerity that can't be doubted, a knowledge of the work before the legion and of its multitudinous problems. His address centered exclusively on the legion, it's origination, it's development and the tasks it has before it. On the bonus question he denied that the legion had ever asked for a bonus. He explained that when the Legion was asked if it favored the issuing of a bonus it merely replied that the matter should rest in the hands of Uncle Sam. Mr. King brought out many of the instances during the war of the payment by the government of sums of money to manufacturers that were far in excess of what would have been a ligitimate recompence, and also told of the bonus paid to the shipbuilders. Mr. King denied that the Legion is in anyway an organization propagated for selfish reasons.

Splendid vocal selections were delivered by Karl Sundahl accompanied by Mrs. Clarence Erickson on the piano.

Anton Yngve of Middle River was elected commander of the Ninth district by unanimous vote of the delegates. The other officials named are: O. N. Thoe, Lancaster, vice-commander; O. R. Sande, Thief River Falls, adjutant; W. M. Nieland, Red Lake Falls, finance officer; Rev. Charles Gerlinger, Thief River Falls, chaplain; S. V. Arneson, Thief River Falls, publicity manager.

A large class was initiated into the Legion at the evening session many of the new members being from out of town.

Thief River Falls was again chosen as the meeting place for the 1924 convention.

DeParcq Improving

It is reported that Math Barzen has taken a sixty day option on the Kretschmar-Schreiter dam with the intention of purchasing and developing the property if a satisfactory arrangement for the sale of the current generated can be made with the city.

INDEPENDENCE DAY PROGRAM COMPLETE; EVERYTHING READY

Mayor Nelson of St. Paul Speaker of Day—Fight Returns From Shelby by Radio

Ball Game, Fireworks Display, Water Polo, Races and Dance are Features

All roads will lead into Thief River Falls on July 4th. At least that is the statement made by those in charge of the gigantic celebration to be staged in this city on the National Independence Day.

Every little detail regarding the activities of the day has been carefully looked after by the various committees giving every possible assurance that it will be one of the biggest events Thief River Falls has enjoyed since the days before the war.

Posters and information have been sent to all the surrounding towns and communities in this section, telling of all the splendid attractions which have been arranged for the occasion and inviting everyone to come to this city to take part in and enjoy the celebration. Thief River Falls will have practically the only real Fourth of July celebration in this section this year, assuring a record crowd. But few surrounding towns have made any preparations for any great observance of the day.

Parade With Floats

All places of business will be closed at noon and at one o'clock sharp the program of the day will officially open with a street parade in which everyone will take part. Merchants and business houses are now busy preparing magnificent floats which will be entered in a contest, a silver loving cup being offered for the best presentation. It is expected that at least about twenty or more concerns will be represented by beautiful floats, all of which will partake in the impressive parade, headed by the American Legion band and the Geo. E. Engesser big show band.

Mayor Nelson Will Speak

The parade will terminate at the fair grounds where the crowd will hear the address of the day delivered

Reports of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight at Shelby, Mont., will be received by radio and given to the crowds at the Fair Grounds at the celebration the Fourth. The radio set will be installed at the grounds by Alf. Borry.

WEFALD SPEAKS AT BIG PICNIC GIVEN BY SONS OF NORWAY

Large Crowd Attends Annual Gathering Under Auspices of Local Lodge Sunday

Tribute Paid to Norse Traditions by Congressman Wefald, Bjornaran, Aaker and Others

Hundreds of people enjoyed the picnic at Eide's Grove last Sunday, the annual affair sponsored by the Sons of Norway lodge of this city. People from the entire community and many from distant towns were present, many enjoying picnic dinners at the grounds. A number of those attending the Sangerfest stayed over for the picnic, a group of the singers favoring the audience with several numbers.

Several splendid speakers addressed the large crowd, being introduced by Bernhard Knudsen most efficient and tactful master of ceremonies. The first speaker on the program was Bj. Bjornaran of Wanke who spoke very forcibly on the preservation of the Norwegian language and traditions. His remarks, which contained a great deal of humor, were well received.

Knut Wefald of Hawley, ninth district congressman, who defeated Steenerson in the last election, gave a splendid address in the Norwegian language, and made a fine impression on the large audience, many of whom heard him for the first time. The congressman proved a powerful speaker, and spoke very eloquently of the various traits of the Norsemen and their adoption by the American citizen. High tribute was accorded the late Senator Knute Nelson. Space does not permit an extensive summary of the speeches.

Other speakers were Prof Aaker of Grand Forks and A. K. Berget of Crookston, the latter representing the Sons of Norway lodge there. The audience was also entertained with delightful music on the Hardanger violin by Olav Ormbreck of Silverton, Oregon, and a well told story by John Nyborg of Minneapolis, the latter engaged as soloist at the Sangerfest.

Ole Tharaldson, Louis Hanne and S. Rolland of Germanton were business callers in this city Tuesday. They also made a brief trip to Warren to look after business matters.

SIX HOURS TO LIVE—WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

Question Asked and Answered in the "Sin Flood" at Lyceum Sunday and Monday

If some one pulled a stop-watch on you and told you that you had a certain number of hours and minutes to live, what would you do?

If it was on Monday would you keep right on with the washing? If it was on a Thursday and you were on your way to the weekly meeting of The Twentieth Century Club or of The Browning Society, would you keep right on going? If it was on a Friday and you were cushing cobwebs with a broom, would you drop the broom and begin to sort of think things over? Or whatever you might be doing—eating, riding, reading—what do you think your procedure would be if you were told with authority that you were going to breathe your last breath say in exactly 6 hours and 3 minutes?

That sort of problem is the turning point of "The Sin Flood," a new Goldwyn picture, to be shown at the Lyceum theatre Sunday and Monday. The distinguished author, Henning Berger, may have worked out the situation differently from the method you would have chosen, but as the drama is his business there is no doubt about how dramatically he has done it.

Some persons might think that a hopelessly rum sodden tramp wouldn't be stealing a drink as one of his last acts on earth. It's hard to tell about that sort of thing. It looks real enough in the screen version of Berger's play which was adapted for the screen by J. G. Hawks, anyway.

After having notice served on them that the world is going to end so far as they are concerned, with great abruptness, the characters—with the exception of the aforementioned tramp—all get repentant and make a clean breast of their short comings, sing hymns and go in heavily for brotherly love.

There is a laugh, a tear and a catch in the throat in "The Sin Flood." There is no doubt about that. But, what would you do under similar circumstances? That's the question before the house.

Former Resident Now In Calif. Has Reached 105 Yr. and Still Able

It will be of interest to Thief River Falls residents who remember Charley Ames, who lived with the W. A. Kratka family when they were residents of this city about eighteen years ago, that he is still living with the Kratkas now at Pasadena, and that he is still hale and hearty at the old age of 105 years. Altho having reached this unusual age he is yet very active, writes a former Thief River Falls man, who had seen him recently, to The Times, and is still in possession of all his faculties. "Old Charley" as he is called, was here in the early days making his home here for a period of seven or eight years.

To Speak At McIntosh

Attorney H. O. Chommie of this city has been secured to deliver the address of the day at the Fourth of July celebration in McIntosh. A large celebration has been arranged in that village.

Second Potato Tour To Be Made Aug. 1 to 9

The Minnesota potato tour for 1923 will be made up of a series of county tours which will reach nine northern Minnesota counties. The start will be made at Red Lake Falls, Red Lake county, on Wednesday, August 1. Pennington county will be toured August 2. Kittson county August 3, Roseau and Lake of the Woods counties August 4, Koochiching county August 6, Beltrami county August 7, Itasca county August 8, and St. Louis county August 9. Sunday, August 5, will be spent at International Falls. The tours will be routed through leading potato districts and stops will be made at some of the best potato farms. The agricultural extension service of the University, the seed certification office of the state department of agriculture, county agents, farm bureau men and potato growers will co-operate in making the tour an educational success. The object is to encourage better potato production. Problems which often baffle the individual potato grower will be considered. The relatve merits of different kinds of spraying and dusting machinery will be discussed and weighed. Seed plots, diseases, and pests will be given special attention and short informal conferences held at several points. Anyone interested in potato growing is invited to join the tour.

Player Fouled To Try For Extra Point Says New Basketball Ruling

Thief River Falls basketball fans are interested in the recent announcement of the change in the rule in regard to the shooting of free throws when fouls have been called.

Beginning with next season's play the player on whom a personal foul has been committed will be required to attempt the free basket which counts one point towards his team's score if it goes through the hoop. The rule states that free chances gained from a technical foul may be thrown by any member of the team. The change will undoubtedly do away with the specialized foul shooter and hereafter more stress will be laid on foul shooting practice.

Another change made is in regard to free throws when personal fouls are called. During the past season when a personal foul was committed within the end goal zone two fouls were called regardless of whether the man had possession of the ball. The new rule states that two free throws will only be granted when the player has the ball in his possession within the goal zone, or when the player is in the act of shooting for a basket outside of the goal zone.

Counties of Northwest Will Open Fair Season

CARRYING A BURDEN OF OVERHEAD WITH NO PROVISION FOR UNLOADING IT

An English statesman who entered his public career with the purpose of effecting economies in government service, entered a public building and saw the motionless figure of an employee who apparently was doing nothing at all, and remembered that he had seen the same individual upon previous visits.

He sought information as to the character of his employment and it developed that years before, when the walls of the building were freshly painted, they had been marred by contact with a woman's skirt, and this man was put on duty to guard them, and had never been removed.

This waste of public funds is being duplicated today in thousands of ways. The abuse is less to be found in private business than in public affairs.

Yet there are scores of concerns that in the emergency of rush times are obliged to enlarge forces and increase overhead, but who seem unable to readjust their business to slack trade.

Such business in private lines and all public business seem to lack the elasticity which will admit of conformity to conditions as they change.

It is especially noticeable in public business. There is apparently no limit to which government cannot go in the levying of taxes to support extravagance, and there seems no public opinion influential enough to change it.

From the lowest street laborer to the highest public official, public employment is a private snap.

Government employees who are exceptions to this rule rarely remain long in public employ. Their value is recognized in the business world and they are drafted for private service.

If we could have the same efficiency in public life as is necessary in private employment, there would be no cause for complaint of high taxes, for taxes would not need to be high.

When you begin to think of buying out of town think of your home merchant who extended you credit when money was low, even tho he had to borrow money to meet his own bills. He is ready to match prices with anyone, taking quality into consideration. He doesn't always ask cash in advance and he pays the freight. He's not such a bad scout after all.—Sleepy Eye Herald Dispatch.

Thirty-six Boys and Girls Will Be Confirmed by Rev. Sweger Sunday, July 1st

Thirty-six boys and girls will be confirmed at the Trinity Lutheran church Sunday forenoon at 10:30. This is the largest class of Lutheran confirmants of which there is record of having been confirmed in this city. Last year a class of twenty-nine was confirmed, which was also an unusually large one. The confirmation service will be held by Rev. T. E. ORCHARD AND GARDEN

Paris green and lime dusted on cabbage will discourage the cabbage worm.

If you would keep your sweet peas and other flowers blooming keep the seed pods off.

Corn and potatoes thrive on good cultivation. Keep the top soil loose and save moisture.

A few annuals in the perennial border tend to keep it brightened up in late summer and fall.

Attend the peony show at the Hippodrome, State Fair grounds, June 21 to 23. It will be worth seeing. Thousands of peonies will be shown.

Keep the weeds out of the fence corners and vacant fields. A little effort now will prevent millions of plants next year.

Striped beetle may be kept in check by dusting squash and melon vines with air slaked lime and paris green. Use enough paris green to give the dry lime a greenish coat.

Trees add much to the beauty and comfort of a home. Is your yard well planted? Elm, ash, basswood and maple are good shade trees. Apple, walnut and sometimes plums are good for shade and also bear a much desired fruit.

Our idea of hard luck is when a man works for his board and then loses his appetite.

Cow Testing Increasing In Minnesota Counties

Minnesota, second state in the Union for number of cow testing associations, being exceeded only by Wisconsin, has 50 such associations as against 35 a year ago, says E. A. Hanson of University Farm, who is in charge of testing work in the state. New associations started June 1 at Deer Creek in Ottertail county, Askov in Pine county, Brunswick in Kanabec county, and Morgan in Redwood county.

In addition, an association has been organized at Nelson in Douglas county, but will not begin operations until September. The nuclei for new associations are already being enrolled at Fergus Falls and Pelican Rapids in Ottertail county, at Preston in Fillmore county, at Caledonia and Spring Grove in Houston county, and at Delevan in Faribault county.

A large number of cattle are being tested in this community altho no local organization has been formed as yet. Testing of local herds is being done by federal men who come here at certain intervals, and Dr. L. R. Twete, accredited veterinary.

Salol Man Breaks Back When Pinned Under Car

J. B. Burstrom, prominent Salol business man, is in the Roseau hospital hovering between life and death as the result of an automobile accident in which his back was broken and other minor injuries sustained.

The victim of the accident was on his way to a picnic at Wannaska, accompanied by his family, and while going at a moderate rate of speed one of the wheels came off, causing the car to turn over several times. The children were thrown clear of the car while Mr. and Mrs. Burstrom went over with it. All escaped with minor bruises and scratches except Mr. Burstrom himself. The injured man was removed from the wreck with some difficulty and rushed to the Roseau hospital where it was discovered that the spine was fractured. An operation was performed immediately, a part of the spine being cut off to release the pressure on the spinal cord. Attending physicians hold out some hope for his recovery.

A big difference

There's a big difference in motor oils. Most of them are by-products from gasoline manufacture. Very few refineries make lubricating oils their chief business.

SUNOCO
THE DISTILLED OIL

is made by lubrication specialists. A patented process gives uniform distillation—every drop is like every other drop. And it's pure—not a compound of light oil and "cylinder stock," that gummy, thick stuff that forms carbon.

You'll use less oil and get more power with Sunoco. You'll see the difference, too, in repair bills. There are six types of Sunoco. One is best for your car.

Pure-Breds and Pospeity

There is more to the question of pure-bred stock than a matter of pedigree, registry and conformation to type. Successful dairymen will testify that the superiority of the pure-bred over the scrub also shows in the milk pail, and in the cream check.

In prosperous farming communities, herds are headed by pure-bred sires, not because prosperous farmers can afford the luxury of pure-breds, but because the pure-breds have made the farmers prosperous.

The Citizens State Bank stands ready to co-operate at all times with the man who wishes to grade up his herd with pure-breds.

"Water" and Railroad Rates

Certain politicians are spreading claims like this among voters whose political support they are seeking:

"If the water was squeezed out of railroad capitalization and valuation, rates could be reduced fifty per cent."

Official figures filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington prove that EIGHTY-FIVE PER CENT of all the money taken in by all the railroads—eighty-five cents out of every dollar—is paid out for LABOR, MATERIALS and TAXES.

In 1922 the Soo Line took in from operations a little more than forty-seven million dollars. It paid out over thirty-nine and one-half millions (84 per cent of what was taken in) for labor, materials and taxes—over six millions (13 per cent of what was taken in) for interest on Bonds and Notes—altogether NINETY-SEVEN CENTS OUT OF EVERY DOLLAR EARNED.

Suppose that the Government should CONFISCATE all Soo Line Bonds and Stock—all its four thousand four hundred miles of railroad in Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Michigan, Illinois, South Dakota and Montana, purchased with money paid in by the Stockholders and Bondholders—all its millions of dollars' worth of locomotives, cars, stations, shops, roundhouses, etc. — so that nothing would be paid for the use of all that property.

IT WOULD STILL BE NECESSARY TO TAKE IN EIGHTY-FOUR CENTS OF EVERY DOLLAR THAT THIS RAILROAD NOW RECEIVES IN ORDER TO PAY FOR LABOR, MATERIALS AND TAXES.

The rapid strides forward in the field of dairying by farmers of this community can be readily seen by a comparison of the list of fifty-dollar patrons of the local creamery now and a few years back. For instance, during the month of May in 1917 there were only thirty-seven patrons who received checks in the amount of $50 or over, while this year the list included more than eighty during the corresponding month. The most paid to any one patron then was only about $175 while this year one dairyman in this neighborhood has received a check for more than $500 each of the last three months. What better proof is there for the adaptability and success of dairying in Pennington County?

Make plans now to spend the Fourth in Thief River Falls. If we make up our minds to have a celebration you can wager that it's going to be a real one in every way.

IMPROVING DAIRY HERDS

An editorial which applies to Pennington as well as Beltrami county appeared in the Bemidji Weekly Pioneer and is worth reproduction for The Times readers:

If Beltrami county is to have a future, that is if farmers are to become prosperous, well clothed, well housed, well educated, comfortable human beings, it wil be because of the possibilities of the industry of dairying. There is little use of a farmer wasting his time, day after day, milking poor scrub cows giving low test milk and little of it. If dairying reaches a profitable basis on Beltrami county farms, it will be on the farms where the owner had the foresight and industry and the common sense to equip his farm with good cows, giving rich milk and lots of it, and when he has done this, if he will develop a feeling of kindness and regard for his stock, give them the best conditions in order that they can produce milk, he will find that it pays to put thought into his work. It is safe to say that no farmer can succeed who has no ideal, that no farmer can succeed with stock unless he has a kindly interest in seeing them well fed and well cared for. His cattle are his milk and cream manufacturing plants and it is up to him not only to get modern, up-to-date machinery in those plants, by getting real dairy cows, bred for production, but it is up to him to handle them with care and thereby keep the machinery in perfect running order.

Luther Leaguers Hold Successful Convention

The annual convention of the Thief River Falls circuit of the Young Peoples' Luther Leagues was held at Roseau Saturday and Sunday of last week and was a big success according to local people who attended. Only a few from here were in attendance on Saturday but a large delegation motored there on Sunday.

A pleasing feature of the program was music rendered by the choir of the Trinity church, directed by Dr. P. L. Vistaunet.

Among the Thief River Falls people who attended were: Rev. T. E. Sweger, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Ramstad, O. G. Storholm and family, August Oden and family, Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Nesse, Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Tandberg, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Sether, Mrs. Julia Tandberg, Mrs. Gaston Ward, Mrs. Nels Nelson, Miss Agnes Tandberg, Miss Thora Hanson, L. H. Larson, Dr. P. L. Vistaunet, Elmer Tandberg and C. M. Buoen. Misses Gladys Kolden, Grace Mostue and Harriet Morgan represented the Young Peoples Society and Dorcas Society of the Trinity church.

Miss Dorothy Holm of Roseau, who completed her course in music at the North Star college this spring, has been engaged by the Thief River Music company. Miss Holm is a pianist and will have charge of the work which was formerly done by Mrs. Clarence Erickson, in addition to music demonstration.

The Weed Law.

"Whose duty is it to cut and keep free, the roadsides, from weeds according to the new weed law? (Chapter 318 of 1923 laws)."

Town board chairmen, in acting as weed inspectors should consider the matter and get an opinion from the attorney general before taking charge of the destruction of noxious weeds along the thoroughfares.

According to the law it is up to the town or the land owner to keep the roadside free of weeds? Section 2 of the law states that a "Municipality is a township, city, village, etc." Section 5 paragraph states that it is the duty of the municipality to cut the weeds on roads, streets, etc., annually, at the expense of the municipality.

However, section 3 of that same law states that the owner or occupant shall cut down and eradicate the weeds on his land and the adjacent one-half of the highway.

In view of this conflict who shall look after the weeds on the roads and highways, the township or the land owner?

It would be much better and more business-like if the towns could just cut the weeds on the roadsides, at the expense of the township without any further procedure. We have here a number of vacant unoccupied farms. The roadsides along these vacant lands in many cases are quite badly infested with weeds. Now, if we have to post notices and advertise just to cut the weeds on these roadsides, it seems far better for the town to just cut the weeds on these roadsides. According to the present ruling it seems to make entirely too much expense and red tape. The better way would be for the township to cut the weeds along all the roads in the township and pay for it out of the town money, and then make no effort to have it assessed against the land.

The speculator pays his share of taxes as well as anyone else. The townboards could have roadsides of vacant lands cut for 50 cents where it will probably cost the weed inspector four or five dollars.

Respectfully,
O. G. Tharaldson,
Germantown, Minn.

New Service Fitted to New Possibilities

WE move swiftly in America — change is the order of the day — industrial economics are changing—labor relationships are changing. The size of the oil business is changing and the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) keeping step with progress, is changing its methods of doing business, to meet the new conditions as they arise.

We invent, and improve, and learn, and go ahead.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) developed the Burton Process to increase the recovery of gasoline to meet the demand caused by the increasing number of automotive machines. It improved merchandising methods until its distribution and marketing systems are the standard of efficiency for the industry.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) developed new methods of handling its business. Many of these are applied to administration inside the organization, — as for instance, the Industrial Relations Plan, the Annuity Plan, and the Stock Purchasing Plan, all of which have resulted in bringing the Company and its employes closer together.

Other methods have expanded the Company's activities in new directions, — as for instance, in the development of a chain of service stations located at convenient points throughout the ten Middle Western states where the motorist may secure his requirements of fuel and oil in such quantities as he may need.

This is but one of the many improvements which the Company has adopted to better the service which it is rendering the people of the Middle West.

All these methods tend to hold down prices. This is recognized in a recent article in Petroleum Age which says, "No other product or power of like value, obtained at such expense and under such hazardous conditions, is furnished the people at such reasonable prices at all points of the country, as oil and its products."

In the petroleum industry the real problem of the hour is service. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is continually fitting new service to new possibilities and adapting its established service to meet new conditions. This policy makes for prosperous business, without which no nation can hope for general prosperity.

As the demand for petroleum products increases, it will be found that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has put itself, by progressive development of new possibilities, in a position to give a service commensurate with the increasing demand.

ROSEWOOD

ROSEWOOD NINE TAKES SLOW GAME FROM VIKING

The Rosewood ball tossers journeyed to Viking last Sunday and had little trouble coming through on the long end of a 11 to 2 score. The game was one of many errors due to the condition of the diamond. Mr. Gothenburg of the Vikings pitched good ball but bunched hits by Rosewood and loose fielding by the Vikings gave the former a good lead which Viking was never able to over come. Petterson, pitching for Rosewood had the situation well in hand at all times. He was effective in the pinches and should have had a shut out game to his credit had it not been for errors which were responsible for the Viking two runs. Rosewood started scoring in the initial frame by shoving one run across, and two runs each in the second, third, fourth, sixth and ninth.

Next Sunday, July 1st, Rosewood will journey to Radium and will meet that place in a tussle. It is to be noted that Rosewood this season has played five games and has not yet met with defeat. J. S. Sorenson is captain of the Rosewood team and O. S. Hellerud manager and secretary.

H. Peterson of Fargo, is spending a few days at Rosewood this week attending to various business matters.

Miss Karen Rundfloen from Fosston arrived here on Monday for a few days visit with Mr. and Mrs. Even Anderson. Miss Rundfloen taught the Parochial school here five years ago and is well acquainted thruout the community.

Miss Edith Patten, the pleasant last term's school teacher at Willowdale, was in town last Monday in conference with the Rosebank school board, and will evidently teach at that school next winter.

R. Syverson, a traveling representative of the Grand Forks Milling company, was in town calling on the trade last Monday.

John Sorenson accompanied by three friends motored to Holt last Sunday evening.

Carl Ranum, from Warren, was a pleasant Sunday caller at the Mrs. Julia Axelson home here.

Ole Gjerde and Victor Axelson motored up from Steiner last Sunday for a brief visit with the latter's home folks.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Ranum on Sunday, June 17.

Benhard and Benny Ranum, Art and Ted Thompson motored home from Northland last Sunday to spend the day with the home folks.

Miss Lilly Holson, "Hellow" girl from Warren, arrived here on Monday evening for a brief visit with her sister, Mrs. Carl Mellem.

PROPOSED ROAD BONDS EXCEEDING $4,000,000

Counties Begin Lending Credit to State for Highway Improvements Under New $11,000,000 Bond Law

Although the plan for state highway bonds for needed improvements was not made a law, the last Legislature did authorize more than $11,000,000 more county reimbursement bonds for trunk route work, and a highway bulletin this week states that twenty-two counties already have voted or are considering issues of more than $4,000,000 under the new law.

The first issue of $90,000 has been sold by Pennington county. Others exceeding $1,400,000 have been voted by Beltrami, Carlston, Carver, Goodhue, Meeker, Nicollet, Steele and Wabasha counties. Blocks ranging up to $250,000 each are proposed in Becker, Dodge, Douglas, Grant, Kittson, Morrison, Ottertail, Pope, Sibley, Stearns, Traverse, Waseca and Wabasha counties. No reports of action have been received from remaining counties sharing the authorization, the bulletin states.

While more than $11,000,000 is authorized by the legislature and $4,000,000 already is up, the highway department is fighting to hold the grand total for the 2-year period to $4,000,000.

"The department stand on bonds is consistent," said Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner. "It advocates bonds for needed trunk highway improvements—knowing the economy of paying interest on good roads instead of larger amounts for constant repairing on inadequate roads. Reimbursement money must be used in the county issuing the bonds, and the law opens the way for improving roads serving few users ahead of those used by many, contrary to fairness and the spirit of the highway plan. So where motor vehicle receipts would be encumbered to build minor betterments before those most necessary, department approval will be withheld."

Experience in the next two years will demonstrate the necessity of providing a way of financing needed improvements, he intimated, although insisting that the agreed tax on motor vehicles will pay for the improvement and maintenance of the big trunk highway system.

of Minneapolis and Miss Doris Halvorson, pianist of this city, was of the very best and bespoke for them much ability in their art. The ovations given them at every appearance at the concert proved the merit of their performance. The audience was very enthusiastic over the piano numbers given by Miss Halvorson, giving much praise for the splendid delivery of the Thief River Falls soloist. Mr. Houglum, a brother of Mrs. P. L. Vistaunet of this city, has a tenor voice that leaves little to be desired. His rare tone quality pleases the hearer and touches the heartstrings. Mr. Nyborg's rich and pleasant baritone voice pleased everyone who heard him, all the soloists adding greatly to the wonderful chorus numbers. The Bethany church orchestra of Grand Forks consisting of about a dozen pieces, added beauty and volume to the chorus work and gave splendid selections meriting high praise.

A parade thru the city headed by the band featured the opening session. The "keys of the city" were given over by Mayor Bratrud in his address of welcome the first day. During the convention the visitors also enjoyed an outing tour and favored the patients at the Oakland Park Sanitorium with several selections.

Following the concert Saturday night the visiting singers were tendered a banquet by the Brage chorus at the Sons of Norway hall, the Daughters of Norway providing the splendid repast. J. S. Arneson acted as toastmaster and called upon a number of those present who gave brief remarks. After the banquet a large number of the singers serenaded certain citizens of the city, including the mayor, whom they pronounced to be a most genial official.

Much credit is due to the members of the Brage chorus who worked so diligently in making the affair a success and who were responsible for getting the distinguished convention to this city. Delegations were here from Moorhead, Grand Forks, Hatton, Petersburg, Devils Lake and Fargo. About sixty were present from Grand Forks. C. S. Bredenbeck, 72 years old, has been active in chorus work for 54 years.

Prominent Men Will Speak At Picnic At Squaw Point Sunday

A public picnic will be held at Squaw Point next Sunday, July 1, sponsored by the Peoples Cooperative store. The most interesting feature of the program arranged for the gathering will be an address by either Congressman Knud Wefald of Hawley or Magnus Johnson, Farmer-Labor candidate for senator. There will also be other numbers and in addition various amusements for the children.

People are requested to bring picnic dinners including cups, cream and sugar, free coffee to be furnished at the grounds by the Peoples' Cooperative store. The public is cordially invited to join in and enjoy the day at the popular picnic grounds. There will also be an opportunity to hear various important issues of the day discussed by able speakers.

Scout Troop Camps on Red Lake Beach

A troop of boy scouts, under the supervision of Harold Arneson are now at Red Lake on a summer outing: camping, fishing, swimming and living with nature generally as all good scouts like to do. They left a week ago Wednesday. The boys, about fifteen in number, were taken out to the lake in a truck, as were the necessary provisions; they aren't expected to find their whole substance.

The scout work has created a widespread interest this year but those who would push the work are handicapped by the few number of people who will do more than talk.

COUNTY FAIR WILL BE BEST EVER SAY THOSE IN CHARGE

Club Exhibits Feature of 22nd Annual Event; Winners Get Free Trip to State Fair

Amusements and Attractions to Be of Particularly Interesting Character

Arrangements are rapidly being completed for the best and most successful fair in the history of Pennington county. The display of products is certain to be larger and better than ever before, according to statements made by those in charge of the various departments. The amusement features are also particularly strong and appealing.

The premium list for the twenty-second annual exhibition of the agricultural society has been issued and will be distributed from the office of J. J. McCann, secretary of the organization. Copies will also be mailed to the various sections of the northwest from which the Pennington county fair draws large crowds.

According to the management the exhibits this year will be increased in every department. Several entries in the livestock division have already been made, the Holsteins already entered being given in an article in another column of this issue. The livestock and poultry divisions are superintended by Fred Beerbower and Emil Gribstein. The agricultural department is in charge of Albert Johnson and promises to be excellent. Superintendents Ole R. Sande and I. T. Simley have been preparing educational exhibits, a $75 prize being offered to the school showing the best booth.

It is the aim of the fair association to have as large an exhibit as possible in each of the clubs such as the Dairy Calf, Sheep, Poultry and Pig clubs, which are under the supervision of J. J. McCann. The two winning highest honors in the Dairy Calf and also the Dairy Judging clubs will each get a free trip to the Minnesota State Fair and in addition be awarded with cash premiums. The topnotcher in the Pig club will also be given a free trip to the fair. The three winners in the sheep exhibition and one winner in the Poultry club will be awarded with cash prizes and a free trip to the State Livestock Show at St. Paul. In addition to the state trips the boy or girl who has the champion calf where at least 25 are enrolled will get a free trip to the International Fair at Chicago next fall.

Among the attractions are the Marriott Troupe presenting an original aerial act; the Sterling Rose Troupe also in aerial acts and comedy acrobatic stunts; the Lachman Exposition shows with six of the newest riding devices, two bands, twelve novel attractions, twenty-five cars and three hundred people. Everything that constitutes a fine class amusement exposition will be shown.

In addition there will also be the usual program of attractions for the children, ball games, races and possibly a sham battle by the local American Legion members, similar to that presented last year. A decidedly interesting racing program has been arranged, consisting in a large degree of various kinds of horse racing of which feature Roy Lambert is in charge. There will be pacing, trotting and running races, and a race against time by a noted pacer, making the circuit of the track without a driver.

The newspapers in the county will from now on until the time of the fair carry advertisements telling in detail of the various exhibits and free attractions. Large posters will be posted thruout this section of the state.

Rev. Larson Attends Church Convention

Rev. George Larson returned last Saturday from Minneapolis where he attended the annual conference of the Lutheran Free church of America last week and represented the local Zion congregation, as did also Mrs. Dena Evenson as a lay delegate. It was one of the largest conventions ever held by the church body. Rev. E. E. Gynild of Willmar was chosen president, Rev. F. J. Urdahl of Fargo, vice president, and Rev. O. P. Laurhammer, secretary of the organization. The sum of $23,000 was raised by subscription for the support of Augsburg seminary, the theological school maintained by the Free church. The proposed union with the United Norwegian Lutheran church was voted down by a decided majority, the delegates believing that each congregation should vote upon the question. It was also believed by many that the work of the church could be performed more efficiently without the union of the two divisions. The word "Norwegian" was struck out of the rules of the church to comply with requests made by congregations using the English language exclusively.

Following the convention Rev. Larson went to Kenyon where he visited briefly with his relatives and also with Mrs. Larson's folks at Colfax.

Rev. J. J. Jacobson of Minneapolis, who has spent the past month at the Rev. Nyborg home, left Friday for Strathcona where he will be engaged in gospel work, holding religious meetings from Saturday until the Fourth.

Plummer Man Causing Disturbance at Dance Fined $25 and Costs

Being drunk and disorderly cost Joe Klein of Plummer $28 when brought before Judge N. W. Tarrant in municipal court here Sunday. He was arrested Saturday night by Sheriff O. L. Hde on a charge of disturbance at a dance held at Hazel. The following morning he was brought before the Judge and entered a plea of guilty. The Judge assessed him a fine of $25 and costs, a total of $28 which was paid.

Under the new law which went into effect June 1 the authorities have increased jurisdiction over dance halls and power to enforce the strict regulations.

MANY SPEAK IN BEHALF OF MAGNUS JOHNSON AT BIG PICNIC LAST SUNDAY

Affair at Squaw Point Well Attended. Speakers Urge Support of Farmer-Labor Man

The picnic at Squaw Point held under the auspices of the Cooperative store of this city last Sunday was a decided success, a large crowd being in attendance to enjoy the day. Many had their picnic dinner at the grounds where free coffee was served by the Cooperative store.

The meeting which was of a political nature was presided over by O. A. Naplin, former farmer-labor senator.

The first speaker of the day was A. J. Neal, Crookston, of the order of Railway Conductors, who spoke emphatically of the necessity of voting and the duties of the citizen. He also alleged hypocrisy in some men who tell the farmers and laborers that they are their friends. A brief report was given of the Cooperative store at Crookston and the fine success it has met in handling coal and fuel.

H. O. Berve of Germantown, former representative, urged the voters to come out for Magnus Johnson at the election, July 16, and spoke of his acquaintance with the candidate and his fearlessness and fighting spirit.

J. J. Anderson, of Crookston, editor of the Polk County Leader, delivered a forceful talk on party principles and the necessity of united effort urging the members of the progressive faction to support their candidate.

The necessity of organization among the farmers as well as the railroad workers was discussed by James Barnett of this city. He labeled the talk about high wages among organized labor as propaganda and used as a means of splitting the forces.

SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING OF COUNTY BOARD HERE NEXT MONDAY, JULY 9

Commissioners as Equalization Board Meets to Look Over Assessments July 16

The regular semi-annual meeting of the county board of commissioners of Pennington county will be held in this city next Monday, July 9, when various matters of importance to the county will be taken up and routine business attended to.

Anyone who is dissatisfied with assessment and has sufficient cause for complaint should appear before the board to present the matter for consideration.

Very few complaints were made to the city council sitting as the city's equalization board recently. The equalized assessment rolls of the various townships and municipalities will be turned over to the county board on July 9.

Anderson is back in his office having returned the first of the week from an automobile jaunt to the twin cities and points in the southern part of this state and northern part of Iowa visiting with relatives. MANY LIQUOR CASES STILL ON CALENDAR; TWO ARE CONVICTED

Juries Return Verdicts of Guilty in Cases Against Bradley and Glenn Farr

Ystesund Acquitted on Liquor Charge and Gilmet Cleared of Grand Larceny

Cases involving the violation of prohibition laws have taken up practically all the time of the district court now in session, Andrew Grindeland presiding, and a record number of convictions returned by the jurors.

Ole Ystesund who was charged with selling liquor was found not guilty last Friday. Altho his bonds were forfeited upon not appearing on the day set for the trial, they were ordered restored by the court when the defendant was acquitted.

Ernest J. Gilmet, a farmer, accused of selling some horses belonging to William McGinty and facing a charge of grand larceny was also acquitted by the jury Friday.

In the case of C. B. Bradley, local barber, who was alleged to have illicit liquor in his possession for sale, the jury returned a verdict of guilty, the case taking up most of Saturday. The liquor charge against O. W. Carlson has been continued until the fall term of court on request of the county attorney, illness of state witnesses preventing the prosecution of the case. The second liquor charge against A. C. Rasmusson was dropped when the jury returned a verdict of guilty in the first case preferred against him.

Axel Anderson pleaded guilty before Judge Grindeland Saturday to a charge of operating a gambling house and was fined $25 and costs amounting to $7.

Glenn Farr was found guilty of selling liquor after the jury deliberated for twelve hours. The court heard the evidence in the case against Fred Brendecke also charged with selling liquor, Tuesday, when the court was adjourned until this morning when his case was resumed.

THIEF R. FALLS WINS HARD FOUGHT BATTLE WITH CROOKSTON TEAM

Thronson Becomes Manager, Local Nine To Fight Out Tie With R. L. Falls Next Sun.

The Thief River Falls baseball team was victorious in a hard fought game at the local diamond last Sunday when the Crookston Company M nine went down in defeat to the tune of 3 to 6. The battle was a fine exhibition of baseball thruout, few errors being made, and was witnessed by a fairly large crowd. However, the members of the club hope to get better patronage as the season advances, as they are showing the fans as fine playing as is found anywhere in a city this size.

Although the Gunners started out like winners in Sunday's game, making two runs in the first frame and holding the locals scoreless with Berg striking out the first three men to face him, they were unable to keep the home players from making enough scores to win by bunching walks with bunts later in the contest. The winners evened the count in the second frame and took a one run lead in the next inning. The Gunners tied it up again in the fifth frame but Thief River made two runs in their half and another in the sixth for a three run lead.

Each team made seven hits but Crookston had a total of ten bases while the Thief River hits were all singles. Mark Hegg got a triple and George Hugen slammed out a double in the first frame for Crookston. Berg fanned seven batters in four innings and Saugstad whiffed three men while he was on the mound. Seven Crookston batters were victims of "Spider" Yost's slants. Guy Lane played a good game for the locals behind the plate, Yost delivering in his usual effective style. The Thief River Falls lineup in Sunday's game was: McGinn, ss.; Schutt, lf.; Jonas, 3rd, b.; Dalton, 2nd b.; Larson, cf.; LaBree, 1st b.; Berg, rf.; Lane, c.; and Yost, p.

T. M. Thronson, cashier of the First National bank, has been chosen as manager of the local ball club to succeed Derby Anderson who resigned from the position. Philip Larson has been selected assistant. With the proper support on the part of the fans the management promises to represent Thief River Falls with one of the best aggregations in this part of the state.

Baseball fans will witness one of the best games of the season next Sunday at 2:30 P. M. when the local team clashes with Red Lake Falls for the third time this season. The Red Lake Falls team has for their battery this time Keifenheim and Nelson, and the local team Yost and Lane. The two previous games resulted in a tie score, one game 11 innings and the other 12.

Witnesses Big Fight

W. E. Beck left last Friday for Shelby, Montana, to witness the championship fight between Jack Dempsey and Mike Gibbons yesterday. He also attended the annual roundup held prior to the bout.

COMMITTEE ON DAM MATTER REPORTS TO COUNCIL THURSDAY

Recommends That No Purchase of Dam Be Made By City At This Time

Report Very Thorough and Complete and Represents Time and Effort

The report of the citizens committee, appointed by the Commercial club to investigate the dam and power situation in Thief River Falls, submitted its report to the members of the city council last Thursday evening.

The report is very thorough and complete and represents a great deal of very careful work on the part of the committee. It covers every phase of the power situation as it effects Thief River Falls and brings out a number of facts that will be of great interest to the people of the entire city. The complete report is as follows:

Report of Electric-Power Committee

This committee is composed of the following: M. V. Evenson, Chairman; W. W. Prichard, Jr., secretary, T. L. Melgaard, H. O. Chommie, R. H. Ross, I. Halseth, F. J. Stebbins, C. D. Gustafson, R. McGinn, L. DeCremer, A. M. Langseth and H. W. Protzeller. The committee was appointed by a committee of the Commercial Club consisting of Math Barzen, John Bratrud and Olaf Ramstad. It has held a number of meetings and its members have examined all the records and statistics available on the entire situation. Minutes of the meetings are attached hereto and made part of this report.

There are two distinct situations to which the committee has applied its investigations. The first, and immediate situation, pertains to the proposed purchase of the Kretzschmar-Schreiter water properties and their development, as recommended by Ralph Thomas, Consulting Engineer, employed by the city to report on the matter. The second involves the present power plant, water and auxiliary. Its adequacy to take care of the city's need for the time being, and what additions to its equipment, if any, are required.

Because the immediate question to be decided, is whether the Kretzsch-

YOUNG MAN FROM T. R. FALLS PLEADS GUILTY TO BURGLARY CHARGE TAKEN

Confesses to Assault of Remmem at Rosewood Store; Taken to Reformatory

The attempted burglary of the Remmen store at Rosewood and the assault of its proprietor, John Remmem, some time ago, has finally been cleared up and one of the members of the party who committed the act sent to the reformatory at St. Cloud to serve an indeterminate period.

The Warren Register in its last week's issue gave the following account of the proceedings connected with the apprehension of the young man from this city who pleaded guilty to the crime:

"Sheriff Hanson returned Friday from Arlington, Wash., bringing with him Rueben Larson, of Thief River Falls, who was wanted for assault and attempted robbery by the local authorities. Young Larson committed the crime nearly three months ago, since which time he had been wandering around the country, finally landing in Arlington, his former home. Unable to find work, he gave himself up. On his arrival here he plead guilty to the charge of assault in the second degree and was sentenced to the reformatory at St. Cloud, where he was taken a few days later."

In the same issue another item says:

"Deputy Sheriff Bordewich left Tuesday for St. Cloud, having in his charge a young man who had confessed to being a participant in the assault made upon John Remmem at Rosewood and who had been sentenced for an indeterminate period to the state reformatory."

N. Dakota Man Buys Carload of Pennington Co. Guernsey Stock

Another indication of the popularity of Pennington county cattle among outside buyers and worthy of notice is the purchase of a carload of Pennington county Guernseys by a breeder from North Dakota last week. The buyer, Henry Gietzen of Glenn Ullen, N. D., was especially desirous of getting high grade stock as he was purchasing a foundation herd, having decided to change breeds. He bought three head from Stuart McLeod of Goodridge, three from F. G. Conklin near Thief River Falls, seven from Henry Pope near St. Hilaire and ten from H. Wilde, of Rhoda, Mayfield township. All were high grade animals, the top price paid being $100 per head. The average price was about $75. The lot was shipped out from Thief River Falls last Monday.

Painting Inside of Court House

The Pennington county court house is this week undergoing a decided change insofar as the interior is concerned, painters being engaged to repaint the walls and ceiling. It is the first time a coat of paint has been applied since the reorganization of the county in 1911.

A number of Thief River Falls citizens have been named as members of the Ninth District Republican State Senatorial Committee recently formed to campaign the election of Gov. J. A. O. Preus, the personnel of which was announced last week.

Among those named from this city now actively engaged in supporting the governor's candidacy are: Mrs. J. M. Bishop, H. C. Durrin, F. F. Haynes, W. J. LaBree and L. R. Johnston. Mrs. Estella Josephson was also named as a member of the committee, but it is announced that more will be added later.

PENNINGTON CO. WILL HAVE BIGGEST CATTLE SHOW EVER SEEN HERE

This is The Announcement Made by Those in Charge of Fair Livestock Exhibits

Livestock breeders of Pennington county are not exhibiting at outside fairs in the surrounding counties this year but are making preparations to make the exhibition here next month one of the finest ever seen in this section or perhaps anywhere in the state.

Those in charge of livestock exhibits for the fair which opens August 1 urge that those who wish to enter animals for exhibition do so as soon possible in order that the management may know how much outside stock may be taken in. Farmers of Pennington county should bear this in mind and oblige those in charge by attending to the matter at once.

A number of breeders of this vicinity have already made their entries. The following Holstein breeders have officially designated their intentions of showing at the fair: Casper Weiner, Smiley, ten head; S. E. Hunt, Rocksbury, two head; M. T. McFarland, Norden, three head; Waldie Christianson, North, five head; Frank Hardisty, Smiley, two head; Oscar Wilson, Wyandotte, two head. There will be several more of this breed and a large number of the various others will be represented. J. J. McCann, secretary of the fair organization, announces that according to present indications the exhibits this year will be greater than they have ever been before.

What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar.

SCHOLIEN BREAKS RIBS AND SUFFERS INTERNAL INJURIES TO ONE LUNG

Black River Farmer Narrowly Escapes Death in Fall From Scaffold While Shingling

John Schollen, a farmer of Black River township, was seriously injured Tuesday afternoon, falling off a scaffold 20 feet above the ground, breaking three ribs and suffering internal injuries.

Mr. Schollen was shingling a new barn on the Emil Larsen farm and was up on the second scaffold, twenty feet above the ground, with his brother-in-law, Emil Larson and Larson's son, Walter. The scaffold broke and in the fall Schollen struck a 2 in. by 4 in. cross member of the first scaffold, half way to the ground, falling on his chest and side, breaking three ribs and sustaining internal injuries to the lungs. He then fell the remaining distance to the ground and was rendered unconscious. Dr. J. T. Bowers was summoned at once and arrived to the scene of the accident in record time. Mr. Schollen was given first aid and brought to the city and placed in the Physicians hospital.

He has regained consciousness and while he is in a critical condition at this writing he is expected to recover fully though he will be confined to his bed for a considerable length of time.

Schollen's brother-in-law, Emil Larson, clung to the framework of the building and escaped any injury. His son Walter Larson fell to the ground but alighted with only minor bruises.

In an interview Dr. Bowers stated that Schollen very narrowly escaped death, had he struck the timber more squarely his back would have been broken.

$12,188.15 Is Received As Balance of State Aid to School District 18

A check in the amount of $12,188.15 was this week received from the state by County Treasurer John Gullingsrud, which is the amount due District No. 18 under the state aid law. Only 74 per cent of the state aid was received last year on account of the depleted condition of the treasury and the check sent here this week represents the balance.

Mrs. A. J. Collins and niece Miss Elva Anderson, arrived Friday from Spokane, Washington, for a visit with her parents and relatives and friends in the city.

RECENT RAINS AID CROP CONDITIONS; OUTLOOK IS BETTER

Practically All Crops Show Huge Gain Following Heavy Rains and Cool Weather

Sugar Beets in This Section Indicate Big Yield. Corn Looks Best Ever

The rains during the past two weeks have greatly improved the condition of crops in this section, and was particularly beneficial to the small grains and hay meadows.

Reports from all parts of this section are to the effect that crops at the present are looking quite favorable, the cool weather during the past week giving the grains a good chance to fill properly.

Sugar beets in this vicinity are looking particularly good and give every indication of a record yield. E. G. Moore of the sugar beet company at Mason City said even before the last rains that the beet crop in the Thief River Falls territory are the best he had ever seen. J. J. McCann, county agent, stated to a Times reporter yesterday that there are beets near this city that are already over two pounds in weight. The fields are now being blocked, the county agent stating that this will be completed within the next two weeks.

Wheat is looking fair but the acreage has been cut practically in half compared to former years. Flax and other late spring crops are in splendid condition following the heavy rains but rye in some places had suffered considerably before relief came. The potato crop in this section is much lighter than last year and suffered some from the lack of moisture and other conditions.

Tame hay such as alfalfa and sweet clover is unusually fine this season, many having cut the first crop and receiving big yields. The other hay crops will probably be light altho there has been much improvement the last few days. Cutting will be delayed somewhat, however.

Corn this year looks the best that has ever been grown in this section, reports being to the effect that it has in some places reached a height of nearly four feet.

The weekly crop report of Paul H. Kirk, Minnesota agricultural statistician, issued last week said that early sown grains are heading out and in some sections where dry conditions prevailed the heads are short and only will be a main stem crop. In other sections the heads are of good size and conditions are promising. Rye is ripening rapidly. Corn, flax and potatoes are looking good. Corn especially has a splendid growth. Some flax is in blossom. Bugs on potatoes are reported to be serious. While pastures have improved, they still are not up to normal. The hay crop, except alfalfa, will be light.

The report said that livestock is "a little thin but in good condition." The soil now is in good condition with sufficient moisture but a continuation of the cool weather is necessary for the grain crops to fill properly.

Important Elk Meeting.

A regular meeting of the Elks will be held tomorrow, Friday, evening at which time various matters of importance to all members of the order will be taken up. Two new officers will be elected at that time, one being that of Esteemed Leading Knight to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. J. Brown, and the other that of secretary of the order to fill the place formerly occupied by Thomas J. Austad who passed away a short time ago. All members are urged to attend.

Local Dentists Attend Big Meet At Crookston

The fifteenth annual meeting of the Crookston district society of the Minnesota State Dental association, which was held at that city last Friday and Saturday was attended by three local dentists, Dr. G. A. Penny, Dr. J. N. Nesse and Dr. C. M. Haug.

All the present officers of the district society were re-elected for another year at the election held Friday afternoon. They are: F. C. Bakke, Warren, president; F. G. Rogstad, Detroit, vice president; Paul Hagen, Crookston, secretary-treasurer; W. G. Courtney, East Grand Forks, representative of the executive council of the state association.

Next year's meeting place has not yet been selected.

Plate work, bridge crowns, and straightening of teeth were among the subjects that received attention. Demonstrations and lectures on denture construction and other phases of dentistry and a number of special clinics by members of the district organizations were conducted. A banquet, given by the association and a golf tournament were features of the meet. Nearly forty dentists were present. The local dentists made the trip by car.

At Luther League Meet

Rev. T. E. Sweger, pastor of the Trinity church, returned Saturday from Fergus Falls where he attended part of the annual convention of the Young Peoples' Luther Leagues of northern Minnesota. The event was well attended and gave indication of much interest in the organization.

BUREAU ASKS AID OF GOVERNMENT

Telegram to Wallace Suggests 200,000,000 Bushels Be Held Off Market for Year.

Washington—A proposal that a minimum of 200,000,000 bushels of wheat be withdrawn by American farmers from this year's visible supply, in view of this country's indicated large surplus, and be placed in warehouses under supervision of the Department of Agriculture, financed through the intermediate credit banks and carried forward to augment next year's crop at harvest time, was made public by the American Farm Bureau federation.

In a telegram to Secretary Wallace, who is accompanying President Harding on his Alaskan trip, the federation commended the President's statement in Kansas, supporting intermediate credits and warehousing, and urging Mr. Wallace to advise the President to recommend that farmers avail themselves of the new warehousing and intermediate credits acts.

Such a move in the opinion of the federation, would "allow co-operative and orderly marketing and lift wheat from 75 to 80 cents, the present price, to $1.40 to $1.50, and would continue it on that basis throughout this year, thereby being helpful to both producer and consumer and eliminating speculation."

FORMER CONGRESSMAN DIES

Was Prominent in G. O. P. Affairs for 18 Years as Representative.

St. Paul—Frederick C. Stevens, representative in Congress from the Fourth Minnesota district, the city of St. Paul and Ramsey county, from 1897 until 1915, died at the Miller hospital, St. Paul, after an illness of several weeks. He was 62 years old.

He came to Minnesota, settling in St. Paul. He was elected to the state Legislature in 1889 and 1891, and served as secretary of the State League of Republican clubs from 1891 to 1896, and began his first term in Congress March 4, 1897.

He was one of the authors of the pure food act passed during President Roosevelt's administration, and initiated the movement which resulted in the construction of the high dam in the Mississippi river.

He also assisted in the framing and passing of the legislation which authorized the construction of the Panama canal.

SHERIFF KILLED BY BANDIT

Captured Leader of South Dakota Terror Ring Escapes Again.

Breckenridge—Sheriff I. C. Falker of Aberdeen, S. D., was shot and killed on a train near here by Edwin Rust, a prisoner, whom he was taking back to Aberdeen for a daring jail escape and a series of holdsups.

When the sheriff fell to the car floor unconscious, the murderer leaped through the car window and escaped.

The shireff was killed while the train was passing through Wolverton, 80 miles from Breckenridge.

Almost immediately after the shooting, the murderer held up a motorist on the King of Trails highway which runs parallel to the Great Northern tracks from Fargo to Wolverton and robbed the driver and took his clothing.

FLIERS ARE FORCED DOWN

Faulty Gas Line Causes Plane to Crash Into Water After 24 Hours.

San Diego, Calif.—Captain Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant J. B. Richter, army aviators attempting to break aviation records were forced down into San Diego bay by what army officials at North Island described as "a faulty gas line" and a heavy fog.

The plane fell into shallow water and turned completely over, but neither of the pilots was injured. The plane is somewhat damaged.

Thus they remained in the air 24 hours almost to the minute.

ETNA IS BELCHING NEW LAVA

Molten River Advancing Across Plains at Much Faster Rate.

Rome—Mount Etna, instead of returning to its smoky slumbers, is once more exploding and erupting, the upheavals apparently having received new impetus, according to the Giornal d'Italia's Catania correspondent.

A fresh stream of lava, issuing from one of the newly torn crater mouths near Mount Nero, has branched off across the Filisci plains and now is advancing toward Lingua Glossa at a rate of 12 miles an hour, much faster than previous flows.

A molten river 50 feet wide was only seven kilometers from the railroad station at Lingua Glossa.

Crops Damaged By Drouth.

Fargo, N. D.—Drouth conditions which prevailed over a good share of the state were broken by the general rains of last week, but not until permanent damage to the grain crops has been sustained in almost every section except the western third, according to crop reports received by the North Dakota extension division from 28 county extension agents of the state. Hot weather caused a forced growth of wheat, with the result that the crop is heading out with shot straw in many localities.

GRAIN GROWERS TO FINANCE ELEVATORS

Farmers' Agency at Minneapolis Makes Arrangement With New Credit Bank

By Farm Bureau News Service.

Arrangements for financing the operation of farmer-owned country elevators have been completed by the U. S. Grain Growers' Sales Company of Minneapolis, according to T. H. Hagen, general manager.

Since the agency was established last fall by the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, co-operating with the national sales department of the U. S. Grain Growers, the single factor which has prevented its expansion has been the difficulty of obtaining finance for farmer elevators. Except in rare cases, these institutions have been financed by commission houses, who have demanded in return all or nearly all an elevator's business. The new arrangement will enable the farmers' concern to meet this commission house competition.

Mr. Hagen completed his finance program last week, after conferences with the Federal Farm Loan board, which is administering the new Intermediate Credit banks in St. Paul and elsewhere. He has obtained a line of credit which will give each elevator not to exceed $15,000. This loan will be secured by storage grain tickets. The money has been obtained at 5½ per cent.

The Intermediate Credit Banks, without which the new financing plan would be impossible, were created under a law passed by the last Congress, after strong pressure had been exerted on members of the House Finance committee by the Washington office of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

FOOD PRICES AND THE FARMER

The price of food, according to the Department of Labor, averages 42 per cent higher now than it did in 1913. The Department of Agriculture reports, however, that the farmer is receiving less for the staples like wheat, corn, barley, hay and livestock than he did in 1913. What causes the difference?

Higher wages in every line except farming account for the discrepancy. Miners, steel workers, railroad men, labor in packing, milling and canning plants, all are receiving more money with the result that the cost of transporting and transforming the farm output into finished products has greatly increased. These increased wages are a distinct economic benefit—except to the farmer. The size of his compensation is fixed by the price his surplus brings on the world market. The world market is low, hence the farmer gets less for his work than he did in 1913.

The situation can be remedied in two ways: An effort can be made to lift the world market price by improving world conditions, or the American farmer can reduce his output, thereby forcing the price up. His chances of improving world conditions are microscopic, but he can reduce his output. In fact, he is almost compelled to produce less. He is doing it. He is cutting down. Pretty soon food prices will go up. When they do, don't howl. On the contrary, be thankful that for the last three years the farmer has been working for you for less than nothing. He is entitled at least to the wage of a day laborer. —July Sunset.

Wealthy Polk Farmer Aged 21, Shoots Self

Nelson A. Veitch, 21, a well-to-do farmer of Grand Forks township in western Polk county, ended his life by first taking a drink of muriatic acid and a few seconds later shooting himself in the face with a ten-guage shotgun early Monday morning last week. The body was found in the hayloft of the barn, several hours after the act had been committed. The young man was single and operated a 240-acre farm near East Grand Forks, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bass who lived with him. It is said that Vietch appeared quite despondent over the loss of a large number of trees which formed a beautiful grove on his farm, Sunday's storm also having partly destroyed a machine shed. He was well off financially and had not been in debt. The coroner stated that the young man took his life during a period of great despondency.

Nine Year Old Dies.

Ruth, nine year old daughter of Mrs. Geo. Nestvold residing in Agder township, died Thursday, June 21st at her parental home, the cause of her death being liver trouble from which she suffered for some time. Ruth was born in Agder township Jan. 5th, 1914. She leaves to mourn her death, her mother and three brothers, Oscar, Roy and Clifford of Agder and one sister, Mrs. John Klungness of Garretson, S. D. Newspaper A Business Guide

The newspaper that carries a good line of advertising is to the shopper what the time table is to the traveler and the published guide is to the tourist. Busy people will study these advertisements in the home or in the office as they do a time table, and, before they start out, shopping they have determined where they are going. The newcomer or visitor in the city finds the advertising columns of a newspaper a reliable guide to points of interest a matter of interest and time-saving.—The Ohio Newspaper.

HIGHWAYS RARELY TO BLAME FOR ACCIDENTS

Chance-taking Drivers Fast Multiplying Mishaps on Smooth Roads, Says Bulletin

Accident-proof highways are still in a class with artificial eggs—there are no such things, says a bulletin issued by the Minnesota highway department.

Speeding and chance-taking cause the large percentage of accidents on the roads, the bulletin states. More accidents occur on broad, smooth, straight highways than on those with dangerous curves or rough, sandy surfaces. This is supported by records, field employees of the department being required to report all accidents on the trunk routes, and special investigations and photographs being made in the more serious cases.

"Blinded by glaring headlights, the driver turned off the grade and plunged over the embankment," read one accident account which failed to add the fact that the machine had crossed the road and gone off the left side.

"The car struck a sandy spot and all six passengers were hurt," said another, without adding the fact that the small, overloaded car was traveling faster than 40 miles an hour.

"The body was found under the car which had gone off the road at the turn," read still another, in which the driver had fallen asleep.

Elimination of railroad grade crossings, rounding of corners and lengthening of curves, erection of guard-rails and posting of warning signs — all safety measures and devices are useless, says the bulletin, when drivers fail to exercise reasonable care. More than twenty cars have crashed into one long guard-rail already this season, not because the stretch is dangerous, it continues, but on the contrary is so good that drivers race along at 55 to 65 miles an hour. The highway department is improving and maintaining the trunk highways and safety is always a consideration, the bulletin concludes, but the policing of the roads is left by law to local authorities and the driver who speeds and takes chances frequently pays for foolhardiness.

Three Criminal Charges In Red Lake Falls Court

Three criminal cases were brought into Justice P. F. Poullot's court in Red Lake Falls Tuesday of last week, according to the Gazette.

Albert Brault was arrested charged with assaulting Leo Page a fellow member of a crew that is graveling state highway No. 32 some 7 miles south of town. Brault pleaded guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $5 and costs. Both men are Polk county residents.

Steve Ford was arrested charged with assaulting his sister, Mrs. Catharine Spencer. He, too pleaded guilty and after a severe lecture from County Attorney Chas. E. Boughton, Jr., Justice Poullot imposed a sentence of one year's exile from Red Lake county. If Ford returns before that time he must serve a thirty day sentence in the county jail. Ford has been an inmate of the state hospital for the insane at Fergus Falls and is not quite right mentally.

Kenneth Omer Preston of Plummer was brought before Justice Poullot on a paternity charge preferred by a young girl of that village. Preston pleaded not guilty and waived preliminary examination. Justice Poullot took the case under advisement and Wednesday bound Preston over to the district court for trial.

This section is again being visited by traveling gypsies. The following story as to their activities in Bagley is told by the Bemidji Pioneer:

A new stunt in the way of advertising was pulled off by the Bagley Mercantile Co. The local band stationed on the roof of the store and played a good portion of the day to attract attention to special sale.

The sheriff and his deputies were kept busy for several hours rounding up a bunch of gypsies who invaded the town about noon and proceeded to work their fortune game on the unsuspecting farmers who had gathered around the store to listen to the band. From all reports the gypsy woman fortune tellers were quite handy in reaching into the pockets of their victims and extracting what loose change was there.

Pure-Breds and Prosperity

There is more to the question of pure-bred stock than a matter of pedigree, registry and conformation to type. Successful dairymen will testify that the superiority of the pure-bred over the scrub also shows in the milk pail, and in the cream check.

In prosperous farming communities, herds are headed by pure-bred sires, not because prosperous farmers can afford the luxury of pure-breds, but because the pure-breds have made the farmers prosperous.

The Citizens State Bank stands ready to co-operate at all times with the man who wishes to grade up his herd with pure-breds.

(Official Paper, City of Thief River Falls)

One reason for the crime wave is that the officers elected to enforce the law are too cowardly to do it. They hold up their hands before God and man and swear to enforce laws and then dodge the responsibility for fear of losing the votes of the lawless element at the next election. They fall back upon the pusillanimous excuse "Bring in the evidence," when it is their sworn duty to seek for evidence that law breakers may be punished.—The Faribault Journal.

It is plain to the thinking man that the most-used main roads should be built first because they serve the largest numbers and carry the most loads. But under Minnesota laws transferring the main highways to the state for improvement and upkeep, counties and townships have money available from the same tax levies to go forward with the improvement of local roads at four times the old pace. So let's help each other and the first thing we know there will be none but good roads anywhere in Minnesota.

Publishers of the St. James Plainsdealer found it necessary recently to go through their entire edition and clip out an advertisement which told of the gift enterprise launched by a garage. They had to take this action because the postoffice advised them the advertisement was in violation of the regulations. Lodges, charitable and civic organizations are frequent users of lotteries, prize drawings and gift stunts. Newspapers which advertise or carry news reports of these enterprises, no matter how worthy their intent, are violating the law.—Montevideo News.

Every line in a newspaper costs the proprietor something. If it is for the benefit of the individual it should be paid for. If the grocer were asked to contribute groceries to one abundantly able to pay for them, he would refuse. The proprietor of a newspaper must pay for the free advertising if the benficiary does not and yet it is one of the hardest things to be learned by many, that a newspaper has space in its columns to rent and must rent them to live. To give away rent for anything less than living rates is as fatal for a newspaper as for a landlord to furnish rent free.—Amboy Herald.

WISELY SAID

A bit of good philosophy was expressed when someone wrote the following squib: "A rosy-cheeked face in the kitchen is worth a dozen operatic singers in the parlor, pawing the piano and screaming 'A flower from my dear old mother's grave,' when very likely that poor old mother is hanging up a washing in the back yard. It's all right to know how to be a good housekeeper, even if the work has to be superintended, and is far better than superficial airs."

"BILL" AGAIN.

Representative Noonan, editor of the Baudette Region, has been charged with having secured more favorable legislation for his district than any other member of the late session. Some of his colleagues are jealous and it has been suggested that a humorist should be constitutionally prohibited from "kidding" himself into the legislature. The average member thinks there's nothing funny about the other fellow getting most of the public pie. —Grand Rapids Herald-Review.

COUNTY AGENT A HELPER

The Winnebago City Enterprise comments as follows on the county agent question:

You can't blame the farmers for being skeptical about expert advise; they have had so much of it, and found it worthless. That is why in some counties, the County Agent is looked on with suspicion. In the early days some County Agents were only theoretical students who knew little of practical farming, and who seemed to imagine they were on earth to force their little brand of economic salvation to the benighted farmer. Fortunately, this is changed now and the County Agent is a practical, sensible hard working servant of the common good, and as farmers come to know this they will welcome the Agent as a friend and helper.

IN MEMORIAM

T. J. Austad, editor of the Thief River Falls Times, died Wednesday last week after being ill for several months with a complication of kidney and heart trouble. His passing is generally regretted by the newspaper fraternity.—Herald Rustler, Badger.

The sudden death of good old Tom Austad of the Thief River Falls Times is a shock to his many Northern Minnesota friends. Tom was a capable and conscientious editor and a thoroughly dependable man, and it's sad to think that he could not be spared for many more years of the useful work he loved.—Duluth Herald.

The Sentinel expresses its sincere sympathy to the relatives and business associates of the late Thomas J. Austad, for many years editor of the Thief River Falls Times and a veteran newspaper man in Northern Minnesota. "Tom", as he was known throughout this section of the state, was a true friend, a real newspaperman and a splendid companion.—Bemidji Sentinel.

Baudette friends of Tom Austad, editor of the Thief River Falls Times, were shocked last night to learn of his death. He had been ill for some time with Bright's disease, and while his condition was known to be serious it was hoped that he would recover. Mr. Austad was one of the cleverest newspaper men in the state and possessed a rare personality that endeared him to hundreds of friends. He was well known in Baudette, having visited this village on several occasions.—Baudette Region.

Tom J. Austad, editor of the Thief River Falls Times since 1916, died at the hospital at Thief River Falls late Wednesday evening last week after an illness of several months. Mr. Austad who was one the best liked and most widely known newspaper men in this part of the state, was compelled to lay down his editorial duties this spring owing to illness and since then has been in charge of the Elk's club rooms at Thief River Falls. He was an active member of the Elks, Masonic and I. O. O. F. lodges.

Funeral services were conducted by the Elk and Masonic lodges at the hall of the former last Friday evening and the remains were shipped to Mr. Austad's former home at Duluth for burial.—St. Hilaire Spectator.

The people of Grand Rapids were shocked to learn of the death of Tom Austad which occurred Wednesday at Thief River Falls. Mr. Austad had been a sufferer for a number of years from high blood pressure and this finally caused his death. Mr. Austad lived in Grand Rapids for about twenty years, starting in here as "devil" in a local print shop and working himself up to a master printer. In

THOS. J. AUSTAD
Late Editor of The Times.

1917 he severed his connection with the Herald Review and went to Thief River Falls where he purchased half interest in the Thief River Falls Times. Ed. Austad, a brother, was in town Thursday and reported that the remains were being conducted to Duluth where the funeral was to be held yesterday afternoon. A host of sorrowing friends will extend sympathy to those bereaved by the untimely passing of this estimable man.—Itasca County Independent.

Thomas J. Austad, editor of the Thief River Falls Times since 1916, passed to the great beyond on Wednesday of last week at the age of fifty years. He was born at Trondhjem, Norway, came to America with his parents when a lad ten years old, grew to manhood in Duluth where he learned the printers trade and, later drifted into editorial work, being employed on the Duluth Herald for several years and afterward on various papers in Wisconsin, Indiana and Minnesota. He was a fluent, vigorous writer and by his contributions helped to make the Times a newsy and eagerly read paper. Now he has written his last line and no longer will he spread cheer by the geniality and optimism of his personality. But his kindliness of heart, his devotion to duty and his industry in his chosen calling, will remain pleasant memories to all who had been associated with him in life.—Warren Sheaf.

News of the death of Thomas J. Austad at Thief River Falls on June 13, was received in Grand Rapids by many friends with sincere sorrow. He had been a sufferer from Bright's disease for some time and for several weeks prior to his death had been unable to attend to his duties as editor of the Thief River Falls Times. Funeral services and interment took place in Duluth last Saturday, under the auspices of Fraternal Order of Elks and the Masonic order.

The deceased was about 46 years old, and unmarried.

About twenty-eight years ago Tom Austad came to Grand Rapids from Duluth to work in the mechanical department of the Herald-Review. He was only a boy then, 18 years of age. For more than 12 years he was with this paper, and after an absence of eight years he returned, remaining until he became identified with the Thief River Falls Times, seven years ago, of which he was editor up to the time of his death.

Tom Austad had many friends in Grand Rapids—he had friends wherever he was known. As a newspaper writer he was among the ablest on the Minnesota press. As a printer he was an artist of high class. He was the soul of honor, true to every trust reposed in him, a faithful friend. —Grand Rapids Herald-Review.

Word was received this morning that Tom Austad, editor of the Thief River Falls Times, had died suddenly at 11 o'clock Wednesday evening of heart's disease. He had been suffering from Bright's disease for some time and had been troubled with high blood pressure, and his heart suddenly failed him. Two brothers were with him when he died.

He was about 50 years old and unmarried. He came to Thief River Falls from Grand Rapids where he had been employed on the Herald-Review. For some eight years he had charge of the editorial department of the Thief River Falls Times and the excellence of the paper is due in no small measure to his work. He was one of the large stockholders in the Times company and the recent fire at the Times office caused him considerable loss and worry.

For the past year he has been secretary of the Elks lodge and since early spring has been in charge of the clubrooms, devoting practically all his time to his fraternal work. On account of his death the large gathering of Elks planned for Friday, June 15, has been postponed.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed but the services will be under the auspices of the Elks and the Masons.

"Tom" was well known to many Red Lake Falls people as he came down frequently while the Times was being printed at the Gazette office following the first fire the paper suffered. He was a likeable fellow, a fearless and an able writer and the newspaper fraternity is the loser by his death.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Good Advice on Good Roads

When the people can be made to understand and realize that it actually costs more in time and money to travel over a poor road than it does to travel over a good one, they will be less inclined to begrudge the expense of good roads, and what is more important still, will be willing and anxious to trust the business of road making to those who understand it.—Shakopee Argus.

When the outside peddler solicits you for something that you can buy of your local merchant don't be ashamed to tell him that you prefer to patronize the home dealer. For he is your friend and neighbor, and is doing his share for the town. The outside man is doing nothing for the community in which you live.—St. James Plainsdealer.

You can learn a lot from children if you will. They can soften your wisdom; they are manly, they can save you from the pretense of simplicity and if you love them and help them you are working with the world's tomorrow.—Le Sueur News.

AREA TESTING OF LIVE STOCK REGARDING T. B

C. E. Cotton Announces Counties in Which War on Tuberculosis Will Be Waged

Area testing to control tuberculosis in cattle and hogs soon will be undertaken in Meeker and Traverse counties, according to an announcement made this week by Dr. C. E. Cotton, Secretary of the state Livestock Sanitary board, under whose direction the work will be carried on.

Area testing in Minnesota was authorized by the last legislature. It will be carried on in counties in which commissioners have authorized an expenditure of 25 cents a head to cover the cost of each test required to effectively control the disease. The state has made an appropriation of $100,000 to cover indemnities on animals condemned. The extent to which testing will be carried on will be governed by the amount of money needed to meet the indemnity costs.

"We have made plans for testing the animals in these two counties," Dr. Cotton says, "because we are reasonably sure that the work can be satisfactorily completed with the funds on hand. Whether additional counties will be undertaken will depend upon how far we are able to make our money go. The law provides that the tests shall be carried on in all counties whose commissioners meet the requirements, the work to be started in the order in which the applications are filed. Several counties in addition to Meeker and Traverse, are active in circulating petitions—hence it is certain that the work this year will be limited only by the funds available."

Dr. Cotton says the testing will be started as soon as it is practical.

According to Dr. L. R. Twete, local accredited veterinary, a large number of the herds in this section are affected and should be tested to protect the public from this plague. A series of tests for city milk producing cows have been conducted recently but there are yet a considerable number of bovines remaining to be tested.

According to surveys, Meeker county has 2,411 herds, containing 44,761 cattle, of which 1,300 are pure bred. It is estimated that 3.5 per cent are infected with tuberculosis. In Traverse county there are 1,019 herds, containing 19,257 cattle with only 701 purebreds. The percentage of infection is stated as being 2 per cent.

Advertising As Barometer

A newspaper may boom a town through its editorial and news columns, but a critical investor takes his cue from the advertising columns for substantial evidence as to the thrift and prosperity of the place. To him the advertising is the barometer that measures the prosperity of a town. The ads reflect a prosperous condition and tell him that the place is up with the times in business.—Ex.

NEW RAY PRODUCTION HUMAN TO THE CORE

Stars Drops "Mere Movie Stuff" for Finer Acting in "The Girl I Loved"

Memories of seven years ago when Charles Ray made such a sensational hit as a dramatic actor that he was instantly elevated to stardom will be revived at the Lyceum Theater on Sunday and Monday when his latest United Artists production, "The Girl I Loved" will be presented. In this picture the popular star has returned to the field of finer acting with redoubled power.

"The Girl I Loved," moreover, possesses added value from the fact that it is the personal love story of James Whitcomb Riley, the poet, as he related it in the verses with the title upon which the play is based. This story, human to the core, as everything of Riley's is, has provided what is said to be a magnificent drama for screen purposes, bristling with romance and punch.

The courtship of the hero was attended by tragic episodes which the superb acting of Charles Ray has made vivid with the greatest work of his career. Back of this tale of love, suspense and thrilling incident is a picturesque background of the life of rural Indiana seventy years ago, with its carefree gayety of the typical Americans of that period.

Charles Ray has given up for all time the mere "movie stuff" and under his alliance with United Artists Corporation has contracted to make two productions a year of the biggest type. In "The Girl I Loved" he is said to have put forward a drama that makes the spectator forget the theater and live with him through the graphic difficulties of a young man who loved fiercely.

Minnesota Needs Representation

The Republican Party is in control of the government of the United States—certainly for two years more, probably for a much longer time.

Minnesota must be represented in the councils of the dominant party in the U. S. Senate. We must not step out of the position of influence we have so long held in the nation.

The Republican Party took over the government at a time when there were five million unemployed in the United States. Now industry is busy everywhere and there are half a million jobs in excess of the supply of workers.

The war debt has been reduced by several billion dollars, government expenses reduced and taxes re-adjusted so as to interfere as little as possible with those activities by which the people make their living.

We recognize the fact that the farmers of Minnesota are not getting their share of the general prosperity. Labor and the industries are organized along economic lines and are able to name the price of their products—within reasonable limits. The farmers take the price offered for what they sell and pay the price asked for what they buy. Gov. Preus was among the first to advocate organization for agriculture. He stands for co-operative marketing as the best and only means for bringing general prosperity to the farmers. The Republican party stands squarely behind him on that proposition, and Congress and the Legislature have already passed laws to clear the way and assist the farmers to organize. Well paid labor and profitable agriculture is necessary to keep the nation permanently prosperous.

The Republican Party invites you to come out on July 16th and vote for J. A. O. Preus for U. S. Senator. He is an able man. He is a clean man. He has the welfare of the people at heart. The son of a minister—which means comparative poverty and a mind trained from infancy to helpfulness to the people—he worked his way through the schools largely by his own efforts, and as a young man has become governor of Minnesota. You will make no mistake in voting for him.

Yours respectfully,
REPUBLICAN VOLUNTARY COMMITTEE,
Chas. R. Adams, Chairman.

FARM LABOR OFFICE ACTIVE FOR HARVEST

Minneapolis, June 29.—The harvest is on in Kansas and Nebraska and the shortage of harvest workers is beginning to be seriously felt, according to word received from George E. Tucker, field representative of the Farm Labor Bureau of the United States Employment Service, who is in charge of directing harvest laborers to points in the wheat belt.

Owing to the volume of road work under construction and to be commenced shortly, it is feared that when cutting begins in Minnesota and North Dakota difficulty will be encountered in securing an adequate amount of labor to take care of the needs in these states.

With the object of securing the necessary number of workers for Minnesota, estimated at about 10,000, Governor Preus recently took the matter up with officials of the United States Employment Service at Kansas City, and was given assurance that the Employment Service would bend every effort to see that Minnesota is supplied with sufficient workers to help in harvesting the crops in this state.

Through the efforts of Governor Preus the office of the district director of the United States Employment Service, for the Fourth district, which includes Minnesota, was moved from Kansas City to Minneapolis. This, it is said, will enable the farmers of this state to keep in closer touch with the labor supply during harvest season.

The Human Element in Industry

IN BUSINESS there is no such thing as independence. Business is part of the social fabric where every individual is, directly or indirectly, dependent upon every other individual. The stockholder is dependent upon the employe, and the employe on the stockholder, while both are dependent upon the public who buy and consume the products they manufacture.

Stockholders and employes also are consumers. In the case of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) more than eight thousand of the employes are part owners in the business.

With a keen realization of this interdependence, the company, the management and the employes practice that sound Yankee fairness in dealing with one another, which makes for better understanding and industrial harmony.

The individual employe is a citizen just as the individual stockholder is a citizen. Whether or not he is a good citizen often depends upon whether he is busy, happy and successful in the business which engages his attention.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is proud of its employes; they are good citizens, law-respecting, thrifty, industrious and happy in their industry. Experience has proved that this type of citizen makes the best employe. The employe who is zealous in the performance of his duty, who strives to give the public as well as the Company good service, is a citizen worthy of the name.

It is a policy of this Company to pay its workmen a good wage. Also it is the policy of this Company to promote and encourage "personal contact" between the employes and the management.

This open-door policy of fair dealing has resulted in uniform enthusiasm and loyalty on the part of the employes, and because of it the Company is better able to fulfill, in a satisfactory manner, its obligations to the people of the Middle West.

RED LAKE FIRST TO SIGN POTATO QUOTA

More Than 50 Per cent of Commercial Acreage Under Contract to New Plan

Red Lake county is the first to obtain its quota in the campaign to organize the potato industry on the commodity co-operative marketing basis. This announcement was made last week by state headquarters on the new Minnesota Potato Growers' Exchange at St. Paul.

Under the leadership of Marius Waldal, county chairman, co-operating with County Agent L. M. Bond, the county was covered in two weeks. Contracts have been received at St. Paul from enough Red Lake farmers to assure the new organization of more than half the commercial acreage. However, the work continues, with farmers who have signed explaining the plan to their neighbors who have not. Leaders expect 80 per cent to be under contract in two weeks more.

Organization is going forward in Winona, Kittson, Becker, Beltrami and Itasca. Plans call for an extension of field solicitation into Kanabec, Carlton, Chisago, and several other counties early in July.

Activities in Pennington county are in the hands of a committee which has been distributing contracts and giving information regarding the new organization, but so far no contracts have been completed. The local unit expects to have things going in full swing within a short time, according to J. J. McCann, county agent.

The Securities State Bank of Mahnomen was closed June 26 on orders of A. J. Viegel, state superintendent of banks. Depleted reserve was given as the reason for closing. The bank has a capital stock of $25,000.

STATE ASKS BIDS ON ROAD IMPROVEMENTS

Twenty Projects in Nearly as Many Counties on Important 1923 List to Be Let Late This Month

Grading of 7½ miles on Trunk Highway No. 32 between Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire is one of twenty projects on which a call for bids July 24 was made this week by Commissioner Charles M. Babcock of the state highway department. The improvements are estimated to cost nearly $1,700,000 and include 129 miles of grading, 21 miles of paving, 18 miles of graveling and 7 bridges.

The new list will be the most important this year, highway officials said, but a smaller one may be announced late in August. The improvements will be paid for mainly with funds from first issues of new county reimbursement bonds, more than $11,000,000 of which were authorized by the last legislature. These bonds with interest will be charged against the state trunk highway fund for payment with motor vehicle tax receipts, but the money in each instance can be used only in the county issuing the bonds. Following failure of the state bond proposals for most needed highway improvements, available state funds are going for constant repairs and upkeep, especially on the most traveled sections which are inadequately improved.

Although the legislature voted authority for more than $11,000,000 of new highway construction in 1923 and 1924 subject to county commissioners' approval, and the list today totals nearly $1,700,000. Commissioner Babcock emphasized that every effort will be made to hold down the county issues to about $4,000,000 for the 2-year period. Any other policy, he repeated, would allow the taking of funds for minor improvements ahead of those needed to serve the largest numbers of people who are paying for them. All trunk routes now fairly passable, he maintains, it would be unfair to use auto taxes to improve a light traffic road ahead of one used by 2,000 or more daily.

Projects in the northern part of the state on which bids are to be opened July 24 follows:

Trunk Highway No. 6—South of Angus, 2 bridges, at $7,000.

Trunk Highway No. 32—At Greenbush, bridge and grading, at $8,928.

Trunk Highway No. 32—Thief River Falls-St. Hilaire, 7½ miles grading at $20,053.

In counties which are lending credit to the various projects, commissioners are going forward with the bond sales and the proceeds are to be turned into the state treasury for trunk highway fund credit. The state highway department will award the contracts, taking advantage of the wider competition obtained at state lettings, and supervise the work. Counties will be credited with the full amounts turned into the treasury and receive interest from the issue date, besides avoiding any possible differences over allowances which might have been possible under contract awards by counties.

HEAVY BONDS FOR LIVESTOCK FIRMS

New Federal Requirement Comes on Heels of South St. Paul Clean-up

By Farm Bureau News Service.

Firms handling live stock on a commission basis at the South St. Paul market and in other centers, after Sept. 1, will be required to give a bond to the federal government. This announcement was made at Washington last week and came on the heels of a federal investigation which thus far has resulted in the indefinite suspension of five firms and the imposition of heavy penalties on others.

This bond will be in addition to those now given to the South St. Paul Stock Yards company and the Exchange. The size of the bond will depend upon the volume of business handled, and in all cases will be large enough to assure protection for shippers.

The bond was ordered by the Secretary of Agriculture, as a further regulation to protect shippers which he is empowered to promulgate under the Stock Yards and Packer Control act.

Investigation of the books of South St. Paul firms by federal auditors continued last week, without announcement of any additional firms having been fined or suspended.

N. J. Holmberg, Commissioner of Agriculture, last week issued a statement in which he explained that three firms which had been fined by the Exchange, without suspension, had not been found guilty of the same offenses as had those suspended, the fines having been imposed for technical violation of yard rules and trade practices rather than connivery with shippers or local association managers. This statement applies to the Campbell Commission Co., the United Commission Co., and Chandler, Kost & Co. The statement was in error to the extent that the United Commission Co. was fined $100, instead of $250, as first stated.

Committee On Dam Matter Reports To Council Thursday

mar-Schreiter properties are to be purchased and developed, at this time, we take up the matters involved in the same, first.

The report of Ralph Thomas, Engineer, was examined thoroughly. The opinion of this committee is that this report is lacking in detail and information and that all the facts and figures upon which Mr. Thomas bases his conclusions are not shown in this report. It is his opinion as an engineer, and not the facts upon which that opinion is based, that is set forth in his report. That opinion appears to the committee to be a half hearted and lukewarm recommendation that the dam as planned by him be constructed by the city. The balance of this report consists in a more or less detailed statement of the estimated cost of construction and operation, and a preliminary design of such a dam, as well as an estimate of the probable power capabilities of the proposed dam.

In respect to the power possibilities of the proposed dam, Mr. Thomas is somewhat vague, but intimates that the reconstructed dam would exceed the power capacity of the present dam only by the amount that could be saved by the elimination of the present leakage and inefficient equipment. Hence the conclusion is obvious, that the power possibilities of the reconstructed dam will only be that developed in the past, plus saving by elimination of the leakage and waste of the present plant. From an examination of the records available in respect to the power developed by the dam in the past, and the actual flowage statistics of the river, the conclusion is reached that the maximum power capability of the reconstructed dam would be 1,000,000 to 1,250,000 kw. h. per year. During the years 1922 the city used 1,044,401 kwh. plus an estimated water consumption of the H. & R. Milling Co. of 200,000 kwh. Under the best conditions, the reconstructed dam would thus barely supply the needs of the present time. It might thus appear that the construction of the dam, might eliminate the need of an auxiliary plant. However, Mr. Thomas expressly states that an auxiliary plant of at least the capacity of the present Diesel equipment, with probable future additions, would have to be maintained in order to tide over anticipated periods of low water. Hence, it is the opinion of the committee that the cost of the development of the present dam site along the lines suggested by Mr. Thomas is excessive, when it is borne in mind that such development allows for no future expansion of the city's electrical demands except by means of auxiliary power.

In order to properly compare the difference in cost of power development by our present water power and auxiliary plant, the committee submits the following:

Findings of the Committee Regarding Present Development of Electricity.

The following findings are based upon figures supplied by the city clerk's office. Prior to January, 1921, no records of electricity developed were kept, so that all basings must be made on the period from that date to June 1st, 1923.

1. The records show that in 1921 there was developed 248,150 K. W. hrs. at the Diesel Oil Plant and 773,288 K. W. hrs. at the Water Power Plant or a total of 1,021,438 K. W. hrs. The total costs of generating was Diesel Plant, $11,634.10, and Water Power $7,585.62 or a total of $19,219.72 which amounts to 1.88 cents per K. W. hr., divided into a cost of 4.7 cents at the Diesel plant and 0.98 cents at the Water Power Plant. During this period the gross earnings of Electric Light and Power Service were: Incandescent Light $33,962.70, and Power $11,674.27 or a total of $45,636.97. Receipts per K. W. hr. developed amount to 4.46 cents. Figuring the electricity used for lighting at 8.1 cents per K. W. and the power at 4.5 cents, the amounts used figure as follows: Light, 419,293 K. W. and Power 259,424 or a total of 678,716 K. W. leaving a balance of 342,722 K. W. hrs. to be accounted for as city current, leakage and wastage.

2. The records show that in 1922 there were developed 539,080 K. W.s at the Diesel Plant and 505,381 at the water plant or a total of 1,044,461 or an increase over the previous year of 23,023 K. W. The total cost of generating was Diesel Plant $18,486.63 and Water Plant $7,856.27, total, $26,342.90. The cost per kilowatt hour was Diesel Plant 3.43 cents and water plant 1.56 cents. The total cost was 2.52 cents per kilowatt hour. During this period the Gross Earnings of the Electric Light plant was $44,747.20 divided into light $33,436.72, and power $11,310.48. Figuring the light rate at 8.1 cents and the power rate at 4.5 cents this figures: light 412,792 K. W. and power 251,346 K. W. or a total of 664,145 leaving a balance for city uses, leakage and wastage of 380,316 K. W.

3. During the period from January 1, 1923 to June 1, 1923, there were developed by the Diesel Plant 296,070 and by the Water Plant 141,446 or a total of 437,516. The total cost was Diesel Plant $7,107.60 and water power $2,413.70, or a total of $9,521.30. The cost per kilowatt hour was Diesel Plant 2.4 cents, water plant 1.7 cents or a total of 2.17 cents.

During this period the gross earnings were: Light, $14,057.95, and power, $3,908.73, or a total of $17,966.78. At the usual rates this amounts to Kilowatts used for light 73,556, power 86,860, leaving the city uses at 177,101 or 40.5 per cent.

Summary: The total power developed during the 29 months from January, 1921, to June, 1923, was Diesel Plant, 1,083,300 kilowatts, and water plant 1,420,115, or a total of 2,503,415. The cost was: Diesel Plant, $37,228.33, and water plant, $17,855.59, or a total of $55,083.92. This figures per kilowatt hour: Diesel Plant 3.43 cents and water power 1.25 cents, or a total cost of 2.2 cents. During this period the Gross Earnings were: Light, $81,457.37, and power, $26,894.48, or a total of $108,351.85. The kilowatts used were as follows: Light, 1,005,646, and power, 597,630, or a total of 1,604,276, leaving a balance for city uses, leakage and wastage of 35.8 per cent.

The tabulations of the City Clerk, upon which the above is based, are annexed to this report and reference to the same is made for further particularity.

Mr. Thomas estimates the cost of power production by means of the reconstructed dam at 2.06 cents per kw. hr. for 1,000,000 kw. per year, and 1.37 cents per kw. hr. for 1,500,000 kw. per year (assuming that there is sufficient water to develop such an amount.) From the above facts and considerations it is clear, that the cost of power production by water power is much less than by steam or oil.

It has been suggested that a site for a dam can be found further down the river, where a dam can be constructed of much greater power potentiality while still preserving the present desirable water level within the city. Facts and figures in regard to the power capabilities of such a dam, its cost of construction, acquisition of flowage, rights, etc., are not available to the committee. It is the belief of the committee, however, based upon its present knowledge of the situation, that a dam further down the river would produce ample power, not only to take care of the city's present needs, but provide for all reasonable future expansion.

In regard to the present equipment, it is apparent that a situation approximating an emergency exists. It has been suggested that an additional Diesel engine be purchased and installed, as an emergency equipment. Such an engine of 400 h. p. developing 250 K. W. would cost around $44,000.00. It has also been suggested that in lieu of an additional engine, storage battery of sufficient capacity could be installed to take care of the peak load, and also to increase the efficiency of the present Diesel plant.

Recommendations

1. That the city should not at the present time proceed with the purchase and development of the dam as outlined by Mr. Thomas. In this connection, we call attention to the fact that the city's existing water lease does not expire until October 5th, 1925.

2. For immediate consideration, we recommend that no purchase of additional engines be made, until the possibilities of storage batteries in connection with the present plant, be thoroughly investigated.

3. We suggest that the possibilities of the dam site down the river be thoroughly investigated and that a reasonable amount be expended for that purpose as soon as practicable.

4. As bearing upon the efficiency and power production of the present plant, we recommend that the causes of the apparent wastage and leakage of current, be investigated. In this connection, we further recommend that the city's consumption of electricity be metered.

5. We further recommend at least for the time being, and until the above matters have been fully looked into, that no contract be entered into with outside power distributors for the supplying of the city's needs of electricity. We are firmly of the opinion that the city can manufacture its power much cheaper, and with more satisfaction to its citizens, than by purchasing power from outside concerns.

MUCH TIMBER LAND IN NORTHERN MINNESOTA OPENED FOR SETTLERS

9,400 Acres Govt. Land May Be Filed On Sept. 19. Preference to Ex-Service Men

Announcement was made in Crookston last week by Martin Widsten, United States Land Office Register for the Crookston district, that the federal interior department had reported the opening of 9,400 acres of timber lands in the Crookston, Cass Lake and Duluth districts on September 19th, this year. Eligible applicants must file their entry claims in person and the local office will be open for this purpose at nine o'clock on the date and the day following.

The land in this district is widely scattered but the larger portion of it is in Clearwater and Lake of the Woods counties. The land is mostly wooded with pine, the prevailing timber.

Mr. Widsten states that the government will give ex-service men preference rights in filing. The homesteads will be thrown open to filing by ex-service men on September 19, but other citizens must wait until December 18th to make an entry on the land then remaining.

It has also been announced that the soldiers and sailors may apply their period in the service, up to two years, on the time required to prove up on their filing. This will enable an ex-service homesteader to prove up his claim in seven months.

The land now announced for opening is said to be the last of the government's domain in this district. The land in Clearwater county is a part of the government timber reserve in the southern part. The land to be thrown open for entry is located in Beltrami, Clearwater, Mahnomen, Polk, Koochiching and Cook counties.

Nick Ekstein, Wylie Pioneer, Died Sunday

Nick Eckstein, veteran merchant of Wylie, died at his home there Sunday evening. Death resulted from heart desease. Mr. Eckstein had been at home only a week after having been a patient at one of the Crookston hospitals for a period of nearly three months. He leaves a wife, eight children, two brothers who live in Germany, and one sister, Mrs. William Weterstrat of Crookston. The children are Miss Clara Eckstein at home, Mrs. Joe Draeger, Badger, Henry, August, Fred, William and Otto all of whom are home except William.

Mr. Eckstein was well known throughout this section, having been engaged in the general merchandise business at Wylie for the past 40 years. He was 63 years of age at the time of his death.

What's a Matter June Brides?

The June brides were not very prevalent in Pennington county this year. According to the reports for this nuptial month Clerk of Court Eklund issued only eight licenses during that period. It appears from his records that other months of the year are just as popular if not more so. In Polk county the clerk was particularly busy this year, about 60 marriage licenses being issued from that office. Some say it is a sign of the return of prosperity while others say, "Well, there's one born every minute."

Meddlers Bother Firemen

A number of "hard boiled" fellows became so meddlesome while the fire department was fighting a blaze in a Bemidji home that it was necessary to call the police to restore order, a regular riot being started. The firemen were molested on the grounds that they were not applying the proper means of fire fighting and had to use chemicals to drive the meddlers back until the police came.

Married in Portland

Local people will be interested in learning of the marriage on June 26 of Herman Bloomberg and Victoria Juhlin. The ceremony took place in Portland, Washington, at the home of the bride. The groom is the son of Mrs. Anna Bloomberg, who resides west of Thief River Falls. He is now employed with a dredging crew on the Columbia river.

Bank Reopens

The Farmers State Bank of Karlstad which was closed last February has reorganized its finances and reopened its doors Saturday on a financial basis stronger than it has ever been.

CITY ALDERMEN HOLD BRIEF SESSION TUESDAY

Council Allows Fourth Estimate of $1545 to Robertson Co. For Filter Equipment

Only a brief session of the city council was held last week, not much business of importance appearing before the aldermen for consideration.

The regular list of city bills for the past two weeks was allowed, as was also the fourth monthly estimate in the amount of $1,545.30 to the J. G. Robertson company of Minneapolis for the installation of the equipment in the filter plant. There is still a remainder of 15 per cent left unpaid, which is being held up pending the approval of L. P. Wolff of St. Paul, engineer in charge. The balance amounts to $2,275.50. The next regular meeting will be held next Tuesday.

Wet Manitoba Is Cause of Alarm in Baudette; U. S. Officials Prepare

It is apparent that there will be something stirring along the Canadian line now that Manitoba has gone "wet" again. At least that is the opinion of the Baudette Region which had the following article in last week's issue:

The result of the election in Manitoba Saturday, when that province went wet by a majority of more than thirty thousand, is causing considerable worry to customs and prohibition officials, and it is feared that Baudette may become mecca for the importation of Canadian liquor. The fact that much of the shore line of the Lake of the Woods is in Manitoba and another big stretch of it in Minnesota leads to the conclusion that attempts will be made to get big shipments across the line. There is a railroad from Winnipeg to Lake of the Woods, and it is expected that a lot of whisky will be hauled on it. Advices from St. Paul are to the effect that the government officials are preparing to cope with the situation. Under the conditions of the Manitoba election, liquor will be sold under government control, and it is figured that sale of it will commence within sixty days.

REPORT OF FAIRS IN STATE PLACES THIS COUNTY'S AMONG BEST

Is Most Important Event of Its Kind in Northwestern Section of Minnesota

The Pennington county fair is one of the most important in the state, both in point of attendance and the number and quality of exhibits. The annual report of the State Fair association, recently issued, shows that only eighteen county fairs in the entire state showed a larger attendance last year. The previous year the attendance here was exceeded by only twelve counties. The Fairs were held in one hundred counties last year.

St. Louis, Beltrami and Lake were the only counties in the northern part of the state which can boast of a larger crowd than Pennington.

Following is a table showing the total number of persons attending the different fairs in Northwestern Minnesota:

Beltrami	20,000
Pennington	14,000
Polk (Fertile)	7,627
Marshall	7,500
Kittson	7,400
Norman	6,500
Clearwater	3,000
Red Lake	2,600
Roseau	2,584

The total receipts last year amounted to $9,695.83, which was practically the same as for the previous year. $1,530.50 was expended for premiums and $1,000 for permanent improvements. The appropriations totalled $400. The association starts the year in a good financial condition.

Johnson For Senator Club Formed in Ninth Dist. Active Campaign

At a big meeting held at Crookston a short time ago the progressives of Polk county formed a Johnson for Senator club and also appointed a Ninth District campaign committee, consisting of one representative from each county in the district. A thorough organization of the forces thruout the district is under way.

O. A. Naplin, former state senator from this district and well known Farmer-Labor leader, was placed in charge of activities in Pennington county and will perfect an organization of the local forces.

Liked The Sangerfest.

The Warroad Pioneer carried the following comment on the Sangerfest conducted in this city recently:

The editor and family motored to Thief River Falls last Saturday afternoon and while there took in the concert put on by the Red River Valley Scandinavian Singing Association. It was truly a musical treat and well worth going some distance to hear. While the major part of the program was rendered in the Scandinavian tongue, there were enough English selections to satisfy most anyone. On the whole the singers showed the results of considerable hard training.

Splendid Creamery Report

During the month of May the Plummer Co-operative Creamery paid its patrons $10,554.00 according to the report of the secretary. The average price paid per pound for butter fat was 41.5 cents. 23,664 pounds of butter fat were received. Eighty patrons received checks in the amount of fifty dollars or more, thirteen exceeding the one hundred dollar mark.

NEW GUIDE SIGNS GO UP ON STATE ROUTES

Highway Department Posting More Permanent Markers for Convenience and Safety of Public

Highway markers, guide and warning signs now going up on state trunk routes in this section and all other parts of the big 7,000-mile system are carefully designed to serve public convenience and safety, says a highway bulletin this week.

The yellow and black signs are being placed close to the traveled part of the road where they will claim attention of drivers and be within headlight range at night. The color combination was adopted after many experiments and on the advice of experts maintaining that the yellow is conspicuous with strongest light-reflecting quality, the bulletin states.

Five classes of highways signs under the Minnesota system are all of the yellow and black combination but of different shapes, and include:

Trunk Highway Markers—Yellow stars on black giving the official numbers of the trunk routes, also R and L indicating turns, and detour markers.

Warning Signs—Carrying such devices as Railroad Crossing, Cross Road, School, Curve, Loose Gravel, New Grading and so forth.

Guide and Information Signs—Directing traffic and giving names and distances of towns ahead, also names of rivers and lakes crossed or passed.

Restriction Signs — Giving regulations governing traffic, loadings and against parking and dumping.

Special Markers—Mainly for use of highway employees but including those at maintenance section limits.

The last signs will give the names and addresses of the patrolmen on sections in each direction. They are intended as an aid to designating any particular point on a route and also will attach the patrolman's name to his work.

Posting of highway markers and other signs was delayed first pending permanent designations of many routes and later by late shipments of steel for the new signs to replace those on poles along the roads. But big lots are going out and up on the roads as fast as possible.

SALE OF STATE RURAL CREDIT BONDS OPENED

$2,000,000 Issue Due in Twenty Years, Bears 4½ Per Cent Interest

The Minnesota rural credits bureau last week advertised for competitive bids on its first issue of rural credits bonds. The issue is for $2,000,000 due in 20 years, the bonds to bear 4½ per cent interest payable semi-annually. The bureau reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Bids will be opened July 10.

Before the money from the sale of this first issue of bonds is put into circulation it is expected a friendly suit will be instituted and carried to the supreme court to test the validity of the rural credits act.

As soon as the money from the issue is available, T. O. Ofsthun, secretary of the bureau, said, notice will be given all applicants that the board is ready to lend money.

A large number of farmers in this section are availing themselves of the opportunity to get money at a low rate of interest and County Auditor T. P. Anderson announces that his supply of application blanks has practicaly been exhausted but that he is awaiting the arrival of more. Applicants are anxiously awaiting definite action on the part of the bureau in order to secure relief as soon as possible.

Prohibitive Dance License

Alexandria township, Douglas county, evidently does not want any public dances. Not being able to prohibit the holding of public dances, but possessing the power to prescribe a dance license fee, the town board of the township has put the fee at $10,000 per night. Up to date no dance manager has been sporty enough to take a chance on the box receipts as against the license fee.

No doubt many of the high school graduates would do well to get out on a farm and put in a few months in the open. It would put a tan on them and develop their muscles as well, give them a fine appetite and demonstrate that it requires labor to earn a dollar.—Stillwater Gazette.

CITY'S POPULATION DOUBLED BY CROWDS HERE JULY FOURTH

Elaborate Program of Sports and Races Marred by Heavy Rains in Afternoon

Surrounding Towns and Country Come to Thief River Falls To Celebrate

The Fourth of July celebration in Thief River Falls was decidedly a disappointment for the thousands who gathered here to take part in the events planned for the day, practically the whole affair being spoiled by the severe rainstorm which started just as the parade was on its way to the fair grounds and continued thru the afternoon.

Everyone was unanimous in saying that never before had there been such a large crowd in Thief River Falls, the streets being lined with cars thruout the city. Many remained during the whole day and evening despite the fact that there was little to see owing to the soaking rains. Hundreds of cars filled with joy-seekers, from the surrounding towns and communities, were assembled at the fair grounds to witness and hear the program scheduled to begin at one o'clock. There were autos from near the border, from points in North Dakota, as far south as Detroit and large delegations from towns in this vicinity such as Red Lake Falls.

One of the most extensive parades seen in this city was staged just before the rain, most of the business places being represented with floats. The silver loving cup donated by the American Legion post was awarded to the Elks' float with the Oen Mercantile company's a close second. There was a grand array of beautifully decorated cars of all descriptions

It was found impossible to carry out the sport program arranged for the day at the fair grounds. The crowds returned up town where a considerable number heard Mayor Arthur E. Nelson of St. Paul, who came here to deliver the address of the day at the fair grounds but was forced to take to the auditorium. He gave a stirring talk, bringing out American ideals as held forth in the Declaration of Independence. Mayor Nelson is a splendid speaker and was greatly enjoyed by the audience.

The water fight between two local teams staged on Horace avenue proved of much interest. The evening performance consisted of a display of fireworks at the fairgrounds witnessed by the thousands who gathered for the occasion.

A feature of the celebration worthy of comment is the fact that despite the multitude of cars and people no accidents were reported.

Pennington Gets Money On Unsold State Lands

Pennington county received a check of $2.70 from the state auditor last week on account of the unsold state land within the state. The legislature at each session appropriates $40,000 a year to distribute to the counties of the state in proportion to the acreage of unsold state land within the school districts of the several counties. The amount to be paid to any school district shall not exceed 5c per acre, or $250 in all to any one district. The $40,000 is, of course, insufficient to pay the maximum amount atuhorized. Payment this year is on the basis of 2.33 per acre.

The twenty-three counties receiving this aid are being paid the following amounts:

Aitkin	$ 318.80
Becker	88.71
Beltrami	404.44
Carlton	76.70
Cass	1,759.91
Clearwater	67.18
Cook	2,831.41
Crow Wing	74.30

Lake	3,740.69
Marshall	66.54
Mahnomen	15.08
Morrison	16.77
Ottertail	8.62
Pennington	2.70
Polk	2.70
Roseau	429.53

Holstein Breeders Will Hold Sale of Fine Stock In This City in October

At a recent meeting of the Pennington County Holstein Breeders association in this city it was decided by members present to place thirty head of purebred and registered Holsteins on sale some time during the early part of October. A large number of breeders from Pennington and also adjoining counties were present at the meeting. The animals to be sold at the sale this fall will be from herds thruout this section of the state and will be of the finest quality on the market. More information regarding the event will be published when definite plans have been completed by those in charge.

Capt. Watson of Salvation Army Leaves City

Captain A. O. Watson and wife, who have been in charge of the Salvation Army work in Thief River Falls and outlying territory during the past year and a half, departed yesterday for Owatonna where they have been placed in charge of a corps. A great deal of splendid relief work has been done by Mr. and Mrs. Watson during their stay here and they deserve much credit for their untiring efforts in securing aid for many in need. Activities in this section will now be in the hands of Captain J. Anderson, a young lady officer, who will arrive here shortly.

Korstad Sells Grocery.

A deal was closed last week whereby O. H. Nelson becomes the owner of the Korstad Grocery on Sixth street, which has been operated by William Korstad for the past few months. In addition to the regular lines of groceries and confections the new proprietor will also sell soft drinks, having secured a license at the meeting of the Council Tuesday.

COMMISSIONERS LEVY EXPENSE BUDGET FOR COMING FISCAL YEAR

Total of $73,000 Allowed for the County Funds. Practically Same as Last Year

At the semi-annual meeting of the county commissioners held here Monday the expenses of conducting the county for the coming twelve months were estimated and County Auditor T. P. Anderson was instructed to place to the credit of each fund the amount decided upon. Other matters of routine business such as the allowing of bills was attended to but it was decided to adjourn until Tuesday, July 17, to complete the business at hand. On Monday the commissioners meet as the county equalization board to look over assessments for this year and receive any complaints that may be put in by taxpayers.

The budget levied for the coming year totals $73,000, which is $1,000 more than last year, the increase being in a fund for construction work at the Oakland Park sanitorium, a levy for which was not made in the previous budget. Otherwise the amounts for each fund are the same. That the affairs of the county have been conducted economically is indicated by the fact that every fund had a credit balance at the end of the fiscal year which came to a close July 1st.

The various funds and the amount levied for each is as follows:

Brother of Mrs. Vistaunet Meets Sudden Death

Mrs. P. L. Vistaunet and Miss Sarah Houglum returned to this city Monday evening from Moorhead where they attended the funeral of their brother, Joseph Houglum, aged 38 who died July 4th and was buried Saturday.

Death was caused by hemorrhage of the brain which was the result of severe cuts in the head when he was thrown thru the windshield of his automobile, a coupe, when it went into the ditch east of Hawley Wednesday afternoon. The victim of the accident was accompanied by Miss Josephine Oberg, the only other occupant of the car, who was uninjured. Houglum was complaining of not feeling well and was finally subject to a fainting spell. The girl getting excited when she saw him fall forward, was unable to stop the car in sufficient time to keep the machine from turning off the road and Houglum went thru the windshield altho the car did not turn over. The deep cuts in his skull caused a hemorrhage and he died shortly afterwards.

Deceased was single but is survived by two sisters, Mrs. P. L. Vistaunet and Sarah Houglum of this city, and three brothers, Andrew of Moorhead, Clay County auditor, Martin of Audubon and Henry of Minneapolis. The latter is a well known singer and appeared as a soloist at the Sangerfest here a short time ago.

Mr. Houglum was known to many Thief River Falls people having visited here at several occasions and at one time, about eighteen years ago, attended the local high school one term. He was at the time of his death secretary of the Houglum Furniture company at Moorhead.

LOCALS VICTORIOUS IN 4 TO 5 CONTEST WON IN 9TH INNING

Large Crowd Witnesses Good Game With Red Lake Falls at Fair Grounds Sunday

Four Men Make 2-base Hits in Ninth. East Grand Forks Games Here July 15

A rally the last inning saved the day for the Thief River Falls boys last Sunday afternoon when they defeated their old rivals Red Lake Falls by a score of 4 to 5 on the local grounds. It was a fast game thruout, both teams displaying a fine brand of baseball and playing at their best, the decision of two tie games being at stake. The victory Sunday speaks well for the local aggregation and the increased crowd of fans witnessing the contest was also encouraging.

The visitors scored their total in the fourth inning when four runs were made altho they made only one hit. The others were made as a result of three balls passing by Lane, catcher, but the locals kept them from scoring from then on and Lane finally had the opportunity to make up for the errors with a two-base hit in the ninth inning.

Dalton scored for the locals in the second period but were held scoreless until the last when they overcame the 4 to 1 lead. After two men were down Nelson drew a pass, Brudie connected for two bases, as did also LaBree, scoring Nelson and Brudie. Lane slammed a two-bagger and scored LaBree. Yost, the able twirler for Thief River Falls, was the next man at the bat and connected with the horsehide for a line drive into center field scoring Lane, the winning run.

Pickerel Nelson relieved Larson in the sixth and showed up fine for a recruit, drawing a pass and pulling down a long fly.

Harold Lloyd Scores Another Knock Out

"If a comparison is to be made of the funny business of the screen for the last year, honors must go to Mr. Lloyd."

So wrote Quinn Martin, screen editor of the New York World, of Harold Lloyd's newest Pathe comedy in five parts which comes to the Lyceum theatre next Sunday and Monday.

"Dr. Jack" is a delicious conglomeration of everything one could hope for in a super-comedy. And everything seems entirely new. Lloyd's box of tricks seems everlasting and one never knows what to expect, except that the next laugh will be louder than the first. As a fun-maker, Mr. Lloyd has reached the pinnacle, but in "Dr. Jack" he has also established himself as a runner-up for honors with the screen's greatest lovers, as his love scene with Mildred Davis seemed to us to be one of the most delightful we have ever witnessed.

Besides all this, "Dr. Jack" contains a real story—a story with a serious undertone of a girl's struggle for health. The girl is played, of course, by Mildred Davis, and she aids Lloyd charmingly in the sentimental vein of the comedy. The uproarious part of the offering comes when Lloyd, as the young doctor, begins his campaign to oust the eminent but unscrupulous physician from the girl's household. Then the fun is fast and furious with laughter piling up faster every moment.

HIGHWAYS COST AUTO OWNERS $938 A MILE

Pennington County Has 1,597 Autos and Trucks With Tax of Nearly $26,000

Twin City Auto Owners Bear Big Share of State Road Expense Under Babcock Plan

Pennington county, with 1,597 automobiles and trucks, stands 76th among the 87 counties in Minnesota in number of motor vehicles according to figures published by The Farmer, St. Paul.

State motor vehicle taxes on these machines were $25,051 in 1922 at average rates, a highway bulletin states, and the money went into the trunk highway fund for use on so-called Babcock roads. There are 31 miles of trunk highways in this county, so the taxes approximated $834 a mile for these most used roads in the county.

Ramsey county auto taxes were $22,540 a mile—almost enough in one year to pave every mile of trunk highway in that county and nearly all paid by car owners in St. Paul although not a cent is spent in that city. Hennepin county's total was nearly $1,215,000 or $17,246 a mile of trunk route in the county, paid largely by Minneapolis auto and truck owners although spent wholly on roads in the country. General averages for counties are 4,633 motor vehicles and 80 miles of trunk highways—taxes of $938 a mile of trunk route.

General statistics list only five states in which more automobiles and trucks are owned by farmers than in Minnesota, and show that farmers in this state last year bought more than 30,000 motor vehicles. Further, there are more tractors on farms in Minnesota and the Dakotas than in any other territory with an equal number of farms. In 1921 one farm in six had a tractor and more than 4,000 tractors have been bought since by Minnesota farmers, according to U. S. department of agriculture figures. Motor trucks hauled 56 per cent more livestock to South St. Paul markets in 1922 than during the year before. There is approximately one motor vehicle for every seven persons in Pennington county.

The figures are compiled in the highway bulletin to show the rapidly increasing importance of adequate highways to the farmer and how under the Minnesota plan he is obtaining them at least outlay.

FRAIZER AND BOWEN ADDRESS BIG CROWD AT JOHNSON RALLY

Senator Hansen Subjected To Severe and Caustic Criticism By Bowen

Senator Lynn J. Fraizer of North Dakota, and A. E. Bowen addressed a large and enthusiastic audience in the auditorium last Thursday evening in the interest of the candidacy of Magnus Johnson for United States Senator. It was apparent from the outset that the crowd that jammed the auditorium was in complete harmony with the views of the speakers. Point after point as to why the rank and file should stand solidly back of Magnus Johnson was driven home by the speakers.

During the course of the evening Mr. Bowen sidetracked the main issue long enough to take a vigorous "crack" at Senator C. L. Hansen and his record in the legislature. He took the local senator up and down the line on his record and cited several instances of his vote record to prove that when it came to a "showdown" Hansen was always found on the other side of the fence. The applause that greeted Bowen at this time was the most pronounced of the evening.

Earl Baker Scores Hit As Talented Cornetist

Local friends of Earl Baker, son of W. E. Baker, will be glad to hear of his success in the orchestral world as a cornetist. From an Akron, Ohio, daily paper we find great credit given to the company with which he is affiliated and particular mention to the former Thief River Falls young man.

The following is the excerpt from the Akron (Ohio) Daily Times: "Earl Baker, cornetist in the Peacock Strutters orchestra, now playing at Summit Beach Park, has made several vaudeville tours of the country and is known as vaudeville's hottest cornet player. He is well known in cafes in both Chicago and San Francisco for his unusual skill with the cornet."

Earl has been affiliated with the Husk O'Hare Orchestras for about six months. When he first left this city he played in New York and in the extreme west. He began the practice of the cornet at the age of thirteen and received most of the training in the so-called Kid band of this city. Later he began playing in the city band and was noted locally as one of the best men in the organization. After completing the eighth grade work at school Earl spent a year at Dunwoody studying mechanics but finally turned to the work in which he is now engaged.

Dr. Bowers Installs New X-Ray and Fluoroscope

Dr. J. T. Bowers, who occupies offices in the First National Bank building, is installing an X-Ray machine and Wappler Flourscope machine this week. The new X-Ray machine will be complete in every detail and is of a type that facilitates the closest adjustment under the most adverse conditions. The entire equipment will require an expenditure of approximately $2,000.00 or more, including installation. This additional equipment and Dr. Bowers' affiliation with the Physicians hospital enables him to care for any case which may present itself.

Scholien Recovering.

John Scholien, of Black River township, who was injured Tuesday of last week in a fall from a scaffold while shingling a barn, is rapidly improving. He left the hospital the fore part of the week and though his condition will not permit strenuous exercise for some time he will not suffer permanent injuries.

MATTER OF PURCHASING TINDOLPH PROPERTY IS AGAIN BEFORE COUNCIL

City Appropriates $400 to County Fair. Four Permits for Curb Oil Pumps Granted

At a meeting of the city council Tuesday evening Emil Zeh, speaking in behalf of the park board, brought before the aldermen the matter of buying the property of Red Lake river known as Tindolph Point and converting it into a part of the city's park system. He stated that at a recent meeting of the board it was decided to bring the matter before the council for action and that the board members deemed the purchase at this time most advisable as the property in question can be obtained for $870 and would need but little improvement to afford splendid facilities for park purposes. It is at present a popular swimming place, hundreds of persons frequenting the place regularly. After considering the matter briefly the council decided to refer the matter back to the park board to make further investigation as to the exact extent of the property and any other phases conected with its purchase before taking final action.

The matter of the city taking over the Elk property near the Soo depot, on the river bank, maintaining it as a park until such time as the lodge sees fit to build there, was proposed by W. W. Prichard speaking for the lodge. It was decided to refer the matter to the park board for further consideration. The Elks offer the use of the beautiful site, which has now been improved to the extent of about $600, if the city pays the expense of upkeep.

The council voted to appropriate the usual sum of $400 to help defray the expenses of the Pennington county fair.

A license to sell soft drinks was granted O. H. Nelson, who recently bought out the Korstad grocery store on Fifth street between Knight and LaBree avenues.

Four permits to install gasoline tanks and curb pumps were granted, namely two to the Northern States Oil company, one in front of Gustafson and Son's implement store on Main avenue and Fourth street and another in front of the Kohn and Fiterman place on the corner of Main and First street. The White Eagle Oil and Refining company was given a similar permit for installing a pump in front of Rambeck and Stone's location on Horace avenue and the Standard Oil company at Ed. Hill's auto supply shop on Third street.

The regular monthly reports of the various city officials were received and ordered filed.

Mr. Angell was born in Helgeland, Norway, March 30, 1864. In 1872 he was married to Miss Elise Olson. Mr. and Mrs. Angell and family immigrated to this country in 1900 and settled first in Kittson county and five years later moved to this city where they lived up to the time of their deaths; Mrs. Angell died January 27, 1921. He was a cabinet maker by trade and was known where ever he worked as being very proficient in and well adapted to his vocation.

Death came after a lingering and steadily increasing case of internal cancer. No abrupt clapse was noticeable until Tuesday afternoon when a hemorrhage brought on a sudden demise.

Funeral services will be held from the Trinity Lutheran church at 2:30 Saturday afternoon, Rev. T. E. Sweger reading the rites. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

STIFF SENTENCES METED VIOLATORS OF VOLSTEAD ACT

Busy Session of District Court Closes Friday. Vinje Begins Serving 60 Days

Seven Guilty of Violating Liquor Laws. Three Suspended Reformatory Sentences

The most thorough clean-up in the history of Pennington county was completed when the district court in session here for nine days adjourned last Friday. 22 cases on the criminal docket were disposed of, 16 of which were liquor charges.

Sentences pronounced by Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren on the closing day of court represented a total of more than $1600 in fines and 450 days in the county jail at Warren, with two sentences remaining.

One of the violators of the prohibition laws has already started serving his time. Conrad Vinje who pleaded guilty to a charge of liquor law violation before Judge Grindeland when he was unable to get a lawyer to defend him, was taken to Warren yesterday afternoon by Sheriff O. L. Ihle to serve his sentence of 60 days in jail. Vinje was also assessed a fine of $300 as additional punishment.

C. B. Bradley and Alfred Rasmusson were each assessed fine of $300 and costs and 90 days in jail, while Conrad Vinjo and Glenn Farr were fined like amounts but only 60 days in jail. Fred Brendecke, who was also found guilty of selling liquor illegally, was fined in the amount of $400 and sentenced to 150 days in jail, it being the second offense. If the defendants fail to pay their fines and costs they are to serve 150 additional days, except Brendecke, who in default of payment was given 200 days more. All four except Vinje were allowed until Aug. 10 to appeal their cases, which they have already done.

Two farmers, Nick Baker and Oscar Anderson both pleaded guilty to violating the Volstead act, but were given until November 2 to take care of their crops when they are to report to the judge to receive their sentence. The former is charged with making moonshine and the latter having it in his possession.

John Wyss and Ole Ystesund, also tried on liquor charges, were both discharged, having been found not guilty by juries. O. W. Carlson, Adolph Amundson, Frank McGinty, facing similar charges, had their cases continued until the next term of court. The second charge against Rasmusson was dropped.

Three young men were given suspended sentences of hard labor in the St. Cloud reformatory for an indeterminate period. Carl Halmer, 22, farmer near the city, pleaded guilty to forgery in second degree. Rev. E. H. Kreidt was named probation officer. Alex Welch, city electrician, and Delman Cote were also sentenced to hard labor at the reformatory for resisting and assaulting Sheriff Ole L. Ihle on the night of July 4, when the sheriff searched the Welch car for moonshine of which he found a quart. Both pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge Grindeland. The sentences were suspended upon good behavior and Ihle was named probation officer in both cases. Provisions of the court order are to the effect that they are not to enter any pool hall or attend any dance, must not leave city or county with out permission from the probation officer, must attend and support their church, make regular reports and must abstain from liquor.

Other criminal cases were those of Axel Anderson, who pleaded guilty of gambling and was fined $25 and $7 costs. Richard Prestebak, who paid the municipal court fine and costs of $44.56 for driving a car without proper lights; E. J. Gilmet, whom the jury found not guilty of grand larceny; and th case of Fred DuChamp, charged with selling mortgaged property, was continued by consent.

Judge Grindeland arrived here today to dispose of a few civil court cases which were yet to be heard.

Thinned Out Motor Oil Means Thinned Out Power

ARE you sinning against your car, by using a thinned out motor oil? If so, stop now before the bearing surfaces are worn and cut. An oil of poor body and wrong viscosity thins out very quickly in summer.

Thinned out motor oil means short life to the bearings and frequent renewal. It means an insufficient oil film between all metal surfaces, and a consequent leakage of power.

Follow the chart.

THE SENATORIAL ELECTION

Next Monday the voters will be called upon to decide who shall represent the state of Minnesota in the United States Senate for the unexpired term of the late Senator Knute Nelson. The decision to be made is an extremely important one inasmuch as it will reflect the attitude of the people on the present political situation and also indicate the trend of the public mind toward future political and economic matters.

While Gov. Preus is possessed of splendid mental faculties and unquestioned ability, many strong reasons are advanced against his election to the senate. It is cited that, by calling a special election, the governor has put the state to an unnecessary expense of several hundred thousand dollars, when he could have appointed someone to fill the vacancy without a dollar of expense. It is argued that he made this move solely to further his own ambitions, by thus giving himself an opportunity to be a candidate. The campaign for the election has now been in progress for two months and Gov. Preus has devoted all of this time to speech-making while drawing a salary from the state as its chief executive. These are minor arguments advanced against Preus but they are facts nevertheless.

The strongest opposition to Gov. Preus from all parts of the state is caused by his past political affiliations. It is pointed out that he has always been backed, supported and counseled by interests that have at all times opposed legislation of benefit to the farmer and the laboring man and that by sending him to the United States Senate another reactionary will be added to the group that is already too strong in congress. The condition of the agricultural districts of the entire country at this time is deplorable and it is generally admitted that relief in the form of beneficial legislation must be forthcoming at the next session of congress or the entire industry will collapse. To bring about a change for the better the farmers must be represented in the senate by men whose stand in these matters is beyond question. They have tried the "old order of things" year after year until it has brought them to their present condition. In the election of Gov. Preus they cannot see any chance of a change. For this reason they are standing solidly back of Magnus Johnson. They say, "he can't assist in making things any worse and we have every reason to believe that he can be depended on to work for us."

It is a glaringly apparent fact that Gov. Preus is the strongest believer in machine politics that the state has ever produced and that during the time he has occupied the governor's chair he has built up a family of state employes that constitues an almost invincible machine. This machine is tuned to the finest degree of perfection and it will operate in getting every possible Preus vote in the state to the polls next Monday. This state of affairs makes it of the utmost importance that the supporters of Magnus Johnson exert themselves to the limit in getting out a full vote.

Aga Delivers First Sermon Since Ordination

Rev. Rueben Aga, who was ordained at the Lutheran convention in Minneapolis June 20, will deliver his first sermon in Thief River Falls since his ordination next Sunday at the Trinity church. Rev. Part of the evening's session was given over to initiation ceremonies and some time was spent in considering various matters of importance to the order. Roy Morgan is now in charge of the club rooms.

OPEN FORUM

Concerning The Election.

To The Times readers:

Regardless how the voters stand on the various issues both sides in the present senatorial fight admit that next Monday's election is of special importance. Therefore, I would urge all men and women who are voters to be sure to vote and do what they can to remind their neighbors, as the right to vote is a duty as well as a privilege.

In regard to the issues, I presume that all voters are informed by this time. Johnson's platform has been well circulated, and according to Preus' talk here in our city, he has only one issue, which is the canal, which of course Johnson also favors. All the other issues discussed by Mr. Preus in his speech here were either settled state issues or non-political remedies with which the U. S. Senate has nothing to do. He never mentioned the main issue which is the money question and proper control of the Federal Reserve system, which wrecked our country by the policy of deflation of our credit and currency.

All those who voted for Mr. Shipstead last fall would be extremely unwise to now vote for Mr. Preus for sentimental reasons for Mr. Preus' vote on all important measures would be against Shipstead, and thus practically eliminate Minnesota's prestige in the Senate, while Mr. Johnson stands with Shipstead on all important issues.

Let us all do our bit to get out the vote on Monday.

Yours for Popular Government,
Andrew Trovaton.

Pure-Breds and Prosperity

There is more to the question of pure-bred stock than a matter of pedigree, registry and conformation to type. Successful dairymen will testify that the superiority of the pure-bred over the scrub also shows in the milk pail, and in the cream check.

In prosperous farming communities, herds are headed by pure-bred sires, not because prosperous farmers can afford the luxury of pure-breds, but because the pure-breds have made the farmers prosperous.

The Citizens State Bank stands ready to co-operate at all times with the man who wishes to grade up his herd with pure-breds.

T. J. AUSTAD

"Tom" Austad, the talented and whole-souled editor of The Times, is no more. So far as we know he did not have an enemy on earth, and certainly not in the sanctum of The Tribune, where he was held in the highest regard by every member of the force from editor to office devil. He left no legacy so far as we know except the fine traits of character which endeared him to his associates. He wielded a trenchant and facile pen, which he chose always to use as the champion of the oppressed, and he possessed a fund of knowledge and droll humor which stamped him as one of the really great country editors of the state. "Tom" will best be remembered as one who strived hard to mind his own business and be a good member of the community in which he lived, and we believe he will be so cherished in the memory of all who knew him.—Thief River Falls Tribune.

Thomas J. Austad, native of Norway and editor of the Thief River Falls Times, is dead at the age of 51. He came to this country when a boy of 10 and resided with his parents at Duluth where he learned the printer's trade and later took up editorial work. He was employed at different times on the Duluth Herald, the Grand Rapids Herald-Review, and on papers in Wisconsin and Indiana. Early in 1916 he joined R. H. Ross in the publication of The Times in Thief River Falls. He is survived by his aged parents and three brothers and two sisters. He was a forceful writer and a competent craftsman and will be missed in the editorial circle.—"Among Ourselves."

Bay Lives with Seventeen Bullets in Brain

The following item from the Red Lake Falls Gazette of last week will be of interest to Times readers:

Altho speechless and suffering greatly from the injuries received on May 21st, when a shot gun was accidently discharged into his skull tearing away the right side of the head and exposing the brain, Leo Schlefert 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schlefert of Garnes township, east of Plummer, is lying at a Crookston hospital with hopes of recovery.

After the accident it was not thot possible that the lad could live but he was given expert medical treatment and has since partially recovered. Physicians state that he may recover but will be premanently injured. An X-Ray examination disclosed seventeen small lead pellets scattered thru the boy's brain, according to information received this week by the Gazette.

The accident happened when the boy was on his way to drive the stock which was feeding on another portion of the farm some distance from the house. He had taken a shotgun with him for the purpose of shooting crows. It was while he stopped on a bridge that the accident happened. Just what caused the gun to be discharged or in what manner no one knows as he was alone at the time.

Potato Growers of Red River Valley To Meet at Halstad on July 17

A meeting of importance to every potato grower in the Red River Valley is to be held at Halstad Tuesday, July 17th. The meeting was arranged for by Marius Waldahl, state representative from Red Lake county who is now representing the co-operative potato marketing movement in this section; officers of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development Association; Superintendent C. G. Selvig, of the Northwest School of Agriculture; Elias Steenerson, president of the Climax Potato Company; and others, to afford an opportunity for laying before S. G. Rubinow, state campaign manager, some points of importance to valley potato growers in connection with the united marketing plans.

The meeting is to be held at two thirty in the afternoon. Every potato shipping association is urged to have at least one representative present and individual shippers are urged to attend in their own interests. Merchants, bankers, warehouse men and others who are in any way interested in the potato industry of the valley are also invited to attend.

This is expected to be the opening meeting of the general campaign of organization in the Red River Valley and it is believed to be important that certain phases of marketing which particularly concern the Red River Valley growers should be first given attention and conclusions as to plans and policy reached before the campaign is formally launched.

Many Farmers Visit Experiment Station

Fifteen farm and community clubs have already arranged to visit the Northwest Experiment Station at Crookston for field day inspection trips this season. The visitors are shown the institution and the experimental work being done there. Many projects are seen including the work to perfect a rust-resistant bread wheat, awnless barley, better yielding oats as well as potato and other experiments. Chippewa flax, a new wilt-resistant variety, is seen in a 25 acre field which will eventually supply the entire state with this valuable variety.

Other dates for township or other groups of farmers and others interested are open. The plan is to have one community come each day during the present month. Dates after July 12 excepting July 15, 20, 21 and 22 are now available. The organizations that have already made the trip have felt well repaid for the time spent there.

GREAT NORTHERN PAYS TRIBUTE TO LOYAL EMPLOYES

Justice to the rank and file of earnest and loyal workers in railroad service calls for the correction of an impression created in some quarters by radical leaders that the employes are seeking to destroy the railroads by inefficient and disloyal service. It is true that a comparatively small number of union leaders are seeking to cause a breakdown of the railroads under private operation with a view to bringing about Government ownership. We believe that there remains today among the great majority of railroad workers the same fine sense of loyalty and honor towards the companies that has always characterized their service. That this is particularly true of the Great Northern is evidenced by the following resolutions unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Great Northern Veterans' Association on June 22, 1923:

WHEREAS, from various sources it has been learned that the financial affairs of the railroads in the Northwest are insufficient to sustain a satisfactory financial condition; that much of the difficulty is due to high operating costs on account, among other things, of the present high prices of fuel and other supplies, and the rapid increase of late years in taxation, and

WHEREAS, it is most important to the employe to know that

His wages will be fair,

That he will be promptly and properly paid, when due, for services rendered,

That he is secure in his employment,
That his conditions of employment are good, all of which depend upon the financial stability of the railroad, and

WHEREAS, in some quarters there is propaganda which tends toward the Government ownership of railroads to secure which the railroad employes are exhorted to assist in bringing about that result by hampering the management through failure to give a full day's work for a full day's pay, and

WHEREAS, we believe it would be dishonorable and also destructive to the interests of the employe for him to adopt a policy of not giving a full and efficient day's work for a full day's pay.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that we condemn all propaganda designed to bring about any such policy as being dishonorable and destructive and that we trust and believe the Great Northern employes will not permit themselves to be led into such an unworthy and futile course.

FURTHER RESOLVED, that for ourselves we believe it is right and also clearly in our interest to support the management in its efforts to provide adequate and prompt service to the public and we pledge ourselves to do our full part in promoting cordial understanding and cooperative spirit in all matters of mutual interest between the Company and its employes.

The spirit of enthusiastic loyalty shown by these Veterans of 25 years or more of service with the Great Northern is the spirit that prevails among its 30,00 employes.

Red Crown

Vaporizes to the Last Drop

To use Red Crown is the essence of economy—not from the standpoint of purchase price alone but from the results earned.

When Red Crown is mixed with air in your carburetor it causes perfect combustion—this means the irreducible minimum of carbon deposit, consequently less fouling of spark plugs—it means less expense for grinding valves—it means a smoother running motor—it means little, if any, pre-ignition. When you use Red Crown

There Is No Waste

either of money or energy. Every drop is converted into power—clean, sustained, usable power. It is obvious that 800° of heat in your cylinder heads under working conditions is all and sufficient to burn the heaviest ends of Red Crown. That is why you get such extraordinary mileage when you have Red Crown in your tank.

"Hugo and Nina," Accordion Artists, Play Here Saturday, July 14

The Johnson Concert company, world famous Scandinavian accordion artists, will appear in a delightful concert and entertainment at the Sons of Norway hall on Saturday evening, July 14, the performance to begin at 8:30. Hugo and Nina, as they are commonly known in musical circles, are making a tour of the northwestern states which they are about to wind up, and have met with splendid success wherever they have played. Houses filled to capacity have greeted them in towns and cities thruout this section, successful appearances having been made as such places as the twin cities, Fargo, Duluth, Minot, Grand Forks and elsewhere. It is their fifth tour thr uthis section.

Comments by critics and the press are of the most favorable, both accordionists being considered as masters on their instruments. For a considerable length of time Mr. and Mrs. Johnson played in New York city and appeared in various places of note. Selections by Hugo and Nina played on phonograph records have proved popular particularly with the Scandinavians.

The program will consist largely of musical numbers including classical selections such as overtures and operas and a varied group of folk melodies popular American music. Mrs. Johnson proves especially attractive in Spanish classic dances and Swedish folk dances, a feature of the entertainment. Mr. Johnson also entertains the audience with his funny stories "ala comique." It is an entertainment of high quality and worthy of patronage. In another column of this issue may be found an ad regarding the performance.

Will Rogers In "The Ropin' Fool" At The Lyceum Sun. & Mon.

At the Lyceum Theatre Sunday and Monday Pathe presents their first new two-reel comedy, "The Ropin, Fool," starring Will Rogers. The amusing cowboy comedian is declared to be at his best in the offering. Rogers is an odd personality in the amusement world. Besides being one of the funniest men on the silversheet, he has been the star of the Ziegfield Follies for the last few years and has always registered the outstanding hit in the big revue. The New York Dailies were unanimous in praising Rogers' first Pathe vehicle during its pre-release showing at the Capitol Theatre.

The New York Sun comments: "Will Rogers ropes—and occasionally jokes—to his heart's content at the Capitol this week in his first self-made production, "The Ropin' Fool," and the picture is fascinating with its slow motion studies of the lariat throwing twists with which Rogers seems to make a rope all but eat out of his hand."

Viking Resident Dies

Mrs. Sarah E. Hicks of Viking, who had been confined to the Lutheran hospital at Bemidji for the last five weeks, passed away July 3. Ernest Hicks, husband of the deceased, was there at the time of her death. Interment was made at Goodthunder, the deceased's former home.

Horse Drags Woman

When Mrs. Sam Murray, farmer's wife near Argyle attempted to head off a bunch of horses trying to get through a gate, one of the animals sprung against the barbed wire fence, breaking the top wire which wrapped around the woman's body. The horse then ran away, dragging the woman after him. The woman when picked up by neighbors was badly injured, but is recovering in the hospital.

Garnes Farmer Caught While Making "Moon"

David Funk of Garnes, east of the village of Plummer, is serving a forty days sentence in the Red Lake county jail, and will pay a fine of $150 for making moonshine on his farm. He was arrested when Sheriff Chas. Fellman, Deputy Sheriff Hadge Baril, County Attorney Chas. E. Boughton, Jr., and Vernon Fellman dropped in at the Funk farm and caught his red hand in the process of manufacture. Upon being arraigned before Judge Watts he pleaded guilty to the charge at once.

Funk did not have time to destroy his apparatus altho he succeeded in smashing several bottles of "fire water" before the authorities got their hands on it. He had two stills going in full blast in two sheds near the barn when his operations were finally disclosed.

Dog Saves Rider From Angry Bull; Breaks Leg

A small dog was no doubt responsible for saving the life of Frank Piche of Red Lake Falls at the Louis Parenteau farm in Terrebonne township, when the young man and horse he was riding were attacked by a vicious Holstein herd sire, while he was driving the cattle from the pasture to be milked.

Young Piche was astride a horse when the animal charged the horse throwing it to the ground, the horse falling upon the right leg of the boy breaking the bones between the ankle and knee.

After throwing the horse and rider the animal was about to attack the horse and rider again when a small dog came to the rescue and barked at the furious animal attracting his attention and finally drove it to the barn yard.

The young man was immediately rescued and a physician summoned who set the fractured bones after which he was taken to a Crookston hospital for medical attention.

A Shirt Sleeved Organization

THE world has no place for the shirk. This is the age of workers; of men who are able to do their part in performing the world's work, earnestly, efficiently, and with unbounded enthusiasm.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is an organization of 27,000 workers — a shirt sleeved organization — from the top to the bottom.

In this Company aristocracy is unknown. Instead there exists the true type of industrial democracy.

The department head and the employee work in full sympathy and understanding, shoulder to shoulder, for the common good. The office boy of today is the chief clerk of tomorrow; the district manager of today is the general manager of tomorrow.

On the Board of Directors of this Company is one man who started as a common laborer and truck driver; another who began as a mechanic's helper; two who started as office boys, and another who began as timekeeper — in fact, every man on the Board began in a comparatively humble capacity and earned his place by hard work and sheer ability.

There are thousands of men and boys in the ranks of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)—encouraged and enthused by the inspiration of the "open road to the top" —who are fitting themselves for places on the Board of Directors.

It is this spirit of enthusiastic earnestness, in the mind and heart of every employee of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), which enables this Company to render such superior service to the thirty million people of the Middle West.

It is this superior service that has made the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) one of the great industrial organizations of the world.

"SOME DOCTOR"

If you're sick of this life
With its toil and its strife,
Remember that joy will come back;
Just watch for the day
When the papers will say:
He's arrived here at last—Dr. Jack.

There are Doctors in town
Yes, and some with renown,
And others that you class as quack;
But the one full of pep,
And the man with a rep
Is the one you should see—Dr. Jack.

If your boy as a rule
Wants to stay home from school
And you think he deserves a good whack
Just take it from me,
You will learn when you see
How he's cured by our friend—Dr. Jack.

EAST GRAND FORKS DEFEATED 3 TO 6 IN BASEBALL HERE

Many Spectators See Fast Game Sunday. Team Goes to Bemidji Next Sunday.

The East Grand Forks baseball aggregation met its Waterloo on the local diamond last Sunday when they went down to defeat at the hands of Yost's nine by a final score of 3 to 6. A large crowd witnessed the contest which was very spirited and created much interest. Many out-of-town people were among the spectators.

According to information received here the previous week "Lefty" Finch, former twirler on the Milwaukee association club, was to occupy the mound for the visitors, but he was not in the lineup here, having been engaged at some other place.

The local battery, composed of Yost and Lane and Yost and Dalton when Lane suffered an injury to his finger, worked in splendid style, Yost allowing but five hits during the fracas. Jonas is stepping along in league style on third station and is about to enter into fast company according to baseball fans. Schutt played a star game at left field and in the fifth period was shifted to second which position he held down in good shape. Schutt is but a youngster but is one of the best hitters on the club.

The game opened with the Thief River Falls boys making two runs in the first inning, which lead the opponents were at no time able to overcome. Errors in the ninth inning aided the visitors in making two runs, giving them a final score of three.

Reuben Hadrath, who is visiting here from Minneapolis, was among the new men on the local roster.

On Sunday the Thief River Falls nine clashes with Bemidji at that place, several local fans announcing that they will accompany the team on the trip.

Field Manager Yost announced to The Times this week that the local club desires to hear from other clubs in regard to the possibility of arranging games.

Injured In Auto Spill on Way to Thief River Falls

Neil Wood, son of Warren Wood formerly [illegible] came by way of Iowa and expect to remain in the city and vicinity a week. They left LaGrange a week ago Sunday and spent three days in a small town in Iowa where they recuperated from the effects of an auto accident. While driving along a sandy road one night at a moderate speed they were approached by a large car driven by a woman. The boys gave as much right of way as possible but the hubs of the front wheels of the two cars caught each other and the lighter car was thrown into the ditch, which was a shallow one. Neil was thrown out of the car against a barbed wire fence and suffered several bad cuts about the face and arms. The other car passed by for some distance but on seeing the Ford upset in the ditch they returned. They took the boys to town and secured medical attention, as several stitches were necessary in the case of Neil. The party driving the other car paid the expenses incurred. Neil Wood attended the local high school here during his freshman and sophomore years, 1918-19 and 1919-20. Harvey Motz was in the vicinity last fall when Neil and his brother Fred visited friends here.

Falls Off Hay Stack: Lights on Pitchfork

I. H. Iverson, farmer residing five miles south of the city on the road south of the Greenwood cemetery, suffered a severe wound in his right arm Saturday. Mr. Iverson was stacking hay, and was on the stack receiving the hay as it was pitched up from the buck rake. He had a large forkfull of hay on the fork when he lost his balance and fell off the stack. The weight of the hay forced two of the tines of the fork into his right arm. He immediately drove to this city and was attended to by Dr. J. T. Bowers. He will not be subject to any permanent injuries.

File For Re-election

Mrs. L. G. Larsen and E. O. Mogensen, whose terms expire at this time, and who have served the district during the past three years, are the only candidates whose names have been presented to the chairman of the board, Dr. H. W. Froehlich, for filing. The time for filing expired Monday last week and any one else wishing to enter the race must do so by the sticker route or having his name written on the ballot. The meeting will open at 7:30 o'clock and following the business session the polls will be open for a period of one hour.

Princess Redecorated.

The Princess theatre is undergoing a thorough cleaning and redecorating this week and it is the intention of the manager of the Thief River Theatre company to use this building intermittently instead of the Lyceum, in which building nearly all of the pictures during the past year or more have been shown. The Princess, though it has a smaller seating capacity than the Lyceum, is more beautiful and redecoration will make it much more so.

CHILDREN FROM 7 TO 70 WILL FLOCK TO SEE "OSCAR"

He is the Fairy Godmother of the Cinderella of the Circus Coming to Lyceum.

The children of the world—young and old—who have cherished for centuries the tale of Cinderella in her rags will greet with delight a modern Cinderella who makes her debut on the screen under the auspices of Thomas H. Ince in his new production, "Soul of the Beast."

A wise elephant, "Oscar," plays the role of the fairy godmother in this up-to-date story and he does it so efficiently that the hapless little elephant girl whose destiny he guards finds romance and true happiness after a series of astounding adventures.

The Metro photoplay, which will open at the Lyceum Theatre on Sunday, tells one of the biggest human interest stories ever filmed. Ince has produced a real novelty in this unusual story of a waif of the circus who has centered all her affections on her elephant, "Oscar." When a great cyclone blows down the main tent, one night, "Oscar," after rescuing Ruth from a cage in which she has been locked as the double for the "wild woman from Africa," puts his mistress on his back and they run off into the Canadian woods.

Madge Bellamy, as the forlorn little elephant-girl, reaches tremendous dramatic heights during the scenes that follow the arrival of the strange pair at a quaint little French-Canadian trapper's village. And "Oscar," the elephant, shows an intelligence in his performances that places him in the front ranks of the animal stars of the screen.

Home On Vacation.

Mrs. Ila Reynolds, who for the past seven months has been located in St. Paul, arrived in the city Tuesday morning and will remain at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Ramstad during her vacation of one month's duration. Mrs. Reynolds is in charge of the lamp shade department of the Schuneman and Evans store in St. Paul, where she is doing chiefly instructing in the art of painting and decorating lamp shades. She has also studied interior decorating. A short time previous to her arrival here Mrs. Reynolds accompanied some friends on a motor trip to Chicago.

JOHNSON SWEPT INTO OFFICE BY LANDSLIDE VOTE

Carried 74 of 86 Counties in The State. Plurality Will Be Over 90,000.

Preus Machine Wrecked Completely by Avalanche of Votes Throughout State.

Thief River Falls and Pennington County Went Strong for Farmer-Labor Party.

Magnus Johnson will represent the people of Minnesota in the United States Senate, the voters of the state having on Monday given him the largest majority ever given a candidate for this important office. The vote of the state, with the report of about five hundred precincts still to be tabulated, shows Johnson's plurality to be over 90,000 and it is likely that the complete official canvas will put it over the 100,000 mark.

It was another protest vote such as defeated Kellogg at the last election. It was a vote that showed the displeasure of the people of the state over the economic conditions of the past three years. It is a warning to the "powers that be" of the nation to do something that will change these conditions or in 1924 the entire nation will do what Minnesota did Monday.

Of the eighty-six counties in the state Johnson carried seventy-four and possibly one or two more. It was a splendid victory for the Farmer-Labor party and one that has completely wrecked the finely perfected political machine of Gov. Preus.

Thief River Falls and Pennington county went strong for Magnus Johnson. The following table gives the vote by precincts:

	Preus	Johnson	Carley

ADDITIONAL DAY ADDED TO FAIR; GETTING READY

All Indications Point to Record breaking Exhibitions During Four Days.

Free Amusements Galore Both Afternoons and Evenings At Fairgrounds.

More Attractions Booked For County Exposition August 1, 2, 3 and 4.

The officials of the Pennington County Fair association at a meeting last week decided to extend the fair this year one more day, making the dates for the event August 1, 2, 3 and 4. The extra day was made possible by additional attractions and for the reason that several of the attractions agreed to show a day more without a great deal of expense on the part of the association. It will also give the exhibitors a better opportunity to show their products.

As the time approaches for the opening of the Pennington county fair on August 1, it is becoming more and more evident that this year's exposition will far surpass any that has ever been staged in Thief River Falls or anywhere in this section of the state. The importance of the event is indicated by the fact that the Pennington fair is one of the five largest in the state.

Not only will the amusement features be of exceptional high class nature but the exhibitions this year also promise to excel those of former years both in quality and number. Unless inclement weather sets in during fair time, the attendance this year will undoubtedly exceed last year's, according to those in charge. The success of former fairs here and the rapidly increasing interest of people throughout this section portend a record-breaking crowd at each of the four days.

Show Features.

The Lachman Exposition Shows have proved a splendid feature of the fairs where they have shown at various points throughout the state, and will be one of the big attractions here beginning July 30 and showing for six days. The Lachman shows comprise 25 cars, 300 people and two bands. In addition there will also be the Sterling Rose Trio, acrobats, and the Marriott Troupe, the only act of its kind in the world.

Auto Polo.

Auto polo will also be a big drawing card for the fair this year. Autopoloists will be here from Crookston during the entire exposition. The new game of auto pushball, introduced by the same group is described as follows in yesterday's issue of the Crookston Times:

'Milan Espe and the local men affiliated with him in the Northwestern Minnesota Auto Polo association are the originators of a new game called auto push ball which is declared to be one of the most daring and thrilling exhibitions in the country.

The local men conceived the idea and plans for the game only recently and will give the first exhibition of its kind in the entire United States at the Pennington county fair at Thief River Falls on August 4th.

The large leather push ball to be used in the game arrived in the city on Monday from Brooklyn, N. Y. The ball which was required by Mr. Espe for the new game had to be specially made as there were none like it in the entire country.'

Children Admitted Free.

Children will be admitted free of charge upon the presentation of their report cards. Children are particularly requested to view the school exhibitions which are especially good this year.

AT HOME AGAIN

The Times is this week printed in its own plant, the first time since the fire which occurred on May 22nd. The work of getting the various machines adjusted and working properly has been a difficult task [illegible]

Thru State In Flivver.

Chas. Verachek, assistant cashier of the Citizens State bank, B. H. Dickey, of the J. C. Penney store, and Dreng Bjornaraa of The Times staff, will leave tomorrow morning on an extended auto trip thru the state, expecting to be gone about a week. Their itinerary will include Bemidji, Itasca State Park, the iron range, Duluth, twin cities, Glenwood, Detroit and various other points of interest. They will make the trip in "Charlie's" Ford Sedan and expect to camp along the entire route.

POST OFFICE ENJOYS LARGE RECEIPTS FOR FISCAL PERIOD

Business Largest in History of Office, Efficient Force Serves Large Public.

The business of the Thief River Falls post office during the fiscal year which closed June 30th, was the largest in the history of the office, according to Postmaster Daniel Shaw. The records for the year show an increase in stamp sales and also in all the other departments of the institution. At a recent state postal conference it was brought out that the post office department is the greatest business institution in the country.

The service given the public at the local office is unusually good, and patrons express great satisfaction with the efficient force, all of whom are doing excellent work in spite of the fact that the quarters are inadequate for the large volume of business, making good work difficult.

Nineteen to twenty persons are employed, most of them having been in the service for a long time and know the office and work in every detail. The city is served by three carriers who have been on the job practically since the delivery system was established. There are also three rural routes and two Star routes which go out from this city.

Eleven mails are received and dispatched each day, distribution following immediately upon arrival. Mail from the south arrived at 2:37 a. m. is in the office at 4:30 at which time distribution begins as well as the dispatching of outgoing mail, the first of which leaves the office at 5:20 a. m. to get on the first morning train.

Following are the office hours according to regular schedule: General delivery and registry windows—8:00 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. Money order and postal savings windows—8:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. General delivery is open on legal holidays 11:00 to 12:00 m. It is closed on Sundays. The lobby is open on week days from 7:00 to 10:15 p. m. and on Sundays 8:00 a. m. to 9:30 p. m.

Mails close as follows:

Trains 109 and 110, Soo Line, north or south—9:00 p. m.
Train 112, Soo Line, St. Paul, 6:20 a. m.
Train 102, Soo Line, Duluth, 6:30 a. m.
Train 203, Soo Line, wheat line, 7:45 a. m.

Boy Injured When Horses Run Smashing Mower

Julien Lendobeja, the sixteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lendobeja [illegible] became frightened and ran away with the result that he is now in the hospital receiving treatment for a wound in the back of the head.

Young Lendobeja was putting up the sickle bar when one of the horses, a young colt, became scared and made a sudden start. He jumped on the mower in an attempt to stop the running team but was thrown off when they turned and struck a corner post with the mower with such violent force that the mower was smashed. A part of a wheel struck Lendobeja in the back of the head rendering him unconscious and causing a severe wound, but he was in a short time able to walk to his home for assistance and immediately taken to the Physicians hospital where is now improving very nicely.

The horses, after breaking away from the mower, also broke apart and made their way into the barn.

Dr. Twete to Coast

Dr. L. R. Twete, local veterinary, left Wednesday for Minneapolis by car to take up some work at the state university for a period of two weeks. From Minneapolis he will go to Fargo for a brief visit at his home and will proceed from there to the coast. He expects to be back in a few weeks.

Holt Transient Taken By Sheriff as Insane

The following item concerning an insane man at Holt appeared in the Grand Forks Herald Tuesday:

Sheriff Hanson of Marshall County was called from Warren Friday night to take a supposedly insane man to jail for safe-keeping. The man had wandered into town late Friday afternoon and no one knows who he is or where he came from. Several persons noticed his queer actions as soon as he came to the village. He wondered about apparently aimlessly, and finally went to sleep on the grass in front of the section foreman's house. He made no effort to escape when the sheriff took him into custody.

Philip Larson returned last Monday from a vacation trip to points in Minnesota and North Dakota where he visited among relatives and friends. He will resume his work at the First National bank next Monday.

The E. O. Mogensen family are spending a few days at the North Dakota state fair this week.

REV. F. V. BRODIN OF THIS CITY PASSES; ILL ONLY 1 WEEK

Young Missionary of Valley Dies Following Operation at Local Hospital.

Rev. Fred V. Brodin, traveling missionary of Young Peoples covenant of the Swedish Mission church, died last Saturday at a local hospital after a short illness. He underwent an operation for appendicitis a week previously and was on the way to recovery but suffered a relapse and peretanitis set in and resulted in his death.

In his work throughout the valley he was widely known and greatly loved wherever he went. He was born at Hallock, Feb. 25, 1892, and was only about 31 years of age at the time of his demise. He attended the Moody bible school at Chicago, working his way through. He came to this vicinity a year ago and has worked unceasingly thruout the northern part of the Red River Valley, and has been tireless in the upbuilding of the Covenant in this district. He was particularly known for his hopeful views, his optimistic nature and zeal for his work. In the interests of his work he was forgetful of self, in his long days of strenuous effort in reaching the outlying sections he so exhausted himself that when the attack of illness seized him he had not the strength to combat with it. Last fall he married Miss Nellie Olson, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Carl O. Olson, formerly of Warren; and had been married only ten months at the time of his death.

The funeral was conducted from the Swedish Mission church of Warren Monday afternoon and was attended by a large number of friends whom he had made while traveling on the field. Rev. Theo. Clemens of Warren had charge of the impressive services, and the following ministers acted as pall bearers: Rev. O. J. Lundell, city; Rev. K. E. Pearson, Crookston; Rev. A. Anderson, Roseau; Rev. W. Drotts, Viking; Rev. Carl Lundquist, city and C. F. Philstrom of Warren. Rev. Lundell and Rev. Anderson spoke at the church, and Miss Esther Mathison of Minneapolis sang one of the favorite songs of Rev. Brodin. C. F. Philstrom also sang two of the favorite songs. At the Greenwood cemetery of Warren, where his body was interred, Rev. Lundquist, Rev. Drotts, Rev. Pearson and Rev. Lundin of the Swedish Baptist church of Karlstad, Rev. Peter MacFarlane of St. Paul, Rev. T. Myhre of Newfolden and Prof. Lager of Bronson spoke. A profusion of flowers gave evidence to the esteem and love in which he was held.

To mourn his untimely death he leaves his wife, father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brodin of Hallock; one brother, A. V. Brodin, and seven sisters, Mrs. Charlie Swanson of Greenbush; Mrs. Carl Rodquist of Warroad; Mrs. Chester Poore of Stanley, Wisconsin; Mrs. Howard Poore of Bronson; Mrs. Conrad Johnson of Bronson and Misses Ruth and Amy of Hallock.

Tomatoes and Green Corn

M. C. Burns claims the distinction of being the champion gardner in Thief River Falls this year. Yesterday his family partook of ripe tomatoes and green corn which Mr. Burns raised in his garden. Several others, among them W. H. Akre, have already had ripe tomatoes from their gardens but so far as The Times [illegible]

TEACHING CORPS FOR SCHOOLS OF CITY SELECTED

Thirty-Four Members of Last Year's Faculty Will Resume Duties Here in Fall.

Only 5 Positions Remain to Be Filled. Teaching Force Reduced For Coming Year.

Seventeen Are Residents of This City. Normal Students Should Enroll Now.

Practically a complete roster of teachers for the Thief River Falls schools has been secured, according to information from the superintendents office. At present only five instructors remain to be selected; four in the high school and one in the grades. The openings in the high school call for teachers in the following departments: Geometry and physics, commercial, English, and the position of school nurse. One more teacher is needed in the Knox building. These positions will be filled within a very short time, several applications being considered by the school board and Supt. I. T. Simley, the latter who is at present taking a six-weeks short course at Columbia University, New York.

Former Teachers Returning.

A large number of last year's staff members are returning to resume their duties here next fall, several of them having been employed by district No. 18 for a number of years. Thirty-four of the teachers who completed terms in this city last spring will return for another year of service.

This fact speaks for itself in regard to the school system maintained in Thief River Falls. Efficient service was rendered by the staff last year and re-employment of so many of its members insures increased efficiency for the coming school year as they are already familiar with the system, the city, conditions and the children whom they have in their charge, and are for many reasons particularly fitted for the execution of their duties. The new instructors are persons well qualified to fill their designated places, all having given satisfactory services at some other place and come here well recommended.

Among the returning teachers seventeen make their home in Thief River Falls.

Departments Reduced.

It was decided by the board last spring to eliminate the kindergarten department this year in an attempt to reduce maintenance costs as much as possible. Two teachers were engaged in this division last year.

The vocational training department which has employed two instructors during the past few years has been cut down and will be taken charge of by one. The automotive branch of the department has been eliminated. Manual training and allied subjects will continue to be taught.

Normal Students Wanted.

The teachers' training department has been organized on a strictly graduate basis, that is, anyone wishing to enter must be a high school graduate. Seniors in high school will not be admitted as heretofore. In order to maintain the department under the new arrangement, there must be an assured enrollment of at least twenty pupils. So far only fourteen have signified their intentions of training for the teaching profession and it is desired by the superintendent that anyone desiring to enroll, file their application at the earliest time possible as it will determine the basis on which this branch will be conducted. The enrollment will also determine the number of instructors; so far only one has been employed. The department is maintained by the state.

1923-1924 Faculty.

Those who have been employed for the coming year up to this time and the subjects they will teach are:

I. T. Simley, Thief River Falls, superintendent of city schools.

Johnson, Red Wing, music supervisor; Leonard Thune, Albert Lea, athletic coach and physical training; Clara Baumann, La Crosse, Wis., physical training and home economics; Julia Herlickson, Northwood, N. THE SERVICE OF A FAILURE

BY J. H. PUELICHER
President American Bankers Association

J. H. Puelicher

When Governor Walton of Oklahoma signed recently the repeal of the bank deposit guaranty law in that state, he performed an economic service to the whole country. I might even say that Oklahoma in passing that law, enduring its evil consequences for fifteen years and then frankly casting it aside as a failure, has performed an economic service to the nation. There could be no more convincing argument against the passage of similar laws in other states than Oklahoma's disastrous experiment.

The Oklahoma guaranty law was the first of its kind. It was enacted in response to the panic of 1907. But experience has only proved again that there is no substitute for sound banking. Relying on the fancied security of the guaranty law, people entrusted their banking to many who were unfit for the trust. Bank failures have been so many that the fund, supposed to guarantee deposits, created by assessments on banks, was long ago depleted.

It is estimated that with total liabilities created under the law in the form of warrants and sums owing to depositors amounting to $12,000,000, there are in the hands of the Banking Board uncertain assets of nominally $15,000,000, ranging in value from zero to only thirty or forty cents on the dollar, resulting in a deficit of many million dollars. Sound, well-managed banks have been heavily taxed by assessments to the fund, and the maximum amount that could be assessed on solvent banks is insufficient to cover the deficit.

It has been well said that guaranty laws make for looseness in banking methods, and saddle on the competent and honest the sins of the incompetent and dishonest.

Let us have only laws that raise the standard of banking. Let us have no laws that debase it.

NEED FOR UNIFORMITY IN BUSINESS LAWS

How Collection of Just Debts May Be Prevented by Differing State Statutes.

An effort to bring about better coordination and greater uniformity among state laws dealing with business and banking is being made by the American Bankers Association.

It is pointed out that, although the country is a unit commercially, and citizens of any one state may do business that reaches all over the country, most laws governing business transactions are made by the different states, with application limited to their own local jurisdictions and often in conflict with laws in other states. It is held that state laws should be uniform so that the same transaction will not be subject to different sets of rules according as state laws differ.

To illustrate the disadvantages of conflicting laws, the following illustration is given: Mr. Jones lives in New York where the statute of limitations outlaws a note in six years. He falls into the error of assuming that the same rule prevails everywhere. He visits Maryland and loans $1,000 to his friend, Mr. Smith, taking a promissory note. As the note carries interest Mr. Jones is in no hurry for his money and he believes Smith to be financially responsible. Finally at the end of four years Jones concludes he has loaned Smith the money long enough and seeks to collect the note from him. But Smith can deny liability and point to the statute of Maryland which Jones is surprised to learn outlaws a note after three years.

Changes Recommended

The particular subjects of legislation recommended by the association for enactment by State legislatures during 1923 include uniform acts on negotiable instruments, bills of lading, warehouse receipts, stock transfer, and fiduciaries.

Under the head of laws for better protection of banks in particular transactions are proposed measures dealing with limiting liability on certified check; instruments based on gambling or usurious consideration; time limit on stop payment; payment of stale check; adverse claim to bank deposit; payment of forged or raised check; deposits in two names; deposits in trust; competency of bank and corporation notaries; non-payment of check through error; Saturday afternoon bank transactions, and forwarding check direct to payor.

Under the Federal Reserve and foreign banking are recommended laws on membership of state institutions in Federal Reserve System, and foreign banking. Penal laws proposed deal with false statements for credit; slander and libel of bank; checks or drafts without funds, and burglary with explosives.

Co-operative Marketing

Agriculture produces enough to feed the people the year around but some of this production should be stored to eliminate the over supply at the times of harvest or during periods of high production. It can then be thrown upon the market in accordance with consumptive demands.

Co-operative marketing is still in its infancy. In a few localities where farmers have been properly organized and provided themselves with adequate facilities to store their products they have been able to considerably stabilize prices, to the advantage of both producer and consumer.

Farmers are looking for a scientific merchandising basis upon which to market their products. It is extremely important that they organize rightly on the commodity basis and secure efficient capable management and adequate financing. This cannot be done in a day, a week, or a month, nor in five or even ten years. It must be by gradual growth and development. The problem is so important it demands the best thought of not only farmers but educators, bankers and other business men.—Banker-Farmer.

THE HIGH COST OF CHEAP MONEY

Widows and Orphans Among Chief Losers From Unsound Currency.

E. E. AGGER CITES EXPERIENCE

Speculators Rather Than Investors and Producers Win From Currency Depreciation.

The losses and costs borne by the government and the people of the United States from unsound money experiments, from colonial times down, doubtless total more than our staggering World War appropriations, it is declared by E. E. Agger, an authority on economics, in the Journal of the American Bankers' Association. "Cheap money," he says, is very costly, since frenzied finance, speculation and business disaster have invariably followed in the wake of unsound currency. He cites historical experience showing that widows and orphans were among the chief sufferers.

"New generations of adults, like children, have to learn over and over again that, when playing with fire, one runs the risk of being burned," Mr. Agger says. "Indulging currency heresies constitutes such an adult playing-with-fire. A glance over our own historical experience would demonstrate this to the most ardent 'easy money' advocate, but such advocates are usually those to whom history is 'bunk.'

Soft Money Advocates Seek Profit

"Unfortunately those who are willing to kindle the kind of conflagration involved in 'soft-money' experimentation are not the only ones hurt. Indeed, they may extort an advantage for themselves. But the record is all too clear concerning the mass of people. Heavy losses, injustice, disorganized production and numerous other evils are inevitable.

"Unsound money projects impose heavy costs on the government itself. The first effect of cheap money is to raise prices. Mounting prices mean that, to meet its needs, the government must appropriate always larger sums. Again, dallying with unsound money weakens the government's credit. Prospective bond buyers become hesitant when currency depreciation is threatened, because there is danger of agitation toward the payment of government obligations in the cheaper money rather than in specie. Any such weakening of government credit means lower prices received for bonds, consequently greater burdens on the Treasury. Assuming that, in the end, sound principles triumph, the indulgences of the unsound currency days leave further costs to be met. If paper money has been issued it must be redeemed. If a government be unwilling to stoop to repudiation it must raise much more in taxes to pay for the paper money than it received at the time of issue."

The total effect of paper issues in increasing the cost of the Civil War is estimated at about $600,000,000, Mr. Agger says, continuing:

"Much more serious than the costs of unsound currency to the government are the heavy direct and indirect costs imposed upon the people. Our productive system is controlled through prices, and the upset of prices, caused by a depreciating currency, interferes with the proper harmonizing of the different lines of production. Price changes are not instantaneously or uniformly effected throughout the whole system. The result of an inflationary movement is a stimulation of speculation and over-investment in some lines, with inadequate development in other lines. The period of speculation seems a period of prosperity, but how false and unsound is such prosperity is disclosed in the stress and agony of the inevitable period of liquidation which, Nemesis-like, follows on the heels of the boom."

Wealth Unfairly Re-distributed

Mr. Agger then describes "the distressing effects of an unsound money on the distribution of wealth among classes and individuals. Cheapening money through inflationary expedients is a gigantic fraud upon the creditor classes as against debtors. All those dependent on fixed incomes, or receiving specified sums in terms of money, are penalized when the purchasing power of money is depressed. In like manner the stockholder profits at the expense of the bondholder—a fact which implies a reward to the more speculatively inclined at the expense of the conservative.

"Advancing prices cause discontent and give rise to agitation and unrest among those whose incomes cannot promptly be adjusted to meet higher living costs. Strikes are fomented and production is curtailed. Everybody shares in these burdens. Lack of stability in money also undermines and weakens habits of thrift. A corrosion of the moral integrity of the people is inevitable. Dishonesty is stimulated and a desire to gain by speculation rather than to earn a livelihood by productive and useful labor causes a marked deterioration in popular habits and character."

THE BEST THE FARMS PRODUCE

By WALTER W. HEAD
First Vice-President, American Bankers Association

Walter W. Head

Every banker and business man in the country is interested in the farm from another viewpoint than merely a place to raise farm products and livestock. Above all the farm is one of the places where we can best bring up our boys and girls. Thousands of men and boys each year are flocking to the city. Clerks in the city are barely eking out an existence and they cannot expect to receive much more in the way of compensation.

But back on the farms are men working for a reasonable return, and in addition they have their houses, the wonderful sunshine above in the daytime, the wonderful fresh air and all the things that the soil produces. The boy who is raised on the farm will have an entirely different aspect of life and approach the various problems with which he has to deal in later years in a different way from the boy who is raised in the city.

In this period of unrest we are certainly vitally interested in rearing both on the farms and in the cities boys and girls with the proper outlook for the future, imbued with the belief that the activity in which they are engaged is, after all, something that will provide them both with the necessary things of life and with happiness. For in happiness there is contentment, and in contentment in America there is safety for our institutions.

Every single banker should feel that the problems his farmer customers have to contend with are not only the farmer's problems but his problems as well. He should feel not only that the farmer must be prosperous so that he can deposit more in his bank, giving the banker more to loan and thereby increasing his profits, but that also there is something which cannot be measured in dollars and cents. It is the thought of rendering such service to their customers—regardless of whether they are farmers or men working in the shops, or big business men of the cities—that will bring not only prosperity but contentment as well. The banker should take as his motto: "Who serves best profits most."

Gompers on Socialism

State socialism is repugnant to the American mind for a great many reasons. Americans generally prefer to carve out the future in freedom. They are unwilling to accept the idea of an all-powerful state. It is the American idea that the people shall order the state and shape its course; not that the state shall order the lives of the people, fitting them into niches to suit a bureaucratic card index.—Samuel Gompers.

St. Hilaire Farmers Lose Horses in Violent Storm

The St. Hilaire Spectator last week recorded two incidents of damage caused by lightning in the vicinity of St. Hilaire during the violent electric storm Sunday, July 8.

The barn on the Claus Adolphson farm west of St. Hilaire was burned to the ground after being struck by lightening during the severe storm. The heavy farm horses were, fortunately, in the pasture at the time of the fire but some other stock was lost, including one horse which was so badly burned it had to be shot. Mr. Adolphson was quite badly burned about the face while trying to save some of the contents and stock in the barn.

Col. Thos. Whalen lost a valuable pure bred mare at his stock farm south of the village the same afternoon. James Kenney also lost a horse at the Herman Fellman farm north of St. Hilaire during the same storm.

Ruby Anderson Scores As Pianist and Harpist at Oberlin School

Miss Ruby Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Anderson of this city, arrived last Thursday from Oberlin, Ohio, where she completed a course at the Oberlin Conservatory of Music this spring. She graduated with high honors, receiving a degree of Bachelor of Music.

Oberlin Conservatory is considered everywhere one of the best musical institutions in the country and graduates must show particular talent in this art before the degree is awarded. From a large class at the beginning of the year only a small group receive their degree in musical execution, altho a large number become instructors of music.

Miss Anderson is a pianist and also a harpist of exceptional ability, having received splendid commendations by artists and instructors of music who have heard her in recitals and programs. Last winter and spring particularly she appeared in many recitals, both piano and harp, and was everywhere met with high praise of her splendid execution and expression. Her delivery of the most difficult numbers indicates talent in a high degree. At numerous occasions Miss Anderson was called on to take part in musical programs in Oberlin and also at other places.

At Elyria, Ohio, she took a very prominent part in a recital given by the choral department of the musical art club of that city regarding which the press gave Miss Anderson the following comment:

"A noteworthy selection was the one entitled, "At the Cloister Gate" by Grieg, in which solo parts were taken by Mrs. Karl Reefy and Mrs. Florence Jenny Hall and harp interludes played by Miss Ruby Ione Anderson. Harp Solo by Miss Anderson of Oberlin displayed splendid command of that instrument as well as musical sensibility of high order." The other members of the group were all professors of music, Miss Anderson being the only student.

The paper at Greenville, Mich., where she also appeared together with other artists last spring, said:

"Miss Anderson with her first group exercised an artist's influence over an appreciative audience. Her second group delighted with its fanciful touches and the final numbers established her high degree of skill in interpreting the master composer. A seeming brevity of performance licensed an expression of insistent applause, to which she happily responded."

Miss Anderson has not yet made definite plans for the coming year, but will visit at her parental home here during the summer months.

POLITICS OR GOOD SERVICE?

The railroads of the United States did the biggest business of their entire history in the year ending June 1st, 1923.

In order to handle this enormous business the railroads in the Northwest—to say nothing of the rest of the country—are spending in round numbers $20,000,000 for 400 new locomotives at $50,000 apiece, and $60,000,000 for 30,000 new freight cars at $2,000 apiece.

They are eager to spend many more millions for new double-tracks, passing tracks, sidetracks, and terminal tracks which are very badly needed in order to keep the cars moving and not standing idle on the tracks waiting for a chance to move.

The only possible way the railroad companies can raise the money to build these track improvements is by a satisfactory showing of earnings.

The railroad companies cannot borrow the money to improve their tracks if it is doubtful whether they will be allowed to earn enough to pay the interest on the debt or the debt itself when due.

Some politicians are seeking popularity by trying to prevent the railroad companies from earning enough to pay back anything to stockholders and bondholders who have put their money into the railroads. There are tens of thousands of these, rich and poor, scattered all over the United States.

There are some politicans who actually want to cripple the railroads so that they will be taken over by the government and become political machines.

What the farmer needs from the railroads is not more politics but good prompt service.

The farmers ought to plainly show that they will not allow any man to hold public office who supports measures which would prevent the railroads from giving good service and turn them into political machines.

A GOOD WAY TO UPSET PRICES

Further Exposures of How Edison-Ford Money Plan Would Fail to Aid Farmer.

The way the Edison-Ford "commodity money" scheme, aimed to stabilize monetary values, would have exactly the opposite effect, is discussed in the present article, which is the second in a series prepared by the American Bankers Association, reviewing the exposure of the weaknesses of the plan as presented by William T. Foster, Director of the Pollack Foundation for Economic Research.

Briefly stated, the Edison-Ford plan provides for Government warehousing of basic commodities, against which currency would be loaned to the producer without interest, up to half the average value of the products for the previous twenty-five years. This currency would be cancelled as the commodities were withdrawn and passed into trade. On the other half of the value the producer would receive "equity certificates" which he could sell or use for bank loans. On these points Mr. Foster says:

Upsetting Price Equilibrium

"Steady price levels depend mainly on the balance between the volume of goods on the market and the volume of money offered for goods. The Edison plan is designed expressly to upset the balance. A farmer delivers, say, two thousand bushels of wheat to the Goverment warehouse and the Government delivers one thousand dollars in new money to the farmer. When the farmer sells the wheat he repays the loan and the Government destroys the money. Thus the volume of money is increased precisely when goods are stored; and the volume of money is decreased precisely when these goods are marketed. In other words, each transaction begins by placing in circulation goods without money to match the goods. Dollar demand is created as the supply of goods is withdrawn; the supply of goods is created as dollar demand is withdrawn.

"Would it enable the farmer to borrow more money on his products than he can now borrow? When Mr. Edison contends that farmers would obtain larger loans on their crops than they can now obtain from banks, he is confronted by this dilemma: Either the banks are now refusing to make sound loans, or, under the Edison plan, the Government would make unsound loans.

"Neither Mr. Edison nor Mr. Ford can consistently contend that banks now refuse to make sound loans, for that is the way banks make most of their profits, and Mr. Edison and Mr. Ford have no doubt that banks are conducted for profit. It follows that the plan would yield larger loans to farmers only if the Government met the risks of unsound banking. In that case all that insolvent borrowers gained would be paid by the rest of the population, which, to say the least, is not a fair deal.

Cutting Down Farm Credit

"Apparently, however, the Government is not expected to run many risks, for the farmer is allowed to borrow an amount no greater than one-half the average value of his product for the previous twenty-five years. But prices have risen so high since 1896 that the farmer could borrow on most products much less than half the present value of the products. It would be much less, therefore, than the farmer could borrow directly from the banks on graded products; on products not graded no Government loans would be made, for there would be no way of determining the twenty-five-year price average.

"However, the farmer, having obtained the stipulated Government loan on his goods, could then offer his equity certificate to a bank for an additional loan. But the equity certificate is virtually a second mortgage and no bank would prefer a second mortgage to a first mortgage.

"Suppose the Old National Bank was willing to lend a farmer eight hundred dollars on one thousand bushels of wheat. Suppose, however the farmer deposited the wheat in a Federal warehouse and obtained five hundred dollars from the Government. Certainly the bank would not lend the farmer three hundred dollars on the equity certificate. The protection of the bank would be greater if the farmer relied on the bank for the entire loan; for in that case the bank could realize on its security without being obliged to pay five hundred dollars to get the wheat out of Government storage. The farmer can now borrow more money from a bank on standardized farm products than under the Edison plan."

GETTING TOGETHER

"The earth and the fullness thereof" is the primary source of capital. The farmer, therefore, is the nation's greatest producer of wealth. Farming and banking—production and distribution—should go hand in hand. The problems of the farmer are the problems of the banker. Both are vitally concerned in bringing about a proper adjustment of transportation and marketing costs. The increasing tendency toward a more sympathetic understanding of each other's relation to these problems is one of the very encouraging signs of the times, and will result in further advancement of their mutual interests.—Walter W. Head, First Vice President American Bankers Association.

AMUSING THE CROWDS IS BIG FAIR PROBLEM

A WELL-ARRANGED AMUSEMENT PROGRAM AT THE FARGO FAIR

The task of arranging the amusement program for the Inter-State Fair July 9 to 14 has kept the management busy for the past three weeks. President S. F. Crabbe, Directors C. R. Stone and M. A. Baldwin, and Secretary J. P. Hardy, the Amusement Committee, spent the last week of February at the International meeting at Chicago, at which time the programs offered by the various amusement companies were carefully scrutinized in an effort to secure the best. Later, Secretary Hardy attended the meeting of the North Dakota Fair Secretaries and completed some of the details of the amusement program that had not been definitely settled at Chicago. The resulting program will, it is believed offer so much that is new to the Fargo Fair as to prove unusually attractive to its patrons.

The opening day is to be featured with startling automobile races and a style show. The four following days will offer an exceptionally fine harness racing program, the closing day featuring a genuine Derby of six running events.

The platform attractions that will be given twice a day for the entire six days will feature Castello's Society Horse Show and Circus, of dangerous, unique, and novel acts of horsemanship; the Flying Fishers, consisting of five trapeze artists, who work in the air at a height of 60 feet; the Thomas Saxotette, a genuinely original comedy musical sensation; the Falone Trio, comedy, trapeze, and tumbling artists; and the Brazilian Comedy Circus, a program of five big acts that are sure to please.

An added feature to the afternoon program will be running dashes, in which horses that are entered for the big Derby events on Saturday will participate.

The big evening feature will be an entirely new spectacle, entitled, "India," which will convert the infield into a veritable oriental scene in which appear the Moslem, the Brahmin, the white man, the Turk, and elephants, carried for this event, will add a feature for the children that can hardly fail to please. The fireworks that close this feature will fully maintain the excellent standard of the showing of former years.

The management feels that it is fortunate in being able to announce the re-engagement of Al Sweet's Singing Band for the afternoon and evening programs, and Chairman Stone advises that the other bands will keep pace with the balance of this excellent program. An entirely new carnival has been contracted for the week, namely, the well-known Con T. Kennedy Shows, bringing with them six new rides for the kiddies, and 18 clean, amusing, and instructive shows that will make the midway a popular resort.

SOME HARD FACTS ABOUT SOFT MONEY

By JOHN OAKWOOD

When a farmer takes his product to market and sells it for, say, a dollar a bushel, he is dependent upon the honesty of two measures—the dollar and the bushel.

• • •

The other day a crossroads storekeeper got sent to jail for manipulating a trick bushel basket with a false bottom that would slide up and down in a way that was grand, gloomy and mysterious. When using it to measure stuff he bought from a farmer, he'd secretly shove the bottom down until it held at least a bushel and a quarter, but he would only credit him with a bushel. The buying power of the farmer's product was thereby depreciated by about twenty per cent.

• • •

Finally the farmers thereabouts got wise to the fact that the only way they could get what was coming to them was to enforce a reliable standard of measurement. So they put a good stiff jail penalty on using a fake measure, laid for that storekeeper with the trick basket and sent him to prison.

• • •

Politicians in Europe have been manipulating the other measure—the money measure—in much the same way. Some of them in America want to tamper likewise with the dollar. Here is about the way it would work out. Suppose, when the farmer brought his product to market, the basket measure was honest enough and he got a dollar bill for each bushel. He'd take his dollars home and save them. Perhaps he planned to buy some land next his own for a thousand dollars, and figured that in a year or so he could make it.

• • •

But meanwhile the politicians start to manipulate the base of the currency. They would change it from the gold standard to a f i a t money plan —from a gold guarantee to the more say-so of the government that a piece of paper was worth a dollar. The farmer wouldn't be watching the money-politicians. He would be too busy raising things. At the end of the year he has his thousand dollars. He takes them to the landowner and says, "I'll buy your land now—here's a thousand dollars."

• • •

But the landowner would say, "That is paper money—my land is worth one thousand dollars gold—the government has printed so much paper money folks haven't much confidence in it. But I am willing to take a chance if you will give me a dollar and a quarter in paper money for each gold dollar's value of my land—in other words, I'll give you my land for $1,250 dollars paper."

• • •

Soft money would be only another way for the money-politicians to hand the farmer the same dirty deal as the basket manipulator. In the first case the farmer unknowingly gave a bushel and a quarter of his product, and in the second case he would have to give a dollar and a quarter of his money, for a dollar's value in return.

THE ELECTION RESULT.

Magnus Johnson was swept into the office of United States Senator Monday by a wave that covered the entire state. He was given a substantial majority by the voters in all but a handful of the eighty-six counties and elected in a manner that leaves no room for doubt as to the attitude of the people. The voters in every part of the state went on record in a very decisive manner as being disgusted and dissatisfied with conditions as they have been brought about by the politicians in power. The result is a voice of protest indicative of what may be expected throughout the entire country at the next election unless something is done to relieve the deplorable condition of the farmers.

The American farmer is a sound, solid, substantial citizen, not easily lead astray by wild and impractical ideas. He has for years listened to premises and pledges on the part of old party candidates to do something for him but elections have come and gone and his condition has rapidly become worse until it has finally reached a point where bankruptcy is staring him in the face. The result of the election Monday shows in unmistakable terms that he has ceased to listen to these promises and has taken matters into his own hands. Call him radical, red or anything else you may choose but the fact remains that he knows his economic condition cannot become any worse and he has decided to take a chance that it will be improved.

Magnus Johnson has been held up to ridicule by hundreds of papers throughout the state because of the foreign accent in his speech, his personal appearance and his educational qualifications and in spite of this he has been elected by an overwhelming majority. The future will tell how deserving he is of the confidence placed in him by the people of the state.

The Times is immensely pleased over the outcome of the election and it has no regrets over having supported his candidacy. The result of the vote in Pennington county is particularly gratifying, especially in view of the fact that The Times was the only newspaper in the county, and practically in northwestern Minnesota, that supported the successful candidate.

SCHOOL ELECTION SATURDAY.

The annual school election and meeting of district No. 18, comprising the entire school system of the city of Thief River Falls, takes place next Saturday, July 21. This is a meeting of vital importance to every school patron and taxpayer of the city and should be attended by everyone who has an interest in this extensive branch of public institutions.

The school system in this city is one of the largest in the state outside the twin cities and Duluth and requires large sums of the taxpayers' money for maintenance. In fact the school fund is by far the largest item in taxation today. In Thief River Falls it means an exenditure of approximately $115,000 per year and those who contribute to this should take sufficient interest to attend and participate in the annual meeting.

The Lake County Chronicle, Two Harbors, says the following regarding people who never present themselves at the meeting but nevertheless find grave faults with the administration of affairs:

"The school is recognized as the most important arm of public welfare and it is to be wondered that so little interest is generally manifested on the occasion of the annual meeting when a real opportunity is offered for study of conditions and citicism. From one year's end to the other criticisms of one sort or another may be heard upon the streets and at the sewing circles and yet at the annual meeting it is out of the ordinary if more than a score of people are present. It would seem as if parents of children of school age who realize the importance of efficient school systems would let nothing stand in the way of their presence on such occasions and that they would offer their criticisms there where they would have a greater effect and bear fruit. People will find all sorts of faults on the streets and fail to show up to voice them at the annual meeting where they might be considered and receive proper consideration."

THE COUNTY FAIR.

Don't forget that the dates for the Pennington county annual fair in Thief River Falls are August 1, 2, 3 and 4—four days of exhibitions and entertainments of the best that is to be seen anywhere in the state. A consultation of the calendar will disclose that there are only two more weeks until the doors to the fair grounds open to boosters for the greatest fair ever staged in this city.

There will be less use for a waste basket in the newspaper offices of the state now that the senatorial campaign is over.

College Singers Here In Concert July 29th.

Sunday evening, July 29, beginning at 8 o'clock, the Gustavian Quartette or rather the Gustavian Concert Company from Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minn., will give a concert in the Augustana church in Thief River Falls.

An excellent program will be rendered, consisting of quartet songs, duets, vocal solos, piano and cornet solos and a brief talk. The members are all artists of high order. Special mention should be given Professor Arthur W. Ryberg, the vocal teacher at the college, and one of the best singers of the state.

The concert will be a decided treat for those who appreciate good music, according to statements made by those who have heard them. The admission charges for adults is 50 cents and for children 25 cents.

Langseth's Leave.

Mrs. Anna Langseth and daughter Palma left Thief River Falls Wednesday morning for Berkely, California, where they will make their future home. Miss Helen Langseth, brother Martin, also daughter and son of Mrs. Langseth, are now living in Berkely and they will make their home there together. Mrs. Langseth and daughter took the Canadian route and will spend a few weeks at various points noted for their beautiful scenery, including Banff and the larger Western-Canadian parks. The Langseths have been residents of this city for more than twenty years and will be greatly missed by a host of friends. Miss Palma Langseth has won recognition for her ability on the piano, both in technique and expression and will be missed in music circles.

The Langseth house has been rented by Henry Eyde, who has already moved into it.

Heavy Auto Traffic

Highway traffic counts on recent Sundays on five routes at nine points within a 30-mile radius of St. Paul and Minneapolis show that nearly 6,000 vehicles a day are using the state trunk highways where the corresponding average a year ago was about 4,000. The count also showed that less than one vehicle in every thousand was horse drawn, the figures showing only 47 wagons and buggies and 53,216 motor vehicles.

Supt. Stebbins On Tour.

Miss Esther Stebbins, superintendent of the Physicians hospital, left Wednesday morning for Duluth where she joins Miss Maude L. Johnson, music instructor of the local schools, on a trip over the Great Lakes and various eastern points of interest. They expect to be gone for about a month when both will return to this city to resume their duties. Miss Lillian Provencher is taking Miss Stebbins' place at the hospital.

Snake Root is Plentiful In Pennington County

Ed Singer of Erie, in the eastern part of the county, has dug $1200 worth of snake-root and now has it drying in preparation for the market.

Snake root is worth about 35 cents per pound dried and it takes ten pounds of the green root to make one pound of the dried. Mr. Singer has made a business of hunting and digging the root for some time and says it is hard work, a man earning all he gets out of it. A great deal of it is purchased from Indians on the reservation east of Pennington county.

Lightening Kills Two.

Two horses and one cow owned by John Johnson, residing south of Thief River Falls, were killed last evening when lightning struck the Johnson barn. The barn was not set on fire but parts of it were torn to pieces by the bolt.

No other damages have been reported so far but it is expected there are more as the storm was quite violent. It was one of the heaviest rains of the season but the crops will not suffer from too much moisture. Everything is now growing wonderfully and a fair crop is expected. Corn and sugar beets look particularly favorable. Farmers in the county have commenced cutting rye but this crop is rather light this year.

EDISON-FORD PLAN UNFAIR TO FARMER

Third Article Shows How Credit Test Would Fail Him In His Need.

The unfairness to the farmer of the Edison-Ford "commodity money" scheme, although ostensibly aimed to improve his economic position, is discussed in the present article, which is the third in a series prepared by the American Bankers Association, reviewing the exposure of the weaknesses of the plan as presented by William T. Foster, Director of the Pollack Foundation for Economic Research.

Briefly, the plan, sponsored by Thomas Edison and Henry Ford, would provide for Government warehousing of basic commodities, against which currency would be loaned, during storage, to the producer without interest, up to half the average value of the products for the previous twenty-five years. On the other half of the value the producer would receive certificates which he could sell or use for bank loans.

Restricted Credit

In that provision allowing for Government loans only up to half the average value for twenty-five years Mr. Foster finds particular weakness in the scheme. He points out that prices have risen so high since 1896 that the farmer could borrow on most products much less than half the present value of the products—much less, in fact, than he could borrow directly from the banks. Loans on the other half the value, which would be on virtually a second mortgage basis, he says, would not be desirable for the banks.

"The plan is not fair even to farmers; it involves unjust discrimination," Mr. Foster says. "The Edison plan fixes the loan values of all products absolutely, uniformly and arbitrarily. It ignores the relative prospects of different commodity markets. Only by the merest chance would such a method give a fair loan valuation. Fifty per cent of the average price for the previous twenty-five years would be too high for some commodities and too low for most of them. With such details the Edison plan is not concerned.

Banks Fairer to Farmers

"The general practice of the banks is not only fairer to farmers, but it is sounder business. There is no justification for basing the loan value of anything upon average prices in past years. Sound banking practice looks to the future. A bank—for the protection of its depositors, if for no other reason—must consider above everything the prospects of getting its money back. And a farmer's prospects of repaying a loan from the sale of his product depend entirely on future prices, not at all on past prices. Last year's runs do not count in this year's game."

THE SECRET OF WHY SOME MEN OBTAIN CREDIT, BUT OTHERS CAN'T

The secret of why some men can readily obtain credit, while others are unable to borrow a cent, is disclosed in the present article prepared by the Committee on Public Education of the American Bankers Association. It tells an interesting story of how a man of forty, of good reputation and fair success, was nonplussed by his inability to borrow and had to pass up a good opportunity.

Banks are said to deal in credit. The word "credit" has various meanings. When you deposit money, your account receives "credit" for that amount. When a man borrows money on his note at the bank, he is granted "credit." When a railroad, a manufacturing concern, a town, or a government, issues bonds, it uses its "credit." When anyone buys goods without paying cash, at the time of purchase, "credit" is granted. Without credit, our present day business system could not exist.

Credit is possible only where people have confidence in each other, and confidence can exist only where good character exists. Every successful business man looks upon his credit standing as a most valuable asset, and he maintains it by square dealing. To get credit a man must pay his debts, or it soon becomes known he is not of good character and not worthy of confidence. Those from whom he would buy refuse to trust him and the banks decline to grant him credit. Then come business failure and a long uphill fight to get on his feet again and live down the past.

More Than Honesty Needed

Honesty is not the only factor involved in credit. For instance, Mr. Jones, a man of forty, of excellent morals, who has enjoyed a fair income for many years, sees an opportunity to purchase a business. He requires financial assistance. He calls on a banker and asks for the necessary credit. The banker asks the nature of the business, what it will cost, and what Mr. Jones can command in ready money, or other resources, but learns that he has no money or property of his own.

It is clear that Mr. Jones lacks ability to manage his affairs wisely. He has not had enough strength of character to save money by adapting expenses to income, and therefore has not proved that he could make financial progress. Moreover, if men do not invest some of their own money in the business they usually lack incentive and become easily discouraged. It would be unwise for anyone to assume such a financial risk, and Mr. Jones probably would fail to get credit from the bank. He must give up his opportunity to some one else who has saved money.

Banks are public servants, but that does not obligate them to serve those who are unfair in business or lacking in the great principles underlying success. To be known as a careful and thrifty person is the best assurance that the bank will extend financial help when needed.

Many people think that one should shun debt like the measles. They fail to distinguish between wise and unwise debt. It is wise to use credit, that is, go into debt, to buy a home. Such debt encourages thrift. A student may wisely borrow money needed to complete his education. It is an investment that should pay dividends in greater success. Another wise use of credit is borrowing to buy good bonds, such as Liberty Bonds, paying $20 down, borrowing $80 from the bank, and paying it off out of savings.

When to Shun Debt

There are circumstances, however, under which one should never borrow money. Never incur a debt in a speculative venture. OF THE PEOPLE WHO SPECULATE, NINETY-FIVE PER CENT LOSE. Neither should debts be incurred to purchase pleasure-giving possessions. Such debts are millstones around the necks of countless families.

Progressive banks adhere to the same standards they exact of their patrons. Their business methods must be beyond reproach. They exclude business of doubtful reputation and have no part in the feverish struggle for sudden wealth. Well managed banks are regarded with great respect, and hold a place of ever increasing importance.

Some thoughtless persons criticize banks for not making loans more freely but it must be remembered that a bank's business is to receive deposits as well as to grant loans, and it is therefore the trustee of money belonging to others. It must safeguard its depositors' funds and so control them as to be always ready to return them intact upon demand. That requires great care in granting credits.

THE MORTALITY OF SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

The Savings Banks Association of Massachusetts has issued a tabulation made by a mutual savings bank in an average New England town showing that, of the accounts opened during a six months period, 85 to 90 per cent were open at the end of the period. At the end of the next six months about 70 per cent were open. At the end of one year about 60 per cent were open; at the end of 18 months about 55 per cent; at the end of three years about 50 per cent; and then the figure rather steadily declined by 2 to 3 per cent of the original number each year. At the end of ten years about 25 per cent of the accounts were still open. After that the changes were very small, mostly on account of death.

Federal Reserve Copied

Peru is the first country in Latin America to reorganize its banking system according to Federal Reserve principles by the enactment of the Federal Reserve Act of Peru to develop the country's resources along modern lines of financing. Peru's new banking system is modeled after the United States Federal Reserve, with modifications such as the banking conditions, and general financial situation there require. It provides for the creation of a Federal Reserve Bank in Peru. The directorate of this bank is to be composed of nine members, three of whom are to be designated by the Government and the other six are to be elected by the member banks.

Drops Farm Bureau

At its semi-annual meeting last week at Bagley the Clearwater county board of commissioners refused to provide an appropriation of $1 500 with which to continue farm extension work and home economics as carried on through the county farm bureau association

Greater Crops

CONDITIONS in the farming industry are the broad-gauged barometers of general business in the United States.

When crops are good prosperity is general.

It is obvious, therefore, that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) can turn its facilities and talents to no more important task than that of assisting the farmer to secure a greater crop return per acre.

The experience of the past ten or fifteen years has demonstrated that farms where automotive equipment is used are operated on a lower cost level and with a higher crop return than is the case where animal power is used.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is doing its utmost to promote the use of motorized machinery on the farm. Throughout ten middle western states this Company maintains a system of distribution which insures the farmer a dependable supply of gasoline, kerosene, lubricants and other products of petroleum at all times.

In this territory the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) maintains 3,780 bulk stations, out of which some 7,000 trucks and tank wagons carry its products to the farmer's home or if necessary to the tractor in the field.

This is one of the services which only a big organization could perform and it is a service worth while.

To emphasize the far reaching benefits of motorizing farm equipment, it is only necessary to state that farm property values in the United States have increased from forty billions of dollars in 1910 to eighty-five billions in 1920—an advance of 107% for a ten-year period.

The service performed by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been a factor of importance in making this increase possible.

THE TIMES

"The Paper That Stands for the Interests of the Common People"

KEEP AMERICA'S WAMPUM SOUND!

By SAMUEL H. BEACH,
President, Savings Bank Division, American Bankers Association.

S. H. Beach

Although the United States is today upon a solid gold basis, we nevertheless know of our own knowledge what inflation means. It would take long to recall in detail the bitter experiences which this nation suffered during the Civil War and the years which followed it, and in our present easy condition we might think such conditions could never again arise. But with such men as Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison talking about commodity money there is no foretelling what may happen.

One of the plainest lessons taught by financial history is that whenever a nation issues paper money with nothing back of it, that nation is on the road to disaster. Look at Russia with its worthless rubles and Germany with its worthless marks. Think of what happened in France during the years immediately following our Revolutionary War.

The common people of France rose in their might, tore down the Bastile, and made reprisal for centuries of kingly crime and oppression. The profligate court had piled up taxes until they were unbearable. The enraged populace killed King Louis XVI, and also his queen, Marie Antoinette. But they only threw themselves out of the frying pan into the fire so far as finances were concerned.

Unsound Money Tyranny

At the very worst point of their currency inflation they found themselves under the absolute domination of Robespierre. In order to meet the growing scarcity of coin, paper money called assignats were issued. First 400,000,000 francs worth, then 800,000,000 were added with the distinct understanding that the 1,200,000,000 would be the full extent of the issue. This pledge was soon broken and further issues brought the total up to 3,700,000,000 francs.

Frightful depreciation was the inevitable result; and legislation was passed making it a crime, with six years' imprisonment as the penalty, if any one should refuse to take the paper assignats at their face value. Just think of it! A French peasant after working the entire year to produce a crop was compelled by law to accept payment for that crop in paper money, which he knew to be worthless, or go to prison.

It was simply legalized robbery. When the penalty was increased to twenty years imprisonment the inevitable climax came. The Reign of Terror was at its height. Robespierre was in supreme power. He suggested that more assignats be issued and if the people did not take them the guillotine should be the penalty.

Robespierre's End

This unheard of outrage was more than the people could stand. An unknown man arose on the floor of the convention and denounced Robespierre, reciting the heinous crimes he had committed, and so worked upon the feelings of the audience that Robespierre, the tyrant, became Robespierre, the convicted criminal. Two days later he was led to the guillotine. France had learned her financial lesson well—that money must have value back of it.

The fallacy of unsound money is sure to confront us again. Never is there enough of everything for all the people. The struggle for existence is a real struggle, and those who find themselves in the lower strata of human society are ready at any time to grasp at fiat money or any of the other things which misguided politicians hold out to them.

My whole purpose is to drive home the fact that danger lies ahead and to urge every one to let no opportunity go by to use voice and influence toward keeping the wampum of these United States, as it is today, the soundest currency in the world.

SOME BANK SALARIES

Investigations made by the Missouri Bankers Association have revealed that 368 banks in the state in towns of under 2,000 population are paying their cashiers and chief executives an average of only $110 a month. Only 273 of the 1,162 reporting banks in towns under 5,000 population pay the president a salary. The report says: "It indicates that, even allowing for the economy of living in small communities, the cashiers and managing officers of those 1,162 banks, who receive an average of $140 per month, either must have personal means to begin with, or must maintain the standards necessary to their positions as the leaders of their communities and the builders of the commonwealth by means of 'side lines,' such as selling insurance, collecting commissions on farm loans, and trading in real estate."

FOR SOUND MONEY

Senator Oddie of Nevada, chairman of the United States Senate commission to investigate the problems of gold and silver mining, has allayed the fear that Western Senators, in their zeal to aid the cause of silver, might launch an unsound money wave. "I am for sound money," Senator Oddie says. "There is no thought of bimetalism or departing from the gold standard. We desire to help the great mining industry, but not through the creation of an unsound currency."

The commission is to study and report on the causes of the continuing decrease in the production of gold and silver; the causes of the depressed condition of the gold and silver mining industry in the United States; the production, reduction, refining, transportation, marketing, sale, and uses of gold and silver in the United States and elsewhere; and the effect of the decreased production of gold and silver upon commerce, industry, exchange and prices.

BANKING REFLECTS BUSINESS

"International Farmer" and Other Business Men Who Sell to Foreign Markets Create Demand for International Financial Service.

The idea that bankers engaged in financing foreign trade and in handling foreign bond flotations are a particular cult of "international bankers" actuated by motives differing from those of other bankers was refuted recently by Otto H. Kahn of New York, in an address before the Rochester Chamber of Commerce.

"There is no such thing as an 'International Banker' in America, as the meaning of the term is generally understood," Mr. Kahn said. "He exists in the imagination of people all too numerous, but he does not exist in the flesh. You might just as well speak of the 'International Farmer' because the farmer sells a certain percentage of his crops to Europe, or of the 'International Manufacturer.'

"The banker maintains, and can maintain, international contact, and conduct international business, only to the extent that American industry, commerce and agriculture are international. True, the banker must take within his purview continuously the conditions of affairs and the current of things throughout the world, but so must the exporter and importer, and so must the farmer take into account the prices and tendencies of the world market in Liverpool.

Banking Mostly Home Business

"The American banker's market is the home market. His success is conditioned upon the capacity and willingness of the American investor to absorb the securities which he offers. His very existence depends upon the confidence and co-operation of the public and of his fellow-bankers—and any banker whose activities would justly create the impression that he was actuated by cosmopolitan rather than by American interests would very soon lose that confidence and following.

"The business which he does for his own account in, with, or for Europe, is inconsiderable as compared to the business he does in America. His principal functions in relation to Europe are to provide the requisite banking facilities for export and import and for travelers. That part of his functions which consists in financing loans of foreign governments or industries has hitherto been, with sporadic exceptions, of relatively inconsiderable proportions as compared to the vastness of the volume of his transactions in financing American industry, commerce and enterprise.

Necessity for Foreign Credits

"In saying this, I do not mean to imply that there is anything that calls for apology in the floating of foreign loans in America and in the loaning of American funds to Europe, provided such loans are considered sound as to security and are made for legitimate, constructive purposes. Indeed, such loans ought to, and I believe will, be made in increasing measure, when conditions in Europe will have become such as to warrant it.

"It is manifest that the promotion of our export trade, including, of course, the export of farm products, requires us, under the circumstances as they now are and are likely to remain for some time, to aid the purchasing power of other nations by extending to them financial facilities to a reasonable extent.

"It is the function of the banker to be instrumental in carrying out such transactions. In doing so, he is the means of serving a useful national purpose, just as he served a useful, indeed a highly important national purpose, in being the means of attracting and bringing European capital to America in former years when conditions were reversed and such capital was nothing less than vital to the development of this country and the realization of its opportunities."

PAPER MONEY PIPE DREAMS

By JOHN OAKWOOD

Hitting the pipe seems like the greatest way in the world to get something for nothing,—a whole paradise full of joy for a few whiffs of opium smoke. But—

* * *

By the way, the big lure about fiat money is that it seems to promise about as much for nothing as a whiff on the pipe. They are just coming out of such a dream now in Germany.

Here is the way that German soft money dream goes. Say in 1913 a man put a ten year mortgage for 20,000 marks on his farm. Marks were then worth, in gold, about four to the dollar. The debt, therefore, was equivalent to about $5,000.

* * *

In the ten years since that debt was contracted, the German Government has published, so to speak, trillions of paper marks. What happened? What would happen to the price of eggs if they had a hen at Washington laying a billion eggs a day,—even if they put a government stamp on them saying eggs were worth a quarter a piece? German marks have gone down from four to the dollar to 120,000 to the dollar.

* * *

Here is where the pipe dream gets particularly good. The 1913 mortgage is now due,—30,000 marks are to be paid. Marks are quoted 120,000 to the dollar. Twenty-thousand marks, one-sixth of that, therefore equal one-sixth of a dollar,—16 2-3 cents. On the theory that "a mark is a mark," the debtor could wipe off his $5,000 mortgage for 16 2-3 cents,—less than the value of a dozen eggs.

* * *

That is, he can unless the pipe dream comes to a sudden end. For one thing the German courts are ruling that the theory "a mark is a mark" doesn't go,—that a debtor has to give back a fair equivalent for what he received and that present paper marks worth 120,000 to the dollar are not the fair equivalent of former gold marks at four to the dollar.

* * *

Furthermore all pipe dreams are too good to be true. They are not what they seem. The smoke is wearing off in Germany and they are coming down to earth with a dull thud. It is beginning to be realized that the net result of a paper money nightmare is that producers are robbed and speculators enriched. Farmers are unable to raise prices for their products fast enough to keep up with the falling purchasing power of unsound money. The value of such money slips away from them like a handful of dry sand. It brings back to them less in purchases than they gave of their products to get it.

* * *

The farmer as a result can't make ends meet and when he gets into difficulties the unsound money speculator steps in and buys up mortgaged farm lands cheap—and thus it is mostly the speculator who profits by paying off the mortgages with currency worth less than a dozen eggs,—unless the courts stop him.

* * *

More than that, if farm mortgage debt can be paid off with almost worthless currency, so can corporations pay off their bonded debt,—the bonds in which many a farmer's savings, and many a widow's and orphan's inheritance, are invested.

* * *

Before the war, with marks worth 24 cents gold, the deposits of the thrifty in German savings banks were worth over five billion dollars. Today, although these deposits have multiplied many fold in terms of marks, their real value is only about half a million dollars gold. That is what a "loose money" plan does for common folks.

* * *

Pipe dreams are wonderful while they last—but shattered health, misery and despair are the final penalty. The ones who profit are the dope sellers. Unsound money is a pipe dream—and the penalty is economic ruin, misery and despair for the majority. The ones who profit are the speculators.

"JUST LIKE DADDY," AN ECONOMIC FORCE

By J. H. PUELICHER
President the American Bankers Association.

J. H. Puelicher

"Like 'Daddy'"—these two words, that express the imitative nature of children, occur to me as I think of our parental responsibilities in respect to both the thriftiness and the thriftlessness of our boys and girls. The accent belongs on both aspects of the case, for we have yet to find a person who is the perfect example of thrift.

Even Ben Franklin admitted his lack of attainment after his years of self-admonishment and self-criticism—and his temptations were not so great as those of today. Every reader will admit his deficiency in thrift. So will I. And what of our children? Will they copy us? Will their attitude toward thrift be "like Daddy's?" Will it be thrifty or thriftless?

It will at least be largely influenced by it. The thrift of the next generation is in the hands of the present. If our children are "out of hand" on their habits, whom have we to blame but ourselves?

Remember this: The next generation will be subject to the same laws of economics, the same rules of success, the same principles of happiness, as prevail today. A habit of thrift is one of the best possible characteristics we can mould into our children's natures during their habit-forming years. Its value will be apparent throughout maturity, whatever their lot, whether at the helm of large enterprise or steering the more humble affairs of a home.

Thrift will be the basic principle in the economic life of our nation and its system of producing and exchanging commodities. Thrift is always both of social and of individual advantage. Each day finds us expanding both in breadth and in depth of our resources of enjoyment and our opportunities for service as we practice thrift.

But how shall we bring about habits of thrift? Is there any other way than by teaching, whether by direct precept or by the unconscious example of our own habits, continually impressing themselves on the receptive minds of the young?

"Like Daddy" expresses one of the most powerful social and economic forces there is.

Beltrami Votes $2,500.00 To Retain Farm Bureau

An appropriation of $2,500 to continue the work of the county agent for another year was voted by the Beltrami county commissioners last week when 100 farmers representing 25 farm clubs with a membership of about 1,300, made an appeal to retain a county agent in Beltrami county. The vote was 4 to 1 in favor of the proposition. Almost every township was represented in the group and men from each locality spoke on individual benefits derived from the work of the extension division. It was pointed out that three years ago there were but 52 pure-bred sires in the county while at present Beltrami boasts 122 heads of dairy heards. This is an increase of 150 per cent.

In the same period the county has experienced a growth in pedigreed cows of 275 per cent while common herds have resgistered a 112 per cent expansion, showing thereby a healthy inclination toward the pure-bred stock.

Those in favor of the maintenance of the extension work stated that this progress was not the result of accident but vital proof of the one work done by the Farm bureau and county agent. It was also brought out that since the agent came to Beltrami twenty carloads of explosives have been purchased and an average of 100 acres have been cleared with each car, which was said to have been accomplished through his efforts.

Last year $4,000 was appropriated for the purpose of carrying on extension work.

Gets Hilarious on Thirty Cents Worth of Moon

The following vivid account of an arrest in Bemidji was chronicled in the Sentinel last week:

"More rest disturbing noise on thirty cents worth of hootch can perhaps be made by George Garrity, a transient who is now temporary resident of the county jail, than any other man in Minnesota. George staged his concert of vocal discord at the city jail Tuesday afternoon and it all happened because he scorched his interior with too much moonshine.

Garrity was first arrested Monday and when he came up for the Judge Tuesday morning he had 50 cents in his pocket. Up to that time he had not given vent to any of his dormant capacity for noise and he was released with a warning to leave town immediately. But at 2:00 o'clock he had acquired enough hilarity to be again lodged in the bastile. And the funny part is that he still had 20 cents left when arrested the second time.

"The pestilential and volcanic sounds which George delivered himself of that Tuesday afternoon is still causing comment down at the station. They thought for a while of turning the fire hose on the vesuvian orator or of feeding him cracked ice but when George was locked up in a cell apart from the rest he ceased his wrathfull stormnig. Garrity will spend the next thirty days in the county jail."

New Red Lake Falls Church

A crew of workmen are busy razing the old concrete foundation of St. Joseph's Catholic church at Red Lake Falls, destrowed by fire last December, preparatory to putting in a new basement. The trustees of the church have awarded the contract for building a basement, the contract price being $11,130.

Owing to the existing financial conditions only the basement will be constructed with a temporary roof at present, the rest of the building being deferred until later according to the Red Lake Falls Gazette. The new edifice will be 52 by 120 feet in size, in the form of a cross and in Roman style of archetecture. When completed the church will unquestionably be one of the finest in this section of the state.

Farmers Sign Over Seeds

With the signing up of 129 growers in Beltrami county, who have over 1,100 acres of potatoes in crop this year, a potatoe market for Bemidji is assured. S. G. Rubinow and his assistants have spent some time in the count aiding the preliminaries of the marketing organization.

No Bidders on Bonds

Beltrami county's proposed $100,000 reimbursement bond issue to complete work on the trunk highway south to the Beltrami line and west to the county line has no bidders and as a result no action will be taken by the county board for the present at least.

Grindeland Hears Union Plumbers vs. Dudley Case

Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren was in the city Thursday last week to hear the continued court case of the Union Plumbing company which is suing F. J. Dudley for payment on installation of heating plant and other equipment in the latter's new building on La Bree Avenue. Dudley claims that the work of the company was unsatisfactory and refuses to make settlement on that ground. The judge heard the evidence and has taken the case under advisement. He was accompanied here by Court Reporter Braggans.

Judge Grindeland will return to this city August 10 regarding the appealed cases of Alfred Rasmusson, C. B. Bradley, Glenn Farr, and Fred Brendecke.

There is more to the question of pure-bred stock than a matter of pedigree, registry and conformation to type. Successful dairymen will testify that the superiority of the pure-bred over the scrub also shows in the milk pail, and in the cream check

In prosperous farming communities, herds are headed by pure-bred sires, not because prosperous farmers can afford the luxury of pure-breds, but because the pure-breds have made the farmers prosperous.

SUGAR FACTORY MAY BE EXPECTED HERE THIS FALL

President of Corporation Tells Committee That Decision Has Been Made.

Farmers Are Urged to Begin Work at Once of Preparing Land For Next Crop.

City Prepared to Make Special Inducements to Bring Big Industry Here.

It now appears certain that a beet sugar factory will be erected in Thief River Falls and there is a strong possibility that actual construction work will be started this fall. This is the substance of a statement made by President Douglas of the Northern Sugar Corporation to John Bratrud and H. W. Protzeller who were in Minneapolis the first of the week.

Mr. Protzeller appeared before the local committee of the Commercial club Monday evening and reported the information secured in Minneapolis. The committee immediately decided to take the necessary steps to bring the matter to a definite conclusion and various means of offering special inducements to the company to locate in Thief River Falls were discussed. The result will undoubtedly be the selection of a site within the next few days and a positive announcement by the company.

The erection of a factory here will mean that thousands of acres of sugar beets will be required to keep the factory in operation the usual length of time throughout the year. In this connection a strong effort will be made at once to induce the farmers to get their land properly prepared this fall. This is a very important matter and one that is going to receive proper attention. Every farmer in this vicinity will be interviewed and solicited to become actively engaged in sugar beet raising and to get his soil in the best of condition for receiving the crop in the spring.

Mrs. Mulry Critically Ill.

Mrs. W. H. Mulry, wife of W. H. Mulry, proprietor of the bazar store, is very seriously ill at the hospital at Warren this week. At last reports no hope for a recovery is held out by attending physicians.

DISTRICT COURT IS REVERSED IN CASE OF GOODRIDGE BANK

Farmers State Bank Gets Decision on Appeal in Ole Oveson Foreclosure Matter.

In a decision handed down by the supreme court last week in the case of O. A. Rambeck vs. W. J. LaBree as sheriff of Pennington county, and Farmers State Bank of Goodridge, the findings of the district court are reversed and the Farmers State Bank of Goodridge is declared the owner of the land in question.

This case has been in litigation for about one year and is one that involved the validity of a first mortgage foreclosure redemption by a second mortgage holder. On November 26, 1915, one Ole Oveson owned a quarter section of land in Pennington county and mortgaged it to a bank in Thief River Falls. On November 1, 1919, Oveson gave a second mortgage to the Farmers State Bank of Goodridge and on July 30, 1920, a third mortgage to O. A. Rambeck. The first mortgage was foreclosed on June 11, 1921 and the date for redemption expired June 12, 1922. On May 17, 1922 the Farmers State Bank of Goodridge filed notice of its intention to redeem and O. A. Rambeck filed a similar notice on June 12, 1922. On June 16, 1922 the Farmers State Bank of Goodridge paid to Sheriff LaBree the necessary amount to redeem the land from the sale to the first mortgage holder. The sheriff accepted the redemption money and signed a certificate of redemption but did not have his signature witnessed and did not acknowledge the execution of the certificate. On the same date the certificate was deposited in the office of the register of deeds, where it remained until June 19, when it was properly witnessed and acknowledged and placed on record. On the following day Mr. Rambeck attempted to redeem but the sheriff refused to accept the amount tendered because it did not include the amount of the Farmers State Bank mortgage. Mr. Rambeck kept his tender good and insisted that the sheriff should have accepted it because the redemption of the Farmers State Bank was invalid, basing this contention on the fact that the certificate issued by the sheriff to the Farmers State Bank of Goodridge was not properly executed within the legal time limit.

It was on this technicality that the entire case of Mr. Rambeck was based. When the case came on for hearing in district court Judge Grindeland returned a verdict for Mr. Rambeck but the decision of the supreme court reverses the district court and finds for the Farmers State Bank of Goodridge.

Mr. Rambeck was represented by Attorneys Perl W. Mabey and H. O. Chommie. J. M. Bishop represented the Farmers State Bank of Goodridge.

Mrs. Stettner has not heard from her brother in ten years and is very anxious to locate him if possible. LOCAL NINE TO CLASH WITH RED L. FALLS AUG. 4

Third Game With Red Lake Falls Scheduled to Take Place 4th Day of Fair.

Many Games Signed Up For Coming Few Weeks Including Warroad and Red Lake

Purse to Be Given Winner of Aug. 4th Game. Support of Fans Is Needed.

The local baseball team is planning an active schedule for the next few weeks. After a lot of red tape and re-arrangements the local squad has closed an agreement with Red Lake Falls for the last day of the fair, Saturday, August 4. They have lost one game to Red Lake Falls and won one and much interest is being displayed in the match which will no doubt be a hard fought and fast game throughout the entire nine innings. It assuredly will not be a walk-away either one way or the other as the opposing nine have been playing a very good grade of ball the past few weeks of the season.

Next Sunday, July 29, they will play Oklee on the home diamond. They have not played Oklee up to this date but Oklee has defeated Red Lake Falls twice and Red Lake Falls, though early in the season, defeated the home team once. All indications are that it will be a hard fought game.

The return game with Oklee will be played at Oklee Sunday, August 5, according to the present schedule.

Sunday, August 12, the Red Lake Indians will play the Thief River Falls aggregation here. This will also be an unusually interesting game as the "Red Skins" are as hard to defeat in ball as in many of their other out-door events, in which they excel.

On Sunday, August 19, the Thief River Falls nine will clash with the Warroadites. This is another game in which much interest is being taken. While few will be able to go to Warroad, Warroad is known for its large number of baseball fans and its large turn-outs at the games.

Although the local team was defeated at Bemidji they will be playing their usual style of ball, which has been pretty keen the last few games, and witnesses are assured their moneys' worth or more. The Thief River Falls aggregation are not poor losers and a defeat amid several victories does not dampen their ardor or enthusiasm.

Rambeck & Stone Co. Purchase Fuel Yards

Big Majority for Johnson.

Magnus Johnson, chosen United States senator in the recent special election on the farmer-labor ticket, has a plurality of 94,646 votes. Preus received 195,319, Johnson 290,165, and Carley 19,859 votes. This represents a total of 505,343 votes cast in the election.

SEN. JOHNSON TO BE HONOR GUEST OF DIST. VOTERS

A Ratification Picnic Will be Held For Senator Johnson Sunday at Crookston.

La Follette May Be Among the Speakers. Wefald and Northwest Progressives Billed.

Picnic Will Be Biggest Ever Held by Voters of the Ninth District. Program All Day.

The Ratification picnic, to be held in honor of Magnus Johnson, in recognition of his election to the U. S. Senate at the last senatorial election will be staged Sunday, July 29 at Crookston. The following account of the celebration is taken from the last issue of the Polk County Leader:

'When the news of Magnus Johnson's election was definitely verified this week, plans were at once put under way to hold an immense 'Ratification Picnic' in Crookston. A wire to the headquarters of the Farmer-Labor committee brought the reply that Senator Magnus Johnson would be here on July 29th, and as a result the City Park in Crookston was engaged to hold the picnic.

"Every person in the Ninth Congressional district is being invited to attend the picnic and help entertain the new senator.

'An elaborate program will be arranged for the day, consisting of music, speaking and games of various kinds for the children. The management of the Municipal swimming pool has agreed to make arrangements to take care of an extra big crowd on that day, so that visitors can make use of the facilities of the pool at a nominal cost for bathing suits, soap and towels.

"Senator Johnson was unable to get into the Ninth district during the campaign except for one meeting at Fertile, and the voters were pretty much disappointed at not having the chance of meeting him when he was a candidate. Now that he has been successful there could be nothing more fitting than to have him here as our guest and give him to understand that we are not ashamed of our new senator as the republican papers claimed during the recent campaign, but that on the contrary, we are proud of him and the fearless stand he has always taken in behalf of the masses of the people. He will be one of the speakers and an effort is being made to have Senator Bob La Follette of Wisconsin here to join in the jubilation.

"Senator Shipstead will also be invited, as well as Congressman Wefald and other prominent progressives of the Northwest.

Big Crowd Looked For.

"The farmers of the Ninth district should make an especial effort to be here in full force. Norman county, Pennington and Red Lake counties in particular should send a big delegation to be present. The trunk highways are all in good shape and rain cannot dampen the ardor of the men and women who elected Mr. Johnson to the United States Senate.

Refreshments Available.

"There will be ample refreshments available at the picnic grounds, so that those who do not care to put up a basket lunch can secure food right there. Coffee, malt, pop, sandwiches, etc., will be sold."

POTATO GROWERS TO CONSIDER BETTER MARKETING

All Present at Meeting Sign Membership Agreement. May Operate Next Fall.

A meeting of Pennington county potota growers was held Thursday of last week. S. G. Rubinow was the principle speaker for the Minnesota Potato Growers' Exchange. The various counties must have an organization of their own, each a separate organization, and at least one-half of the acreage of potatoes raised must be signed up to that organization before that organization can become a member of the Minnesota Exchange and enjoy the sales co-operation of that body.

The chief objection seems to be to the signing up of the acreages but this is the Potato Growers greatest assurance. 'If the Exchange has the exclusive sales rights of the entire crop one can easily see the benefits resultant. 'It is the only system under which co-operative marketing has ever proved successful," says Rubinow, and that is evident, by an introspection of the large co-operative selling agencies that have been a success, they all require a promise of delivery of the entire crop of the members.

The following persons signed up for a local organization: Anton Jensen, T. K. Rynestad, F. T. Satre, Rasmus Oen, R. J. McKercher, Alfred Benson, S. E. Hunt, A. E. Anderson, Carl Lee, Chas. Correl, Henry Oen and A. K. Severie.

The Potato Growers' association of the county cannot operate before one-half of the total acreage is signed up.

T. P. Anderson left Sunday night for Minneapolis, where he is a guest of relatives and friends.

BANNER FAIR OF NORTHWESTERN MINNESOTA WILL CONTINUE FOR FOUR DAYS, ENDING SATURDAY

Amusement Features Are the Best Ever Assembled at County Fair. Horse Races, Auto Polo and Many Free Open Air Acts Included in Program.

Gorgeous Display of Fireworks For Evening Will be One of the Big Events in the Entertainment Line. Base-Ball Game With Red Lake Falls.

Livestock, Grain and Other Exhibits Will be Best in Years. One Of the Most Interesting Places Will be Exhibits In Women's Building.

The Fair Board of the Pennington county fair in making its final spurt this week, working out the smaller details of what, from all appearances, will be the biggest and best fair ever put on by Pennington county exhibitors or any other county in this part of the state.

With a larger prize list than ever and several new departments the exhibits will exceed, by far, any heretofore shown here. The special attractions are all that can be desired and they are, by far, the best to be had.

Woman's Exhibits.

The Woman's department is far superior to the usual exhibitions shown. The superintendents of the various divisions have spared no effort to make it an exhibition of merit and one that will demonstrate something. Mrs. W. H. Froehlich is superintendent of the exhibit.

The Culinary department, domestic cooking and canning, etc., in charge of Mrs. E. O. Mogensen, will be one of the best of the exhibits. Demonstrations will be made of the various methods of canning and preparing of foodstuffs at all hours of the day and a bulletin board will be displayed showing the hours of each demonstration, besides the usual display. A domestic science teacher from the state university will be here and the very best of methods may be expected.

Another department that will be of particular interest and value is the made-over-department. Prizes will be offered for any article that warrants a prize regardless of what it is, garment, furniture, or anything useful or fancy. Special prizes are also offered for this department. There are prizes for garments for boys 1 year to 7 to 12, and girls 1 to 7 and 7 to 12; also for women's garments. Miss Skinner has charge of this department.

The local bread baking club, of which Miss Myrtle Helgeland is the champion, will demonstrate. Miss Helgeland will represent the local club for this district at the state fair this year.

The Flower department, in charge of Mrs. Nels Christianson, the Fancy work department in care of Mrs. Dan Shaw and the Art department in charge of Mrs. Ila Reynolds, are going to be of the very best possible.

Basket making will be demonstrated at a booth by Miss Minnie Leavitt. Prizes will be awarded in the woman's department the morning of the second day.

Red Cross Emergency Hospital.

A Red Cross emergency hospital will be conducted by trained nurses. This is an innovation for county fairs. Accidents happening on the grounds will be cared for free of charge. Arrangements have also been made to accommodate the babies of mothers, so that the parents may leave their infants in charge of the nurses and see the fair exhibits. This service is free of charge also. There will be pure cold water for infant children at the hospital, which will be located in a place most convenient, and will be easily found.

Special Potato Day.

The second day of the fair will be designated as potato day. Special features such as judging and treating will be demonstrated. Special prizes are to be offered.

An addition to the premiums is made in the poultry section this year. Premiums will be given on egg exhibits, awarding the same prizes as were given at the Annual Poultry show, with the prizes as follows:

Entry fee 25c. One dozen for each entry.

Brown, 1st 75c; 2nd 50c; 3rd 25c.

World's Greatest Fire Works.

The Thearle Duffield Fire works company of Chicago has been secured for the event and hundreds of dollars worth of the greatest fireworks in the world will be displayed the third evening, and possibly the fourth, pending further arrangements.

Baseball, Races Stunts.

A base ball game has been arranged with Red Lake Falls for the fourth day. Red Lake Falls has defeated and been defeated by the local team and much interest is being taken in the game. Horse races and possibly auto and motorcycle races are planned. Free acts are billed that will be exceptionally good.

Lachman Shows.

The midway attractions at the fair next week will all be furnished by the Lachman Exposition shows. This organization makes a specialty of catering to the requirements of fairs desiring the best and cleanest of riding devices and shows that entertain.

The Lachman Show is a first class, high grade combination, one that has for the past decade been in demand at fairs and celebrations. It is recognized by fair managements that a good clean show is an attraction to their fair and the wise ones set out to get the best. This is why this show is always in demand.

Minot, N. D., and the Lake Region fairs engaged the Lachman Shows for this year and at the completion of the engagement were anxious to contract for next year.

One of the shows that will atract attention next week will be the water show, the title of which is "Neptune's Daughters." A large tank containing ten thousand gallons of water is located at the rear of the tent and in this tank all the performance is given. Young women give exhibitions of fancy swimming and diving. Myrtle Grey, late of the New York Hippodrome when the big water spectacle was presented, gives an endurance test of remaining under water a period of two to three minutes. Her record is four minutes and eleven seconds which has never been equaled. Esther Donahue, who was the star of the water show at Coney Island eats and drinks under water. When one considers the enormous pressure she is under, making it necessary for her to wear a belt loaded with fifty pounds of bird shot, an idea is given.

A show which will be enjoyed by all ages and classes is Jackson's Jazzland Minstrels. Genuine colored entertainers who are real colored comedians, buck and wing dancers and soloists, the latest 'blue' melodies. This show presents a program lasting fully one hour and has never failed to gain the approbation of the audiences at every performance.

There will be a Sea Plane, Caroseil, Giant Ferris Wheel, the highest portable ever built, and The Whip. Two mechanical fun houses, "Over the Waves" and "The Old Maid's Home" will attract the young folks.

In the Circus Side Show the feature of the score of exhibits will be seen that master illusion "Sawing a Woman in Two." This is the illusion that mystifies all science and has been the headline attraction over all the big vaudeville circuits.

Plenty of thrills and plenty of entertainment will be found in the shows on the grounds and not a single thing in any way to offend the most fastidious.

When the Lachman Exposition Shows played a three-weeks' engagement in St. Paul it was inspected by city, county and state officials and earned the hearty commendation of all because of its absolute freedom of anything of an obnoxious nature. The police department of St. Paul were particularly persistent in their scrutiny of the shows and concessions and at the termination of the engagement the chief of police reported to the commissioner of public safety that the show and its management were absolutely above reproach.

This is the testimonial accorded the show every place it exhibits. The fairs at Minot and Devils Lake, N. D., where the Lachman Show presented the midway attractions were hearty in their approval of the show and are anxious to engage it for the next year.

It requires twenty-five double length circus cars to transport the people and the equipment carried by the show. The big Sea Plane, Whip, Ferris Wheel and Carousell, the massive wagon entrance to the show all require much car room for the Lachman Show is equipped to play the biggest of fair dates and celebrations. A wealth of good, clean, high class, wholesome out of door entertainment, with plenty of excitement and thrill is what the Lachman Show claims to present.

Seek Action for Disturbance.

Residents of the block between Main and LaBree avenues and Second and Third streets, have been complaining of late regarding their sleep in the early morning being broken by the continual crowing of the roosters in the pen of the City Meat market. Complaint has been made to various city officials but they in turn state that it will be up to the interested parties to seek action through the courts if they are being unnecessarily disturbed.

When the matter was brought up informally before the council meeting Tuesday night, this was the substance of the remarks of the city attorney.

"It is only about a week since a murder was committed in Dakota following the shooting of some chicken that disturbed the sleep of one of the neighbors but the authorities here do not fear any similar action as a result of the cackels reported from the chicken yard of the meat market."

Miss Helen Weeks Returns From China Mission Field

RED RIVER VALLEY REACHES HUNDRETH YEAR AUG. 5 1923

Journey Will be Staged July 29 From Crookston to Pembina and Winnipeg.

Just one hundred years ago now the Red River valley was officially "discovered" as a part of the United States. On July 7, 1823, Major Stephen H. Long left Fort Snelling and arrived at what is now Pembina on August 5. He located the 49th parellel and for the first time the white settlers there knew whether they were in the United States or Canada. The survey disclosed them to be in the United States, a fact which is reported to have highly pleased them.

Major Long's report is the first official record of the Red River valley, so that the present may consistently be termed the one hundredth anniversary of the settlement of the Red River valley.

To commerate this historical point a journey is to be staged from numerous valley points in the United States to Pembina and on to Winnipeg. The start is to be made from Crookston at ten o'clock on the morning of July 29th. The border towns will be reached between two and three o'clock in the afternoon and a stop of an hour made to visit certain points of interest.

While Major Long's expedition did not enter Canada, the "Centenial Commeration Tour," as it is to be known, will proceed to Winnipeg in incidental reference to the one hundred years of friendship and peace that have prevailed between the two countries. The provincial capitol will be reached about eight o'clock Sunday evening. A stop will be made there until noon on Tuesday when the return trip will be taken up.

Arrangements are being made by interested Canadians for suitable reception and entertainment of the visiting delegation. Invitations have been sent to all Minnesota points in the valley to participate in the commerorative tour and responses indicate acceptance by many.

Major R. A. Rossberg, vice commander of the American Legion in Minnesota, is expected to be a member of the American delegation.

Arrangements for the trip are in the hands of a special committee of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development Association.

"Moonshiner" Arrested.

Frank Hoemer, a Russian-Belgian sugar-beet worker on the Frank Hawk farm, south of Hazel, was bound over to the next term of district court today by Judge N. W. Tarrant under $500 bonds on the charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor. The defendant was arrested Thursday morning after an all night vigil by Sheriff Ole Ihle and Deputy Stein, who searched the house during the night, finding a quantity of moonshine and mash, part of which was confiscated and is being held for evidence. Inability to secure bail will mean the defendant must remain in jail till next February, the Sugar Beet company officials refusing to assist the man.

Miss Henritta Isacson returned to Minneapolis Sunday evening after a week's visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Isacson. Miss Isacson is employed in Minneapolis, having secured a position following the completion of a commercial course which she took the past winter.

Pure - Breds
and Prosperity

There is more to the question of pure-bred stock than a matter of pedigree, registry and conformation to type. Successful dairymen will testify that the superiority of the pure-bred over the scrub also shows in the milk pail, and in the cream check

In prosperous farming communities, herds are headed by pure-bred sires, not because prosperous farmers can afford the luxury of pure-breds, but because the pure-breds have made the farmers prosperous.

The Citizens State Bank stands ready to co-operate at all times with the man who wishes to grade up his herd with pure-breds.

The Fourth Essential

After food, clothing and shelter, the most imperative need of civilized society is transportation—quick, dependable, efficient transportation of persons and products.

After the railroad, whose sphere of activities is circumscribed by the location of tracks and terminals, the most important transportation unit is the automobile, truck or other automotive conveyances. These machines know no limitations. They can go wherever the need for transportation exists.

To keep them in action; to make it possible for them to operate under all and every condition, two things are necessary—fuel and lubricating oil.

Sensing this need, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) long ago began building distribution depots and service stations, at convenient intervals, throughout ten Middle Western states, from which the car owner could secure his requirements of gasoline and lubricants in such quantities as serve him best.

To supply these outlets, enormous investments have been made enlarging the refining facilities of the Company and millions more have been spent getting the refined products to points where effective, economical distribution can be made.

Throughout the ten states where Standard Oil Company (Indiana) service is organized and in operation, the motorist will find a station every few miles in the country; every few blocks in the city.

At these stations he can secure his gasoline and lubricants of highest quality at the lowest market prices and he has at his command free air, free water, rest rooms and comfort stations.

Conveniently located throughout the territory served, these stations are practical symbols of the effort this Company is making to adequately serve a community of thirty million people.

THE COUNTY FAIR.

Next Wednesday the gates of the Pennington County Fair will swing open for the annual exhibit. Each year it seems that the highest possible state of perfection has been reached and that any improvement is practically an impossibility but every succeeding annual exhibition disproves this assertion. The efficient directors always seem to find some way in which to put the fair on a little higher level and it now ranks with the topnotchers of the entire state. It is an important event, one that gives the people of this section of the state an opportunity to mingle and enjoy themselves while at the same time viewing the many exhibits of livestock, grain, vegetables and other things raised and produced in Pennington county. The Fair is a strong factor in the development of the agricultural resources of the county. It has done much to stimulate interest in better and more scientific farm production, and is an institution that should be solidly backed by every resident of the county. The Fair next week is going to be a record breaker in quality. Let's make it the same in attendance.

THE SUGAR FACTORY.

The announcement made this week that the erection of a beet sugar factory in Thief River Falls is practically a certainty will act as a wonderful stimulant to the people of this section of the State. It will mean a complete transformation of the farming industry in this vicinity and will do more to bring about an era of prosperity here than anything that has taken place in the past fifteen years. The raising of sugar beets by the farmers means a greater diversification of crops, the elimination of small grain farming and the weed pest that accompanies it, a profitable money producing crop and another boost for dairying.

It has already been demonstrated that the farmers can make money raising sugar beets and it is also a well known fact that the beet tops make the finest kind of feed for dairy cattle. It now behooves the farmers to get busy at once and properly prepare all land they can take care of for the sugar beet crop next year. Proper preparation of the land is a very important item in the successful raising of the beet crop and right now is the time to get at it.

With sugar beets, alfalfa, clover, potatoes, corn and cows northwestern Minnesota has a future that will outshine any other section of the state. All shoulders should now be put to the wheel to cinch this sugar factory beyond all possible doubt.

The result of the senatorial election in Minnesota seems to have jarred the "big boys" loose all over the country. It is doubtful if there has ever been an election that caused more comment and study throughout the United States than the one which swept Magnus Johnson into the office of United States Senator. The question, "what does this election forecast" is being asked in every state in the Union. It means that the days of hoodwinking the voters are past and that the people are going to put into office men who will do more and promise less.

The selection of H. G. Teigan as private secretary by Senator Magnus Johnson is beyond criticism. Mr. Teigan is a man of stability and remarkable ability. He has been connected with the Farmer-Labor movement since its inception some years ago and has always displayed sound judgment and an ability to handle delicate problems in a diplomatic manner. He will prove a valuable asset to Senator Johnson in Washington.

Ever since the election various newspapers and "old guard" politicians have been busy trying to find a plausible excuse for the election of Magnus Johnson. All of the figuring and speculating they do doesn't seem to get them past that 94,846 plurality of Johnson's.

It is interesting and amusing to see how those who have fed at the "public trough" for years are scampering to "get under cover" since the election on July 16. They are all Farmer-Labor boosters now.

The "holier than thou man" who is always knocking, condemning and critizising his competitor or fellow townsman will usually bear watching. Such thoughts don't often find a lodging place in a clean mind.

When the farmers in this vicinity once become firmly established in the beet raising industry they will let the other fellow do the worrying about the price of wheat.

The farmers are still waiting for evidence of results on the part of the State Rural Credits Commission.

SAPIRO BUREAUS' SPEAKER AT FAIR

Noted Authority to Be Chief Attraction for Farmers at Hamline Sept. 6.

Aaron Sapiro, nationally known authority on co-operative marketing and recognized as one of the most forceful speakers in America today will be the chief speaker on the Farm Bureau day program at the Minnesota State fair, Thursday, Sept. 6.

Mr. Sapiro has definitely accepted an invitation for that day, extended by J. F. Reed, president of the State Farm Bureau federation, according to an announcement from St. Paul. Mr. Reed's action was taken after the Federation's executive board, in session last week, had unanimously voted to request Mr. Sapiro to be present. The board also made plans for securing a woman of national standing to speak at the meeting and completed arrangements for holding the regular fall meeting of county directors.

The Farm Bureau's invitation to Mr. Sapiro was warmly seconded by the state organization committee, in charge of the potato marketing campaign.

Assured of an outstanding speaker for the day, farm leaders hope to have 10,000 farmers present for the program. Mr. Sapiro will speak in the Hippodrome, one of the largest buildings in the Northwest. Amplifiers will be used to assure every one hearing his address.

Mr. Sapiro was asked to speak in order to give farmers of the state a chance to hear him. During his visit to the twin cities last spring, most of the people who heard him were business men, to whom he effectively sold the idea of co-operative marketing.

It is possible that Mr. Sapiro will make a series of meetings in the potato growing sections of the state, after his state fair address.

COUNTRY ELEVATORS BACK CO-OPERATIVE

Fergus Falls Farmers Pleased With Grain Grower Firm's Sale Service.

Country elevators of Minnesota are rallying to the support of the U. S. Grain Growers Sales Company of Minneapolis, according to T. H. Hagen, manager of the Farm Bureau's agency on that market. A recent announcement of the fact that the company had completed an arrangement with the Intermediate Credit Bank for the financing of country elevators has given co-operative grain marketing a wonderful impetus, Mr. Hagen says.

Among the country elevators that are patronizing the farmers' concern is one owned by growers in the vicinity of Fergus Falls. That elevator has consigned all its grain to the U. S. Grain Growers' Sales company and its manager says that he is more than pleased with prices and service obtained.

"It is apparent," Mr. Hagen says, "that the fate of co-operative grain marketing on the terminal markets rests with the farmers who own country elevators. Grain farmers who want to expand co-operation beyond their local elevators now have an excellent opportunity for demanding of their directors and managers that their grain be consigned to co-operative channels at Minneapolis."

Directors of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, in session last month passed resolutions requesting farmers and officers of farmers' elevators to get solidly back of the U. S. Grain Growers' Sales Company. The firm was established a little more than a year ago with Farm Bureau funds.

RED RIVER OHIO POOL IS ASSURED

Plans For Potato Campaign in Valley Counties Made at Halstad Meeting.

The campaign to organize the Minnesota industry on the commodity or California plan, using the Sapiro contract, moved ahead tremendously last week. At a meeting at Halstad, in Norman county, 175 growers from all sections of the Red River valley, met with S. G. Rubinow, state campaign manager, for a general conference.

After the plan had been fully explained, those present were satisfied that a general pool for Red River Ohios could be formed to meet the demand between the marketing of the early and the late crop. After many leaders had signed the contract, plans were made for a campaign to begin at once in Norman county. Elias Steenerson, one of the largest growers in the valley, acted as presiding officer at the Halstad meeting.

Those interested in the potato campaign, considered the Halstad meeting crucial, so far as the state campaign is concerned, as it is realized that without strong support in the Valley counties, the move to form a new sales agency could not succeed, as it is in that section that the bulk of the potatoes in the state are grown.

Thus far in the campaign, organization work has been in the nature of a test of sentiment among growers, and has been confined to counties outside the Valley. More than 700 contracts have been signed, with an aggregate acreage of 10,000.

The state organization committee, originally a body of 25 prominent growers, bankers, and business men, has been enlarged to include at least one representative from each of the 46 counties in which organization work will be conducted. The movement is going forward with the active support of all farm organization.

School For Potato Growers.

A traveling school for potato raisers will be held in this city August 2 according to reports received yesterday. This school, however, will not be beneficial to potato growers only. Among others who will be greatly recompensed by attendance are potato dealers, horticulturists, soil specialists plant disease men, specialists in combating of insect pests, editors of farm journals and other publications, business men, county agricultural agents and others. The teachers will be the potatoes and the potato fields themselves.

The potato division of the agricultural society is a permanent one, regardless of the losses sustained by many of the farmers last year. Farmers will and must continue to raise them in quantities, varying of course with the demand, and much useful knowledge can be gained by attending the school.

The farmer and his industry is becoming more and more of a highly professionalized man and business and in the very near future, right now for that matter, the farmer who raises the most per acre in a good condition for succeeding crops is the farmer who makes the most profit. Potatoes are a valuable crop in that they give valuable ingredient, nitrogen to the soil and America must have potatoes, there will always be a demand for them, though over-production and speculators market manipulation makes the demand light and prices consequently low.

Traveling School For Potato Growers Here During Fair, August 2

A traveling school for potato raisers and all others interested in potato growing, as one of the important departments of farming and commerce in Minnesota, will operate in eight counties in northern Minnesota from August 1 to August 9.

August 2, the second day of the Pennington county fair in this city, is the day set for the school to be conducted here, and everyone in this community interested in potatoes should make it a point to be on hand at that time.

Included among those who will attend this school will be potato growers, potato dealers, horticulturists, soil specialists, plant disease men, specialists in the combating of insect pests, editors of farm journals and other publications, business men, county agricultural agents, and many others. The teachers will be the potatoes and the potato fields themselves. There will, however, be along with the potato tourists, to serve as guides in the study, such men as R. C. Rose, and J. G. Leach, plant disease specialists from the University Department of Agriculture; C. E. Mickel and John Eyer from the division of entomology of the same institution; F. A. Krantz, instructor in horticulture; A. G. Tolaas, in charge of potato seed certification work for the state department of agriculture; S. B. Cleland and W. E. Morris, district leaders of county agents.

Under the guidance of such men, and the county agents of the several counties to be traversed, the tourists will visit potato fields and plots on farms and at experiment stations to study standard varieties, seed selection, spraying and dusting, fertilizing, seed certification as it pertains to field inspection and as it results in top-notch management, farm storage and similar problems.

The schedule for the school is as follows:

Red Lake, August 1; Pennington, Thief River Falls, August 2; Kittson, Hallock and Lancaster, August 3; Roseau, Warroad, August 4; Lake of the Woods, Beaudette, August 4; Koochiching International Falls and Black Duck August 5-6; Beltrami, Bemidji, August 7; Itasca, Grand Rapids, Aug. 8 and St. Louis, Hibbing and Duluth, August 9.

All who will may enter the school; no charge in the form of tuition is required. The only qualification named is that one must be interested in potatoes. The general management of the tour is in the hands of a committee of which R. C. Rose, University Farm, St. Paul, is chairman.

"HELP WANTED" —FROM D. B. C.

Other business schools are just as "handy", yet all Fargo banks and 685 others, call on Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D., for office help. So do nearly all large wholesale firms. Various Standard Oil branches have employed 130 D. B. C. graduates. Why? Well-trained students make good from the start. The Peoples State Bank of Hillsboro engaged Ed. Gurski the very day he finished school.

"Follow the Succesful." Begin August 1st with early Fall term. Save several weeks' tuition and board. Write F. L. Watkins, Pres., 806 Front St., Fargo, N. D.

ROSEWOOD

Carlson Store Changes Hands.

A deal was closed this week whereby the merchandise stock of the Herbert Carlson Mercantile store was turned over to David N. Peterson of Fargo, the latter taking possession at once. Mr. Carlson who has been in business here for the last eleven years, and has also been postmaster at Rosewood for many years, has resigned the latter office, and in leaving has appointed Mr. Peterson his successor. Only the merchandise stock was sold and the building and lots, as well as the Carlson residence, has been rented by Mr. Peterson for an indefinite period. Peterson will leave this week for Fairmont to bring his family, and household furnishings. Mr. Carlson's immediate plans are to leave by car for a visit with relatives at Duluth and Minneapolis, and he will later go to Seattle, Wash., to visit with his sister, Mrs. Norwick, and to southern California to see his brother, Howard Carlson and if suited he may make his future home on the Pacific coast. Mr. Carlson has been an energetic and hustling business man at Rosewood, but like all business men, has been caught in the general depression and after effects of the war, and he has decided to take a needed vacation and rest and to look about for future prospects further west. The community's best wishes go with him.

Annual School Meeting.

Fifteen voters attended the annual school meeting at Rosebank last Saturday evening, and the necessary business transactions were discussed. Fourteen votes were cast for an eight-month term next fall and with only one voter favoring the seven-month proposal. School will open on Monday, September 10. The sum of $800 was voted in to cover the operations of the school next term. The present clerk, Alex Hellquist, was re-appointed to serve another term. No teacher has been hired for the fall opening, but three applications are under surveillance and the board will act on them within a few days. The financial statement of the school for last year showed receipts to the amount of $1,502.97, and disbursements of $1,179.91, with outstanding orders of about $75.00, and a cash balance of $323.06.

NATION REPRESENTED AT FINANCE CAPITAL

By FRANCIS H. SISSON
Chairman Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association.

F. H. Sisson

Financial New York is peculiarly representative of the whole nation. All parts of the country, the small towns as well as the big cities, have supplied the greater part of the man power and brain power enabling it to function as the nation's financial capital.

A recent investigation as to the origin of one hundred leading executives in the New York financial district, showed that no less than sixty per cent were born outside New York State, that no less than twenty-eight per cent were born in towns of 5,000 or less, and only twenty per cent were born in New York City.

The birthplaces of these men represented Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Michigan, Missouri, Illinois, Maryland, Delaware, Vermont, Mississippi, Kentucky, Tennessee, Minnesota, Iowa, Florida, Rhode Island, North Carolina, Indiana, Wisconsin, Georgia, California, Montana, Maine, West Virginia, New Jersey and the District of Columbia.

The same situation is true of the younger men, particularly in the banks. This reflects more than merely the attraction of the big city for ambitious young men. It is the result of the definite purpose of New York banking to equip itself to perform most effectively its work for all the nation.

A brief description of the mechanism of the nation's banking system will make this clear. Many of the New York banks are bankers' banks. They are great reservoirs of credit in which banks throughout the country deposit unemployed funds in New York. When crop needs in rural districts or industrial expansion in manufacturing centers increase local requirements for money these local banks call in their funds from New York and in addition may ask the big city banks for loans.

Country banks frequently deposit as security the notes of their own customers, often secured, in turn, by farm capital such as ploughs, livestock and other possessions. The fifty thousand dollar note, for instance, of a country bank in a big New York bank may have attached, as collateral security, fifty or a hundred small notes of a hundred dollars up to a thousand or more, signed by local farmers and their wives. Into one of the biggest New York banks comes in this way from the South each crop season a small note secured by a plough and a harrow and a mule named "Molly"—an incident that has been aptly described as "The Minting of Molly." It is one among many securing a large inter-bank credit.

Thus is big banking in New York brought close to the plain people of the soil—thus does it finance their humble husbandry—and thus has it felt the need of recruiting its officers from among men familiar and sympathetic with local conditions—able to visualize the needs of the people there and pass sound judgment on the credit factors involved.

It is due to the conditions thus pictured that among the officers of New York's banks will be found representatives from all parts of the nation. They are the delegates of the people at the business capital.

Why Group Fights Group

America is suffering from a lack of economic understanding. It is, therefore, that we find group arrayed against group—that we find the grower at variance with the producer, the producer with the consumer and both with the carrier. It is because of a lack of economic understanding that we find capital and labor frequently striving against each other. Yet each element is vitally interested in each other for the final success of the entire endeavor—in the farmer growing a prime crop and getting a fair return; in the canner packing a palatable crop and getting a fair return; in the carrier transporting without damage or deterioration and getting a fair return; in the wholesaler making a wide distribution and getting a fair return; in the retailer satisfying his customer and getting a fair return; in labor aiding each of the processes and getting a fair return; in capital supplying the money and credit to make each process possible and getting a fair return, and in the consumer receiving a pure, nourishing, dependable, wholesome health giving article at a fair price. There is this community of interest in the production and consumption of human requirements that should prohibit strife among the producing and consuming elements.—J. H. Puelicher, President American Bankers Association.

Gompers on Socialism

State socialism is repugnant to the American mind for a great many reasons. Americans generally prefer to carve out the future in freedom. They are unwilling to accept the idea of an all-powerful state. It is the American idea that the people shall order the state and shape its course; not that the state shall order the lives of the people, fitting them into niches to suit a bureaucratic card index.—Samuel Gompers.

Co-operative Marketing

Agriculture produces enough to feed the people the year around but some of this production should be stored to eliminate the over supply at the times of harvest or during periods of high production. It can then be thrown upon the market in accordance with consumptive demands.

Co-operative marketing is still in its infancy. In a few localities where farmers have been properly organized and provided themselves with adequate facilities to store their prod-

THE SERVICE OF A FAILURE

BY J. H. PUELICHER
President American Bankers Association

J. H. Puelicher

When Governor Walton of Oklahoma signed recently the repeal of the bank deposit guaranty law in that state, he performed an economic service to the whole country. I might even say that Oklahoma in passing that law, enduring its evil consequences for fifteen years and then frankly casting it aside as a failure, has performed an economic service to the nation. There could be no more convincing argument against the passage of similar laws in other states than Oklahoma's disastrous experiment.

The Oklahoma guaranty law was the first of its kind. It was enacted in response to the panic of 1907. But experience has only proved again that there is no substitute for sound banking. Relying on the fancied security of the guaranty law, people entrusted their banking to many who were unfit for the trust. Bank failures have been so many that the fund, supposed to guarantee deposits, created by assessments on banks, was long ago depleted.

It is estimated that with total liabilities created under the law in the form of warrants and sums owing to depositors amounting to $12,000,000, there are in the hands of the Banking Board uncertain assets of nominally $15,000,000, ranging in value from zero to only thirty or forty cents on the dollar, resulting in a deficit of many million dollars. Sound, well-managed banks have been heavily taxed by assessments to the fund, and the maximum amount that could be assessed on solvent banks is insufficient to cover the deficit.

It has been well said that guaranty laws make for looseness in banking methods, and saddle on the competent and honest the sins of the incompetent and dishonest.

Let us have only laws that raise the standard of banking. Let us have no laws that debase it.

NEED FOR UNIFORMITY IN BUSINESS LAWS

How Collection of Just Debts May Be Prevented by Differing State Statutes.

An effort to bring about better coordination and greater uniformity among state laws dealing with business and banking is being made by the American Bankers Association.

It is pointed out that, although the country is a unit commercially, and citizens of any one state may do business that reaches all over the country, most laws governing business transactions are made by the different states, with application limited to their own local jurisdictions and often in conflict with laws in other states. It is held that state laws should be uniform so that the same transaction will not be subject to different sets of rules according as state laws differ.

To illustrate the disadvantages of conflicting laws, the following illustration is given: Mr. Jones lives in New York where the statute of limitations outlaws a note in six years. He falls into the error of assuming that the same rule prevails everywhere. He visits Maryland and loans $1,000 to his friend, Mr. Smith, taking a promissory note. As the note carries interest Mr. Jones is in no hurry for his money and he believes Smith to be financially responsible. Finally at the end of four years Jones concludes he has loaned Smith the money long enough and seeks to collect the note from him. But Smith can deny liability and point to the statute of Maryland which Jones is surprised to learn outlaws a note after three years.

Changes Recommended

The particular subjects of legislation recommended by the association for enactment by State legislatures during 1923 include uniform acts on negotiable instruments, bills of lading, warehouse receipts, stock transfer, and fiduciaries.

Under the head of laws for better protection of banks in particular transactions are proposed measures dealing with limiting liability on certified check; instruments based on gambling or usurious consideration; time limit on stop payment; payment of stale check; adverse claim to bank deposit; payment of forged or raised check; deposits in two names; deposits in trust; competency of bank and corporation notaries; non-payment of check through error; Saturday afternoon bank transactions, and forwarding check direct to payee.

Under the Federal Reserve and foreign banking are recommended laws on membership of state institutions in Federal Reserve System, and foreign banking. Penal laws proposed deal with false statements for credit; slander and libel of bank; checks or drafts without funds, and burglary with explosives.

FOR SOUND MONEY

Senator Oddie of Nevada, chairman of the United States Senate commission to investigate the problems of gold and silver mining, has allayed the fear that Western Senators, in their zeal to aid the cause of silver, might launch an unsound money wave. "I am for sound money," Senator Oddie says. "There is no thought of bimetallism or departing from the gold standard. We desire to help the great mining industry, but not through the creation of an unsound currency."

THE HIGH COST OF CHEAP MONEY

Widows and Orphans Among Chief Losers From Unsound Currency.

The losses and costs borne by the government and the people of the United States from unsound money experiments, from colonial times down, doubtless total more than our staggering World War appropriations, it is declared by [illegible] Agger, an authority on economics, in the Journal of the American Bankers Association. "Cheap money," he says, is very costly, since frenzied finance, speculation and business disaster have invariably followed in the wake of unsound currency. He cites historical experience showing that widows and orphans were among the chief sufferers.

"New generations of adults, like children, have to learn over and over again that, when playing with fire, one runs the risk of being burned." Mr. Agger says. "Indulging currency heresies constitutes such an adult playing with fire. A glance over our own historical experience would demonstrate this to the most ardent 'easy money' advocate, but such advocates are usually those to whom history is 'bunk.'

Soft Money Advocates Seek Profit

"Unfortunately those who are willing to kindle the kind of conflagration involved in 'soft-money' experimentation are not the only ones hurt. Indeed, they may extort an advantage for themselves. But the record is all too clear concerning the mass of people. Heavy losses, injustice, disorganized production and numerous other evils are inevitable.

"Unsound money projects impose heavy costs on the government itself. The first effect of cheap money is to raise prices. Mounting prices mean that, to meet its needs, the government must appropriate always larger sums. Again, dallying with unsound money weakens the government's credit. Prospective bond buyers become hesitant when currency depreciation is threatened, because there is danger of agitation toward the payment of government obligations in the cheaper money rather than in specie. Any such weakening of government credit means lower prices received for bonds, consequently greater burdens on the Treasury. Assuming that, in the end, sound principles triumph, the indulgences of the unsound currency days leave further costs to be met. If paper money has been issued it must be redeemed. If a government be unwilling to stoop to repudiation it must raise much more in taxes to pay for the paper money than it received at the time of issue."

The total effect of paper issues in increasing the cost of the Civil War is estimated at about $600,000,000, Mr. Agger says, continuing:

"Much more serious than the costs of unsound currency to the government are the heavy direct and indirect costs imposed upon the people. Our productive system is controlled through prices, and the upset of prices, caused by a depreciating currency, interferes with the proper harmonizing of the different lines of production. Price changes are not instantaneously or uniformly effected throughout the whole system. The result of an inflationary movement is a stimulation of speculation and over-investment in some lines, with inadequate development in other lines. The period of speculation seems a period of prosperity, but how false and unsound is such prosperity is disclosed in the stress and agony of the inevitable period of liquidation which, Nemesis-like, follows on the heels of the boom."

Wealth Unfairly Re-distributed

Mr. Agger then describes "the distressing effects of an unsound money on the distribution of wealth among classes and individuals. Cheapening money through inflationary expedients is a gigantic fraud upon the creditor classes as against debtors. All those dependent on fixed incomes, or receiving specified sums in terms of money, are penalized when the purchasing power of money is depressed. In like manner the stockholder profits at the expense of the bondholder—a fact which implies a reward to the more speculatively inclined at the expense of the conservative.

"Advancing prices cause discontent and give rise to agitation and unrest among those whose incomes cannot promptly be adjusted to meet higher living costs. Strikes are fomented and production is curtailed. Everybody shares in these burdens. Lack of stability in money also undermines and weakens habits of thrift. A corrosion of the moral integrity of the people is inevitable. Dishonesty is stimulated and a desire to gain by speculation rather than to earn a livelihood by productive and useful labor causes a marked deterioration in popular habits and character."

ANNUAL BOARD ELECTION RETURNS MRS. LARSON-MOGENSON

Tax Budget Left to the Decision Of Board at First Meeting Monday, Aug. 13.

The annual election of the board of officers of the city schools was held at the auditorium Friday evening. E. O. Mogensen and Mrs. L. G. Larson, director and clerk were re-elected to the board by a good majority.

Parents of local school children made known their satisfaction, of the manner in which the school work is handled by their absence. Thirty votes were cast. This is encouraging from the standpoint of confidence placed in the officers, which is as it should be, but it tends to show a lack of interest.

The levy of the budget was left for the board to decide at their next meeting, the second Monday in August, the 13th of that month.

A total of $115,128.43 was disbursed by the treasurer of school district No. 18, Thief River Falls during the past year, according to his report recently submitted to the board and school patrons. The receipts or income for the same period amounted to $123,814.03, leaving a balance of $8,685.55, which includes $2,726.48 cash on hand, on checking account, and $5,859.07 in certificates of deposits at local banks. The balance on hand July 15, 1922, was $9,243.07 while the expenditures for that year amounted to $174,091.90, this including the expenditure connected with the construction of the new Knox building.

District No. 18 will start the coming year without any outstanding orders, for the first time in several years. During the past few years the amount of outstanding orders has been steadily decreasing and during 1922-1923 the district paid orders from the two previous years totalling $2,623.37 besides the regular disbursements, which amounted to $112,505.36. This was made possible by a more accurate budget system and a rigid program of economy.

LOCAL GOLFERS TO STAGE TOURNEY ON JULY 28 AND 29

As Seven Hole Course Nears Completion Local Golfers have Free-For-All.

All wielders of the brassie, mashie or niblick are hereby notified to be on hand at Ye links of the Thief River Golf course, Saturday and Sunday, July 28 and 29, in order to determine by actual tests the person or persons, male or female, justly entitled to be called the best golfer of this fair.

Bring your ear-muffs with you for the reason that no longer will the spectators stand idly by and hold their tongues, their feet and even their breaths for many seconds while you carefully prepare and adjust for your shots. Enthusiasts announce here and now that they intend to yell, root, kick and in all ways embarrass their opposing players at any and all times. They will give you some fun and hilarity at the very least.

This tournament will be of the handicap, free for all, style, with the fair sex playing against the unfair and vice-versa. To get in, all you need to do is plunk down the small sum of twenty-five cents, in advance, and kiss it goodbye. Then go out and play, like mad if, you should be the best golfer, or even as good as you think you are, and you may get the first prize of one dozen, pure-white, first-class, high-grade, non-losable golf balls and half of that for the one who is next best. Get your name and your quarter on file with the committee at an early date.

Local golf enthusiasts are to be complimented on the progress they have made in securing the golf links which they now possess. The size of the course has gradually been increased until they now have a seven-hole course, very near completion. A nine-hole course, the regulation size, will be a thing of reality in the near future as the number of 'Golfers' is growing steadily.

The women are coming out strong in this new old fascinating game and bid fair to outstrip their more irritable lesser halves. The club membership is also showing an increase from time to time and the increase of late stands high among the women. Competition is keen among them and accuracy and ability of many is enough to warrant their being placed on a level with many of the men who have been at the game for some time.

A club house at the links has been discussed and a great deal of sentiment in favor of the erection of one is being voiced. However, the club has decided, and rightly so, that the erection of a club house at this time would be more of a handicap than a benefit as it would tie up funds and it would not be practical to build a house that would, in a few years, inadequately fill the needs of the club. Such a club house would be used on many occasions, and many of the social events of the season would undoubtedly be staged there and it would indeed be unwise to erect a building which would have to be torn down in a few years.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Lundin of Minneapolis, arrived Monday morning for a visit with relatives and friends. Mr. Lundin intends to return to Minneapolis this week while she will remain in the city some time. Mrs. Lundin was formerly Miss Anna Brekke, of the local post office staff.

Mrs. R. L. Barackman of Lincoln, Neb., arrived at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Brink. Rev. Barackman is expected to be in the city by next week. They were formerly residents of this city and have a host of friends who are glad to see them. Rev. Barackman was pastor of the Presbyterian church for several years.

FILTRATION PLANT CRACK SUBJECT AT COUNCIL MEETING

Break in Wall Gradually Widening and Threatens to Damage Mechanical Equipment.

Although the city council was in session for over two hours Tuesday night there were only routine matters disposed of, most of the time being given over to listening to a report on the prospects of securing the sugar beet factory and a discussion of the damage at the filtration plant.

Following the roll call, with Alderman Carl Froseth absent, and the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, Math Barzen, representing the sugar beet committee, advised the council that the prospects of securing the sugar beet factory were becoming more and more promising. Mr. Barzen stated that plans had been prepared for the factory and that everything is in readiness, a decision being temporarily delayed as to choice of a site.

Inasmuch as property owners on the East Side had only partially complied with the orders of the city council as to building cement sidewalks prior to July 7, a motion was passed authorizing the street commissioner to proceed with the laying of the required walks, the cost of which will be charged up to the abutting property through the next spread of the taxes. Similar action will follow shortly if the property owners on Sixth street do not comply with the orders of the council. Four street crossings will also be built on the East Side to properly connect the new walks with old ones and give better connection with the Knox school grounds.

An application as bacteriologist was received from Dr. Tvete, and a letter from the state board of health was also read stating they would be glad to instruct anyone the city council might decide on for a position of that kind if such a step was taken. However, the matter was laid over for final disposition till a later meeting of the aldermen.

The surety bond of C. M. Carlson for the paving of the post office alley had been duly approved by the city attorney and was ordered filed.

A report from Dr. Biederman on his inspection of the city jail and submitted to the state board of health was read and ordered filed.

The continual widening of the crack in the filtration plant and the fact that it has recently resulted in the breaking of the intake pipe caused quite a little discussion among the aldermen present. The break had been reported to engineer L. P. Wolf and he in turn had notified the J. G. Robertson Co., who installed the pumping machinery. They asked the superintendent of the water and light department to have the pipe dug up to ascertain the cause. This was done yesterday and it appeared that the break was due to the settling of the building.

The council instructed the city attorney to write the engineer in charge and ascertain who is to blame for the settling of the building and the resultant effects. The final payments to the various contractors and the engineer are all being held up pending this information. If Mr. Carlson is not to blame they want the engineer to state this fact.

The regular monthly bills were presented and allowed without any debate as to the items, following their being given the proper o. k.

Wheat Growers Meet With Success in Member Drive

The board of directors of the Minnesota Wheat Growers' association, at their last meeting, Wednesday, July 11 were well pleased with the progress the association is making. The membership is growing rapidly and the organization has already more members than North Dakota had after eight months' of operation. There are men in practically every county in northern Minnesota. W. H. Frederick secretary of the association, said he expected to and undoubtedly would have 150 additional men in the surrounding territory in thirty days. An acreage of approximately 5,000 is expected to be handled by the association this year.

Local Newsboy Receives Radio Receiving Outfit

The local newsboys are neither dead nor behind the times. If they were the former they wouldn't sell their allotment of papers every day. If they were the latter they wouldn't be installing radio receiving sets.

Robert "Roundy" Erickson received and installed a radio receiving set this week making final adjustments yesterday. While many of our local lads have been wasting their evenings, "Roundy" has kept up the sale of sixty copies of the Minneapolis Tribune for a period of three months and as a reward for splendid service the Minneapolis Tribune presented him with a Westinghouse "Radio" complete equipment for receiving messages from all large sending stations in the United States and many of the Canadian stations. The aparatus arrived Monday.

LOCAL WEED INSPECTORS KEPT BUSY BY FOUL WEED PEST

Town Board Chairman Faces New Problem in Enforcing Noxious-Weed Law.

The work of the local weed inspector will be rushing during the months of July and August. Canada Thistle and all other weeds will be in bloom and in all their glory during these two months. Ragweeds will soon be throwing their vast out-put of pollen to the winds to enhance the inconvenience of the hay fever patients. Wild Barley is maturing its seed and the seeds with their irritating beards are blowing about the fields to bother man and his livestock; so on down the list of noxious weeds; Leafy Spurge, Buckhorn, Quack, Dock, Wild Peas, etc., each with its particular trouble-making characteristic and preparing for a bumper crop of weeds for 1924.

The town chairman has a problem that is new to him. The enforcement of the Noxious Weeds Act. He will find it a difficult matter to accomplish the desired results, but his task may be materially lightened if the farmers and land owners of his township will give their sympathy, their assistance and moral support. The weed control problem is more or less a community problem and as such must have the support of the people, if a measure of success is to be attained.

Citizens who know of the location of any noxious weeds should notify the local weed inspector that he may be saved the time and the community the expense of hunting for them. This is particularly true with respect to the weeds whose seeds blow about with the wind. These weeds (such as the Thistles) may be checked where they are if rigid enforcement of control method is made. Cutting is the first expedient, burning as soon as dry is the second and cultural methods are the third, each case will need be treated according to its merits. City and village lot owners are not exempt. The law specifies that land owners, the occupants or agents are responsible for destroying weeds on their lands. Likewise railroad right-of-way and other lands are to be kept free from noxious weeds. The State Trunk highways are to be kept free from noxious weeds by the highway department. The inspector should keep after the maintenance men and notify headquarters.

"First Fruits."

The first load of this year's crop of grain was a load of rye brought to the Sandberg-Roe elevator Friday by M. P. Wold, residing on section 9 in town of North. The crop went 14 bushels to the acre and was graded as No. 1. and brought 48 cents per bushel. This is the first grain of this year's crop that has been threshed and marketed in the vicinity as far as The Times knows.

MEETING AUG. 11 ON GRAIN PRICE STABILIZATION

Farmers and Business Men of Entire Northwest Will Discuss Farmer's Situation.

Gatherings of Like Nature Now Being Held Throughout Grain Raising States.

Prominent Speakers Will Be Here to Assist in Giving People Intelligent View.

At a meeting held last Tuesday evening, called by Mayor John Bratrud, to consider the advisability of calling a grain stabilization convention in Thief River Falls, it was determined that such a meeting ought to be held and committees on arrangements and publicity were appointed by chairman N. B. Fuller.

The committee on Publicity has determined that the meeting will be held on Saturday, August 11 commencing at 2 o'clock p. m., and many invitations will be sent out to prominent men in the northwest who are interested and posted on the question of prices. It is not the purpose of this committee to "plug" the meeting for or against this proposition but will invite a free and full discussion of the proposition and then permit the meeting to take such action as it may see fit.

This question being of a National nature it is desired to have farmers, business men and ladies from not only the vicinity but from all over the northwest, including North Dakota, with us on that occasion and the committee believes that a large attendance will add to the importance of the occasion and also impress those in authority with the idea that the people of the United States are awake to the importance of this movement and that it has not arisen through any political propaganda but the question has been created through economic conditions and now demands solution.

The committee is in hopes that every county in northwestern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota will be represented and that the men and women of all classes will make arrangements to meet with us.

The program will be fully published next week. It should be remembered that no one will be barred from setting forth his or her ideas at the conclusion of the set speeches which will be arranged for. If anyone desires to be placed on the program or has anyone to suggest they should notify Mr. G. Halvorson, chairman of the publicity committee.

Let every farmers' organization take notice of this meeting and see that representatives are sent.

The bankers and other business men are invited. The ladies are particularly invited.

REV. NYBORG WILL TAKE NEW CHARGE IN TACOMA, WASH.

Pastor of Scan. Evangelical Church Here Five Years to Leave For Coast Tuesday.

Rev. Bot Nyborg, who has for the past five years served as pastor of the Scandinavian Evangelical church here has received a call at Tacoma, Wash., and will move there with his family. They will leave next Tuesday.

Rev. Nyborg will deliver his farewell sermon Sunday at 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

Coming here five years ago from Portland, Maine, to take up the work as pastor of the Scandinavian Evangelical church, then composed of a very few members, his winning personality, sincere and wholehearted manner in delivering the message, soon won him a host of friends and during his untiring efforts the congregation has increased to a much greater number. The church has been improved and a large and promising Sunday school and young peoples' class added.

It is with the deepest regret that the congregation has accepted the resignation, and wish the family good fortune in their new location.

The whole family will be greatly missed, Mrs. Nyborg also being an earnest and sincere worker in the church. The children have always taken great interest in the Sunday school and have been a great asset to it.

Rev. J. J. Jacobson, a graduate of the Bible Institute and Academy of Minneapolis, has been engaged to take over Rev. Nyborg's call here and will be installed at the evening services next Sunday.

ROSEWOOD TO MEET LOCALS SATURDAY: TO E. G. FORKS SUN.

Game With Oklee-Plummer Aggregation Ends in Argument During Seventh Inning.

Saturday the local baseball club will meet the Rosewood nine at the fair grounds to furnish part of the entertainment during the last day of the Pennington county fair. The game will take place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and the usual line-up will appear in the local uniforms.

On Saturday the Thief River Falls sluggers will motor to East Grand Forks to play the nine of that place a return game. East Grand Forks was defeated when they came here a short time ago and the locals expect to duplicate the stunt next Sunday if by any means possible. A considerable number of Thief River Falls fans announce that they will accompany the team on their third invasion of foreign diamonds this season.

The game last Sunday with a combination of Oklee and Plummer players ended in a dispute and was forfeited to the locals, the visitors refusing to play. The contest was marked by several disagreements on decisions on the part of both teams and was finally concluded in the seventh inning when the Oklee-Plummer team refused to continue the game unless a Thief River Falls player be put out of the line-up. The altercation was not considered by the Thief River Falls umpire to be of sufficient importance to make it necessary to remove the player, the trouble being of a personal nature. The score was 6 to 7 in favor of the locals at the close of the seventh but the game was automatically forfeited when the other team refused to finish the game.

LARGE CROWDS ATTEND PICNIC FOR M. JOHNSON

More Than 4,000 Voters From Entire District Greet Senator-Elect at Crookston.

Johnson Outlines Program In Speech. Many Progressives Speak Before He Arrives.

Mass Meeting Adopts Resolution Urging Special Session of Congress For Relief.

A delegation from this city attended the Ratification picnic held in Crookston last Sunday in honor of Magnus Johnson, in recognition of his election to the U. S. Senate.

The following account of the event is taken from Monday's issue of the Crookston Times:

"Despite rain and delays due to the late arrival of Magnus Johnson, they failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the several thousand people who drove to Crookston yesterday to attend the all day picnic meeting at Central Park to celebrate the recent election of the farmer-labor candidate to the United States senatorship.

"It was estimated over 4,000 people were present to hear Mr. Johnson and although he was scheduled to speak in the afternoon it was not until 10 o'clock last night that his speech was concluded. The senator-elect, who spoke at Litchfield Saturday night, missed his train to Crookston at St. Cloud and was forced to make the trip by automobile. The rain which began falling here shortly after noon delayed him and it was not until five o'clock that he arrived—about five minutes after the crowd gathered at the armory for an indoor meeting had been dismissed.

"Many of those who drove to the city had brought picnic lunches with them to eat in the park during the all day program. At the very beginning of the program, however, rain started falling which lasted for several hours. It was announced a meeting would be held at the Armory and nearly 2,000 jammed their way into the building, several hundred others being turned away.

"At the Armory progressive speakers endeavored to entertain the crowd pending the arrival of Mr. Johnson and for three hours talks were made by Louis Enstrom of Roseau; Knute Wefald of Hawley, farmer-labor congressman from this district; Thomas Vollom of Erskine; O. A. Naplin of Thief River Falls, farmer-labor senator in the state legislature, and Juls Anderson of Crookston, who presided. Shortly after hope had been abandoned that Mr. Johnson would arrive before evening and it had been announced that a meeting would be held at the park, the farmer-labor senator arrived. Several hundred of the audience returned to their seats while Mr. Johnson spoke for half an hour.

"Adjournment was then made to Central park, where Tom Davis, Minneapolis attorney, took the platform as an introductory speaker for Mr. Johnson.

"'They have ridiculed my manners and lack of education' Johnson said, 'when I go to Washington they are going to understand me.' He said he had forgiven all those who had ridiculed him and stated he had nothing against Governor Preus personally. 'The only thing I have against the governor,' he said, 'is that his principles are wrong.'

"Mr. Johnson thanked this section for its large majority in his favor in the election and declared the people here were the pioneers of the progressive movement which started with the formation of the old populist party. He said success for the progressive was in sight and urged strong co-operation and organization within the party.

"At the close of the meeting a resolution was unanimously adopted and will be sent to President Harding urging a special session of congress to provide relief for grain growing farmers. The resolution was drawn up by Attorney G. Halvorson of Thief River Falls and Thomas Vollom of Erskine."

Brevig Resigns Position With Bank. Will Go West

E. P. Brevig, who has been connected with the Citizens State bank as assistant cashier the past several years, has resigned from the services of that institution and contemplates going west. Mr. and Mrs. Brevig left this morning for Bowesmont, N. D., where they will be guests of relatives a few days. Returning from that place they will stop here a few days and go to Black River, Wisconsin, accompanied by Mrs. T. L. Melgaard, and will spend some time there with relatives. After they return from Wisconsin they will leave for Los Angeles, Cal., where they intend to make their future home. They will make the trip by car, camping along the route.

Mr. and Mrs. Brevig have been residents of Thief River Falls for several years. Mrs. Brevig was an instructor in the local high school the past two years. They will both be greatly missed by their many friends in the city as they took an active part in the civic and social life of the community.

Saxophone Artists Coming To Lyceum Theatre Monday

Something unusual in the line of entertainment has been billed at the Lyceum theatre for Monday and Tuesday when David J. Bolduc and his clown saxophone band and orchestra appears here. It is an organization highly praised by critic and public. This is a clever sextette of saxophone artists headed by the well known Bolduc, a renowned wizard on this instrument. He is also an artist with the violin. Each member doubles on other instruments. The troupe has traveled extensively over the country and makes a decided hit wherever it appears. In the varied program are a number of clever imitations of different animals, the imitations being produced entirely on saxophone and violins. Pep, punch and music to suit everybody. Following is a press comment from the Washington Democrat:

"Put this right down in your date book—Bolduc's Saxophone Band at the Liberty Tuesday and Wednesday will be the talk of Washington. Presenting a program of both popular and classical music—featuring Bolduc in person—Bolduc the man who makes the saxophone talk."

J. J. Vorachek returned the first of the week from Mahnomen, where he had spent the past ten days looking after his farm interests. The crops in the Mahnomen territory will be quite favorable according to reports.

DR. MILAN ELECTED SANATORIUM ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT

Superintendent of Local Sanatorium Chosen Head of State-wide Organization.

A distinct honor was accorded a Thief River Falls citizen last week when Dr. M. Geo. Milan, superintendent of the Oakland Park sanatorium near the city, was selected as president of the Minnesota Sanatorium association, which convened in Wadena. Dr. Milan returned the first of the week from the annual convention which continued for several days. It was one of the best attended meetings ever held by this medical body, all of the fifteen sanatoriums of the state with the exception of one, being represented.

Other officers chosen by the association were: First vice president, Dr. Leo G. Guyer, St. Paul; second vice president, Dr. Harry Bondes, Minneapolis; secretary, Beatrice E. Lindberg, St. Paul.

The gathering was attended by some of the strongest public health and institutional experts in the state, including Dr. A. J. Chesley, executive secretary State Board of Health; Dr. P. M. Hall, superintendent state sanatorium, Ah-Gwah-Ching, Minnesota; Dr. Robinson Bosworth, executive secretary Minnesota advisory commission; Dr. C. L. Scofield, president Minnesota Public Health association. R. W. Wheelock and John Coleman, members of the state board of control, were also present, all of whom delivered short talks at the banquet, as well as Representative J. A. Quinn, of Menahga, who is a member of the committee on appropriations of the house of representatives in the state legislature. The banquet was presided over by Dr. Waldie, superintendent of the Wadena sanatorium.

Dr. Milan presided over the nurses' meeting which was held Friday and was very well attended. Nurses from several counties and the U. S. Veterans' Bureau were in attendance. Miss Ruth Houlton, superintendent of Public Health Nursing, State Board of Health, gave an instructive paper on "The Public Health Nurse and the Tuberculosis Sanatorium."

One of the interesting features at the Lodge was the oil burning plant which was installed there a year ago. This method of heating has proved a success and one other sanatorium has ordered the necessary changes made for oil installation. In addition to the prepared program Dr. Waldie read a paper on the oil burner, which met with such favor that it was ordered ordered that reprints be made and copies sent, that all superintendents might have it to keep on file.

POTATO EXPERTS IN COUNTY INSPECTING FIELDS IN VICINITY

Tourists Find Acreage Below That of Last Year. Smaller Crop Is Expected.

The eyes of men interested in the potato industry, men from various parts of the country, were on Pennington county's potatoes today. The men referred to made up a party of tourists who are covering nine counties in northern Minnesota potato fields, to see what conditions are as to cropping methods, damage by diseases and insect pests, and prospects as to supplies for consumers' use and for seed stock. They find the acreage in the Red River Valley lower than last year and the yield likely to be somewhat smaller.

Interest in the group centered, for one thing, in the fact that a member of the party was H. M. Kilgore of Plant City, Florida, here to see whether Florida potato growers might not get better seed stock from Minnesota than from Maine where they have heretofore purchased their seed supplies. Mr. Kilgore started with the party at Red Lake Falls on Wednesday, and has been impressed with the fact that Minnesota's seed certification laws and rules offer guarantees for good seed stock, such as southern potato growers would be willing to pay a premium for if proper arrangements as to shipping practices could be adopted. Mr. Kilgore's suggestions open up the question of a much wider market for Minnesota seed stock in the southern states. The present market includes Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, Illinois, Oklahoma and Texas.

Another greatly interested member of the party was H. Merrill of the Hubbard-Merrill company, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, buyers and shippers of potatoes. Mr. Merrill is looking for sources of supplies of high class potatoes, and predicts a better market for potatoes this year than last. He says that the southern crop this year was early off to about 70 per cent of the best, that it was later hurt by weather conditions, and that, therefore, it will be pretty well consumed by the time the northern potatoes are ready to market. This ought to bring a good demand and profitable prices for the northern crop.

The party in Thief River Falls on Thursday was made up also of R. C. Rose, plant disease specialist from the University of Minnesota, chairman of the committee in charge of the tour; J. G. Leach, another plant disease specialist; C. E. Mickel, a specialist in insect pests such as prey on potatoes; F. A. Krantz, a specialist in potato growing—all three from the University Department of Agriculture; A. G. Tolaas, in charge of the state's potato seed certification work; W. P. Kirkwood, division of publications, University Farm, St. Paul; L. M. Bond, county agent in Red Lake county; D. C. Oehler, Hopkinton, Ia.; George K. Kelley, editor of the Northwest Farmstead, Minneapolis; R. H. Barr, representing sprayer manufacturers, Excelsior, Minn.; T. M. McColl, Northwest Agricultural Experiment Station, Crookston; N. P. Davis and family, Albert Lea; E. J. Porter of Red Lake Falls.

Under the guidance of J. J. McCann, county agent of Pennington county, the party visited the R. Oen, S. E. Hunt, H. Fodstad, S. Hanson and Letnes farms in the vicinity of Thief River Falls.

The visitors left about 6 p. m. for Lancaster. They will spend Friday in Kittson county, Saturday in Roseau, Sunday and Monday in Koochiching, Tuesday in Beltrami, Wednesday in Itasca and Thursday in St. Louis.

Twete Returns.

Dr. L. R. Twete has returned from his trip to the twin cities and to Seattle, Wash. While in Minneapolis he spent some time at the university farm.

CONSTRUCTION OF BRIDGE SOUTH OF CITY IS STARTED

Contract Let Last Week to J. S. Letness of Crookston For $2990. Complete Sept. 15.

Will Be Built in Proper Place for New Road Although Grading Project Is Halted.

Working of New County Reimbursement Law Forces Stoppage of Road Construction.

The contract was let last week and work has already been started on the construction of the bridge across the ditch at the entrance of the trunk highway known as the Jefferson Highway south of the city. The new bridge will take the place of the old one which was recently condemned by the state highway department and is now barely passable.

The need of a new crossing was so urgent that when Highway Engineer Umland declared an emergency in the case the department immediately ordered that the bridge be constructed and awarded the contract at once to J. S. Letness of Crookston, who was the successful bidder at $2,990. He has already arrived and the crew is at work under the supervision of the local highway engineer, Bert Umland. The bridge must be completed by September 15, according to the terms of the contract and it is assured that the crossing will be ready for use by that time, as a large crew is employed.

No change was made in the location of the bridge as first decided according to the new route of highway No. 32. It will be erected a short distance west of the present one so as to be in the proper place when the road due south, near the sanitorium, is completed. This was done by special order by Commissioner Babcock who secured the necessary right-of-way. The bridge will be built of reinforced concrete throughout, of the box culvert type and will be 68 feet long, ten feet wide and eight feet high, with heavy wing walls.

Through some flaw, the omission of the word "net", in the reimbursement road law enacted by the 1923 legislature, permitting counties to issue bonds for the construction of necessary road improvements within the county, the road building project on Highway No. 32, between Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire, was necessarily withdrawn. The road building on the three-mile stretch west from the city was also put off, the bond funds not being forthcoming.

It seems that the new county reimbursement law should have read as a direct duplication of the old law under which the Babcock plan was organized, but that perhaps an error on the part of an assistant in the attorney-general's office or the failure of a legislative engrossing clerk to include the word "net" in the bill introduced at the last session of the legislature has entered the proceedings, nullifying the law. An attempt will very likely be made to correct this in the next legislature.

Fifteen per cent of the assessed valuation of Pennington county is $728,079.30 and the outstanding indebtedness including warrants and ditch bonds is $801,866.01. Thus the present showing is that the county is indebted to such an extent that it is not authorized to issue the contemplated $90,000 in view of the limitations in Sec. 1 of Chapter 320, laws of 1923, that the aggregate indebtedness, inclusive of bonds issued hereunder shall not exceed 15 per cent of assessed valuation of county's taxable real estate property. This differs from the 1919 laws by the omission of the word "net" before "indebtedness." The regular county bonds amount to only $34,000 while the ditch bonds aggregate $680,000 and the bridge and road bonds $23,000.

As a consequence every road project in northern Minnesota for which counties had issued bonds has been halted, except Kittson county, which is below the 15 per cent requisite. Funds for any road improvement on highways now must come from the highway department until an adjustment of the flaw is made.

HOLT MAN TRAMPLED UNDER HORSE DIES FROM INJURIES

Isack Garfve, 68, Kicked and Trampled On by Horse When Entering Stall.

Isack Garfve, aged 68, a farmer residing near Holt, died Wednesday of last week, as the result of injuries sustained when trampled under by his horses while feeding them in the barn the previous day.

The aged man in entering the stall between his team of horses on Tuesday afternoon did not speak to them, and one being blind, became startled and kicked him down. The kick was so severe that for a while he was unable to move so as to get out of reach of the horse who trampled on him and caused further injuries. Mr. Garfve somehow succeeded in crawling out of the stall and into the house a short distance from the barn despite his injuries.

Mrs. Garfve and a son were in town at the time the accident occurred and another son was dragging the road. On their return home they immediately sent for a physician who, upon examination found that the victim of the accident had been injured internally and gave them little hope for his recovery. Mr. Garfve lingered until nearly twelve o'clock Wednesday night, when he passed away.

The relatives were notified of the accident Wednesday morning, and early Thursday morning Mrs. Chas. Winnegge, Mrs. Leonard Olson, Mrs. Reber Daily, Ole and Inga Garfve, all arrived from Devils Lake, N. D., only a couple of hours after their father had departed this life. Another daughter, Mrs. Charles Horton of Voltaire, N. D., arrived later. Deceased is survived by his widow, five daughters and three sons.

Mr. Garfve was born in Norway February 16, 1855, and came to this country about 22 years ago. While in Norway he was united in marriage to Miss Johanna Olson. A number of years ago he homesteaded the farm in the vicinity of Holt, where the family has resided since.

Funeral services were held at the home Saturday afternoon, Rev. Myhre officiating. Interment was made in the Folden cemetery.

Argument With Wife is Costly For Transient. Fined $10 For Fracas

Albert Jacobs, a transient, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct when arraigned in Municipal court yesterday morning, and paid a fine of $10 assessed by Judge N. W. Tarrant.

The arrest was made by Night Patrolman Ralston and Krogstad early in the morning when called to a local hotel where Jacobs was having a noisy argument with his wife. The couple were apparently leaving the city on the early morning train to the cities but trouble arose on the way to the depot and on their return to the hotel became so violent that it was necessary to call the police, who placed Jacobs under arrest at once. The police state that the woman shows signs of violence on the part of her husband, her arms being blue where he had struck or pinched her.

EXHIBITS AT TWENTY-FIRST EVENT ARE OF THE BEST EVER SHOWN AT ANY EXPOSITION IN THIS SECTION

Crowds at the Fair Grounds The First Two Days Promise Record Attendance. Visitors Stream Into City From Entire Surrounding Section To View Splendid Exhibits.

Free Acts, Including Acrobatic Stunts, Horse Races, Auto Polo and Other Interesting Events Feature Afternoon and Evening Programs During the Four Days.

Horse Races Creating Much Interest Among Spectators. Auto Pushball, New Game, on Saturday's Program. Also Baseball Game With Rosewood at 4 O'clock p. m.

The gates to the Pennington county fair grounds were swung open yesterday morning for the twenty-first annual exposition and large crowds from the entire valley began pouring into the city at an early hour. From the outset indications were that the attendance will exceed former years. A survey of the exhibits will convince any one that they are of the finest that has ever been displayed here, and the entertainment features and races are of a high standard, furnishing many thrills to the thousands of spectators.

With ideal weather conditions today is expected to be the banner day although a large attendance will undoubtedly be recorded tomorrow and Saturday as well, unless the weather man turns the tables.

The exhibits this year are exceptionally good, the exhibit halls being filled to capacity. In the woman's building a fine display of fancy work, flowers, canned fruit and various other things of interest is being shown. In the same building is also the educational exhibition which is well worth visiting. Here is shown maps, fancy and industrial work along educational lines and shows up well for the schools in the county.

Showings by the various girls' and boys' clubs are features which are worth much to an exhibition. Some very fine work has been done to bring the specimens to the standard at which they stand.

Dairy exhibits take a prominent place among the displays. Many entries in both milk producing and beef strains show a widespread interest in the dairy business and the quality of the exhibits shows the very finest of work in selection and breeding for an ideal. Among the outside herds of beef cattle is Frank's of Warren. The specimens in the milk strains are far above those ordinarily seen at a county exhibition. Many of the farmers in the very near vicinity are showing herds that are a credit to any exhibition.

The grain exhibits are unusually good. All the small grains are represented and a very fine quality and good color. A large number of entries were made in this department. Corn stood out as being the finest shown in this section of the state, the stalks measuring nine and ten feet in heighth. Minnesota 13 seems to be the most popular of the varieties. The ears are well filled, even and maturity has begun.

Sugar beets and potatoes are displayed in good numbers, particularily the former. The beets are of a very fine quality and are exceptionally large for this season of the year. According to the indications at the exhibition this year will bring a bumper crop

Amusements.

Races are held every afternoon. Some very good showings have been made already and it is plainly to be seen that there are some good horsemen left, even in these days of gas wagons and what-not.

The Crookston Municipal band has been secured for the occasion and is giving the crowds splendid music. The Crookston band is known to be a band of talent and they are proving it.

Every afternoon the fascinating game of auto polo is a feature of the day. Saturday the new game of auto push ball will take place. This is a new game and Thief River Falls is the first place where it will be seen publicly. The ball used in this instance is a huge ball much larger than the balls commonly used for push ball. The ball was made expressly for the occasion. The free acts are of an exceptionally high class. The usual free act does not have much thrill to it but this time old-man-habit has slipped one over on 'em. They are real acts.

The Lachman Exposition Shows are showing up true to their colors. They are giving the crowds attending the Pennington county fair a good, clean, worth-while show. There are many acts, tactfully arranged to please all. They are establishing a reputation that is unassailable. From the delightful and rythmic dog act to the suspense creating dive through the fiery chasm are all the possible stages to suit all the possible dispositions.

Base ball will be a feature of the last day, Saturday. Rosewood will meet on the home diamond before a "fair" crowd. This is the only game staged for the fair week.

New Passenger Insurance—The Soo railroad has made arrangements with an insurance company for a new and novel accident insurance policy that is far cheaper and handier than the old plan. The new policy costs the traveler only one cent for each dollar or fraction of the purchase price of his ticket no matter how long he is on his trip. By the old plan the charge was 25 cents a day. Making a comparison, a tourists' ticket, costing $160 good for a period of nine months will cost $1.50 as compared with the 25 cent a day rate. This insurance becomes the cheapest available.

The payments under this insurance for accidental injuries are as follows:

Loss of life	$5000.00
Loss of both hands or feet	5000.00
Loss of one hand and foot	5000.00
Loss of both eyes	5000.00
Loss of one hand or foot	2500.00
Loss of one eye	1000.00

An amount not exceeding $25.00 per week will be paid employed persons for total disability from accident.

Women are insurable and protected exactly the same as men and for the same injuries will receive the same indemnities.

All persons between the ages of six years and seventy years are insurable, but only those between the ages of eighteen and sixty-five years and employed in gainful occupations will be granted weekly indemnity. Those paying reduced fare are insurable for proportionately reduced amounts.

This insurance is in force throughout the trip covered by the passage ticket to which insurance coupon is attached, or with which it is otherwise identified, regardless of delays or stop-overs and without regard to the length of time consumed in making such trip. It is also in force for one hour before departure of trains or opening of cars for occupancy at terminals, and for one hour after arrival of insured passenger at destination. It covers all accidents on railroad property about stations or on trains incident to the trip covered by the railroad passage ticket with which the insurance coupon is issued.

FARMERS' ELEVATORS WILL GET MORE CARS

New Rule, Adopted by Northwest Advisory Board, Aid to Small Local Houses.

A more adequate supply of freight cars for farmers' elevators this fall is assured as a result of a new ruling agreed upon by the Northwest Advisory board to the Car Service division of the American Railway association, at a meeting held at Sioux Falls, S. D., July 16.

The board, made up of representatives of all shippers, agreed to a new regulation which will be adopted and put into effect. J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, is chairman.

In former years, the allotment of cars for country elevators has been based on the capacity of the houses. Because line elevators, as a rule, are large than those owned by farmers, they have been getting a greater proportion of the available cars. With the rule based on the number of loads passing through a house for a 10-day period, farmers' elevators will be able to get cars in proportion to amount of grain handled.

The advisory board, through its sub-committees, has completed a survey of the number of cars that will be needed this fall for coal, grain and other commodities.

With this information in hand, steps are being taken to induce consumers of coal to obtain a supply to carry them through the winter before Oct. 1. This campaign will have the effect of avoiding a peak demand for coal cars at the same time that the demand for grain cars is heaviest.

The advisory board, organized last spring, already has done much to relieve the car shortage and all indications point to a satisfactory supply this fall and winter.

Northwest A. C. Has Enjoyed Splendid Growth

Perhaps no place in northwestern Minnesota has had so many visitors this summer as the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston. Visitors have included individuals on pleasure trips and many farm and community groups who came to inspect the experimental work. At least 40 farm clubs and groups ranging from 50 to 300 people in each organization will have visited before the summer is over.

The Northwest Experiment station which was established in 1896 was followed in 1906 by the agricultural school. Only 30 students attended in the one building then provided the first year. Today the Experiment Station is recognized as one of the best of its kind. The school grounds have been transformed from a swamp to a beauty spot with flowers, trees, and shrubs. The school equipment has grown from the one building to eight in addition to barns and station buildings. Additional buildings are being erected this summer to care for the institution's growth.

From the 30 students in 1906 the yearly enrollment is now between 200 and 300. Over 2,000 have attended the three-year course while the graduates number almost 500. The school and station has filled a need in northwestern Minnesota and each year will see still more young people availing themselves of the opportunities offered. The school term which opens October 1 will see a record enrollment of those who are interested in the many courses now given. It is open to young men and women without tuition charge.

TOURING THOUSANDS CROWDING HIGHWAY

Record-Breaking Auto Travel Shows Minnesota Is Great Summer Playground.

Attracted by good roads, the lure of out-door life at lakes and woods, broiled chicken and blueberry pie, and a thousand and one other things, hoards of tourists are breezing along on Minnesota highways these days.

More than 15,000 automobiles with tags from other states were counted daily at 194 points on the state trunk highway system in the traffic census last year. The most conservative estimates are that more than 50,000 outside tourists on the daily average last year left more than $25,000,000 of new money in the state. This season predictions are that more than 75,000 visitors daily will spend upwards of $40,000,000 here before the end of the season. Tourists from nineteen states registered on a recent day at a single information bureau in Minneapolis, coming from as far east as New Jersey, west to California, south to Florida and north to Canadian provinces. One from Washington, D. C., carried 300 new $1 bills fresh from the United States treasury—new money to leave in Minnesota—and explained that he disliked to carry silver money.

Every day hundreds of autos tour through the northern section of the state to the popular resorts and lakes. Large numbers register at the tourist park in this city and a count of the out-of-town cars that appear on the streets of Thief River Falls every day proves that this section is among the frequented places. Scores of Iowa and southern Minnesota cars came here constantly, many of them carrying prospective residents.

"Minnesota with good roads, lakes and pine forests is the ideal state for summer touring," said a motorist from an eastern state. "People in the east are beginning to find it out and the people here are waking up to the possibilities of the 'tourist industry' that will bring almost as many settlers as the farms, creameries and mines up here. I hear talk about a gasoline tax in this state—it's all right, no regular fellow expects something for nothing. And we will share the good roads benefits with you when we come. There will be more thousands of us every year as car-owners in all directions find out what this great state offers the vacationist."

Northwest Fair Opens In Crookston Aug. 6th.

The Northwestern Fair to be held at Crookston August 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th will again be a "community affair" along the same lines as the successful event of last year. A number of farm and town organizations are in charge. The business and professional women's association of Crookston is staging the pageant; the "Pageant of Progress" which is said to be more spectacular and more pleasing than the hugh success they staged last year. The Nels T. Wold post of the American Legion has appointed a special committee to arrange a mammoth fireworks display. The pageant is to be given two evenings, Tuesday and Thursday, and the fireworks on Wednesday, the evening between.

The racing and special entertainment features have been well looked after by committees representing various town and country clubs. Auto push ball, a new feature in automobile sport work, will be a part of each afternoon's program that will afford many thrills.

The agricultural and live stock exhibits promise to be exceptionally good and show a development in agriculture supplementing the grain industry, for which the Red River Valley has long been famous, that will add much to the prestige of this section.

St. Hilaire Creamery Has Many $50 Patrons in June

The largest list of patrons in the $50 class ever recorded by the St. Hilaire creamery association was published in the Spectator last week, the report being for the month of June.

Standard Oil Service

THE Standard Oil Company Indiana is doing much to solve a problem of intense and vital interest to you.

With its mammoth central refineries and its far-reaching distributing system—operating with machine-like precision—it is exerting a direct influence on the labor problems of the farmer.

That the farmer is coming to a realization of the benefits of motorizing his equipment is shown by the fact that one tractor manufacturer reports the sale of 20,000 of his machines during the first three months of 1923 as compared with 8,000 of the same machines sold during the same period in 1922.

This increase in the use of mechanical power in general farm practice means a distinct saving in time, and, eventually, will mean greater crops and greater general prosperity.

While the efficient harnessing of petroleum with farming, and the production of food, is an achievement of signal importance, it is but one instance of how Standard Oil Company (Indiana) service dovetails with every other business.

It dovetails with industry by furnishing specialized lubricants for special machinery.

It promotes health by taking from petroleum those ingredients which are used medicinally. It makes it possible for the doctor to cover a much greater territory in pursuing his practice.

It dovetails with the railroads through lubricating much of their intricate equipment, and makes night travel safe by reason of a dependable signal system.

It meets the housewife by furnishing her a wax which safeguards her preserves, jellies, and condiments against spoilage.

It reaches directly, or indirectly, every man in the Middle West at some point which is essential to his prosperity or happiness with a service which is occupying the entire time and attention of 27,000 loyal, efficient, hard-working men and women.

Pure - Breds and Prosperity

There is more to the question of pure-bred stock than a matter of pedigree, registry and conformation to type. Successful dairymen will testify that the superiority of the pure-bred over the scrub also shows in the milk pail, and in the cream check.

In prosperous farming communities, herds are headed by pure-bred sires, not because prosperous farmers can afford the luxury of pure-breds, but because the pure-breds have made the farmers prosperous.

The Citizens State Bank stands ready to co-operate at all times with the man who wishes to grade up his herd with pure-breds.

ORGANIZATION OF WHEAT GROWERS IN STATE INCREASING

Many Farmers Sign Up With Co-Operative Body For the Marketing of Wheat Crop.

Although the membership campaign of the Minnesota Wheat Growers' Co-operative Marketing association is extensively under way in only four or five counties of the state, the organization is almost at the 2000 mark, according to announcement from the office here by W. H. Frederick, secretary.

The campaign started late this spring, so officers of the new organization consider the progress during the summer to be excellent. Most of the soliciting has been done in Norman, Marshall, Clay and Polk counties, nearly half of the membership at the present time being located in Polk county. It is expected that the organization work will be rapidly expanded from now on, until the campaign covers completely the entire wheat-producing sections of Minnesota.

"We really did not expect to broaden out to cover the entire state for probably a year when we first started organization work," said Mr. Frederick in announcing the record to date. "As a matter of fact, we thought that we would be doing well, for the first year, if we were able to secure a couple of thousand members. But we have met with such a remarkable response from the wheat growers that we have been obliged to change our plans and greatly increase our campaign program. While we originally expected only to maintain an office in Thief River Falls for the first year, we have been forced to change that arrangement, and will also be located in Minneapolis in connection with our sales agency, the American Wheat Growers Association. This selling concern is the marketing agency for the wheat of nine state associations, organized under the same plan as our own."

Mr. Frederick said the desire of Minnesota wheat growers to join the pooling organization has resulted from the records established by associations in other states.

"The North Dakota association, which at the beginning of the 1922 marketing season had only 2000 members, now has more than 11,000," he declared. "In Montana the organization in a year has grown from 1700 members to 10,000. Similar growth is being experienced in the other states. News of this, and news of the successful operation of these older associations, has reached Minnesota wheat growers, and as a result our first year is showing a much greater development than we had before anticipated."

KEEP AMERICA'S WAMPUM SOUND!

By SAMUEL H. BEACH,
President, Savings Bank Division, American Bankers Association.

S. H. Beach

Although the United States is today upon a solid gold basis, we nevertheless know of our own knowledge what inflation means. It would take long to recall in detail the bitter experiences which this nation suffered during the Civil War and the years which followed it, and in our present easy condition we might think such conditions could never again arise. But with such men as Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison talking about commodity money there is no foretelling what may happen.

One of the plainest lessons taught by financial history is that whenever a nation issues paper money with nothing back of it, that nation is on the road to disaster. Look at Russia with its worthless rubles and Germany with its worthless marks. Think of what happened in France during the years immediately following our Revolutionary War.

The common people of France rose in their might, tore down the Bastile, and made reprisal for centuries of kingly crime and oppression. The profligate court had piled up taxes until they were unbearable. The enraged populace killed King Louis XVI, and also his queen, Marie Antoinette. But they only threw themselves out of the frying pan into the fire so far as finances were concerned.

Unsound Money Tyranny

At the very worst point of their currency inflation they found themselves under the absolute domination of Robespierre. In order to meet the growing scarcity of coin, paper money called assignats were issued. First 400,000,000 francs worth, then 800,000,000 were added with the distinct understanding that the 1,200,000,000 would be the full extent of the issue. This pledge was soon broken and further issues brought the total up to 3,700,000,000 francs.

Frightful depreciation was the inevitable result; and legislation was passed making it a crime, with six years' imprisonment as the penalty, if any one should refuse to take the paper assignats at their face value. Just think of it! A French peasant after working the entire year to produce a crop was compelled by law to accept payment for that crop in paper money, which he knew to be worthless, or go to prison.

It was simply legalized robbery. When the penalty was increased to twenty years imprisonment the inevitable climax came. The Reign of Terror was at its height. Robespierre was in supreme power. He suggested that more assignats be issued and if the people did not take them the guillotine should be the penalty.

Robespierre's End

This unheard of outrage was more than the people could stand. An unknown man arose on the floor of the convention and denounced Robespierre, reciting the heinous crimes he had committed, and so worked upon the feelings of the audience that Robespierre, the tyrant, became Robespierre, the convicted criminal. Two days later he was led to the guillotine. France had learned her financial lesson well—that money must have value back of it.

The fallacy of unsound money is sure to confront us again. Never is there enough of everything for all the people. The struggle for existence is a real struggle, and those who find themselves in the lower strata of human society are ready at any time to grasp at fiat money or any of the other things which misguided politicians hold out to them.

My whole purpose is to drive home the fact that danger lies ahead and to urge every one to let no opportunity go by to use voice and influence toward keeping the wampum of these United States, as it is today, the soundest currency in the world.

SOME BANK SALARIES

Investigations made by the Missouri Bankers Association have revealed that 368 banks in the state in towns of under 2,000 population are paying their cashiers and chief executives an average of only $110 a month. Only 278 of the 1,162 reporting banks in towns under 5,000 population pay the president a salary. The report says:

"It indicates that, even allowing for the economy of living in small communities, the cashiers and managing officers of those 1,162 banks, who receive an average of $140 per month, either must have personal means to begin with, or must maintain the standards necessary to their positions as the leaders of their communities and the builders of the commonwealth by means of 'side lines,' such as selling insurance, collecting commissions on farm loans, and trading in real estate."

• • •

Furthermore all pipe dreams are too good to be true. They are not what they seem. The smoke is wearing off in Germany and they are coming down to earth with a dull thud. It is beginning to be realized that the net result of a paper money nightmare is that producers are robbed and speculators enriched. Farmers are unable to raise prices for their products fast enough to keep up with the falling purchasing power of unsound money. The value of such money slips away from them like a handful of dry sand. It brings back to them less in purchases than they gave of their products to get it.

"JUST LIKE DADDY," AN ECONOMIC FORCE

By J. H. PUELICHER
President the American Bankers Association.

J. H. Puelicher

"Like Daddy"—these two words, that express the imitative nature of children, occur to me, as I think of our parental responsibilities in respect to both the thriftiness and the thriftlessness of our boys and girls. The accent belongs on both aspects of the case, for we have yet to find a person who is the perfect example of thrift.

Even Ben Franklin admitted his lack of attainment after his years of self-admonishment and self-criticism—and his temptations were not so great as those of today. Every reader will admit his deficiency in thrift. So will I. And what of our children? Will they copy us? Will their attitude toward thrift be "like Daddy's?" Will it be thrifty or thriftless?

It will at least be largely influenced by it. The thrift of the next generation is in the hands of the present. If our children are "out of hand" on their habits, whom have we to blame but ourselves?

Remember this: The next generation will be subject to the same laws of economics, the same rules of success, the same principles of happiness, as prevail today. A habit of thrift is one of the best possible characteristics we can mould into our children's natures during their habit-forming years. Its value will be apparent throughout maturity, whatever their lot, whether at the helm of large enterprise or steering the more humble affairs of a home.

Thrift will be the basic principle in the economic life of our nation and its system of producing and exchanging commodities. Thrift is always both of social and of individual advantage. Each day finds us expanding both in breadth and in depth of our resources of enjoyment and our opportunities for service as we practice thrift.

But how shall we bring about habits of thrift? Is there any other way than by teaching, whether by direct precept or by the unconscious example of our own habits, continually impressing themselves on the receptive minds of the young?

"Like Daddy" expresses one of the most powerful social and economic forces there is.

THE BEST THE FARMS PRODUCE

By WALTER W. HEAD
First Vice-President, American Bankers Association

Walter W. Head

Every banker and business man in the country is interested in the farm from another viewpoint than merely a place to raise farm products and live stock. Above all the farm is one of the places where we can best bring up our boys and girls. Thousands of men and boys each year are flocking to the city. Clerks in the city are barely eking out an existence and they cannot expect to receive much more in the way of compensation.

But back on the farms are men working for a reasonable return, and in addition they have their houses, the wonderful sunshine above in the daytime, the wonderful fresh air and all the things that the soil produces. The boy who is raised on the farm will have an entirely different aspect of life and approach the various problems with which he has to deal in later years in a different way from the boy who is raised in the city.

In this period of unrest we are certainly vitally interested in rearing both on the farms and in the cities boys and girls with the proper outlook for the future, imbued with the belief that the activity in which they are engaged is, after all, something that will provide them both with the necessary things of life and with happiness. For in happiness there is contentment, and in contentment in America there is safety for our institutions.

Every single banker should feel that the problems his farmer customers have to contend with are not only the farmer's problems but his problems as well. He should feel not only that the farmer must be prosperous so that he can deposit more in his bank, giving the banker more to loan and thereby increasing his profits, but that also there is something which cannot be measured in dollars and cents. It is the thought of rendering such service to their customers—regardless of whether they are farmers, or men working in the shops, or big business men of the cities—that will bring not only prosperity but contentment as well. The banker should take as his motto: "Who serves best profits most."

The farmer as a result can't make ends meet and when he gets into difficulties the unsound money speculator steps in and buys up mortgaged farm lands cheap—and thus it is mostly the speculator who profits by paying off the mortgages with currency worth less than a dozen eggs,—unless the courts stop him.

Entered as second-class matter at the Postoffice at Thief River Falls, Minnesota

Official Paper, City of Thief River Falls

WE APOLOGIZE.

The Editor of The Times is severely criticized this week by the Thief River Falls representative of the Gov. Preus administration, The Tribune, for having the audacity to even intimate that there might be anything amiss with the state Rural Credits Bureau or that there has been any delay in carrying out the provisions of the Rural Credits law. The Preus organ quotes from last week's issue of The Times the following editorial:

> "The farmers are still waiting for evidence of results on the part of the State Rural Credits Commission."

For having the nerve to even make such a suggestion The Times is taken to task as follows:

> "The man who wrote the above fling at the Rural Credits Bureau should hang his head in shame. Abstracts are in the course of preparation which will bring $800,000 to the farmers of Pennington county, and The Times can ascertain these facts without much trouble. Except for the secret nature of the work of the state, The Tribune could name a number of farmers in this vicinity whose homes have been saved by virtue of the quick operation of the state credit system."

For displaying our ignorance by making any inquiry regarding a work that is of such a SECRET nature, we humbly apologize. We should have known better. Of course the state Rural Credits Bureau is functioning at a pace making record. Isn't it a fact that the members of the commission have been appointed and are drawing their $1,500 per salaries? Hasn't Editor Arneson of The Tribune been appointed appraiser for this section and isn't he drawing his salary of $[illegible] per day and expenses? Haven't many farms been viewed and appraised by Editor Arneson and isn't he on the job six or seven days a week? Certainly if these things are true and they should be convincing evidence that everything in connection with the Rural Credits Law is working with clocklike precision. As for the farmers getting any returns on their applications (each of which is accompanied by $[illegible]5.00) there is seemingly no reason for asking such a question. It is only five months since the legislature passed the law and a farmer shouldn't be too anxious to get any money. He has been without it so long that he might not know how to handle it and for this reason it is undoubtedly deemed advisable that the shock of receiving any be brought about in an orderly, easy, long-drawn out manner.

The fact that there are many farmers in this vicinity whose homes have been saved by the "quick operation of the state credits system" is a pleasing revelation to The Times. This information has not come direct from the farmers but we have The Tribune's word for it and that should be sufficient. We sincerely hope that the $800,000.00 referred to is about ready to start rolling into Pennington county via the Rural Credits Bureau and we will join in a celebration when the first dollar arrives.

The rural credits act is a splendid law. The Times vigorously supported the adoption of the amendment and the passing of the law and we hope it is going to work out as anticipated. However, we believe we have reason to ask for leniency from Appraiser Arneson for criticising the delay on the part of the administrative board. It is only a few weeks ago that a meeting of citizens of Thief River Falls was held in the Commercial club rooms for the purpose of selecting a committee to send to St. Paul to demand some action on the part of the Rural Credits Bureau. At that meeting Senator C. L. Hansen stated that he had reason to believe that everything was going along as rapidly as possible and that the members of the board were not subject to criticism. Editor Arneson followed Senator Hansen on the floor and said that he "must take exception to the remarks of Senator Hansen." He said, "the senator knows, or should know, that this rural credits business has been batted around like a football. There has been delay after delay since the bill was first introduced in the legislature and back of it all I can see the fine hand of the Federal Farm Loan people. There is something back of all this delay. The state Rural Credits Board has rented two small rooms down in St. Paul to carry on a $[illegible]0,000,000 business in and that on the face of things is ridiculous. It looks to me as though they don't intend to do anything that will be of any benefit to the farmers." We gathered from these remarks of Editor Arneson that even he thought there might be some reason for criticism. The meeting ended with the appointment of a committee consisting of Editor Arneson, W. W. Prichard, Sr., and H. S. Snider to go to St. Paul and interview the governor on the matter. For some reason the committee never made the trip and shortly after Editor Arneson was appointed appraiser for this section by the Rural Credits Bureau. He probably has a different viewpoint now since he has an opportunity to know the SECRET workings of the bureau. It is also possible that when he referred to the numerous delays in his talk at the Commercial club meeting that he meant the delay in appointing an appraiser.

The Times will continue to seek information on the matter and take more "shameful flings" until results are forthcoming in the way of good American dollars in the pockets of the farmer.

PROMINENT MEN IN POTATO ENTERPRISE

State Office Now Has [illegible] Contracts, Representing Over [illegible] Acres.

A. P. Wilson, former chief of the Minnesota Agricultural Extension division, and Edward Indrehus, Democratic candidate for governor at the last general election, both practical farmers, are among the [illegible] Minnesota potato growers who have signed the contract as members of the new association, [illegible]

Mr. Wilson is operating a farm in the vicinity of Guthrie, in Hubbard county, and Mr. Indrehus grows a lot of potatoes near Oak Park. Both are strong advocates of cooperative marketing on the commodity plan and have promised to sign up all growers in their neighborhood.

According to S. C. [illegible], state manager, the [illegible] contracts which have been received at the office in St. Paul represent an aggregate acreage of [illegible].

Organizers worked last week in Kanabec, Chisago and Pine counties, having obtained a heavy membership in each.

The Minnesota campaign is being aided by [illegible] representatives from the New York Potato Growers' association, [illegible] L. J. Steele, [illegible]

These men are in the state doing field work and studying the plan of organization, as New York expects to put on a membership campaign this fall.

The field force has been increased materially during the last few weeks, J. S. Jones serving by courtesy of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, J. H. Hay and Hugh J. Hughes, courtesy of the Minnesota Department of agriculture and F. J. Corwin, courtesy of the Extension Division, Minnesota College of Agriculture.

An organization was former in Pennington county two weeks ago. The potato acreage in this vicinity has been greatly reduced this year compared to 1922 but it is expected that a considerable number of acres will be signed up by local growers.

The Force of Advertising.

The force of advertising is invisible but you can feel it, and Ernest G. Hastings, managing editor of the Dry Goods Economist, tells a story of a conversation between an advertising man and a merchant that illustrates the point in interesting fashion:

"Ever have your hat blown off" asked the advertising man.

"Yes," said the merchant.

"What blew it off?"

"The wind."

"No."

"Well, advertising is like the wind—an invisible force. You can't see it but you can and will see the result just as you saw your hat go rolling down the street."—N. E. A. Bulletin.

Cut the Weeds.

Every effort should be put forth at this time to kill off the weeds along the roadsides, on city lots and on farms. It is a decided detriment to the ground which is infested and if allowed to go to seed will spread onto the surrounding land. Weeds everywhere must be cut and destroyed according to the state law and citizens should join in ridding the community of this nuisance. It can be done by united effort.

Poor Parking Places.

Next to a railroad crossing or a bridge, says a highway bulletin, probably the poorest place to stop your car for repair or adjustment is on the paved section or a narrow part of the road. Always pack along your common sense when you drive on the highways.

Teachers' Examinations Held in City This Week

Gustavians Please Many In Concert Here Sunday

A large audience was greatly pleased with an excellent program of singing by the Gustavian quartette from Gustavus Adolphus college, appearing at the Augustana church here last Sunday evening. It was pronounced by those present as a rare musical treat and every number showing the splendid ability of the members of the quartette. Each one proved to be an artist of high degree in every sense of the word.

County Delegations Plan To Hear Sapiro at Fair

Steps already are being taken by a number of county farm bureaus in Minnesota to organize delegations to attend the Minnesota State Fair on September 6, to be present at the Farm Bureau program and to hear Aaron Sapiro discuss co-operative Marketing and the need for farm organizations.

No definite action has been taken by the local unit yet.

HARVEST HAND RATE OF $5 IS OBTAINED

Arrangement Will Give Minnesota Farmers Advantage Over Plans of Last Year.

Soo Line, Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroad officials have agreed to and the Interstate Commerce commission has approved a flat rate of $5 for harvest hands going into the Northwest fields, according to an announcement made this week by the state headquarters of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation.

The rate became effective from Duluth and Superior on July 30 and from St. Paul and Minneapolis on August 1. It will continue until August 15. To take advantage of the rate, hands must travel in groups of five.

The arrangement will eliminate a handicap under which Minnesota farmers worked last year. Due to the fact that hands, as a rule, desired to travel as far as they could on one ticket, a great majority of them went into North Dakota. This year, the arrangement will enable men to start two days earlier than usual for points in Minnesota.

Reports received indicate that the St. Paul road will grant a similar rate, but confirmation had not been received up to the time this was written.

The Farm Bureau federation officials played an important part in getting the roads to agree to the rate.

COSTS OF RUNNING MINNESOTA IN 1922 NEARLY 42 MILLION

Financial Statistics Furnished By The United States Bureau of Commerce.

The Department of Commerce announces that according to reports made to the Bureau of the Census the costs of government for the state of Minnesota for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1922, amounted to $41,823,616, which was a per capita cost of $17.06. In 1918 the per capita cost was $8.63, and in 1915, $7.54, the totals for these years being $19,802,430 and $16,557,650, respectively. The per capita costs for 1922 consisted of expense of general departments, $11.70; payments for interest, $0.42; and for outlays, $4.94. More than $10,000,000 was reported as spent on permanent improvement of highways in 1922.

The total revenue receipts for 1922 were $42,262,517, or $17.24 per capita. For the fiscal year the per capita excess of revenue receipts over governmental costs was, therefore, $0.18.

In Minnesota property and special taxes represented 26.9 per cent of the total revenue for 1922, 35.4 per cent for 1918, and 35.5 per cent for 1915. The increase in the amount of property and special taxes collected was 21.5 per cent from 1915 to 1918, and 35.2 per cent from 1918 to 1922. The per capita property and special taxes for the three specified years were $1.61, $3.66, and $3.15 respectively.

Earnings of general departments, or compensation for services rendered by state officials, represented 17.0 per cent of the total revenue for 1922, 20.9 per cent for 1918, and 17.6 per cent for 1915.

Business and nonbusiness licenses constituted 43.9 per cent of the total revenue for 1922, 30.6 per cent for 1918, and 33.5 per cent for 1915. Receipts from business licenses consist chiefly of taxes exacted from insurance and those from nonbusiness licenses comprise taxes on motor vehicles and amounts paid for hunting and fishing privileges.

The net indebtedness (funded and floating debt less sinking-fund assets) of Minnesota was $7.95 per capita for 1922, $0.61 for 1918, and $1.18 for 1915.

For 1923 the assessed valuation of property in Minnesota subject to ad valorem taxation was $2,353,695,221; the amount of taxes levied was $8,371,057; and the per capita levy, $3.41.

Run Over by Tractor.

Senator A. M. Landby, of Warroad, while returning from work last Saturday evening, was run over by a Fordson tractor.

Mr. Landby was riding on the oil tank, while his son, John, operated the machine. Going around a mud hole Mr. Landby leaned to one side falling between the wheels.

The hind wheel passed over his body, fracturing several ribs and otherwise bruising him up considerably. The fact that the wheel, between traction cleats, was packed with dirt is likely to be the reason for Senator Landby being alive today. Mr. Landby at present is considered out of danger but will be laid up for some time.

Dies From Tuberculosis.

Arnold Dahlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Dahlin of Stephen, passed away in this city Sunday, July 29, at the early age of ten years, pulmonary tuberculosis being the cause of his demise. The young lad had been seriously ill for the past four months. His remains were taken from Larson's undertaking parlors to Argyle Monday for burial. Mr. and Mrs. Dahlin are both dead but three brothers of the deceased mourn his loss.

POLARINE is made for you. The harder you use your car, the more hours a day you drive—the more you need Polarine. The more you drive in heavy traffic—the more essential that you use Polarine.

WHY? Because a commercial car, being run for profit, undergoing hard use, simply cannot afford the piling up of damage and the waste incidental to wrong lubrication. Polarine reaches and protects every friction point. The grade of Polarine indicated in the Chart as the correct lubricant for your machine has been determined scientifically after study of the oiling system of your particular make of engine. Pump—screen—oil pipes—grooves of the bearings—piston clearance—all these factors were considered.

Use Polarine
THE PERFECT MOTOR OIL
Made in Five Grades

It gives your engine flexibility, so that in city traffic or in heavy going you need not change so frequently to "low." It maintains at working temperature a complete film of oil between piston and cylinder walls, avoiding "scored" cylinders, assuring perfect compression. Change your motor oil every 500 miles for greater economy.

Because Polarine is perfect in body it maintains the piston seal perfectly. This means that the grade of Polarine which our engineering staff has recommended for your truck will correctly lubricate your machine, insure its satisfactory performance under all working conditions, prevent overheating of cylinders with the resulting radiator troubles. It is heavy enough to minimize fluid friction.

Polarine is a primary product of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). It is manufactured by trained men in the finest refineries in the world. The high quality of Polarine is invariable and always maintained.

Educational Value of Fairs Is High Says J.H.Sheppered

The management of the Inter-State Fair of Fargo, N. D., which is to be held July 9 to 14, this year, are bending every effort toward the educational features of the Fair, both in the exhibit department and the contest department. That this effort commands the attention and appreciation of those engaged in agricultural and educational work is evidenced by the following excerpts from a talk on the subject made by Prof. J. H. Shepperd, chairman of the department of animal husbandry of the Agricultural college at Fargo:

About 75,000 people attended the State Fair at Fargo last July. How many repeat by days no one knows, but there were doubtless 25,000 individual citizens who visited the live stock barns.

Some of those who went through the barns enjoyed looking over the animals but carried away only a little information, while on the other hand, men and boys—yes, and women and girls too—were there who carried away ideas that will make them better farmers and stockmen for a life time.

The more expert stockmen get their "eyes lined up" as they call it. Of this class are the breeders who see what type of horse, cow, pig or sheep is placed first by the expert judge who is making the awards. The calf or pig club boy or girl are smart enough around live stock that they get a picture of correct types which will last a life time and serve as a continuous stimulation for them to do better and better. The county agents and teachers in agricultural schools attend and get types fixed in their minds and keep up with the styles, which are, when analyzed, the types that will bring out of the feed lots what the big live stock markets at St. Paul, Chicago and elsewhere require and pay best prices for.

Then too, the owner, the herdsman, the groom and the fair officers are busy teaching and showing all who are interested.

It is characteristic of stockmen to enjoy giving information to beginners. There is a vast deal of cunning to the business and much of it has been gained through expensive years of experience but it is given freely and without price.

The breeders—the expert breeders—educate each other as they look over an animal, each with a foot on the pen. Watch them for an hour and you will see them proceed to a half dozen pens, if it be hogs, and were you close enough to understand what they say you would find that they are discussing the type — disagreeing, of course and disagreeing with the judges too—but they learn that way, whether they convince one another or not.

It is an old saying that, "Every man thinks his crow a nightingale," and the Fair is where the biased men learn whether it is a crow or a nightingale that he has brought out to show and he has it from an unbiased stranger who is an expert on types.

The teachers in the public schools of North Dakota are all but forced to attend teachers' meetings and teachers' training schools. For similar reasons we encourage all live stock teachers to attend the Fair and spend as much time as possible looking over the stock and talking with the owners. I do not fail to emphasize the importance of their gathering information from "the man behind the herd, the flock, and the stud." The herdsmen who fit and show the blooded stock at fairs have information, skill and cunning possessed by no other class of men, and it is a pleasure to associate with them and absorb it while they work.

BARN YARD GOLF.

The Inter-State Fair to be held at Fargo, July 9 to 14, has provided on its program a place for the national sport of horse shoe pitching.

This sport that had laid dormant for many years was actively revived in 1919. The wave of enthusiasm reached this section last year.

"INTERNATIONAL BANKER" A MYTH

Otto H. Kahn Refutes Idea That Foreign Finance Activities Dull Allegiance to America.

BANKING REFLECTS BUSINESS

"International Farmer" and Other Business Men Who Sell to Foreign Markets Create Demand for International Financial Service.

The idea that bankers engaged in financing foreign trade and in handling foreign bond flotations are a particular cult of "international bankers" actuated by motives differing from those of other bankers was refuted recently by Otto H. Kahn of New York, in an address before the Rochester Chamber of Commerce.

"There is no such thing as an 'International Banker' in America, as the meaning of the term is generally understood," Mr. Kahn said. "He exists in the imagination of people all too numerous, but he does not exist in the flesh. You might just as well speak of the 'International Farmer' because the farmer sells a certain percentage of his crops to Europe, or of the 'International Manufacturer.'

"The banker maintains, and can maintain, international contact, and conduct international business, only to the extent that American industry, commerce and agriculture are international. True, the banker must take within his purview continuously the conditions of affairs and the current of things throughout the world, but so must the exporter and importer, and so must the farmer take into account the prices and tendencies of the world market in Liverpool.

Banking Mostly Home Business

"The American banker's market is the home market. His success is conditioned upon the capacity and willingness of the American investor to absorb the securities which he offers. His very existence depends upon the confidence and co-operation of the public and of his fellow-bankers—and any banker whose activities would justly create the impression that he was actuated by cosmopolitan rather than by American interests would very soon lose that confidence and following.

"The business which he does for his own account in, with, or for Europe, is inconsiderable as compared to the business he does in America. His principal functions in relation to Europe are to provide the requisite banking facilities for export and import and for travelers. That part of his functions which consists in financing loans of foreign governments or industries has hitherto been, with sporadic exceptions, of relatively inconsiderable proportions as compared to the vastness of the volume of his transactions in financing American industry, commerce and enterprise.

Necessity for Foreign Credits

"In saying this, I do not mean to imply that there is anything that calls for apology in the floating of foreign loans in America and in the loaning of American funds to Europe, provided such loans are considered sound as to security and are made for legitimate, constructive purposes. Indeed, such loans ought to, and I believe will, be made in increasing measure, when conditions in Europe will have become such as to warrant it.

"It is manifest that the promotion of our export trade, including, of course, the export of farm products, requires us, under the circumstances as they now are and are likely to remain for some time, to aid the purchasing power of other nations by extending to them financial facilities to a reasonable extent.

"It is the function of the banker to be instrumental in carrying out such transactions. In doing so, he is the means of serving a useful national purpose, just as he served a useful, indeed a highly important national purpose, in being the means of attracting and bringing European capital to America in former years when conditions were reversed and such capital was nothing less than vital to the development of this country and the realization of its opportunities."

THE SERVICE OF A FAILURE

BY J. H. PUELICHER

President American Bankers Association

J. H. Puelicher

When Governor Walton of Oklahoma signed recently the repeal of the bank deposit guaranty law in that state, he performed an economic service to the whole country. I might even say, that Oklahoma in passing that law, enduring its evil consequences for fifteen years and then frankly casting it aside as a failure, has performed an economic service to the nation. There could be no more convincing argument against the passage of similar laws in other states than Oklahoma's disastrous experiment.

The Oklahoma guaranty law was the first of its kind. It was enacted in response to the panic of 1907. But experience has only proved again that there is no substitute for sound banking. Relying on the fancied security of the guaranty law, people entrusted their banking to many who were unfit for the trust. Bank failures have been so many that the fund, supposed to guarantee deposits, created by assessments on banks, was long ago depleted.

It is estimated that with total liabilities created under the law in the form of warrants and sums owing to depositors amounting to $12,000,000, there are in the hands of the Banking Board uncertain assets of nominally $15,000,000, ranging in value from zero to only thirty or forty cents on the dollar, resulting in a deficit of many million dollars. Sound, well-managed banks have been heavily taxed by assessments to the fund, and the maximum amount that could be assessed on solvent banks is insufficient to cover the deficit.

It has been well said that guaranty laws make for looseness in banking methods, and saddle on the competent and honest the sins of the incompetent and dishonest.

Let us have only laws that raise the standard of banking. Let us have no laws that debase it.

NEED FOR UNIFORMITY IN BUSINESS LAWS

How Collection of Just Debts May Be Prevented by Differing State Statutes.

An effort to bring about better coordination and greater uniformity among state laws dealing with business and banking is being made by the American Bankers Association.

It is pointed out that, although the country is a unit commercially, and citizens of any one state may do business that reaches all over the country, most laws governing business transactions are made by the different states, with application limited to their own local jurisdictions and often in conflict with laws in other states. It is held that state laws should be uniform so that the same transaction will not be [illegible] different sets of rules according as state laws differ.

To illustrate the disadvantages of conflicting laws, the following illustration is given: Mr. Jones lives in New York where the statute of limitations outlaws a note in six years. He falls into the error of assuming that the same rule prevails everywhere. He visits Maryland and loans $1,000 to his friend, Mr. Smith, taking a promissory note. As the note carries interest Mr. Jones is in no hurry for his money and he believes Smith to be financially responsible. Finally at the end of four years Jones concludes he has loaned Smith the money long enough and seeks to collect the note from him. But Smith can deny liability and point to the statute of Maryland which Jones is surprised to learn outlaws a note after three years.

Changes Recommended

The particular subjects of legislation recommended by the association for enactment by State legislatures during 1923 include uniform acts on negotiable instruments, bills of lading, warehouse receipts, stock transfer, and fiduciaries.

Under the head of laws for better protection of banks in particular transactions are proposed measures dealing with limiting liability on certified check; instruments based on gambling or usurious consideration; time limit on stop payment; payment of stale check; adverse claim to bank deposit; payment of forged or raised check; deposits in two names; deposits in trust; competency of bank and corporation notaries; non-payment of check through error; Saturday afternoon bank transactions, and forwarding check direct to payor.

Under the Federal Reserve and foreign banking are recommended laws on membership of state institutions in Federal Reserve System, and foreign banking. Penal laws proposed deal with false statements for credit; slander and libel of bank; checks or drafts without funds, and burglary with explosives.

A GOOD WAY TO UPSET PRICES

Further Exposures of How Edison-Ford Money Plan Would Fail to Aid Farmer.

The way the Edison-Ford "commodity money" scheme, aimed to stabilize monetary values, would have exactly the opposite effect, is discussed in the present article, which is the second in a series prepared by the American Bankers Association, reviewing the exposure of the weaknesses of the plan as presented by William T. Foster, Director of the Pollack Foundation for Economic Research.

Briefly stated, the Edison-Ford plan provides for Government warehousing of basic commodities, against which currency would be loaned to the producer without interest, up to half the average value of the products for the previous twenty-five years. This currency would be cancelled as the commodities were withdrawn and passed into trade. On the other half of the value the producer would receive "equity certificates" which he could sell or use for bank loans. On these points Mr. Foster says:

Upsetting Price Equilibrium

"Steady price levels depend mainly on the balance between the volume of goods on the market and the volume of money offered for goods. The Edison plan is designed expressly to upset the balance. A farmer delivers, say, two thousand bushels of wheat to the Goverment warehouse and the Government delivers one thousand dollars in new money to the farmer. When the farmer sells the wheat he repays the loan and the Government destroys the money. Thus the volume of money is increased precisely when goods are stored; and the volume of money is decreased precisely when these goods are marketed. In other words, each transaction begins by placing in circulation goods without money to match the goods. Dollar demand is created as the supply of goods is withdrawn; the supply of goods is created as dollar demand is withdrawn.

"Would it enable the farmer to borrow more money on his products than he can now borrow? When Mr. Edison contends that farmers would obtain larger loans on their crops than they can now obtain from banks, he is confronted by this dilemma: Either the banks are now refusing to make sound loans, or, under the Edison plan, the Government would make unsound loans.

"Neither Mr. Edison nor Mr. Ford can consistently contend that banks now refuse to make sound loans, for that is the way banks make most of their profits, and Mr. Edison and Mr. Ford have no doubt that banks are conducted for profit. It follows that the plan would yield larger loans to farmers only if the Government met the risks of unsound banking. In that case all that insolvent borrowers gained would be paid by the rest of the population, which, to say the least, is not a fair deal.

Cutting Down Farm Credit

"Apparently, however, the Government is not expected to run many risks, for the farmer is allowed to borrow an amount no greater than one-half the average value of his product for the previous twenty-five years. But prices have risen so high since 1896 that the farmer could borrow on most products much less than half the present value of the products. It would be much less, therefore, than the farmer could borrow directly from the banks on graded products; on products not graded no Government loans would be made, for there would be no way of determining the twenty-five-year price average.

"However, the farmer, having obtained the stipulated Government loan on his goods, could then offer his equity certificate to a bank for an additional loan. But the equity certificate is virtually a second mortgage, and no bank would prefer a second mortgage to a first mortgage.

"Suppose the Old National Bank was willing to lend a farmer eight hundred dollars on one thousand [illegible] the farmer deposited the wheat in a Federal warehouse and obtained five hundred dollars from the Government. Certainly the bank would not lend the farmer three hundred dollars on the equity certificate. The protection of the bank would be greater if the farmer relied on the bank for the entire loan; for in that case the bank could realize on its security without being obliged to pay five hundred dollars to get the wheat out of Government storage. The farmer can now borrow more money from a bank on standardized farm products than under the Edison plan."

GETTING TOGETHER

"The earth and the fullness thereof" is the primary source of capital. The farmer, therefore, is the nation's greatest producer of wealth. Farming and banking—production and distribution—should go hand in hand. The problems of the farmer are the problems of the banker. Both are vitally concerned in bringing about a proper adjustment of transportation.

ROSEWOOD

Monarch of the Jungle Escapes.

The Atterbury Circus performance which exhibited at Rosewood last Thursday evening, came near ending in a very disastrous way inasmuch as their large five-ton elephant became unmanagable during his performance and walked out tearing loose two sides of the tent, upsetting wagons and damaging some standing autos in his way to liberty, but luckily not hurting any human beings. Becoming scared from the ensuing tumult and also by the attaching canvass walls the beast set off in a fierce gallop along the road going south, and although horseback riders and cars were on his trail in less than a minute he avoided all pursuits for over 24 hours, when he was approached in a bog about ten miles southwest of here, and brought back to the company. It was understood that the elephant, who was claimed to be the largest performing elephant now following any traveling circus, was not absolutely safe, but under the care of his master and with great precaution was exhibited in small towns. For some reason or other the usual master of the animal was left behind at Newfolden last Thursday and a certain "Captain Jinks" said to be the original youth tamer of the animal had charge of him that evening, and the circus managers gave as an excuse that he was unused to the new management and thereby caused the tumult. As it was everybody can be thankful at the lucky outcome, as it could very easily have terminated in a terrible calamity, had the blinded and furious beast been directed either to the grandstand of the tent or the line of parked cars. Outside of this disturbance the Atterbury circus was a clean and respectable concern and gave a good performance.

THE TIMES

"The Paper That Stands for the Interests of the Common People"

MANY CONTRACTS FOR IMPROVING TRUNK HIGHWAYS

Twenty Projects Contracted at Prices Well Below Estimates. To Begin at Once.

Twenty important improvements on the Minnesota trunk highway system placed under contract at $1,080,500—nearly $150,000 less than engineers' estimates—that is the result of the biggest 1923 state highway letting to date on awards by Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner. A call for bids on another list is planned within thirty days.

The improvement projects include the construction of a new bridge on the highway entering the city from the south, known as the Jefferson. The present bridge is condemned. Pennington county road funds not forthcoming, the grading of the Trunk Highway between this city and St. Hilaire was withdrawn, but the matter will undoubtedly be revived within a short time.

New contracts will cover 122 miles of grading, 21 of paving, 18 of graveling and 7 bridges, widely distributed over the state-wide system. They will be financed mainly with county reimbursement bond money, Commissioner Babcock said. But it is planned to use less than half the $11,000,000 total of new county bonds authorized by the 1923 legislature, he added, because the requirement that funds must be used in the county issuing the bonds, in some cases would mean the taking of money for minor improvements ahead of those most needed for economy and general public gain.

"More low prices are gratifying, but increase the regret that the state is without working capital necessary to take greater advantage of them—to give the public needed road improvements now and at big savings in the end," said Mr. Babcock.

Highway officials commented on a decrease in the number of bridges. More local road work on which competition is not so keen and greater building activities taking excavating and other equipment had an effect, they explained. Competition for state jobs was sharp, nevertheless, and the prices tended to justify state rather than county contracting on trunk route projects.

Preliminary awards, made tentatively and to the low bidder in every case, are:

T. H. No. 1—Owatonna-Ellendale, 17 miles of grading in advance of paving, estimate $100,611—awards $86,022; Nelson, Fulton & Nelson, Minneapolis, grading at $69,056, and W. T. Baxter, Webster City, Iowa, 2 bridges and all culverts at $16,967.

T. H. No. 1—Carlton-West Duluth, 9 miles of grading and paving, estimate, $434,000—awards $415,944; Johnson, Drake & Piper, Minneapolis, paving at $244,511; Siems, Helmars & Scheffner, St. Paul, grading at $105,293; L. E. Baum, Superior, Wis., 1 bridge at $49,812; and Chernus Construction Co., Minneapolis, 1 bridge and all culverts at $16,293.

T. H. No. 1—Knife River-Two Harbors, 8 miles graveling, estimate $21,695—award to G. Humphrey, Aberdeen, S. D., at $13,011.

T. H. No. 3—Red Wing-Lake City, 17 miles of grading, estimate, $121,422—awards $104,411; G. W. Humphrey, grading at $79,894; A. Beckman & Co., Lake City, bridge and A and B culverts at $15,168; C. W. Johnson, Red Wing, C culverts at $2,169, and W. T. Baxter, two bridges at $7,300.

How Much To Can? Is Query of Housewife

Extension workers in home economics at University Farm have worked out a budget for the housewife who at this season of the year asks herself how much canned stuff she should provide for the coming winter. According to this budget, each person in a family through the months from October 1 to May 31, eating one-half cup of tomatoes or greens twice a week, will consume in all during the period named, 8 quarts. In the same period each person, eating one-half cup of string or wax beans, baby carrots or beets once a week, will consume 4 quarts. If each person takes one-third of a cup of peas once a week, 6 quarts will be needed.

In storing vegetables the same question arises, and the home economics extension workers say that the serving of one-sixth of a pound of cabbage two or three times a week calls for the storing of 12 to 18 pounds per person. One-sixth of a pound of carrots once a week calls for 5 pounds; one-third of a pound of onions once a week calls for 10.5 pounds; one-fourth of a pound of rutabagas once a week calls for 8 pounds, and one-third of a pound of potatoes five times a week calls for 81 pounds.

The fruit budget for one person for the season from October 1 to May 31 calls for 6 pounds of dried fruit, 32 pounds of fresh fruit, and 45 quarts of canned fruit. This will provide for the minimum allowance.

RUM RUNNERS TAKEN IN RED LAKE FALLS; TRY TO SELL 33 GAL.

Two St. Paul Men Arrested with Large Liquor Supply. One Given 45 Days in Jail.

An attempt to dispose of 33 gallons of liquor by two St. Paul men, who gave their names as Edward Donov and Frank MacKay, in Red Lake Falls recently, was curbed by the authorities there when Sheriff Chas. Fellman arrested both of them and brought them before District Judge Watts, according to the Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Donov when brought before the judge pleaded guilty to the charge of transporting illicit liquor and was given a sentence of 45 days in the county jail and an additional fine of $200 which must be paid before he is released.

MacKay who accompanied Donov is being held while County Attorney Chas. E. Boughton, Jr., is making a further investigation as to his interests in the liquor and the car that was being used for the transportation of the alcohol. Information reaching Attorney Boughton from St. Paul is to the effect that a St. Paul concern is holding a mortgage of $400 on the car.

Orchard and Garden.

Castor oil beans or the hollyhock make good porch screens.

There are few flowers that will stand poor soil and lack of attention better than nasturtiums.

One of the best all-year plants for the hardy border is the hardy carnation.

As fast as the flowers of shrubs and perennials fade remove them and let the strength that would go into the seed go into the foilage.

When watering the lawn, shrubs or plants in the garden, do a thorough job. Be sure that the soil is moist clear to the root tips; then don't water again till the plant needs water.

Asters, lillies, iris and peonies are useful in the shrub border. They brighten it up.

The California poppy in its colors of white, orange and red and with its increased size, is one of the best garden annuals where a sunny location may be had.

Auto Poloists Here.

Ira Haaven, Jack Nelson, Milan Espe and Andre Prudhomme, auto polo and push ball performers, accompanied by Bert Wade and Clarence and William Espe arrived Monday in Thief River Falls to take part in the Pennington county fair this week. The auto polo experts give afternoon and evening polo contests for three days beginning yesterday, while on Saturday, automobile day at the fair, they will put on an auto push ball exhibition, the first time such a game has been staged in this section.

Rupert Hughes Makes Another Screen 'Find'

Rupert Hughes is always searching for new talent. In his new Goldwyn picture, "Gimme," which comes to the Lyceum Theatre for two days beginning Sunday, written in collaboration with Mrs. Hughes, the cast for the important part of the villain a young man who has never before appeared on the screen. This "find" is David Imboden, formerly famous as a college athlete, and now art director of the Santa Barbara Community Arts Theatre. Imboden will impersonate an interior decorator who has designs on the leading lady, played by Helene Chadwick.

Imboden was for six years assistant to Albert Herter, the famous artist, and he is himself a mural painter of distinction. He was captain and manager of the swimming teams at both Cornell and Wisconsin Universities. At one time he held every interscolastic swimming record and in 1906 was the world's champion under-water swimmer. He also took part in other college sports.

In the theatrical world, Imboden attracted the attention of Mr. Hughes by his performance of Pelleas in "Pelleas and Melisande," and in "Dear Brutus," as produced by the Santa Barbara Community Arts. He was formerly director for the Harlequin Theatre, Los Angeles.

Warrants Issued For Collecting Delinquent 1923 Automobile Taxes

A list of 49 names of automobile owners in Pennington county who have failed to renew their licenses for 1923 has been filed in the office of Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund by Mike Holm, secretary of state. Warrants were issued Friday for the collection of the delinquent taxes and penalties and the sheriff will proceed at once to collect what is due. In each case where no license has been secured yet there is a total penalty of $7.50, the tax being due January 1 and collectible by the sheriff after July 1. In addition the delinquent must also pay costs of filing and proceedings and ten per cent on the total amount.

In 1922 there were 38 auto owners who did not file their license at the proper time.

The automobile department of the state administration is growing in such large proportions that the present force employed in the state capitol has difficulty in handling it and making the necessary filings.

Round Figures to Think Over.

Clip this out and put it in your pocket memo, paste it in your hat or tack it up in the garage, and when thinking about good roads and auto taxes just remember that, according to figures compiled by the highway department and published in the Highway Bulletin—

In Minnesota this year

420,000 motor vehicles worth

$322,500,000, at $750, are covering

2,160,000,000 miles, at 5,000 each, and

$215,000,000 in the aggregate cost at 10c a mile—

$33,500,000 for gasoline at 15 miles on 23½c gallon,

$34,500,000 for tires, besides repairs and depreciation—

While the average car pays

$16.30 auto tax or 1.3c a mile for using 7,000 miles of better state highways, including

420 miles of pavement and 4,000 of rural boulevards, taking

19½c a foot—7½c for upkeep and 11½c for improvement this year—

So good roads savings at only 1c a mile mean

$21,500,000 a year—nearly 3 times the auto tax—

$3 saved at that rate on every auto tax dollar paid in.

Paving of Post Office Alley to Be Completed By the End of the Week

The paving of the alley joining Second and Fourth streets, known as the post office alley, is nearing completion, the work having been in progress for about two weeks. Contractor C. M. Carlson stated that he expected to have the work completed by the end of the week.

Improvement of this alley will prove a great asset to the city as it is being used more than any other similar thoroughfare. Up to this time it has been nearly impassable a great share of the time.

Facts About Mailing.

Mail containing money or valuables should always be registered.

A special delivery stamp does not give better protection to your mail. Mail can be sent both special delivery and registered. To send money unregistered, invites stealing, and there is no reimbursement for the sender.

The money order system affords a safe way to send money. If money orders are lost, a duplicate will be issued.

An unclaimed letter bearing no return address is sent to the dead letter office. If it contains nothing of value it is destroyed.

Patrons should use envelopes bearing their return cards for social correspondence as well as for business purposes. Your postmaster will supply them, or your local printer will furnish them for you.

'Phone It In.

Bill Noonan of the Baudette Region says:

"If those who kick because their names do not appear in the Region would phone in the news promptly they would have nothing to kick about. We don't like to report a birth after the baby is weaned, or a wedding after the groom calls her skinny instead of slender, or a death after the widow is looking around for another match."

A Worthy Slogan.

"Better Cows—Better Times", the slogan of the Northwest Dairy exposition which will be conducted in connection with the State Fair the first week in September, is a good one and should be adopted by every farmer who is engaged in the dairy business. Pennington county dairymen are rapidly getting into line under this banner and are producing evidence of the value of good stock.

No One Injured When Bus Car Tips Over Into Ditch On Road Near St. Hilaire

The St. Hilaire Spectator gave the following account of an auto-spill which occurred near that village last week:

"A Dodge car belonging to the Triangle Bus line carrying a party of young men from Crookston was overturned in the ditch north of the county bridge south of St. Hilaire Wednesday evening as it was coming into town. The driver evidently misjudged the bridge turn and was going at too high a rate of speed to negotiate it safely. The car skidded across the grade, turned completely over and landed upside down in the ditch with the front heading south. Aside from a few cuts and scratches sustained from glass of the winter top, none of the occupants were injured."

SALT AND PEPPER

(By I. M. Kalnen)

Henry Ford for president. The suggestion sends the cold shivers down the backs of high browed people even though the thermometer registers near the 100 mark.

For they say that Henry Ford had once forgotten about the War of 1812 and he had gotten Benedict Arnold, the traitor, mixed with Mathew Arnold, the artist. To be president of these United States, it is very essential that one knows such things, they say.

Laborers in Judge Gary's steel mills who work twelve hours a day may wonder what effect a knowledge of the war of 1812 would have on their working conditions, and the farmers of the west who are selling $1.50 wheat at 87c are not highly enough educated to understand how a correct placing of Benedict Arnold in history would advance the price of wheat. There are others who think that a thorough knowledge of today's omic needs is of more importance. Some people are funny like that, you know.

The best educated president we ever had was a fine gentleman by the name of Woodrow Wilson. He had even written a great work on United States history. But as president, well —— ——.

Who will be the Farmer-Labor nominee for governor of Minnesota next year? If you can answer that question correctly, you can probably name the next governor.

Congressman Knud Wefald of the Ninth district is the first "mention" that has come to my notice. A northern Minnesota man suggests Representative Louis Enstrom of Malung in Roseau County or former State Senator O. A. Naplin of Thief River Falls. Another northern possibility who looms up strong is Thomas Vollom of Erskine in Polk county. Enstrom, is a farmer, Naplin practices law, and Vollom is the manager of the largest co-operative telephone company in Minnesota.

Glenwood, the former home of Senator Shipstead, may again come to the front with a candiate in W. W. Royster, a locomotive engineer. Dr. L. A. Fritsche of New Ulm, who made such a splendid run in the senatorial primary for governor or for congress in the Second district. Julius J. Reiter, mayor of Rochester and Victor Lawson, editor of the Willmar Tribune, are other strong possibilities for the gubernatorial nomination.

Congressman Kvale, is also mentioned. He would probably insist on running independent in order not to alienate his large Democratic following. Or has Carley salted down the Democratic vote?

There are many others. But as a first crop intended for the early market, this ought to hold you for a while.

The Democracy of Magnus Johnson was demonstrated on signs in Litchfield store windows last Saturday which read, "Welcome, Magnus." Meeker county was celebrating the senator's victory and they still call him by his first name. They always will.

Senator Brookhart of Iowa was the first to call for a special session of congress to stabilize wheat prices. He was quickly seconded by Congressman Knud Wefald. Since then, many others have taken up the demand. Now the Farm Bureau is also getting back of it. And it was the Farm Bureau that trotted out a candidate in Iowa in an attempt to beat Brookhart. How things do change.

If the Republicans are wise, they will run Preus for senator again next year. He still is the best man they have. Kicking Preus in the slats may be great sport, but without Preus, the Republican party will melt away like the Democrats. You have to have a strong magnifying glass to be able to count the Democrats in Minnesota.

PROMINENT MEN TO TALK GRAIN-PRICE REMEDY

Meeting Will be Held at Auditosium Saturday Afternoon and Evening.

Hundreds Expected to Attend From All Parts of Northwestern Section.

Congressman Knud Wefald and George C. Jewett Among Speakers Selected.

The grain price stabilization meeting to be held at the Auditorium in Thief River Falls Saturday afternoon and evening promises to be a very successful affair. Hundreds from all parts of this section of the state are expected to be in attendance and it appears certain that there will be a thorough discussion of the grain price and farming situation in general.

Chairman G. Halvorson, of the publicity committee, announces that several good speakers will be here to address the meeting. Among these will be Congressman Knud Wefald and George C. Jewett, manager of the American Wheat Growers association. It is also possible that Senator Henrik Shipstead will be here. At this time, however, it is not known if he will be able to attend.

The afternoon meeting will convene at 2:00 o'clock and continue for several hours. In the evening a general discussion of the grain price situation will take place and a decision reached by those in attendance as to just what, in their opinion, is the best method of remedy.

This is a problem that is demanding the attention of all grain growing states in the country and the Thief River Falls meeting is but one of many being held throughout the northwest. Every farmer and business man in this section should attend the meeting.

MOGENSEN CHOSEN AS NEW PRESIDENT OF SCHOOL BOARD

Organization Meeting Held Saturday. Levy of Budget at Regular Meeting.

E. O. Mogensen, re-elected member of the school board of Dist. No. 18, was chosen president and Math Barzen, vice president of the board of education at the organization meeting last Saturday evening. Mrs. L. G. Larsen, also re-elected, and L. M. Rayson, will continue their services as secretary and treasurer respectively. This was the first meeting since the recent election and the board members were duly installed.

Routine business occupied the attention of the board throughout the remainder of the meeting, nothing of major importance coming up for consideration.

The regular meeting of the board will take place next Monday evening, Aug. 13 when various matters of importance will be taken up.

Of the most important will be the budget for the ensuing school year which will be levied at that time. This matter is left entirely to the board.

GOODRIDGE SCHOOL ELECTION CONTEST IN DISTRICT COURT

Recount of Votes Asked by School Patrons. Grindeland To Hear Several Appeals.

A legal action was brought into court by Palmer Tvedt and O. E. Ronkin, school patrons of Goodridge, who have filed an appeal for a recount of the votes cast in the recent school election in the Goodridge district, on July 21. The complaining parties allege that the votes were not counted properly in the election of George Wold and S. J. Anderson, both of whom were chosen for a term of two years, and contest the election on that ground.

The appeal will be heard before Judge Andrew Grindeland in this city Friday, Aug. 10, when he comes here to complete an adjourned term of district court. At that time the judge will also take up the hearing of four motions for new trials, filed by men convicted at the last regular term of court for violation of the liquor laws. Those appealing for a new trial are: C. B. Bradley, F. C. Brendecke, A. C. Rasmussen and Glenn Farr. If Judge Grindeland denies the motions for new trials it is expected that the four cases will be appealed to the state supreme court.

Times and Roads Changing.

A farmer's story about good horses and gravel roads is told in a state highways bulletin.

"Hauling the cream from hereabouts," said the farmer, "Ed Hawkins not long ago had a crack team and as they went by on the smooth gravel road, I used to think that nothing could beat a fine team and a good gravel road.

"Then we all began milking more cows to fatten the butter fat checks, and Ed's horses began to show signs of overwork. When the cream checks got bigger, we began buying automobiles and spending more money in town. And town friends began driving more cars out our way. First thing we know the gravel road was showing signs of overwork, just like Ed's crack horses.

"He's still hauling the cream—but with a big truck. And the road will have to be paved for it's eating its head off now—getting worse and worse in spite of all the money that's being dumped on it in repairs."

The farmer might have asked, the bulletin adds, what about the light work horses when the hard-pushed team was demanding all the feed, or what can be done on light-traffic roads when repairs on the over-loaded routes require all the funds.

Helgeland In Accident.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Helgeland and little daughter returned Tuesday afternoon from Nielsville where they were called by the illness of Mr. Helgeland's sister, Mrs. Ole Torgerson. While making the trip to Nielsville Friday afternoon, when at a point on the Maple Lake road about eight miles east of Crookston, a car from McIntosh collided with the Helgeland coupe badly damaging the latter. The accident was directly attributed to the congested traffic on the road caused by the great number of people driving to attend the circus. It was at first reported that the Helgeland car went into the ditch but that was not the case, according to Mr. Helgeland who was driving the damaged car. The damages amounted to a broken wheel and fender and repairs were made and the car driven on to Nielsville.

MRS. MULRY DIES WED. AFTER SEVEN WEEKS SUFFERING

Wife of Prominent Business Man Succombs to Cancer. Resident Since 1904.

Mrs. Magdalina Mulry, wife of W. H. Mulry, proprietor of the Bazaar, passed away at her home on Riverside avenue yesterday afternoon at 4:20, after seven weeks of intense suffering from cancerous tumor which caused her death. She had been under medical treatment since she was taken ill about two months ago, having been a patient at the Swedenburg hospital in this city and later in the Warren hospital under Dr. Bratrud. She was taken home from Warren July 27 after a week's stay, and altho at times her condition seemed to improve, she became gradually weaker until the final summons. She suffered intense pains until the last day before her demise. Mrs. Mulry, who was 43 years of age, had enjoyed good health all the time until this fatal siege.

Mrs. Mulry, whose maiden name was Magdalina Noeson, was born in Crookston where she made her home until in 1904 when she was united in marriage to Mr. Mulry and resided in Thief River Falls ever since. She was a devout Catholic and a member of the Lady Foresters lodge. Devotion to her home was one of her outstanding characteristics and the bereaved family has the sympathy of a large circle of friends in their loss of a loving wife and mother. Altho her demise was somewhat expected the news of her death will be a shock to many friends.

Besides her husband she also leaves to mourn her death the following children: Alice, aged 18; Lawrence William, 17; Loretta Marie, 15; William James, 12; Burnedetta Blanch, 2 and Mary, 5 months old. A daughter, Adella Monica, died at an early age last September. She is also survived by three sisters: Miss Mary Noeson of this city; Mrs. James O'Connell of Crookston, and Sr. M. Edwina, O. S. B. of Villa Sancta Scholastica, Duluth, and four brothers: Rev. M. J. Noeson of this city, George John of Crookston, J. W. of Long Beach, Cal., and Theodore of St. Paul.

Funeral services will be conducted at the St. Bernard's Catholic church Saturday morning with solemn high mass at 10 o'clock. Father Oswold and Father Noeson; assisted by Fathers Philip of Warroad and Kiszer of Badger, will be in charge of the final rites.

Among the out-of-town people expected to be present at the funeral are: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Doffing, Hastings; Mrs. Theo. Kittleson, Bemidji; Peter Mulry, St. Paul; Richard Mulry, Spring Valley, Wis.; Mrs. Nockless, Grand Forks; Mr. and Mrs. P. Useldinger, Euclid, and a number of friends from Crookston, Mrs. Mulry's former home. Father Noeson was receiving medical attention in Rochester at the time he was notified of his sister's death.

GREATEST FAIR BREAKS RECORD FOR SECOND DAY

Eight Thousand People Visit Pennington County's Best Exposition on Thursday.

Total Receipts Reach $6,000. More Than $1800 Awarded In Premiums.

Exhibits in Departmetns Surpass Previous Standards. All Buildings Filled.

The twenty-first annual Pennington County fair which came to a close Saturday was a decided success in every detail and will without a doubt take its place as one of the biggest events of its kind in the state.

On Thursday, the second day of the exposition, the attendance was the greatest ever recorded by the Pennington County Agricultural society since its organization. It is estimated that about 8,000 people were at the fair grounds on that day alone, the gate receipts being $2,500. The grand stand was filled to capacity at both the afternoon and evening performance Thursday, and was also well patronized during the other days. The evening attendance was unusually large, a fact due in a considerable measure to the fine fireworks display presented.

The weather throughout the four days was ideal and people from all parts of this section of the state streamed into the city to view the splendid exhibits and attractions presented. Automobiles filled practically every available space in the enclosure. In spite of the great crowds there were no mishaps or accidents worth mentioning and very few complaints of any kind were heard. The grounds were adequately policed all arrangements of a kind which has brought forth the highest praise. It was stated by many that it was the cleanest and best managed fair ever conducted in this county. Various undesireable features of a carnival were not in evidence, the new regulations regarding such organizations being very strict now, to promote a higher class of entertainment of this kind.

While the fair association is not at this time able to give exact figures, the officials state that the receipts will total about $6,000. This includes approximately $3,400 in gate receipts, $1,700 for grandstand and concessions and $900 appropriated by the county and city of Thief River Falls. Premiums to the amount of $1,800 were awarded to exhibitors. About $1,700 of this amount is reimbursed by the state. $3,500 was expended for attractions such as the free acts, fireworks, music, horse races, auto polo, etc.

Exhibits in all departments were beyond expectations and were all in all of the best that have ever been shown here.

The stock exhibit was pronounced to be the largest in the history of the fair. Nearly one hundred animals were entered and it was necessary to use tents in providing sufficient accommodations, there not being room for all of them in the stock barns. Some very fine herds were shown. Albert Parndis, with his herd of 16 head of Angus prize winners, created much interest and some of the best Herefords in the state were exhibited by Charles Franks, well-known breeder from Warren. He entered 14 head. These two herds were alone in the beef class.

The greater number of the dairy herds of the county were represented this year, 62 animals being entered by local breeders. This fact shows increased interest in good cattle among the farmers of Pennington county. Some of the animals shown are of the best individuals in the state. Every breed found in this section was represented—Guernsey, Holstein, Shorthorn and Ayrshire.

Some fine specimens of sheep were entered by F. B. Conklin and R. L. Muzzy. The largest exhibits of hogs were made by C. H. Fuller and Ralph Mayhew, of Mavie, both of whom had Poland Chinas. The livestock division was superintended by Fred Beerbower.

The poultry exhibit was particularly pleasing this year, the building devoted to this branch being filled to capacity with the best quality birds of all kinds. Olaf Neset was in charge.

Club exhibits supervised by Secretary J. J. McCann were of the most interesting features of the exposition and indicate much interest in club work in Pennington county. Eight entries were made in the sheep club, ten in the dairy calf club and 12 in the pig club, which have a total enrollment of 17, 20 and 24 members, respectively. The winners have not yet been announced, as the papers and records accompanying the exhibits will also determine the winner. Several will be rewarded with a free trip to the state fair or the livestock show at St. Paul.

In the agricultural building, superintended by Albert Johnson, S. E. Hunt had a very attractive individual farm exhibit in which were represented all the lines of diversified farming carried out on his farm. Grain and corn samples were exceptionally large as were also the many vegetables shown. There were samples of corn stalks ten feet in heighths. The potato exhibit was small this year compared to former years, owing to the backward condition of the crop. Hay crops came in with their usual fine specimens of alfalfa and clover. An interesting feature of the fair was the potato meeting and tour conducted by potato experts the second day.

The Woman's building was one of the chief attraction on the exhibition grounds, and was under the charge of Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, and had the largest and best exhibit in the history of the fair. The splendid success of this department was due to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Froehlich and her assistants. Mrs. E. O. Mogensen was in charge of the culinary, Mrs. Nels Christianson of the flower, Mrs. Dan Shaw of the fancy work and Mrs. Un Reynolds of the art department. The school exhibits, of which Superintendent Ole R. Sande had charge, were numerous and presented a fine display of educational lines of work carried on in the rural and city schools. There were also some atractive booths put up by local concerns.

The State Dairy and Food commission had a display of health rules and precautions to be observed in dairy work. The state also had an exhibit showing how tuberculosis may be transmitted to animals and people. The spreading of the disease among cattle can be eliminated by area testing, which will be carried on in Pennington county if a majority of the farmers sign a petition asking for the state appropriation to finance it. Appropriations will be made to three counties this year. About 75 farmers signed the petition during the fair.

The race program proved of much interest, a large number of horses being entered for the various races which were given during the entire fair. The excitement of the horse race and the bucking bronco is not encirely entinguished yet in this day of motordom. The races were under the supervision of Roy Lambert. The auto polo exhibitions including the new game of auto pushball satisfied the most critical on that point. Satisfaction of the free acts and the Lachman Exposition shows was voiced by those who attended the fair. The Crookston Municipal band which was secured for the occasion was on the job all the time and added greatly to the enjoyment of those in the grandstand.

The officials of the fair association are to be congratulated on the splendid results of their untiring efforts. Secretary J. J. McCann was on the job early and late and is deserving or considerable credit for the manner in which things were arranged and executed. V. C. Noper was in charge of the buildings and grounds. The officers of the organization are: Mayor John Bratrud, president; Albert Johnson, vice president; Herbert Fuller, treasurer; J. J. McCann, secretary. Directors: S. E. Hunt, V. C. Noper, Stuart McLeod, R. J. McKercher and Emil Greibstein.

ED AGA BOUND OVER TO DISTRICT COURT ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Arrested Friday Evening at Fair Grounds and Charged with Having Moonshine.

Ed Aga, local blacksmith, was arrested Friday evening on the charge of having in his possession a considerable amount of liquor, the arrest being made by Sheriff Ole L. Ihle assisted by Chief of Police Berge.

Aga was brought before Judge N. W. Tarrant in municipal court the following morning, when he was bound over to appear at the next session of district court. Judge Tarrant placed the bond at $500, which was furnished.

The arrest was made at the fair grounds about 9:30 in the evening and the officials state that they saw someone taking a drink near Aga's car. Upon their approach it is said that the latter attempted to conceal some bottles under the car but after a brief search the sheriff and the chief found one pint bottle, full of what was termed by the officers as "moonshine" whiskey, one quart bottle half full and two apparently empty pop bottles having a strong odor of "fire water." Aga was placed under arrest at once and arraigned the following morning.

HIGHWAY SIGNS ARE ERECTED TO DIRECT TRAFFIC TO T. R. F.

City Joins Red Lake Falls In Placing Six Large Signs on Main Thoroughfares.

Through the co-operation of the Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls Commercial clubs six large road signs were erected last week directing tourist traffic from the North and South over the highways of Red Lake and Pennington counties. Pennington's share of the construction was financed by the Pennington County Automobile club.

Two of the large signs which measure 42 by 82 inches, were put up by the Thief River Falls club north of this city, one at Warren and another at the Canadian boundary line on the Jefferson highway. Another was placed at Bagley by the Commercial club, and the remaining three by the Red Lake Falls club. One of those put up by the latter was in the village of Erskine, where through the courtesy of Mayor Cronquist and councilman Gulbranson the sign was erected in a prominent and conspicuous place in that village. The second sign was erected near Mentor and the third at the intersection of State Trunk Highways Nos. 8 and 32 eight miles south of this city.

The signs are well constructed of metal and painted in large letters and over the top of each is a metal arrow pointing the direction for the traffic to follow.

F. J. Stebbins, president of the Automobile club, is in receipt of a letter from the president of the Red Lake Falls Commercial club who speaks very highly of the spirit shown by Thief River Falls citizens in cooperating in this move. He expresses the hope of the club that the two cities may continue in the same friendly relationship and co-operate in similar enterprises which may come up.

Assistant Secretary Ill.

Miss Esther Hanson, assistant secretary at the local creamery, resumed her duties Wednesday after a week's illness, having been confined to her bed for several days.

JUDGES INSPECT SUGAR BEETS OF LOCAL GROWERS

Commercial Club Sponsors Sugar Beet Day at Noon Luncheon Thursday.

Beet Fields in Vicinity Inspected This Afternoon to Determine Winners of Prizes.

Increased Acreage Will Assure This Section of a Sugar Beet Factory in This City.

Increased interest in the sugar beet industry by the business men and farmers of Pennington county and adjoining territory is being displayed in Thief River Falls today. The Commercial club of the city, in its active campaign to promote this industry, designated Thursday, August 9, as Sugar Beet Day, and appointed a committee to make the necessary arrangements for events to take place at that time. It was decided to make, as one of the big features of the day, the awarding of prizes for the best beet fields in the territory tributary to Thief River Falls.

At noon today a luncheon was served in the club rooms to which the general public was invited. It was attended by business men, farmers who are now growing sugar beets and others who are not yet in the industry but are interested in this line of farming, which promises to become one of the most important branches in this section of the state.

A number of local men spoke briefly, several growers giving accounts of their experiences in raising the crop and expressing their opinion as to the possibilities of beet growing in the future. It was brought out that a number of concerns are considering the prospects for establishing a sugar beet factory in Thief River Falls. The entire surrounding area is strongly in favor of this city as an ideal location for a plant of this kind. Every effort possible will be put forth to increase the acreage for the coming year in order to insure a local outlet for the crop.

The beet fields in this vicinity are being inspected by the judges this afternoon to ascertain the prize-winning tracts.

The fields were judged according to the following merits: Cleanliness, 25 per cent; stand, 25 per cent; cultivation, 25 per cent and general appearance, 25 per cent.

The district tributary to Thief River Falls has been divided into four sections for a distance of ten miles from the intersection of Main avenue and Sixth street. Each section will be awarded $55 in prizes to be divided as follows: $25 for the best 10-acre field; $15 for the best field of from three to 10 acres; $10 for the best field under three acres, and a $5 prize to the laborer in charge of the best field of beets. In addition to the above prizes, a special award of $50 will be given after the beets are harvested to the grower producing the greatest tonnage per acre.

The following committees were chosen to act as judges:

Southeast district—Math Barzen, chairman; H. S. Dahlen, H. E. Nelson, E. O. Mogensen and H. L. Larson.

Northeast district—Rasmus Oen, chairman; C. L. Hansen, A. M. Langseth, J. Provencher and Walter Jung.

Southwest district—J. J. McCann, chairman; R. McGinn, W. A. Hall, Jr., A. Bottelson and C. D. Gustafson.

Northwest district—Daniel Shaw, chairman; T. L. Melgaard, Roy Lambert, F. L. Christenson and M. T. McFarland.

The grand prize of $50 is given by Dr. H. W. Froehlich, president of the Commercial club and the other prizes by the following business houses:

First National Bank	$25.00
Minn. Northwestern Elec R.	25.00
Oen Mercantile Co.	25.00

Sugar Beets.

The interest in sugar beet growing in this section of the state is steadily increasing, judging from reports from various parts. The following article appeared in the Farmers' Independent of Bagley last week:

"The counties to the east and north of us are going after the sugar beet industry and from local newspaper reports the experiment has met with great success. Pennington county will harvest one crop this year that will prove a bumper. It is a new crop, but the way growers have taken hold of it shows unmistakably the trend sugar beets are taking down the road to prosperity. Clearwater county is just as well adopted for the growing of sugar beets as any other part of the state and the farmers are just as enthusiastic and eager here as anywhere to get at something that will pay them for their work.

"Thief River Falls is planning to get a refinery located in that city. The merchants are taking great interest in the experiment of growing the beets and are giving handsome prices to farmers, as an inducement and with a sufficient amount of beet assured, the factory will surely come. Norman and Polk counties began raising beets at a small scale a few years ago and have gotten so far now that they employ Mexican labor. The Mexicans understand how to graw beets and work cheaper than Americans. They are paid a certain percentage of the crop when harvested so there is no risk to the farmer other than providing quarters for them to live in.

"Until the time a refinery is built in this part of the country, the beets must be shipped east, but the time is fast approaching that this industry will grow to such dementions that a factory will be put up in at least at one of the cities in the territory mentioned."

DISTRICT NUMBER 18 GETS NEARLY $53 000 AS STATE AID

New Supplemental Aid Law Gives District Additional $27,234 for Past Year.

A total of $52,961.28 for district number 18 in Thief River Falls is expected as state aid for the school year 1922 and 1923, according to report from the superintendent's office. This amount will be sent out from the state funds in November.

The aid is distributed as follows:

Knox school	$ 300.00
Northrop school	300.00
Washington and Central
No aid (building not up to standard)
Lincoln high school	1,000.00
Manual training	500.00
Home economics	500.00
Commercial training	500.00
Normal training, salaries, equipment and supplies	4,050.45
Smith Hughes	250.00
Transportation	738.88
Library aid	166.16
High school tuition	7,959.00
Supplemental aid, 1577 pupils at $17.27	27,234.79
Apportionment, 1577 pupils at $6.00	9,462.00
Total	$52,961.28

The new phase of the apportionment enrollment applied to the situation in district number 18 may be summarized as follows: The real estate of the district is $1,464,853 and personal property $327,376 making a total valuation of $1,729,229. A twenty mill tax levy on this valuation will raise $35,844.58, which amounts to $22.73 per apportionment child. The state will make up the difference between this amount and $40, according to an act passed by the last Minnesota legislature. In other words the state promises to give this district this year $17.27 for each apportionment child. Since the apportionment enrollment is 1577 district number 18 may expect to benefit in the sum of $27,324.79 as supplemental aid.

The apportionment this year is $6 per pupil as compared to $5.85 the previous year.

"The Famous Mrs. Fair" Is Great Study of Home Life

"The Famous Mrs. Fair," a film version of the already famous play by James Forbes, produced by Fred Niblo, is a remarkable study of present day life. Fred Niblo has handled the production with a great amount of care and skill. It is reported one of the good pictures of the season, and is booked to be shown at the Lyceum theatre Sunday and Monday, according to Manager Brumund.

The story is concerned with the attempt of Mrs. Fair, a woman who has won fame through her war work in France, to continue her work after she returns home. She goes on a lecture tour, leaving her husband and children to shift for themselves. The point that the author makes is that any woman—any Mrs. Fair—cannot have both a home and a career. She must sacrifice one or the other, and very often both.

Fred Niblo, director of such epochal photoplays as "Blood and Sand," and "The Three Musketeers," has shown his skill in the translation of this fine play to the silent drama. An atmosphere of realism pervades the picture, and to a great extent this can be traced to Mr. Niblo's treatment.

"The Famous Mrs. Fair" is a Metro-Louis B. Mayer production, adapted by Frances Marion. Charles J. Van Enger was photographer and Howard Higgins was art director.

NEW HOUR LAW IS STRICT REGARDING EMPLOYING MINORS

State Investigator in Thief River Falls to Look Over Labor Conditions Here.

Helen A. Clinton of St. Paul, representing the Industrial commission of the state, spent a few days this week in Thief River Falls and vicinity, to make investigations regarding labor conditions, particularly that of women and minors. The new hour law which went into effect July 1 is very strict and the state representative came here to see to whether the law is lived up to by local employers or not.

A visit was made of the sugar beet fields in this vicinity to investigate the condition of the foreign labor employed here during the summer months.

The new hour law passed at the last session of the legislature which went into effect July 1, 1923, provides that no woman shall be allowed to work at any occupation more than 9½ hours in any one day and 54 hours in any one week with the exception of nurses engaged in the care of the sick, women engaged in domestic service and telephone operators in towns of less than 1500 inhabitants.

The one day of rest law also passed at the last session of the legislature provides that all employees shall have one day of complete rest in seven with certain exceptions, including women working in hotels and cafes.

The Child Labor Law regulates the working hours for boys and girls under 16 years to not more than eight hours in any one day and 48 hours in any one week. Children under sixteen years of age, may not be employed at any occupation before 7 o'clock in the morning nor after 7 o'clock at night. The minimum wage in cities of 5,000 or more population is $12 for a week of from 36 to 48 hours and 25c for each additional hour, making the wage $13.50 for a 54 hour week, the limit fixed by the law which went into effect July 1,

Pure - Breds and Prosperity

There is more to the question of pure-bred stock than a matter of pedigree, registry and conformation to type. Successful dairymen will testify that the superiority of the pure-bred over the scrub also shows in the milk pail, and in the cream check

Hiring a New Office Boy

THE ideal business organization is one where, when a member of the Board of Directors leaves, there is a general advance all along the line; a new office boy is hired and the machine is complete in every detail.

It is toward such an ideal that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is striving.

In the selection of employes great care is taken to get young men who may be developed for positions of responsibility and trust. The results of this policy are to be seen by taking a careful check of the higher officers of this Company. Every one of these men has come up through the ranks, many from the lowliest beginning. They have won preferment by unusual fitness, by sheer ability and mastery of the particular work entrusted to their care.

It is this spirit of pure democracy which has made the organization of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) what it is today—a big, loyal, hard-working group of men and women, bound together by mutual consideration, respect and ambition.

The men in the ranks of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) have constantly before them the examples of those now directing the Company's activities. They know that there is an open road ahead, and that for the men who show unusual aptitude in any department of the business; unusual ability to vision the future, or to direct the immediate, there are no limitations placed upon advancement. Such men taken from the ranks, will be the directing heads a few years hence.

This spirit, permeating every employe from the top to the bottom, keys the entire organization to a pitch of efficiency which enables the Company to render a superior service to 30 million people of the middle west.

Dr. Froehlich returned by train and will be in the city until they are ready to return. Dr. Froehlich stated yesterday that the crops in North Dakota look poor. NATION MOURNS

Today the entire nation mourns the death of its president. Last Thursday evening our country's chief executive breathed his last in a San Francisco hotel where he had been taken when returning from his trip to Alaska.

On Friday began the journey of the funeral train back to Washington. In the last car reposed the nation's dead, guarded by soldiers and sailors of the republic which he loved so well. And thus passes Warren G. Harding. He was the twenty-ninth president of the United States and the sixth to die in office. He was born in a little hamlet in Morrow county, Ohio, on November 2, 1865.

As a county publisher he first set forth on his career. Later on—in 1900 he became a member of the senate and then lieutenant governor. It was while United States senator from Ohio that the Republicans selected him as candidate of the party for the presidency. He was elected in 1920 by a tremendous majority and had served two years, four months and twenty-nine days of his term. As a man the President was genial, kind, considerate and tolerant. The people of his home town loved him. What greater thing may be said of any man? As a statesman he ranked exceedingly high. He was not brilliant. He was a constructive executive. He strove earnestly to repair the awful damages of war and to bring order out of the chaos which was left to him by the previous encumbent of the office.

History will record him as a humane and peace loving executive, one who labored hard to the end that a troubled world might find the way back to contentment. We are too near him yet to realize how big a man he was and what he has accomplished in behalf of mankind.

In his death the country loses more than pen can tell for these are the times when the republic sorely needs the calm, keen, honest mind and the great and patriotic heart of such as Warren G. Harding.

MAIL ORDER FRAUD DISCLOSED BY U. S. POSTAL OFFICIALS

Housewives of Minnesota Lost Thousands According to Inspectors Who Investigated.

Several residents of this section were hooked on a clever mail order scheme disclosed by United States postal authorities last week. The following account of the swindler's operations was given by a southern Minnesota paper:

Housewives of Minnesota who replied to post card advertisements of the Miller Mercantile company, 513 Washington Avenue south, Minneapolis contributed $25,000 to the promoters of a mail order fraud, according to postal inspectors who investigated the mail order house.

Hundreds of Minnesota farmers, victimized by the swindler's operations, have flooded the mails with inquiries about the "Miller Mercantile company" while thirty persons mostly stenographers, sat in a store room at 513 Washington avenue south, Minneapolis, wondering if "James E. Miller" would return to pay them.

Among the thirty employees who were astonished to know that the postoffice inspectors were looking for "Mr. Miller" and that the business was a fraud, was Miss Estelle Stoller, 527 Fremont avenue north, Minneapolis, who was hired as stenographer and was promoted to the position of assistant manager. Miss Stoller aided postoffice inspectors in the investigation.

First steps taken by Miller in the mail order swindle were to have 100,000 cards printed, offering twenty-five pounds of sugar free with an order of groceries which could be bought c. o. d. for $5.56 or $9.97.

These cards were mailed to farmers of Minnesota by the corps of girls employed by Miller. When the orders began coming in twenty others were added to the staff of employes to handle the filling of the orders.

It was then that Miller began to cash in on the scheme. The orders were filled partially as fast as they were received. None of them, which were sent by C. O. D., parcel post contained sugar. On receipt of the packages farmers paid either $5.50 or $9.97 before the packages were released by postmasters. Then the money orders were forwarded to the "Miller Mercantile Company."

The farmers, on opening the packages found a slip saying that part of the order was being sent by prepaid freight. It developed that none of the freight shipments were made and that none of the victims received the sugar.

"We are satisfied the scheme is the work of a clever swindler who took advantage of canning season to carry out his plan and reap a quick harvest," Postoffice Inspector F. T. Frawley said. "Had his operations continued for another week he would have gathered a fortune."

Miller, according to postal inspectors, is a dapper looking man, about 32 years old. He was a smooth talker. Arrangements are being made to return about $4,000 in money orders to farmers of the northwest.

Development Association Favors Special Session

A special meeting of the board of directors of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association was held at Crookston Saturday evening and action taken that may have effect of particular importance and benefit to this section. The meeting was to consider possible action to improve the grain marketing situation. Congressman O. B. Burtness, of North Dakota, was present by special request and told of the plans being laid in North Dakota to try and get the federal government to adopt emergency relief measures.

Not much time was taken up in going over the situation as it is throughout the agricultural sections of the country, but the meeting got right down to brass tacks in consideration of what might be done. Congressman Burtness expressed the conviction that no legislative measures were in effect now under which the government could act. Former Congressman Halvor Steenerson, of Minnesota, concurred in this belief.

Consideration was given to the various plans for effecting a bettering of the grain situation that are being promoted throughout Minnesota and the Dakotas but it was agreed that none could prove beneficial unless they could be put into operation and that a session of congress was absolutely imperative to put any plan at work in time to help the growers of this year's crop.

A resolution was adopted providing that the association go on record as urging action by congress to work out a plan of relief. A committee consisting of President S. E. Hunt, of Red Lake Falls; C. G. Selvig and Rep. J. C. Pratt, of Crookston; R. C. Mathwig, of Warren; and D. C. Jones, of Ada, was immediately named and instructed to put the work of lining up Minnesota to join with the Dakotas and Montana under way to secure the calling of a special session of congress at once. The committee drafted the following telegram which was sent to Governor Preus, the senators and congressmen of Minnesota and a number of other leaders throughout the state. The telegram read:

"At a meeting of this association last night where forty per cent wheat acreage of state was represented special committee named to urge you to use your strongest efforts to secure immediate session of congress to consider emergency situation involving farmers of entire northwest to provide relief. Legislation which will measurably increase price of this year's crop is absolutely necessary. Nothing else will suffice. Overwhelming sentiment behind movement. Immediate objective is to secure concerted action by leaders middle west states prevail on administration to "call a special session.""

Many Pennington Co. Young People Plan to Enter Northwest A. C.

When the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, opens for the fall term October 1, there will be a good attendance from this county according to reports. One reason for this is that the school term is so arranged that boys and girls may attend when it is most convenient for them to leave home. The fall term opens October 1. Students may enter the Northwest School if they have completed the eighth grade work in the common school. For eighth grade graduates there is no age requirement. Those who have not completed the common school may enter if they are at least sixteen years of age.

Another advantage is that the Northwest School has facilities for instruction of those who for some reason have not finished the common school but are interested in continuing their education. Students receive a diploma upon completion of three years of six months each. Those who wish to meet the entrance requirements for State Teachers' college, University or other institutions attend an additional year and complete the fourth year of six months. Because of the small expense, no tuition charge, excellent facilities and variety of courses offered, boys and girls who are thinking of attending school this fall away from home are finding it to their advantage to write the Northwest School for catalog and more complete information.

Failure to Furnish Potato Cars Causes Legal Action

A law suit of interest to farmers in general and potato growers in particular was brought into court when action to recover $93,865, said to be due them by reason of loss alleged to have been sustained because of failure of the Great Northern railway to furnish cars for moving the potato crop last fall was begun against that railroad by the Halstad Potato Growers' association of Halstad, Minn.

Final outcome of the action is expected to draw much interest from potato shippers of the Red River valley, as it is considered by potato shippers in the nature of a test case. Because of the issues involved, in the event that the shippers should get the decision, it is expected that the case will be carried to the supreme court for final decision.

The complainant company sets forth that it owns and operates a potato warehouse at Halstad, Minn.; that between the dates of September 14, 1922 and October, 26, 1922, it filed written orders with the defendant at Halstad for at least 340 cars to be used in shipping potatoes from Halstad to different parts of the United States.

The plaintiff maintains that it was ready at all times to load and ship cars as ordered and that it had on hand during that period 8,499,590 pounds of potatoes, which it claims in its complaint "were of the reasonable value, at the time the cars should have been furnished, of at least 90 cents per cwt., f. o. b. Halstad, and that the total reasonable market value was at least $76,496.31."

Orchard and Garden.

Windfall apples make good sauce. Use plenty of them.

Cut out all raspberry canes that bore fruit this year and burn them. If there are too many new shoots cut them back.

Budding of apples and plums may be done at this time. This is one of the easiest methods of propagating these plants.

Beets should be large enough for pickling now. They make good winter pickels if properly put down now.

To get the best use of the gladiolus bulbs cut when the first flowers open and place in water. They will often last a week or so when this is done.

If onions are stopping their growth, scatter some hen manure or other fertilizer rich in nitrogen over the field just before a rain and cultivate it in well.

Many of the wild fruits, such as the highbush cranberry, pincherry and choke cherry, make good jelly.

Lima beans require good soil and lots of heat. The bush varieties are easier to grow than the pole sorts.

Two or three melon vines in the hill often produce more fruit than six. Give them room and plenty of water and food.

Liquid manure is of great value for hastening the growth of plants if applied properly. It is made by putting well rotted manure in a tub or barrel and filling with water.

SAPIRO TO MAKE 6 POTATO ADDRESSES

Up-State Meetings Sept. 10-15 To Follow His Address at State Fair, Sept. 6.

Aaron Sapiro, foremost advocate of co-operative marketing in this country, who is to speak on the Farm Bureau day program at the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6, has agreed to follow that address with a series of six up-state meetings, Sept. 10 to 15, in the interest of the new potato marketing movement now organizing.

Under direction of officers of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, arrangements have been completed for these meetings, as follows:

Crookston, Sept. 10, C. G. Selvig, district chairman.
Moorhead, Sept. 11, F. M. Brophy, district chairman.
Detroit, Sept. 12, Walter Oby, district chairman.
Brainerd, Sept. 13, E. C. Roth, district chairman.
St. Cloud, Sept. 14, S. P. Wimmer, district chairman.
Princeton, Sept. 15, L. Normandin, district chairman.

At each place, local committees are being organized. Plans call for making them the largest gatherings of farmers in recent years. It is expected that special delegations of potato growers will attend the meetings from all nearby points.

Mr. Sapiro will discuss especially the co-operative potato marketing movement. He is general counsel for the state organization committee and is very anxious to have the Minnesota campaign be an outstanding success.

This will be the first opportunity farmers have had to hear Mr. Sapiro, who is the author of the potato marketing contract, discuss the details of the organization.

CO-OP. CREAMERIES ENTER SALES FIELD

H. F. Meyer to Have Charge of Sales Department of State Association.

Butter manufactured in the co-operative creameries of Minnesota is on its way to national recognition.

Initial steps in that direction were taken last week when directors of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries' association announced their decision to establish a sales department, in charge of H. F. Meyer, one of the best sweet cream butter sales specialists in the United States. The new department will be opened Aug. 15. One of the first steps will be to adopt and extensively advertise a state brand and trademark.

Creation of a sales department is a project under which the state association has been working for months, according to A. J. McGuire, general manager. Since the association entered the field over two years ago, it has confined its operations to service activities. It has saved creamery patrons thousands of dollars in lower through freight rates and has done much to create a ready demand for Minnesota "co-op" butter in the Eastern markets. So successful has it been in that field that it has become known as one of the most effective dairy organizations in the country, especially in improving the quality of butter produced.

Among the first tasks to be undertaken by the new sales manager will be to create a market for co-operative butter in St. Paul and Minneapolis. This market long has been untouched by the farmers' creameries, because Eastern markets are more ready to accept and pay for quality.

Mr. Meyer is especially well equipped for this task, he having played an important part in getting New York to favor butter made from sweet cream. He will have no easy job, however, for the Twin city market is exceptionally well organized by the centralizers.

To accept the position with Minnesota co-operative creameries, Mr. Meyer resigned as sales manager for Gude Brothers, Kieffer Company of New York, one of the best known firms on that market. He has been with that organization for six years, directing their sales force and developing new outlets for sweet cream butter. Previously, he was connected with the Bureau of Markets at Washington and personally established the market news service in New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia.

"Directors of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries' association believe that they secured the services of the best qualified man in United States to handle their sales department," said Mr. McGuire. "His whole training has been along exactly the lines which the department will follow. It has taken us a long time to make a selection but we feel we have been well repaid for our efforts."

The association will continue to function as a service agency as heretofore. Creameries will not be obliged to consign their product to the department. However, directors believe that the department will be so satisfactory that in a very short time all the co-operatively made butter in the state will be sold through it.

WOOL MARKETS ARE SHOWING STRENGTH

Minnesota Pool Manager Rejects Bid of 46 Cents for Bright Quarter Blood.

A material strengthening of the wool market is under way, R. E. Jones sales manager for the wool pooled at Wabasha by members of the Minnesota Co-operative Wool Marketing association, last week, rejected a bid of 46 cents for Bright Quarter Blood, delivered east.

We are asking 2 cents more and may hold for several months, says Mr. Jones.

The improved market is the indirect result of wool pools in all parts of the country, says Mr. Jones. Shortly after the clip season, eastern mills obtained heavy stocks through speculators and growers who did not elect to join the pools. With these stocks on hand, the market naturally weakened. As the mills used up their stocks and the pools remained intact the demand strengthened and better prices are the result.

The Wabasha pool, last week, made its first shipment, of Mohair—goat hair—to Eastern mills, having accepted a bid of 45 cents a pound, delivered. This, Mr. Jones says, is an unusually good price.

The popularity of the wool pool in Minnesota is indicated by the fact that the Wabasha agency now has nearly 900 patrons, twice the number last year.

The Minnesota association is making an arrangement for an elaborate display at the Minnesota State Fair. A special effort will be made to explain to growers the necessity for marketing only high grade fleeces and the toll that the market takes of wool that is not properly prepared for shipment.

False Teaching.

The Chicago Tribune, self-styled best newspaper in the world, comes out with the statement that the voters of Minnesota are un-American because they elected Magnus Johnson, as a senator. The accusation is as foolish as it is false. The broadest minds of the country today are defining Americanism along the lines of political freedom and of the wishes of the majority. The Chicago Tribune defines Americanism as that ignorant docility which characterizes the followers of kings and demagogues and which does not permit of governmental change. The Chicago Tribune is opposed to the wishes of the majority and is therefore perhaps the most un-American newspaper published in the United States. Anything that leans toward fossilization, toward inheritance of public office or toward robbing the majority of people of the right to control is more un-American and more dangerous than even the advocates of pure socialism. The Tribune attacks the people of a whole state as Un-American and thereby adds an insult to the judgment of three millions of people. It is true that Magnus Johnson is not a typical English-speaking American. It might be true that his efforts to secure legislation beneficial to his state will fall short of expectations. But it is not true the voters who sent him into public office are unpatriotic Americans. Magnus Johnson was elected in Minnesota because Minnesotans are intensely American and believe in the right of political change. He was elected primarily as a demonstration of the old truth that common people do have a voice in the government of the United States. Magnus Johnson was honestly elected by the majority. That is Americanism, and even Johnson's opponents should help him secure as much for the state and nation as it is possible for him to get.

While Minnesotans are struggling to maintain their right to be classed as good Americans, Premier Mussolini forces a law onto his government curbing the right of the press to criticize or hinder the government in any way. Hidebound Americans will tell you those are the kind of laws we need here to keep down the LaFollettes and the Johnsons. During the last decade these expressions were popular in the United States, but the turning point of opinion has been reached and the hunt for unpatriotic Americans is reverting to those who would restrict liberties or take away any of the constitutional rights. Therefore, attacks on human liberty such as that made by the Chicago Tribune against the people of a whole state now arouse the same indignation that was aroused in wartime when a man would refuse to go to war.

Northern Minnesota.
(Duluth Herald.)

If a line be drawn due west from Duluth to the western boundary of Minnesota, more than two-fifths of Minnesota will be north of that line. Duluth is but thirty-five miles north of the halfway place from north to south on the western border. Minnesota's eastern border does not go so far to the north as the border on the west, but even on the east Duluth is but sixty miles north of the halfway point.

The future development of Minnesota in large part belongs to this northern two-fifths and the fifth next on the south. In many ways it is a region altogether unexcelled either for beauty or utility. It is the most productive and important mining region in the Western hemisphere. Its ore is the bone of the economic structure of the nation.

It has no coal. Nature started eons since to put coal here, as many primary deposits prove, but she felt perhaps that she had done enough otherwise. But she clothed the eastern part of this region with forests and woodlands of every sort.

Within this area lies the eastern half of the Red River valley, famed for its wheat and other crops. It has within it the region of ten thousand lakes, the nation's pleasure ground, and especially the Superior National Forest with its deer and moose, its clear, cool lakes, its innumerable isles, its shaded trails, its tranquil glory now so much enjoyed. And words cannot compass the beauty of the middle woodlands where everything grows.

Within this area there are millions of acres of land awaiting the hand of the husbandman and capable of rewarding intelligent effort. Let the people of crowded places or stifled lands come hither, where nature has done all possible to make life comfortable for those willing to exert their powers of mind or body. Great is Minnesota, but her Northern area is greater.

Halt the Tax Gatherer.
(Dawson Sentinel.)

Senator Borah is not the most popular member of the United States senate, but he is one of the ablest. He sees where the present tendency to appropriate money for every purpose, to extend government activity into every direction, leads to. He says: "If you care to search the files of congress or survey the activities of the state legislatures you will have no difficulty in discovering at once the peril which confronts us people. If all the measures which propose appropriations were passed, or if all the measures which incur indebtedness were passed, it would place a mortgage upon the brain and energy of this people which a thousand years could not lift."

This is the deliberate judgment of a man who has had the opportunity to watch government expenditures increasing and government activities expanding during the past decade.

Superficial students of public finance are busy finding new sources of revenue. Those who are looking more deeply into the problems of government are not looking for ways to raise more money; they are trying to discover a way to reduce public expenditures.

Devising a new tax can accomplish nothing except to shift the burden of taxation; usually it does not accomplish even that, for nearly all taxes are shifted ultimately to the consumer.

Reducing expenditures not only relieves the consumer of the burden he must ultimately bear, it stops a waste of the wealth of the people, stops the flow of capital from productive private enterprises to wasteful public enterprises.

Checking the increasing tax burden is the biggest problem confronting America today.

Get the Town! 46

When a telephone operator calls you on a long distance message, she is not the operator who usually answers you when you ask for a number, but a "Long Distance" operator either in your town or in the distant town from which the call came.

If you are out when "Long Distance" calls, the person answering the the call should leave a notice for you specifying the town calling. This is very important.

When you are ready to talk, ask for "Long Distance" and give the operator your name and number and the name of the town which called you.

ASSOCIATION OF PHONE CONCERNS IN SESSION HERE

Twenty Telephone Companies of This Section Represented at District Meet Here Friday.

Conference of Over Fifty Telephone People Addressed By Experts in the Business.

Betterment of Service is Purpose of Gathering of Independent Companies.

Managers, officials and operators representing twenty telephone companies of this section of the state, convened in Thief River Falls Friday last week at one of the district meetings conducted by the Minnesota Independent Telephone association. About fifty people were in attendance at the sessions which took place at the city auditorium. The conference was secured in this city through the efforts of Wm. E. Plenty, until recently manager of the local exchange of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company. It was one of several similar meetings held in different parts of the state.

The meeting was addressed by a number of experts in telephony who discussed matters of interest to the telephone business, which is one of the factors in industry today.

During the morning session J. C. Crowley, Jr., of St. Paul, secretary of the Minnesota Independent Telephone association, spoke on various phases of the business of vital importance to telephone men. He was followed by J. W. Howatt of St. Paul, supervisor of telephones with the state warehouse commission. E. J. McGrath and F. Taylor from the division office of the Northwestern Bell company in Minneapolis, appeared on the afternoon program and discussed transmission and maintenance of telephone plants. Some very valuable information was imparted by these men who are experts in this phase of the business.

An operators' school was conducted at the Brumund hotel under the supervision of Miss Anne Barnes of Springfield, Ill., and Miss Egnon of St. Cloud, both widely known telephone women. Methods and practices of increasing efficiency and speed were taken up at the school which was attended by about twenty operators from surrounding towns.

These conferences are being held to promote co-operation between the smaller independent telephone companies of the state and the Northwestern Bell company, and to make accessable information and assistance which the small concerns working alone would not be able to get.

The Minnesota Telephone association maintains its offices at Room 618 Hamm Bldg., St. Paul, Minn., and its officers and board of directors are as follows: Jay Greaves, Pres., President of the McLeod Tel. Co., Glencoe; E. P. Wright, Vice-Pres., Sec. & Gen. Mgr. of Alexandria Telephone Co., Alexandria; J. C. Crowley, Jr., Sec. & Treas., St. Paul. Directors: P. M. Ferguson, Mankato; D. M. Neill, Red Wing; Thos. Vollom, Erskine; Irving Todd, Hastings; Harry Kurz, Annandale; H. P. Lueders, Norwood; W. S. Clay, Hutchinson and C. M. Clay, Worthington.

The association represents over two hundred of the 356 telephone exchange companies in the state.

The object for which it is formed is to aid the telephone industry to furnish its members information and advice upon all subjects relating to telephony; to assist in securing uniform standards of telephone operation, accounting, and practice; to aid in establishing and maintaining a high grade telephone service for the public and to aid in educating the public not only to an appreciation of such service, but to a recognition of the necessity of providing adequate compensation to secure a continuation of such service.

The representatives of the following companies were invited to the Thief River Falls conference:

Kittson Telephone Co., Hallock; Farmers' Two Rivers Rural Tel. Co., Lancaster; Kennedy Telephone Co., Kennedy; Argyle Telephone Co., Argyle; Warren Telephone Co., Warren; Alvarado Telephone Co., Alvarado; Oslo Telephone Co., Oslo; Angus Tabor Rural Telephone Co., Angus; Euclid Telephone Co., Euclid; Northwestern Minn. Cut Silage Corn As Lower Leaves Fall

Opinions differ as to the best time to cut corn for silage. While the largest yield of food nutrients will be obtained if the corn is permitted to mature fairly well, it should not be too ripe for the reason that it will not pack so well in the silo and is more likely to mold. It may also be somewhat indigestible if fully matured.

Andrew Boss, vice director of the Minnesota Experiment Station at University Farm, says that as a safe working plan one should begin cutting corn for silage when three or four of the lower leaves dry up and drop off. Then the corn will usually be in the milk or hard dough stage and some of the early ears will be glazed or dented. Silage made under these conditions will be at its best for dairy cows.

[illegible] Prof. [illegible] fields until fully dented unless perchance a severe drouth or hot spell has dried out the corn prematurely. Beef cattle feeders prefer better developed ears and greater maturity of the plant than do those who put up ensilage for dairy cows.

Infant Dies.

Donovan E. Johnson, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Johnson, residents of Wylie, died in this city Monday. The child was only one day old, having been born Sunday, August 5. The funeral services were held at Wylie yesterday and interment made in the cemetery there.

Fractures Wrist.

Mrs. Christian Germandt of St. Hilaire suffered a broken wrist in a fall down the stairway of her home Friday. She suffered a compound fracture, opening the vessels of her arm and leaving severe gashes. She was brought to the Swedenburg hospital here and the wound attended to. The wrist is in a very bad condition but no infection has set in and the patient is resting well.

Who Was the Loser?

A banker while going home to dinner saw a ten dollar bill on the curbstone. He picked it up, noticed the number and went home to dinner. While home his wife remarked that the butcher had sent a bill amounting to $10. The only money he had was the bill he found which he gave to her and she paid the butcher. The butcher paid it to a merchant who paid it to a washer woman and she, owing the bank a note of $10, went to the bank and paid the note. The banker recognized the bill as the one he had found, and which by that time had paid $50 worth of debts. On careful examination he also found it to be a counterfeit! Now, what was lost in the transaction, and by whom?—Exchange.

ALFALFA MAKES BIG GAIN AS FORAGE IN ALL DAIRY SECTIONS

Prof. Crim, University Expert, Rates Alfalfa As Leading Crop Wherever Grown.

Alfalfa is rapidly coming to the front throughout the entire state as feed for dairy cows and many of the farmers in this vicinity are growing large fields which are yielding splendidly.

An article appearing in an exchange gives the summary of an interesting address delivered by Porf. R. F. Crim, alfalfa expert from the University of Minnesota, at an alfalfa day picnic. It would be well worth the while for every farmer to consider the points brought out by one who has made a careful study of this forage crop.

The speaker pointed out that alfalfa is especially rich in proteins and vitamines which are so necessary in all animal life. It is the most successful crop that can be grown on sandy and dry lands as the roots go down to the moisture. It necessary in order to reach needed moisture roots actually penetrate the ground to a depth of fifty feet while other clovers will not send down their root system but a few inches, therefore can not succeed on sandy lands or where there are periods of drouth.

The speaker assured all that there is a growing interest in alfalfa all over the state. In 1900 there were 658 acres in alfalfa. In 1910 it had been increased to 2,288 acres while in 1920 there were 45,481 acres devoted to alfalfa and this year over 79,000 acres of Minnesota farms are planted to it. This latter figure means that .06 of each cultivated acre in the state is growing this new forage crop, and next year's report will show a still greater gain.

In the report of 1920 there was no alfalfa production report in either Hubbard or Cass county but the 1922 report gave Hubbard 33 acres and Cass 234.

The speaker is authority for the statement that alfalfa will grow on new land successfully. Being a new crop in this section many have been of the opinion that it would not produce well on new and untamed land but this is a serious mistake. He had seen a perfect growth on Northern Minnesota land that had simply been brushed off and the ground worked up with a harrow.

Prof. Crim then went into the history and introduction of the plant to this state. In the year 1857 a farmer from Germany immigrated to Carver county, this state. Among his earthly possessions from his native land was some alfalfa seed. This he subsequently sowed on his farm and it has developed into the hardiest strain of alfalfa seed ever introduced in the state. The speaker advised all who wish to grow alfalfa to insist on getting the pure Grimm seed. If it costs more it is worth it and was still the best adapted variety of seed to withstand the climate and soil of our state.

The speaker pointed out that to be grown successfully the soil in which alfalfa is planted must be rich in lime, therefore if lime is lacking it must be supplied in commercial form. In Cass county we have marl which fills the bill to perfection although there is supposed to be quite generous quantities of this plant food in Cass county soil. To be sure of success it is best, in fact necessary, to innoculate alfalfa seed. This innoculation may be received in two ways, namely, getting soil from a field where alfalfa is growing or if preferable it may be received from the government. Upon application enough will be sent without cost to innoculate four or five acres.

Alfalfa must have a good winter covering to withstand our rigorous winters therefore it is not a good plan to pasture it closely in the fall. In this section farmers can expect to cut two crops each year and the third crop or growth will be ample for winter protection. Some seasons it would be possible to cut three crops. Alfalfa should be cut when well in bloom which is the time new shoots are starting up from the crown. Under no circumstances should it be cut the first year.

To prepare seed plow in fall, and work down well so as to prepare a firm seed bed. A nurse crop of barley or wheat may be sown. Oats as a nurse crop shades the ground too much but the better way is to keep the weeds down by cultivation until July and sow without nurse crop. Sow twelve pounds of hardy alfalfa seed [illegible] sown, use one bushel of seed. Sow the alfalfa either broadcast or in drills and drag with slant tooth harrow.

In discussing the value of alfalfa as a feed, Mr. Crim said alfalfa had a feeding value equal to wheat bran. He paid his respects to timothy hay by stating farmers were throwing their time away in feeding it to dairy cows. Cows can't give milk without access to feed rich in protein content. Timothy and slough hay lack in this milk element but alfalfa is full of it. On sandy soil it is the best and most profitable crop that can be grown. All farm animals relish it and it makes fine hog pasture. Under good conditions one acre will pasture 25 pigs. One acre of good alfalfa will yield a return of $40 to $75 per acre.

Mr. Crim advised farmers to go into alfalfa growing by degrees. Start out with an acre or two and increase each year. One important thing that should not be neglected when planning on growing alfalfa is innoculation. If done by the liquid method as furnished free of charge by the government, sprinkle one pound of fine soil with culture and mix with each pound of seed to be sown.

Fractures Arm in Fall.

Little Miss Ethel Patten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Patten, residing on Arnold avenue south, who recently fell down a stair case and suffered a fractured arm, was brought to a local physician yesterday and had the broken limb set. The fracture was quite severe but no infection has set in and in a comparatively short time it is expected that the arm will be healed.

Bound Over to Dist. Court.

William Poirier, Jr., of this city was arrested by Sheriff Ole L. Hile at Moorhead Monday, on charges prefered against him by Miss Florence Johnson of Minneapolis. The warrant was sworn out some time ago but the authorities were unable to find the young man until this week when he was on his way to the coast. He was brought before Municipal Judge N. W. Tarrant Tuesday morning when he waived examination and was bound over to the next term of district court. He was released upon furnishing a bond of $1000 for his appearance.

Stageberg Jewelry Store Sold Out to C. Halvorson

Another change in business places of the city was made recently when Christ Halvorson, for a number of years engaged by Olaf Neset as watchmaker, bought out the jewelry and watchmaking business of M. G. Stageberg located on LaBree avenue next to Crown's barber shop. Mr. Halvorson who has already taken charge will continue to conduct the business along the regular lines as formerly. Mr. Stageberg has not announced his future plans yet but may leave for the Pacific coast.

Deer Park Man Pleads Guilty Before Judge

Arthur Hyland, a young man of Deer Park township, pleaded guilty to a charge brought against him by Miss Libby Forst, of the same place, when arraigned before Judge Andrew Grindeland at Warren last week. The judge has not yet pronounced the sentence but Hyland was released under a $1000 bond.

Hyland, who is employed at Hibbing was in the city during the fair when he was nabbed by the sheriff last Thursday, the complaint having been sworn out May 22. The girl against whom the crime was committed is under age, the complaint states.

If Your Engine Could Speak

IT would tell you why, at times, it seems to hesitate, drag and fail to deliver that steady, even flow of rhythmic power which is so necessary if motoring is to be enjoyed. It would tell you that a motor can run smoothly only when the frictional parts are amply protected by a cushion of good lubricating oil, thus permitting free, easy, noiseless action.

It would tell you that the wrong oil almost invariably causes excessive carbon, loss of power, transmission troubles, fouled spark plugs, and overheating.

The right oil for your car—the grade of Polarine indicated in the chart—means minimized repairs, fewer renewals of parts, greater flexibility, and more power.

LOSE ONE AND WIN ONE IS RECORD OF T. R. F. AGGREGATION

Rosewood Easily Beaten In Game During Fair. Lose to E. G. Forks 2 to 4 Sunday.

An even break is the record of the local baseball sluggers for the past week. In a clash with the Rosewood aggregation on Saturday afternoon the last day of the Pennington county fair, Thief River Falls succeeded in piling up a total score of 16 to the visitors' 5 in a rather loosely played game. Sunday the local club invaded the East Grand Forks camp and were defeated in a hot contest by the close score of two to four. The latter game was said by local fans who accompanied the team, to be one of the best exhibitions of ball played by the nine this season. The East Grand Forkers were defeated here a short time ago but the Thief River boys were unable to duplicate the stunt this time. A little more fighting spirit would probably have turned the tables.

In the Rosewood game the mound was occupied by Helendrung, a new man in the line-up, and Berg for the locals, and Peterson for the visitors. The receiving was divided by Yost and Anderson for the locals and Ranum for Rosewood. Five hits were made off Berg in four innings and two off Helendrung in five periods.

Following is the box score:

NEW LAW AFFECTS ADVERTISING ON TRUNK HIGHWAYS

None But Authorized Signs on Trunk Highways After Dec. 1, Says Commissioner.

Mayor John Bratrud has received from Commissioner C. M. Babcock of the state highway department a suggestion that the silent policemen or standards in street intersections tend to impede traffic and cause accidents. The commissioner says that four small markers placed one in the center of each street at about the sidewalk line will guide traffic and allow it to move easier and more safely.

Commissioner Babcock announced also that the new law effective Dec. 1, against billboards and advertising signs on the highways will be enforced by the state on trunk routes. Assuming that authorities here will remove signs from local roads, he proposes advance warning that firms may salvage signs if they wish.

Legal notices and other bulletin boards and official markers will be permitted, according to the commissioner, and the department will put up signs directing tourists to community camps where they are well equipped and maintained. Highway maps next year may show good free camping sites.

Following is the communication regarding highway signs received by the mayor:

Section 11, Chapter 439, Laws of 1923, provides for the removal of all advertising from the public highways, except such as may be maintained by the authorities having charge of the several roads or highways. This law will take effect December 1, 1923, and in compliance therewith, this department will arrange to remove from the Trunk Highways all advertising except legal notices, and bulletin boards erected by the local authorities and the markers of trails or highways which have been registered under the state law. Undoubtedly the county boards, town boards, and city and village authorities will take similar action as to the roads under their jurisdiction, and in order to give advertisers an opportunity to salvage or move their signs, it is suggested that they be given ample warning in advance at that time.

A great many communities have provided public, or tourist, camping grounds, and in order that there will be no embarrassment in the placing of necessary guide signs along the trunk highways, showing the location of such grounds, we are willing to erect and maintain suitable signs for this purpose upon application to this office. The application should show the location of the grounds and also a statement of the facilities provided. We are considering the possibility of showing on trunk highway maps in the future, the location of free public camping grounds, where proper facilities, such as water, fuel and toilet accommodations are provided.

Why We Do It.

(The Polk County Leader.)

A good many people and particularly those who have no children, often wonder why newspaper editors take such a keen interest in the building of new schools and the encouragement of education. Sometimes, when the cost of school extension seems particularly heavy, efforts are made to have it appear as if the local editor were unmindful of the public interest and as though he only wanted to add to the tax burdens of his own people of forever boosting for new and better schools. So we are going to lift the curtain a little that you may see that there is always helpful thought behind the writing of every editorial or every item in the paper that boosts for better schools.

The growth of population places each oncoming generation at a disadvantage. Our natural wealth is constantly being depleted. Each year finds less lumber, less coal, less gas—less natural wealth of every kind—and this generation is not going to leave as much as it inherited from the one that went before. Natural wealth must be constantly replenished. Careless folks will argue that by the time exhaustion is in sight we will have taken care of the situation some other way; that when a new fuel is found, coal and mining won't be necessary. And there is the point. The great need of the hour is for invention, scientific research, for discovery and for the development of all those characteristics that can find root only in the trained and educated mind. Unless we can invent and discover new methods of production future generations are going to be hard put to live.

Clay County Will Get $500,000 in Road Work

Half a million dollars worth of work will be done on roads in Clay county during 1924, it was announced following a conference of Clay county commissioners with C. M. Babcock, state highway commissioner and other representatives of his department. State highway No. 2, running from Moorhead east to Detroit and the lakes country and which is largely patronized by North Dakotans enroute to the Twin Cities or the lakes, will be graded and graveled and surfacing for this may start this fall. Part of this road is in very bad condition. Some work will also be done on No. 4 and other roads in the county, with federal, state and county funds.

VIOLATORS OF VOLSTEAD LAW TAKEN TO JAIL

Bradley, Rasmusson and Farr Committed to Warren Jail. Denied New Trial.

Grindeland Also Denied Brendecke's Motion But Appeal Made to Supreme Court.

Hearing of Goodridge School Election Troubles Postponed Until Sept. 11.

Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren was in the city last Friday to preside over a brief special session of district court at which some new court cases came up and decisions were rendered.

Motions for new trials in the cases of C. B. Bradley, Alfred Rasmusson and Fred C. Brendecke were heard but denied by the judge. The three men were convicted on charges of violating the prohibition laws at the June term of district court in Pennington county. They were forced either to file bonds for appealing their cases or drop the matter and serve their time. Rasmusson and Bradley chose the latter while Brendecke has filed his bonds for carrying the case into the state supreme court. It is not yet known when the matter will come up before the state tribunal but he was granted a thirty-day stay from the time of the hearing.

Sheriff Ole L. Ihle assisted by deputies yesterday took Glenn Farr, who was also convicted at the June term of court on a liquor charge, Bradley and Rasmusson to Warren where they were committed to the Marshall county jail to serve the terms imposed upon them by Judge Grindeland. Farr was given a sentence of 60 days while the other two will have to serve 90. If the assessed fines are not paid at the termination of their terms an additional period of 150 days must be served.

In the matter of the legal action arising from alleged irregularities in the recent school election in Goodridge there was some question as to the jurisdiction of the district court and the case was continued until September 11.

Palmer O. Tvedt and O. E. Ronken are contesting the election of Geo. Wold and Sig J. Anderson to the school board, alleging a number of irregularities committed by election officials gave the latter a majority of votes cast. It appears that no names were printed on the ballots used, and to add to the confusion a vacancy on the board caused through the resignation of a former member also was to be filed at this election. Three different Andersons shared in receiving votes and the similarity in initials helped to muddle things up. The contestants are represented by County Attorney Quale.

TINDOLPH POINT TO BE CONVERTED INTO PARK BY RECENT BUY

Park Board is Authorized by City to Purchase Property For $870.00

At a brief session of the city aldermen Tuesday evening the park board was authorized to purchase 19 lots adjoining the river on the East Side, the property known as Tindolph point, to be established into a city park with swimming pool facilities. The aldermen voted $870 for this purpose and it is understood that action will be taken at once to acquire title to the tract.

The park board plans to make the necessary improvements on the plot as soon as possible, but due to the lateness of the season now, it is not expected that much work will be done this fall, according to Emil Zeh, chairman of the board. Marked improvements will be made next spring, however, of particular interest which will be the adding of better bathing facilities, including a pool which assures safety for children.

The usual bills were allowed and it was decided that the local unit remain in the Municipal League of Minnesota. A letter and report from the sanitation department of State Board of Health regarding the city water was read. The inspector found that there is a slight contamination of the water after it leaves the filter plant.

Aged Local Resident Dies After Lingering Illness

Mrs. Elsie Davidson, 89 years of age, died at her home on Kinney avenue, Saturday morning at 1 o'clock, death being due to the infirmities of old age.

Mrs. Davidson has been a resident of this city the past seventeen years and won the friendship and respect of all who knew her. She was known as "grandmother" to all the children of the neighborhood in which she lived.

Immigrating from Norway, where she was born October 22, 1835, she came to Modena, Wis., 40 years ago. She made her home there with her late husband, David Davidson, until they came to this state and settled on a farm near Holt, 38 years ago. Her husband died 22 years ago, while they lived on their farm there. Seventeen years ago she came to Thief River Falls and has made her home here since.

Of relatives surviving to mourn her demise, are two sons, Ole, of Holt and Arne, who resides in Montana, and two daughters, Mrs. Olof Sorum of Hillsboro, N. D., who cared for her mother during this her last illness, and Mrs. James Nelson of Modena, Wis.

The funeral was held from the Larson undertaking parlors Monday, services being conducted by Rev. J. Ordahl of Holt and the remains were interred in the Greenwood cemetery.

Date For Annual Holstein Sale Set for October 3rd

The date for the Annual Sale of Holstein-Friesian cattle has been set at October 3rd for this year, it was announced this week by the committee in charge.

This year, in contrast with other years, the committee has decided to cut down on the number of head offered and sell only purebred stock. The reason for this can be plainly seen by considering the reputation the district has gained for its high quality stock. To offer only pure bred stock will necessarily raise the average of the quality and increase this county's reputation for having the best in stock. Last year 70 head were sold.

Twenty-two head have been consigned up to this date, being twenty head of females, all young and all registered, and two young bulls, also registered. The consignors and the number of head listed to date are: M. T. McFarland, 2; Waldie Christenson, 5; Wilson of Hazel, 5; J. H. Hardisty and Son, 3; Fred Beerbower, 3; and S. E. Hunt, 2. The two bulls are in addition to this.

The members of the committee in charge are: M. T. McFarland, Hans Anton, Hans Rude and S. E. Hunt.

MANY TO JOIN IN TOUR TO WINNIPEG SUNDAY AUGUST 19

Commemoration Tour to Start Here at 9:40. C. L. Hansen Is Local Chairman.

Plans are going forward for the centennial commemoration tour under the auspices of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association from points in the Red River Valley to Winnipeg on August 19. The tour, primarily scheduled for last month, was postponed until August 19 on account of muddy roads. The trip will be in honor of the government survey of the Red River Valley and the definite recording of the Canadian boundary line 100 years ago.

C. L. Hansen has yeen named by the Commercial club as chairman of a local committee in charge of arrangements for a delegation from Thief River Falls. Anyone having cars and contemplating making the trip should notify Mr. Hansen at the earliest time possible so that the committee may make the necessary arrangements.

Starts will be made at nine o'clock from East Grand Forks, Crookston and Red Lake Falls. Stops will be made enroute from these three towns until Warren is reached where all the cars will consolidate into one line at 11 o'clock. The tourists will leave Thief River Falls at 9:40 a. m.

The border line at Emerson will be reached shortly after two o'clock where dinner will be served and the tour will continue on to Winnipeg at three o'clock. The Manitoba capital will be reached at 6:30 Sunday evening.

All cars joining the tour are requested to have town name plates or banners on their cars in addition to carrying small American and Canadian flags on the rear sides to indicate the cars in the tour. Mr. Zealand also emphasizes the importance of registering the cars with the office as the Canadian cities are planning entertainments for which it is necessary they have the names and addresses of all making the trip. Prompt passage thru the customs will also be facilitated by this information.

The return trip will start from Winnipeg at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, August 21 when a visit will be made to the Manitoba Agricultural college.

Union Plumbers Given Judgment in Lawsuit

Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren has filed with Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund his decision in the case of L. W. Fossum, E. W. Fossum and M. H. Fossum, Union Plumbers, plaintiffs, and F. J. Dudley, M. F. Murphy and Kelly-Howe-Thompson, defendants, and Duluth Plumbing Supplies company and Metal Roofing and Cornice company of Duluth intervenors, which reads as follows: "That each of the said lien claimants are entitled to the judgment of this court decreeing that said liens be foreclosed as provided by law and that each of said claimants are entitled to their costs and disbursements."

The question arose over the payment of bills connected with the erection of the building put up by F. J. Dudley, now occupied by the Thompson cafe. Dudley refused to pay the Union Plumbers a certain sum claimed to be due them and as a result the matter was brought before the district court.

GASOLINE PRICE MAKES BIG DROP IN ALL SECTIONS

Standard Oil Companies and Independent Producers Alike Announce Reductions.

Price Slashed From 25.4 Cents Per Gallon to 18.8 Cents in This Section.

Reaches Lowest Level Since 1915. Result of Price War Started in So. Dakota.

Gasoline today is being sold at filling stations in Thief River Falls and vicinity for 18.8 cents per gallon, a drop from 25.4 cents which went into effect Tuesday morning. This is the lowest price for socalled "low test gas" since in 1915. Gasoline by the barrel is selling for 16.8 cents, according to announcement by local distributors.

The new price took effect at all the filling stations, as independent companies and large distributors alike fell intl line with the Standard Oil company of Indiana, who Monday night hung out signs in the large cities announcing the cut to 16.9 cents. Proportionate reductions were made generally throughout the northwest, although the officials of both distributing and independent companies declare the drastic reduction means large losses if the new prices are kept in effect more than a short time.

Reductions in gasoline prices begun when Governor W. H. McMasters of South Dakota ordered state highway supply depots to sell gasoline at 16 cents a gallon, assumed national aspects Tuesday when price cuts announced by the Standard Oil companies of Indiana and Kentucky and independent producers became effective in middle western and southern states.

Gasoline Tuesday was selling at 15.4c in Chicago, 16¼c in Omaha, 15.9c in Kansas City, 22c in Louisville, 11c in Dallas and from 13 to 16 cents in other part of Texas with the prices in other sections affected by the reductions varying according to freight rates.

In Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, Missouri and parts of Oklahoma the cut made by the Standard Oil company of Indiana was 6.6c and that of the independents in the same territory 5c.

Retail prices in Kentucky, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, and Georgia were reduced one cent by the Standard Oil company of Kentucky. Gas dealers in Nebraska announced a cut of 6¼c. The Magnolia company reduced its price in Fort Worth, Tex., 2c making the price 11c a gallon.

Following the announcement that an investigation of the gasoline and oil situation had been undertaken by the department of justice refiners and distributors in the Rocky Mountain states declared they courted an inquiry, which, they said, would show no unreasonable profit had been made.

Officials of the Continental Oil company in Denver said they were not concerned in the price cuts being made in other sections of the country.

Investigations of local conditions are now under way or have been ordered to proceed by various state executives and municipal authorities.

Tumbling prices in gasoline as placed in effect by the Standard Oil company of Indiana and followed by large independent oil companies of the Middle West, resulted in heavier selling in petroleum stock on the New York market. Coalesced with these reports came word that a cut in the price of crude oil was inevitable and that a large reduction in the price of that product was expected.

A report from Pierre, S. D., says that the man who started the price war is "scared." Governor McMaster, informed of the drastic cut of the Standard Oil company of Indiana and other companies, expressed a fear that the "war" may prove disastrous. "It all depends on whether this cut is advisable," he said, "whether it will prove beneficial to the industry, and to the public. It looks to me like the Standard Oil is trying to force down the price at refineries and possibly knock out the small dealers. If this is accomplished the whole thing might prove disastrous."

Investigation of gasoline prices and profit spread will continue, despite the reduction, N. J. Holmberg, state commissioner of agriculture, announced. He began the investigation at the order of Governor Preus, who received an offer of 10,000,000 gallons of gasoline at 8.7 cents per gallon f. o. b. Oklahoma, offered for sale by John A. Anderson of Chicago.

Motorists who drove up to filling stations Tuesday were incredulous as they saw price signs offering gasoline at 16.9 cents instead of 23½ in the twin cities and 18.9 cents instead of 25.4 in this section. Many, believing the reduction might not last, took unusually large quantities.

Receives Compliments.

John Burdick of Chicago, one of Chicago's oldest florists, having been engaged in the business there the past 47 years, was in the city Thursday. He viewed the window decorations of Martin Bothun, local florist, which were displayed in commemoration of President Harding, and complimented Mr. Bothun highly on his ingenuity in producing so exact a replica of the statue of liberty and the American flag. The decorations were much talked of locally and were truly works of art in a very high sense of the word.

County Attorney on Trip.

County Attorney Theo. Quale and his family left Saturday by car, for Madison, S. D., and other points, where they will spend two weeks visiting relatives and friends. During his absence the county attorney's business is being cared for by O. A. Naplin.

WILL YOU HELP?

The Times is this week making an appeal to all of its subscribers to pay one or more year's subscription to the paper at this time. Conditions brought about by the fire which destroyed our plant on May 22nd make this appeal absolutely necessary. We must raise a large sum of money to meet the obligations incurred in rebuilding our plant and our subscribers are the only source we have to get this money from. A small amount from each one will mean a great deal to us now. Many have already responded very generously. Have you?

She Did Her Best.

A pretty girl became engaged to a poor young man who went West in order to make a home for her. The other day a girl friend said to her: "Are your thoughts always faithful to that gallant young fellow who is toiling so hard for you out there in Idaho?" "Oh, dear, yes," exclaimed the pretty girl. "When other chaps kiss me, I always close my eyes and try to think its poor darling George."

STABILIZATION OF GRAIN PRICE ASKED AT MEET

Gathering in This City Saturday Calls For Immediate Fixing Of Wheat Price.

Many Prominent Speakers Favor Special Legislation to Aid Depressed Farmers.

Among Speakers are Congressman Wefald, Jewett, Royster and Senator Hansen.

An appeal for the immediate stabilization of the price on wheat by the government, was the result of the meeting held in this city Saturday afternoon and evening. The gathering was called to hear expressions from various prominent men regarding the question of price fixing and the calling of a special session of congress to provide immediate relief to the farmers of the country. Meetings of a similar nature are being held thruout the Northwest at this time and everywhere there is a decided call for something to be done in the way of governmental stabilization. In some sections it is not only a plea for a wheat price but a stabilization of farm products in general. Saturday's gathering was not well attended but those present showed a great deal of enthusiasm over the subject. Discussions of the present deplorable condition of the producer was ably handled by a number of interesting speakers at both the afternoon and evening session.

The meeting was presided over by G. Halvorson and opened in the afternoon with W. W. Royster of Glenwood, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, as the first speaker. He asserted the laborers were standing strong behind the farmer in his fight for a reasonable price for his products. He continued: "The interest of the farmer, worker and ligitimate business man is identical. Primarily, agriculture is the foundation of all prosperity; when the farmer is not prosperous then labor is not prosperous and business suffers in like proportion. Business and labor cannot prosper without the farmer's prosperity; neither can the farmer and business prosper where labor is not prosperous, nor can the farmer and labor prosper where business cannot function properly, for the reason that the matter of distribution is the function of business. These three elements of society are interdependent of each other and an offense against one is an offense against the other. The thinking farmer, laborer and business man will recognize this as an absolute economic truth." He committed himself and fellow workers as in favor of a stabilized price allowing the farmer a fair profit.

He was followed by ex-representative H. O. Berve of Marshall county, who stated that the farmers must have immediate relief through price stabilization as he thought co-operative marketing would at best be a slow working process.

Senator C. L. Hansen, president of the First National bank of this city, spoke of the position of the bankers and the difficulties they are subject to during this period when the farmer is in such a deplorable financial condition. He criticised the immense salaries drawn by Federal Reserve bank officials and mentioned other governmental extravagance. Mr. Hansen stated that he favored a guaranteed price of wheat as a relief at this time. He said that it was a good thing to get new blood into congress in dealing with present economic problems.

J. G. Holmstrom of Roseau made an able address in which he advocated definite plans. He said that the farmers must have $2 per bushel for their wheat at this time. He flayed the Capper-Tincher bill and those who voted for it. Other speakers in the afternoon were R. D. Moberg of Marshall county, Hans Anton of Pennington county, various remedies of present conditions being presented, some of a conservative and others of a more drastic and radical nature.

George C. Jewett, general manager of the American Wheat Growers associated, was the first speaker at the evening session, when the attendance was somewhat larger. His talk was devoted largely to an outline of the plans of the extensive co-operative body, and gave assurance of the control of the wheat market by the na-

WHEAT GROWERS ASSOCIATED FOR EXTRA SESSION

Declares Stabilized Price Necessary to Prevent Loss on This Year's Crop.

Organization By Next Year Will Be Sufficiently Developed to Control Situation.

George C. Jewett Announces Decision in Thief River Falls Address Saturday.

Declaring that American wheat growers within a year's time will have perfected marketing organizations to a position where they can control the price of their product, Geo. C. Jewett, General Manager, American Wheat Growers' association, of Minneapolis, called upon the Government for temporary relief until the next marketing season, at the stabilization meeting in Thief River Falls, Saturday afternoon, August 11.

Mr. Jewett declared the only ultimate solution for the "wheat problem" is action by wheat growers themselves. But he also pointed out that the organization of the producers of a commodity of such importance is a matter of considerable time, and stated that the interval between now and the period of an effective control organization was a vital one for the American grain industry.

"There is no need for me to recite to you the disastrous conditions which now exist among wheat growers," said Mr. Jewett. "This meeting itself is just one proof that things cannot continue as they are if we are to carry on our production. I do not recall a time when things were so bad that farmers were forced to leave their farms in the midst of harvesting operations to attend meetings designed to improve conditions. That is what we have today."

The American Wheat Growers association, of which Mr. Jewett is the general manager, is the joint sales agency for nine state wheat growers' associations, all organized for co-operative marketing. The Minnesota Wheat Growers Co-operative Marketing association is one of these state groups. The American Wheat Growers association maintains sales offices in Minneapolis and Duluth, Omaha, Kansas City, Seattle, Portland and Spokane, and exports wheat, directly through an exclusive European connection. The organization will market approximately 60,000,000 bushels this year, according to Mr. Jewett.

"But 60,000,000 bushels is not enough to allow us to definitely control wheat prices," he said. "We need at least 300,000,000 bushels out of the nation's annual production, and when the time comes that our organizations control this amount of grain, then the time will have come when American wheat growers, by their own action and of their own power, shall say that wheat is a commodity for which a legitimate price must be paid. All that is necessary now is a most temporary action on the part of the government to support the industry during the next few important months."

The American Wheat Growers associated as a unit has appealed for a special session of congress, with the idea of obtaining a Federal Board, suitably financed, to raise prices for this crop to a legitimate level. The organization has declared to the President of the United States that such action is imperative. It has pointed out the fact that wheat growers during the war were limited in their returns and that ever since the crop of 1919 they have been working at an absolute loss."

The state wheat growers' associations joined in the organization represented by Mr. Jewett are just launching a new membership drive designed to procure prior to July 1, 1924, an amount of wheat large enough to enable them to control prices in the future. As explained by Mr. Jewett this campaign will be put on simultaneously in the states of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Colorado, Montana, Oregon, Washington and Idaho. A goal of at least 65 per cent of the wheat produced in these nine states has been announced. In addition to these organizations similar co-operative concerns in Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas are expected to join in the membership drive and it is thought that new associations may be established in Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and possibly other states where the production of wheat is important to the nation's total.

"We are wholeheartedly for Federal action now," said Mr. Jewett, "and we are exerting every effort within our power to see that something is done immediately by the government in protection of American wheat growers, but we also realize that the conditions which confront us today cannot be permanently dissipated by anything except action on the part of the producers themselves. We urge you to investigate the mechanics of wheat marketing to determine just how the world's prices when set at too low a level, as they are today, influence American price range. And then I ask you to visualize a new marketing machine whereby the farmers are enabled to sell their export at the best prices which can be obtained and then under the protection of a legitimate tariff, set a domestic price high enough so that the average of all sales, domestic and foreign, will represent cost plus profit for American wheat."

Gunder Hanson of Hickory Dies at His Home Friday

After an illness extending over a period of two years, Gunder J. Hanson of Hickory township, south of Erie, passed away at his family home, Friday, Aug. 10, the cause of his death being cancer of the stomach. During the last seven months prior to his demise his condition was such that he had to remain in bed constantly.

Mr. Hanson, who would have been 68 years of age on the day of his funeral, was born in Jolster, Sogn, Norway. He was united in marriage to Anlaug Olson from Sannes in Satesdalen, Norway, in 1883, to which union twelve children were born, nine of whom are living. The family resided at Scandinavia, Wis., for seven years, until they moved to this county and homesteaded on a farm near the Red Lake river where they have resided for the past seventeen years. He was a hard worker and had been a strong and able man until taken ill with cancer two years ago.

Deceased is survived by seven sons, all of whom make their home on their father's farm, and two daughters, one of whom is at home and the other, Mrs. Klemmenson, at Mondy, Iowa.

Funeral services were held on Monday from the home and the Erie Lutheran church, Rev. P. A. Thoreson of Goodridge officiating at the services, delivering a sermon in both the Norwegian and English language. Six sons of the deceased were pall bearers. The funeral was attended by a large number of sorrowing friends and neighbors. Interment was made in the Ekland cemetery near Erie.

RED LAKE INDIANS BEATEN IN SHUTOUT GAME LAST SUNDAY

Thief River Falls Easy Victor in 8 to 0 Contest. Will Play Warroad August 19.

A complete shut-out was handed the Red Lake Indians when they clashed here with the Thief River Falls baseball club last Sunday, the locals piling up 8 points to the visitors' goose egg.

The game was well attended and fans pronounce it as a very interesting game altho the final score would indicate otherwise. Fast work was displayed by both aggregations but Yost's delivery apparently was too much for the visiting "Redskins."

Yost and Anderson formed an effective battery for the Thief Riverites while Joe Graves and R. Lawrence performed for the Indians. Anderson twisted his knee in the first inning but finished the game, making three hits in the course of the contest. He will be unable to play the remainder of the season. "Chief" Graves was once a Philadelphia American league pitcher and showed that, although he had been out of the big games the last few years, he still swings a wicked arm. However, Yost, the Thief River Falls crack twirler, had 12 strikeouts to his credit while Graves had eight. The former allowed only one base on balls while the "Chief" walked three. Two-base hits were made by Schutt of the locals and Gurneau of the Indians. Three hits were made by Anderson and two runs each were made by Larson and Jonas. Stenhoff, Schutt, Anderson and Brudie were credited with one each.

The contest was umpired by Sheedy and Eng.

Next Sunday the 19th, the Thief River Falls boys will go to Warroad to cross bats with the aggregation of that city. A number of fans intend to accompany the team on their trip into northern territory.

Manager Thronson is trying to bring the fast East Grand Forks club here for a game on Sunday, Aug. 26. The two teams have broken even so far, the locals winning a game here 6 to 3 while the East Grand Forkers were victors on their home grounds 4 to 2. A third combat would prove of much interest to decide the stronger team and may be the last one to be played this season.

Crandall Home Burns.

Dr. C. R. Crandall, a former resident of Thief River Falls, now making his home at Napa, Cal., writes to friends in this city stating that the home occupied by the Crandall family was recently totally destroyed by fire. They suffered a considerable financial loss, all the contents also being consumed by the flames. None of the occupants of the house were injured. Dr. Crandall and family moved west a year ago.

BEET WEIGHS 10¼ LBS.

A sugar beet weighing ten and one quarter pounds was brought to the city this week by L. W. Manther and C. H. Smith, the unusually large specimen having been grown in their field south of Thief River Falls. It is claimed to be the largest beet seen in this section and there is still a six weeks' growing period remaining.

BUMPER CROP OF SUGAR BEETS IS INDICATION NOW

Winners in Sugar Beet Contest Are Announced. Judges Report Many 100% Fields.

Contest Creates Much Interest Among Growers Thruout Surrounding Territory.

Club Committee Active to Secure Special Train For Beet Shipment as Ad Stunt.

Prizes for the best sugar beet fields in the vicinity of Thief River Falls were awarded last week after the judges completed the following report as to the winners in each respective district:

Southwest District—Over 10 acres, Charles Correll; three to 10 acres, C. H. Smith and L. W. Manther.

Southeast District—Over 10 acres, Rasmus Oen; 3 to 10 acres, Carl M. Lee; three acres or less, J. N. Huddleson.

Northwest District—Over 10 acres, Will Smith; 3 to 10 acres, Jens Kierk; 3 acres or less, Earl DeVelling.

Northeast District—Over 10 acres, Halvor Fodstad; 3 to 10 acres, Nels Christopherson; three acres or less, Martin Quist.

P. A. Peterson was awarded the prize for doing the best labor in this section.

The grand prize of $50 for the greatest tonnage per acre will be awarded when the beets are harvested.

The judges state that the fields given first places were in practically every case in 100 per cent condition, in regard to quality, cultivation and general appearance. A survey of the entire acreage gives assurance of a big yield, making it evident that sugar beet raising will take its place as one of the most profitable industries in this section. The sugar percentage promises to be very high.

At the noon luncheon at the Commercial club rooms last Thursday, at which several men interested in sugar beets spoke, H. W. Protzeller, chairman of the sugar beet committee, discussed the plans which the committee intend to carry out this fall. Arrangements are now under way to secure a special train of about 50 cars of beets to be sent to the Northern Sugar company in Mason City, Iowa, as an advertising stunt. This will draw the attention of people in the southern part of the state and elsewhere to the importance of this section in the raising of sugar beets. It is also planned to have a number of live boosters accompany the shipment to distribute advertising matter along the way.

The acreage in the vicinity of Thief River Falls totals 774 acres, the greater part of which is in excellent condition, according to County Agent McCann.

FEDERAL FUNDS ARE AVAILABLE TO HELP WHEAT MARKETING

Large Funds Necessary for Proper Sale of Grain Under New Sales Association.

All arrangements have been completed for the use of federal funds in financing the marketing of Minnesota wheat by the new co-operative association which is now organizing, according to George C. Jewett, general manager of the American Wheat Growers' association, with headquarters at Minneapolis. This sales organization markets the co-operative wheat for nine state associations, of which the Minnesota association is one.

"We have had several conferences with officers of the land bank and the new intermediate credit bank, and are assured of ample federal money to care for our needs," said Mr. Jewett. "Of course we will also make use of funds provided by regular commercial banks, but the fact that we also have this added source makes our operation that much more secure."

The policy of the co-operative organizations is to make an advance approximating 75 per cent of the market price of the wheat at the time each member sends his elevator tickets to the state headquarters office. It is to meet these advances that the associations borrow many millions of dollars about marketing time each year. Then as the wheat is sold, in an orderly manner extending over a ten months' period, the loans are retired and additional advances are made to members. After the sales work is completed a final settlement is made to each grower.

The Minnesota association at the present time has nearly 2000 wheat growers in its ranks, and it is expected that many times that number will be listed within the next few months. The campaign for members will continue throughout the next fall and winter.

Aged Former St. Hilaire Resident Dies Suddenly

Christ Hall, a former resident of St. Hilaire, passed away suddenly last Saturday at the home of his son, Selvan Hall, at Crookston, death being caused by heart failure.

Mr. Hall and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Campbell and their son, Kenneth, motored to Crookston from their home in Duluth, arriving Wednesday. Plans were made for many trips to nearby towns, including St. Hilaire, the former home of Mr. Hall, Sr. During the day, Saturday, illness overcame Mr. Hall, but it was not considered serious, and death came peacefully as he was resting in his chair.

Mr. Hall was born in Denmark and came to the States when quite a young man. His wife died many years ago and he leaves the one son, Selvan Hall, and a daughter, Mrs. Campbell. The funeral rites were conducted on Tuesday afternoon at the Hall residence, 212 East Fifth street, with Rev. F. J. Hibbard, of the Presbyterian church, in charge. Members of the Odd Fellows Lodge of St. Hilaire acted as pallbearers. Mr. Hall was a charter member of that lodge.

Fraternal Congress To Hold National Annual Meeting August 27-30

An important gathering of international importance will be that of the National Fraternal Congress of America whose annual convention takes place at French Lick Springs, Indiana, August 27-30.

The Congress is an organization of the fraternal insurance societies of the United States and Canada, the subordinate bodies of this organization having a membership of more than six million people who carry life [illegible] ten million dollars. These societies have local bodies in every city and town in the United States and Canada, and the results of the work of the Congress are of local interest everywhere.

Prominent speakers on the program of the National Fraternal Congress for this convention are: Hon. James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, Hon. James E. Watson, United States Senator from Indiana, Hon Samuel M. Ralston, United States Senator from Indiana, Hon. Harry Arthur Hopf, New York, Management Engineer, Barney Pearson of St. Louis and F. C. Walpas of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

This Congress was organized twenty-five years ago and has been continuous in its work for the benefit of the insured members of the several societies. Several billion dollars have been paid in benefits to the deceased members' beneficiaries which has made possible the maintaining of the home after the bread winner has passed away; the support of the aged, and the education of the orphan.

The assets of these fraternal societies are invested in bonds, the money from which has erected school houses, built roads and streets, and other public improvements which mean so much to the health and prosperity of our nation.

At the meeting of the Congress addresses will be made and discussions had upon all subjects pertaining to the welfare of the people of our country, the improvement of the conditions of the fraternal insurance societies and their regulation and superintendence by government officials, additional privileges and benefits to the insured members, education and instruction of field representatives of these societies, and additional matters of interest to the convention will be presented by men most prominent and able in each respective line.

While the Congress is a representative body, yet all members of fraternal societies are welcome and admitted to all sessions of the Congress.

Life insurance as it is now operated has proved to be one of the greatest benefits to humanity and to the progress and solidarity of our country. Every man and woman who is interested in this great subject should if possible attend the meeting of the National Fraternal Congress.

Pure - Breds and Prosperity

There is more to the question of pure-bred stock than a matter of pedigree, registry and conformation to type. Successful dairymen will testify that the superiority of the pure-bred over the scrub also shows in the milk pail, and in the cream check

In prosperous farming communities, herds are headed by pure-bred sires, not because prosperous farmers can afford the luxury of pure-breds, but because the pure-breds have made the farmers prosperous.

ROSEWOOD

Enraged Bull Attacks Farmer.

P. Sorenson, aged 72, a farmer residing two miles north of town, was attacked by an enraged four-year old Holstein bull last Friday evening. While attempting to bring the animal into the barn he was severely dealt with before help arrived. Sorenson had listed the bull for shipping from Rosewood the following day as he was considered unsafe to strangers, and was on Friday evening to bring him to the Rosewood stock yards. Therefore he went into the pasture where the animal was grazing to bring him to the barn, but instead of obeying the master the animal charged, and before help could reach him the bull had thrown Mr. Sorenson three times into the air and left him badly conditioned. Dr. Bowers from Thief River Falls was immediately summoned and responded at once, and later a dray truck was summoned to bring the injured man to the Physicians hospital at Thief River Falls, where he is at this writing suffering from four broken ribs and lacerated lungs. He was on Monday evening reported as very weak, but hope was still held forth for his recovery. The enraged bull was later brought to Rosewood by about fifteen men who volunteered at the task. The animal was in a furious temper and a very difficult job it proved to control him, and the only way he could be brought to Rosewood was after he was roped helpless and driven in on a stone-boat.

We asked a Redwood County farmer the other day why he don't go into dairying and he said: "I want to, but my boys don't like to milk cows." This called to our mind the story of a North Dakota farmer who, when asked if he raised alfalfa said—"No! You have to cut that blamed stuff four times a year!"—Redwood Gazette.

American Legion Notes

Minnesota Children.

We've all taken part in circuses when we were children, but the children of Glencoe, Minn., showed fine spirit recently when they put on a circus with cowboys, Indians, fattest woman, tallest man, a big parade and other world wonders, all for two cents admission, and sent the proceeds to the American Legion Auxiliary to help disabled buddies in hospital. The check amounted to $1.75 but it represented the good will of hundreds of children.

At Itasca Park.

The Giantvalley Legion Post of Minneapolis has placed $40 at the disposal of Scoutmaster Herbert Watson of its Legion Troop to defray his expense while attending a two-week course for scoutmasters at Itasca Park where, starting August 6th, he is receiving a complete course in scouting. When Giantvalley Legionaires went to the Faribault convention they took their Boy Scout Troop with them to march in the parade.

A Lagoon of Lights.

Austin Legionaires are all set for their big regatta. Climbing greased poles, dancing on a buttered floor, and racing backward in a canoe contest, are some of the pastimes. The beach, transformed into a lagoon of 500 lights with an open air dance pavilion, hot dog stands, and the like, resembles a Coney Island picture. Crack swimmers and rowers from Iowa, Illinois and Missouri will compete with those from Wisconsin and Minnesota. Walking a tight wire stretched over the water is another of the thrills. August 20 is the date.

Back of the Legion.

When Henry Bergquist Post of Mora, Minnesota announced that its members will help the Kanabec County Fair association by selling 1,500 tickets to the county fair among their friends, the Kanabec County Times declared: "The American Legion is getting behind every worthy community enterprise, and the people are backing the Legion."

The Lost Battalion.

Martin O. Lokken, a member of the famous Lost Battalion, is the new Second District Legion Adjutant appointed by District Commander Ell Lund of Windom following the latter's election to Second District leadership at Jackson recently. Comrade Lokken, who lives at Windom, is reputed to be just as much in the thick of Legion work as he was in the Argonne doings. "Keep The Second First," is his slogan.

In his report to the Fifth Annual Minnesota Legion Convention at Faribault Aug. 13, 14, 15, 1923, State Adjutant Stafford King said, in part:

"The Legion National News Service Director, Mr. Cadou, credits Minnesota with receiving more Legion publicity than any other department of the American Legion. No other state receives such splendid co-operation from its home town newspapers. No other state is better treated by its large daily newspapers. In the pages of the national ex-service publications such as The American Legion Weekly and The Stars and Stripes, no other state receives so much credit for its efforts of a national character.

"In the American Legion Weekly we average forty columns of publicity per year. The Stars and Stripes has told of our accomplishments to the extent of 35 columns. Hardly an issue of the weekly news letter broadcasted throughout the nation by The Legion National News Service to approximately 5,000 daily and weekly newspapers fails to include one or two stories about Minnesota. The daily newspapers of the state go out of their way to help us convey our plans and accomplishments to our members and the public. Their representatives, the Associated and United Press associations, visit Legion Department Headquarters daily in order to accommodate us.

"No other state in the nation has half as many newspapers regularly carrying a special column of Legion news each week for the convenience of its Legionaires. In Minnesota, even the great radio broadcasting stations co-operate with the Legion. Thus, the publicity received by the American Legion of Minnesota is of three kinds—national, state, and local. National publicity is secured in The American Legion Weekly, The Stars and Stripes, and through The Legion National News Service. Statewide publicity comes to us through the daily newspapers and through The Minnesota Legion News Service, whose weekly news release is published by more than 250 home town newspapers and in The Service Man's Corner in the Sunday St. Paul Daily News.

"Local Legion publicity appears in the home town paper which describes the doings and plans of the local Legion and Auxiliary. Every week more than 200 home town Minnesota newspapers are received at Department Headquarters. An enormous amount of space is given by them to describing the activities of your posts. To the editors of Minnesota the American Legion owes a debt of appreciation and gratitude, not only for the news space they give us, but for the many constructive editorials they write in our behalf. Make friends with your home town editor and see that he is furnished with all available information concerning your activities. If he does not re-print all or part of the Minnesota Legion Weekly News Letter, in all probability it will not be hard to persuade him to do so. The weekly news letter and a suitable cut will be furnished without charge from Department Headquarters, 305 Old Capitol, St. Paul. Address your request to Phil O'Toole, your Assistant Department Adjutant, to whose conscientious endeavor such successful publicity is largely due."

A SPECIAL REQUEST

WE are appealing to our subscribers to pay us one or more years subscription to The Times at this time. Owing to the severe loss sustained by reason of the fire which destroyed our plant May 22, we are badly in need of money to pay the obligations incurred in re-establishing our printing plant. The situation is an extremely serious one for us, and conditions have made it necessary for us to appeal to our subrcribers and depend entirely on their help to help us.

A Small Amount

The payment of one or more years subscription is a small matter to each individual, but several thousand of these payments will mean a great deal to us. Do what you can! We are endeavoring to publish a newspaper truly representative of this community and the best interests of the people, and in order to continue this, we must have the united support of our subscribers. We are firm in our belief that we can depend on this support now when we most need it.

Don't Delay

It is of the most importance that we raise all the money possible in a very short time. We respectfully request that you pay us whatever you can now.

MUST BE MADE PROFITABLE.

Much is being said at this time concerning the condition of the farming industry and many theories, schemes and ideas are being advanced as to what will bring about a change and make the farmer prosperous. The result of all this is that the mind of the public on this subject is in very much of a badly confused and hazy condition. Some claim that the farmer needs more credit, another group is certain that the farmer's salvation will be brought about by a complete change in the method of farming, while a third group is committed to a change in marketing conditions through co-operative handling of grain. The head of the agricultural department of the state of Wisconsin is authority for the statement that the cause of the difficulty of the farming industry at the present time is the fact that a large number of farmers are so situated that they are forced, in the farming of land poorly suited to agriculture, into competition with farmers tilling highly productive soil. He recommends an abandonment of the poor land, using it for reforesting or other purposes for which it may be suited. In this way he points out that the production of small grain will be greatly reduced and that the supply will then be on a more even basis with the demand, thus creating a situation that will put the price of grain at a point where it will return a profit to the producer.

Those who are advocating more credit for the farmer should be dismissed without a hearing. The idea is absolutely ridiculous. The farmer has more debt now than he can carry and anything that will increase this and make the interest burden that much greater has no place for consideration. To simply supply the farmer with more money and leave his business on the same unprofitable basis that it is today, is only postponing the inevitable for a few months at the best. If an increased loan is all that the farmer has to look forward to he better quit now.

The advocates of a complete change in the method of farming by greater diversification are on much safer ground. However, a farmer can so arrange his operations and engage in diversified farming to the extent of having a dozen different branches of the industry to depend on each year but what will this change avail him if he is still forced to market his product at a price less than the cost of production? Diversified farming alone will not save the farmer.

Will co-operative marketing together with diversified farming bring about the desired relief? This is a big question, one that is demanding the attention of the best authorities throughout the entire country. It appears that if the farmers can be firmly enough united in the co-operative handling of what they raise that they will be able to control the situation and demand a price that will give them a return of the actual cost plus a profit. Some obstacles to this plan, such as world conditions beyond the control of the American farmer, present themselves but many are of the opinion that these are visionary and will disappear when a united front is presented by the farmers of this country.

The whole situation resolves itself to a point where it becomes apparent that whatever plan of relief is going to save the farming industry from collapse must have a solid background in the way of dependable representation in the state and national legislative bodies. Without this representation any method of marketing which may be devised can be knocked into a cocked hat by opposing interests. The people of Minnesota have a good start toward accomplishing results in a political way and every precaution should be taken not to lose an inch of the ground thus gained. The economic situation should receive all the attention and consideration that it demands but the political side must never be overlooked. The business of farming must be made profitable.

The successful raising of the sugar beet crop in Pennington county this year is demanding the attention of the entire state. Papers in all sections are commenting on the aggressiveness of the farmers and business men of this section in successfully introducing a crop that promises to bring a marked degree of prosperity and with it manufacturing industries that will be a decided asset. The farmers who have beet crops this year are immensely pleased with the prospect for profitable returns and those who have been waiting to see if the experiment proved successful are now satisfied and making plans to get in the game next year with fields devoted to sugar beets. A slogan that is gaining in popularity in this vicinity is "More cows, clover, alfalfa, corn, potatoes and sugar beets and let the other fellow worry about the price of wheat."

A saving of $14,000 a day on gasoline purchases in Minnesota ought to go a long ways toward a return to prosperous conditions.

It is estimated that the upkeep and operating expense of the automobiles of Pennington county exceeds the entire income from the dairying industry of the county. Looks like a game that is hard to beat but the reduced price of gasoline will make up a part of the deficit.

The election of Magnus Johnson to the United States Senate still occupies the center of the stage in the dicussions of politicians throughout the country. It will probably continue to be a source of speculation and comment until the 1924 election furnishes more copy of a similar nature.

400,000 WILL FORCE AUTO TAX PAYMENTS

Minnesota Owners of Tax-Paid Machines Start War on Motor Dodgers in State.

The state-wide drive against automobile tax dodgers opened this week with the endorsement of the Minnesota Automobile association.

More than 400,000 auto and truck owners who have paid their motor vehicle taxes are being called upon to see to it that the 12,000 to 15,000 dodgers in Minnesota are compelled to pay their auto taxes. It will mean about $250,000 of additional highway improvements, officials assert, and justice to the larger number of auto owners.

The state license fee now takes the place of other motor vehicle taxes and is the only direct levy for trunk highway improvements. Collections of the tax on every machine in the state will materially speed the highway improvement program and increase savings on car upkeep, tires and gasoline for all highway users.

The latest drive results from a tax dodger's statement that the man who pays his auto tax is a "sucker" and his boast that he had paid no taxes on his car for either 1922 or 1923. Commissioner C. M. Babcock of the state highway department overheard the remarks and suggested the plan of action. He predicted that the 400,000 owners of tax-paid cars probably would like in fairness to themselves to demonstrate that the dodger has taken the poor end of the argument by compelling him to pay his taxes, plus penalties and costs.

Active assistance will be forthcoming at once from every automobile club member in the state, according to G. Roy Hill, secretary and manager of the Minnesota State Automobile association. He predicted that the club members would take the lead as volunteers in the campaign and start without official notices.

Co-operation of county attorneys and sheriffs throughout the state was pledged by James E. Markham, deputy attorney general, St. Paul, who asked that any dereliction on the part of these officials during the campaign be reported to his office.

Any citizen finding an unlicensed car on the road has authority to arrest, the driver and take him into court. Volunteers may act on their own initiative or with local directors. The campaign is counted on to yield better and quicker results than that by the state in which the highway and legal departments have been assisting the secretary of state.

Sheriff Ihle stated that many cases are found where sets of tags are split to serve on two machines, and tags are changed between cars, and in those the courts are imposing heavy fines. Regardless of whether it is used on the highways, every vehicle owned in Minnesota is subject to the license tax which now replaces all other taxes. Besides increasing penalties, persons operating unlicensed cars are liable to arrest daily, and this is one consideration of the close check being kept on cars now, according to the officer.

Towns Have Personality.
(Ozark News Flashes.)

Towns, like folks, have personality—for a town is a collection of individuals. And that town or resort, which if filled with people who think together, pull together, and act together, has one of the greatest assets a place could have. The stranger judges a town by his reception. If it is cold, indifferent, non-interesting, nine times out of ten, he will pass on. But if the reception is warm, if he is made to feel "at home," the town has made a friend for life—and perhaps will gain a citizen worth while. Men, women, children, all are salespeople for the town in which they live. Let's make the folks of the Ozarks super-salesmen. Let's build intelligently—upon firm foundation—let's build with courtesy Then the development of the Ozark Region is assured.

Alfalfa Crop Requires Most Careful Handling

Alfalfa leaves which comprise about 45 per cent of the hay crop and contain about 65 per cent of the protein content in the hay, require careful handling if they are to be retained with the stalks in the harvesting of the hay.

Alfalfa, to be harvested properly, should be put up while it is still a trifle green, as it will retain the leaves in this state, pack closer in the mow and be a better and brighter color when fed.

It is a common practice to cut the hay in the morning as soon as the dew is off, and then rake into bunches late in the afternoon after it has thoroughly wilted. Often alfalfa that is cut in the morning dries too fast and becomes brittle when cut this way so that many growers favor the cutting of the hay late one afternoon and putting it up the next afternoon.

Although many times the first cutting is often discolored by moisture it is still valuable as feed as experiments show that stock eat it as readily as the better grades.

Editors and Reporters Wanted.

Of more than 5,000 prisoners in the Leavenworth (Kans.) federal prison, there is not a single newspaper reporter or news editor. The warden declared much difficulty has been experienced in getting out the prison paper because of the lack of reporters and news editors. Volunteers were asked for and no one responded so a survey was made and it was found that out of 5,000 or more men there was not a reporter nor an editor inside the prison walls.

Minnesota Has Spoken.

For many years, so many that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, as the lawyers say, the genius politician has lived in supreme confidence that all he needed was language.

Granted that the people had ills, the politician felt that the fever heat of a campaign would be sufficient to banish by election day any personal troubles of the individual voter and cause him to go to the polls and vote the ticket.

Never has the professional politician failed in warmly promising aid to farmer and laborer. For years, impassioned platform addresses during the campaign were deemed sufficient by the politician. But of late he has gone further; he has remembered his campaign speeches after the election, and transformed a few of them into laws.

In Minnesota, however, the voters showed little more confidence in the laws than they did in the promises.

The fact is the American voter is done with language. He wants government to make good. The American farmer wants markets, not speeches. Politicians can no longer swing an election by platform oratory. Neither can they elect their party ticket by remedial laws which do not remedy the people's ills.

Minnesota has spoken. Her voice is the voice of the country. Government has been too long an organization for the perpetuation of officeholders in office. Government must become an organization which will give intelligent aid to the solution of the people's problems.—Dearborn Independent (Ford's Weekly.)

Billy Noonan says that when he how to farm, it reminds him of an old hears a politician telling the farmers maid telling a mother how to raise her children.

The editor of the Red Wing Eagle, who is a keen observer of present tendencies, says: "As an evidence that times change is the fact that in former years women were satisfied with pin-money; now a great many of them want alimony. Another fact is that in former years a jilted woman sat down and cried; now she stands up and shoots."

Must Pay as They Use.

The next legislature will have something to do when it gets into session in the way of framing the law so that the fellow who drives heavy trucks over the state graveled highways will have to pay much more than he is paying now for the privilege of using a good road. And it is quite evident that something must be done to make the passenger automobile busses pay for the way they tear up the roads.—Goodhue Enterprise.

Facts About Mailing.

A letter carrier who has an ordinary route of 13-15 miles walks around the earth every five years.

One should not marvel at the fact that a carrier with 20 years service behind him, covering 100,000 miles, slows up a bit under a 50-pound pack, on icy sidewalks.

The dividing lines between second, third and fourth class matter can not be stated in a thumb-nail sketch.

sociation by next year. A reproduction of his address will be found in another column of this issue.

Congressman Knud Wefald of Hawley, who delivered a very able address, went extensively into the question of markets and the prospects for legislative cure. He said that the only way in which co-operative projects could succeed would be thru governmental assistance, and the first step would be to get a friendly congress. The congressman asserted that he was in favor of price stabilization to insure the success of agriculture in the future. He urged the farmers to take an active part in politics.

The following set of resolutions drafted at the afternoon session were read and approved:

That Whereas, it is conceded on all hands that the farmers of the nation are in a deplorable condition financially, due to inadequate returns given him for his products on account of conditions over which he has no control and which he neither individually nor collectively can combat.

And Whereas, it is admitted that the farmers have managed to exist upon the inflated values of real estate which has enabled him to contract more debts, and now when land values are at a standstill he finds himself unable to meet his obligations, either principal or interest, and that taxes which are constnatly increasing are becoming delinquint in alarming proportions, and

Whereas the marketing forces of the world do not set prices on the basis of the cost production, but is governed by the result of the contest between bulls and bears of the market, so that the prosperity of the agriculturist has become a football for the speculators and gamblers in the great market exchanges of the world, and

Whereas, we believe that the only agency which can secure for the farmers of the nation, adequate and immediate relief, is the American Government through congressional action:

Therefore Be It Resolved, That we request the President of the United States to call a special session of Congress to enact the required legislation.

That the Government of the United States should organize an agency with power to purchase, if necessary, the exportable surplus of wheat and provide against the importation thereof by tariff;

That Congress then set a minimum price of two dollars per bushel on wheat and a reasonable price on other products.

Expressing our firm conviction, that in so doing the Government of the United States will be taking the necessary step towards giving to the producer, a voice in the fixing of prices on his products, which is absolutely necessary in order that this important industry might live.

Be It Further Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to President Coolidge and that like copies be sent to our Representatives in Congress.

The above resolution was unanimously adopted.

What the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) Means To You

WHEN the Standard Oil Company was born, this country of ours was a land of scattered agriculturists and a few centers of struggling industry.

Power was limited to the physical endurance of horse and man.

Had you lived then you would have enjoyed few of the comforts which today are a common heritage.

In one generation, living conditions in our country have changed completely.

Today, we are a prosperous nation. Our industrial production is intensive. The world is our market.

Petroleum products, created and manufactured by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) have made new industries possible.

Individual opportunities have multiplied in exact ratio to the progress of industry.

New industrial practices and modern refinements have been made possible because petroleum furnished the operating power.

Petroleum supplied the lubricants needed for the speeding up of machinery and the consequent increased production.

With these new practices and the new institutions to manufacture the new products, came new opportunities of all kinds — for labor — for capital—for initiative.

Today you have an automobile—something your father never dreamed of owning.

The fact that you own an automobile is less significant than the fact that the machinery of industry — dependent upon petroleum for its successful operation — has made it possible for so large a percentage of people to own one.

Without petroleum products — the kind of petroleum products manufactured by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)—the brawny arms of every other industry would shrivel to uselessness.

Without Standard Oil Company (Indiana) initiative and industrial daring your standard of living today would be on a different plane.

"Let us come together and remind ourselves of the World Lutheran Convention which is being held at Eisenach, Germany on this date, at which prominent church men of America are speaking," says one of those in charge. Special music has been arranged for the occasion. Refreshments will be served on the grounds. Visitors are requested to bring their basket dinner and enjoy the whole day.

Mrs. William Schumacher and children who have been on an extended trip of three weeks, returned to their home here Tuesday, accompanied by Mr. Schumaker who met them on their return at St. Cloud. They visited at Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Avon, St. Cloud and other points. When they left they were accompanied by Mr. Schumacher, who went with them as far as Avon where they were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Bohner.

Orders Snow Fences to Keep Highways Passable

Aiming to keep trunk highways open in winter wherever possible with a reasonable outlay, Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, this week directed division and district engineers to report on snow fences that may give effective results along the routes. It is planned to advertise for bids on the proposed fences next month and to have them built before snow flies. In many localities the farmers provide substitutes for snow fences by leaving a few rows of corn standing where they will serve the purpose.

Miss Lily Hoard, who has been employed at Jung's bakery the past year, left Saturday for Langlois, Oregon where she has been engaged as school instructor for the coming term. On her way she will visit with Miss Caspara Gran, formerly of this city and now of Minot, N. D., who operated the Marie Posa beauty parlors here and is now affiliated with a similar beauty parlor there, and at Big Sandy where she will be a guest of Miss Pearl Shetler, formerly of this city and reporter of The Tribune for several months.

Many Ex-Service Men Are Getting Training

Fred W. Zeller of the U. S. Veteran's Bureau of St. Paul was in the city this week in the interest of the disabled ex-service men. Mr. Zeller said that the U. S. Veterans Bureau is training disabled war veterans who have been approved for vocational training, in various trades and professions including electricians, machinistsl power plant operation, auto mechanics, watch and jewelry engraving, building draftsmen, linotype operators, shoe rapiring and others.

"Local business men have always co-operated splendidly with the Bureau," said Mr. Zeller. "They have given us assistance that has been most valuable, and our training record in this part of the state may be attributed to their whole-hearted and unselfish support. Our big problem in the future is going to be to find suitable positions for the men as they complete training. We have had difficulty in placing a few of the men, and employers are asked to get in touch with the U. S. Veteran's Bureau at St. Paul when in need of help of any kind. Our men are learning more than a hundred different trades, and the probability is that we can supply their wants."

"It should be remembered that the veterans have been thoroughly trained and that the handicap of their disabilities has been overcome by proper training."

Music Courses Popular At Northwest Ag. School

Seventy students were enrolled for private music instruction at the Northwest School last year. This work was part of the regular course and credit was given towards graduation. In order to care for the increased interest in this work, the school offers still better facilities during the coming year. Three instructors will give lessons in voice, piano, band and orchestra instruments. Private practice rooms are provided. From this it can be seen that northwestern Minnesota young people are greatly interested in securing a musical education and that music holds a very prominent place in the course of study. For those musically inclined opportunity is given to become members of the glee clubs, chorus of 100 voices, band and orchestra.

In addition the school lecture course the ensuing year will bring noted artists to the institution. The other courses at the school include courses in agriculture, home training, nursing and farm business subjects. The school term is six months each year, beginning October 1. Many young men and women are now planning to enter the school when the fall term opens.

Body of Bagley Woman, Lost For Three Weeks, Is Found Dead in Woods

The body of Mrs. Sarah Ann Butt of Bagley, aged 76, who became lost in the woods there three weeks ago, while berry picking, was found by two men who have been constantly searching for her. The body of the woman was found lying hidden in tall grass where she had evidently lain down to get a drink at a small stream. Death was pronounced by the coroner to have been due to natural causes. Sunstroke is believed to have been the immediate cause.

The body had been dragged about two rods by a bear, and fresh bear tracks were found beside the body.

Stimulated by a reward of $100 offered by this county and another $100 offered by the woman's sons, between 300 and 500 persons searched the woods to find her after she disappeared three weeks ago. This large searching party worked three days and then gave the job up as hopeless, but many individuals kept on looking.

Yield of Winter Wheat Near City 20 Per Acre

That winter wheat can be grown successfully in Pennington county is evidenced by the fact that Smith Brothers, who operate a farm on the north half of section 18 in North township, received a yield of 20 bushels to the acre on a field of twenty acres. The grain averaged 61 pounds to the bushel and is of first grade quality. The threshing was completed Friday.

A field of rye adjoining the winter wheat yielded only nine bushels to the acre, both being on summer fallow.

They intend to sell the grain for seed.

Pays Fine of $10 For Being Drunk on Street

John E. Johnson, residing east of Thief River Falls, was hailed into municipal court last Monday morning on a charge of being drunk and assessed a fine of $10 by Judge N. W. Tarrant, which sum was paid. The arrest was made Saturday evening by Chief of Police O. E. Berge, who caught Johnson overcome with was termed by officials as "moon," sleeping in a car in front of what is known as Carlson's corner on LaBree avenue. He was placed in the jail until appearance before the municipal judge.

She Made Out.

A New York broker whose wife was wintering at Palm Beach, received a wire saying: "Broke; landlord duns daily. Send check." The broker, thinking to inculcate a lesson in economy, wired back: "Very short; check next week. Thousand kisses." In a day or two he received another wire: "Never mind check. Gave landlord your kisses."

One thing we can't understand is why certain residents of towns in Northern Minnesota turn the color of Christmas jewelry when the names of other towns are mentioned. Tourists are continually being told that the road to the next town is impassable, and the truth is given an awful beating in many ways. Any person who thinks he can boost his own burg by lying about a neighboring town is blinder than a blind mule.

High Class of Horses In Races at Co. Fair

Forty-six horses were entered in the races during the Pennington county fair held recently, according to report from Roy Lambert, able manager of that feature of the big exposition. Twenty were entered in the 2:10 race, which had to be divided into two races with ten starters in each.

The number of trotters was greater than at any other race meet ever held in Thief River Falls, there being enough trotters to fill both trotting races. In former years it has been necessary to mix the various races. Every one was contested to the last heat and some very fast time was made.

There was a better class of horses here this year than ever before, as may also be said of the horsemen. The horses were right off the Grain Belt Circuit and were entered at the North Dakota state fair at Grand Forks and also at the Fargo fair.

Johnson-Bartlett.

Lee E. Bartlett and Miss Louise Johnson, both of whom are well known young people of this city, were quietly married at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage on Wednesday evening at nine o'clock. The young people were attended by Arthur Conklin and Miss Tillie C. Knutson. The officiating minister was Rev. J. B. Smith. The couple will in all probability make their future home in this city.

Great Northern Operating and Equipment Cost Advances

All the work that you do, all the work that everybody does, consists in moving from point to point yourself and in moving objects from one point to another. This is all that a railroad does. You know that it costs you something to do your own work. Do not forget that it costs the railroad immeasurably more to do its work, which is also your work, and without which the greater part of your labor and expense would be lost.

In traveling on a completely equipped train with dining, parlor and sleeping car service, the facilities are the same as in high class hotels. The cost to the traveler is immensely less.

Every item in the provision for both passenger and freight service costs more than it did. You travel over a mile of railroad track in a minute or two. This mile of track, exclusive of the grade and right of way, which cost $15,000 in 1913 now costs $25,000.

Here is a comparative list of the cost of Great Northern equipment ten years ago with the cost of similar equipment now:

	Cost in 1913	Cost in 1923
Mountain Type Engines	$24,000	$34,000
Sleeping Cars	16,000	36,000
Dining Cars	14,100	31,500
Day Coaches	9,000	20,250
Refrigerator Cars	1,200	2,700
Ore Cars	800	[illegible]
Box Cars	800	1,800
Flat Cars	650	1,162

Taxes have increased in these same ten years over 100 per cent. This makes a formidable addition to the operating expense of every railroad. But at the same time railroad freight and passenger rates have increased only about 40 per-cent.

For everything we have, food, shelter, clothing, and transportation, we must pay. Transportation has made this country what it is, and if it is impaired the whole country suffers disaster. It is worth thinking about as a matter of self interest as well as a matter of justice that the service is being rendered, under cost conditions most unfavorable to the carrier and growing yearly more difficult, at a price to the public so little over that of ten years ago.

Take these facts into consideration whenever you think or talk about railroad rates.

LOUIS W. HILL,
Chairman of the Board.

Judging a Great Institution by Small Defects

By J. H. PUELICHER

President American Bankers Association.

It would be difficult to find a banker, understanding thoroughly the Federal Reserve System, willing to admit that we could continue a first class commercial nation, without the Federal Reserve Banks, or mechanisms similar to them. Yet there is antagonism to the Federal Reserve Banks based in a measure on some minor mistakes in administration, but more generally on a misunderstanding of their purposes, of what should be expected of such a system.

J. H. Puelicher

The banker, as much as any man, is to blame for the present misconception. He found Federal Reserve Banks a ready scapegoat to blame for no matter what happened. If it seemed desirable to refuse or call a loan it was easy to say that the Federal Reserve Bank wished it, although it should have been refused because contrary to good banking practice.

Most of all was the system blamed for the fact that violent inflation which hundreds of business men and bankers hoped might be continued forever was finally checked by putting up Federal Reserve interest rates. There were those who blamed the system for not having put up the rate soon enough and others who blamed it because it put up the rate at all.

The penalty for thus blaming every business mishap on this valuable system may be the loss of its much needed benefits. If we wish to save the present bank of the United States from the fate of its two predecessors we must make known to America, to its rank and file, the splendid usefulness of these institutions.

We must admit at the outset that in their administration mistakes have been made, that governors of Federal Reserve Banks and members of the Federal Reserve Board are human beings, and in the administration of the affairs of any institution by human beings mistakes will be made, but these have been so insignificant as compared with the outstanding usefulness of the institutions themselves that they should be judged by the good which they have performed, which, after all, has been along the line of their designed achievement, rather than by those errors which time and experience can easily eliminate.

COOPERATIVE FARM MARKETING NOTES

Progress of the Movement to "Put Farming on Par With Other Big Business."

A pamphlet and questionnaire on cooperative farm marketing recently issued by the State Bank Division, American Bankers Association, has brought out valuable information on the subject from bankers, farmers and state agricultural departments. It is being used as a campaign document in the organization of co-operative marketing associations in various sections of the country, farmers having adopted its slogan: "Put Agriculture on a Par with Other Big Business."

• • •

The movement on the part of farmers toward co-operative marketing as a cure for their present economic plight is nation-wide. There has been notable progress in the development of such associations, some conspicuously successful ones being in operation at the present time. There have also been some disastrous failures among these ventures in co-operative marketing, which is the inevitable accompaniment of the progress of any movement. The "Banker-Farmer," published by the American Bankers Association, says:

"Cause and effect are operative in co-operative marketing as truly as they are in every other business enterprise. An association will not necessarily succeed or fail merely because it is a co-operative association, but because it conforms to or transgresses from the underlying principles of successful business operation. The movement itself is of great national import and the bankers of the country can materially aid or retard its progress. The responsibility of leadership in rural communities rests very largely with the country banker. It is his duty to be informed on all matters relating to the farmers' well-being."

• • •

Modern conditions are such that agriculture cannot be successful by individual effort. To regain its position as a basic industry, and as a force in national affairs, agriculture must depend upon organization and co-operation for economic production, for economic marketing and for the establishment of its proper relationship in community life.—Howard Leonard, President, Illinois Agricultural Association.

EDISON-FORD PLAN'S ATTACK ON INTEREST

Abolition of Rent No More Plausible Than Abolition of Pay on Loans, Expert Shows.

It is no more unreasonable to pay interest on a loan of money than to pay rent on a house, declares William T. Foster, Director of the Pollack [illegible] exposing the fallacy of the attack on interest charges by Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison in their commodity money scheme to do away with the present financial system. Mr. Foster's argument is reviewed in the present article which is one of a series prepared by the American Bankers Association.

"The Ford-Edison commodity money plan is regarded as a step toward the abolition of all interest charges," Mr. Foster says. "'Interest,' says the Dearborn Independent, 'is a tax that few ancient tyrants would have dared impose. Interest in actual modern practice is a contrivance whereby all production is taxed by parasites, and whereby money is given a supremacy over men, material and management which it cannot sustain.'

Renting Money

"But is there really anything more terrible about paying for the use of money than about paying for the use of anything else? Suppose a farmer finds himself in need of a harvesting machine, and without enough money to buy one. In that case he can either borrow a machine of Neighbor Brown or borrow money and buy a machine. The farmer would consider it right to pay in some way for the use of the machine. Why should he expect to borrow money—which is honored in the markets in payment for the same machine—without paying for the use of the money?

"Now let us suppose that the farmer uses the machine so successfully that he saves a thousand dollars. With that money he can buy a farm and he can let Neighbor Brown have the use of it. Neighbor Brown naturally would expect to pay rent. Instead of buying the farm, however, he could lend the thousand dollars to his neighbor in order that his neighbor might buy the farm. In that case Neighbor Brown should expect to pay for the rent of the money. All this seems clear. When the transactions are as simple as these it is plain that there is just as great propriety in charging for the use of money as in charging for the use of things that money will buy.

Loaned Money Builds a School

"We may assume, however, that the farmer does not want to buy land and Neighbor Brown does not want to borrow money. In that case the farmer deposits his thousand dollars in a bank and the bank pays him interest for the use of his money. But the bank can pay interest only if it makes profitable use of his money. Now the bank finds that the city needs a high-school building, and has decided to borrow enough money to construct it. In order to obtain the money the city has issued bonds, each of which is a promise to pay one thousand dollars at a specified date, and interest in the meantime at a specified rate. The bank buys one of these bonds. Thus the farmer has had a part in providing the city with a school building; and the farmer has just as much right to expect interest for the use of his money as though he had loaned the money directly or indirectly to Neighbor Brown."

"CAPITALISTS"—AND DON'T KNOW IT

A good many people who rail against capital are beating their own backs. Some are savings bank depositors; some have shares in building and loan associations; some have bought a liberty bond; some have ordered a stock of goods for their store. All of them, without knowing it, have performed a great miracle, for they have turned the work of their hands or their brains into a new product which, while it helps them, is helping thousands of others. Every one of them is a capitalist as most of us are—unless we are tramps or paupers or ne'er-do-wells—and we may well be proud of the name. For capitalism, instead of being the devilish invention of a few selfish interests, is the great material force that has lifted millions from poverty, degradation and slavery.

Like other human institutions, capital can be abused. So, too, can eyesight and health and education and love. Part of America's great job is to remedy and prevent such abuses. Sane people, however, do not cut off their feet to get rid of their corns.

Capital is today's surplus. It is what gives us a better start tomorrow than we had today. If we don't save it, we don't have it, and when we have it, it is useless until it is put to work.

If thrift is right, then it is right that people should acquire funds as the result of their industry and self-denial. But money that is merely hoarded is like water that becomes stagnant; it is harmful, not helpful. When money is put to work, it is like water power; it turns the wheels of industry, increases employment and raises the general level of comfort.

When every producer can create a surplus and that surplus can be gathered into a common fund and put to work for the common good we shall have reached an ideal condition.—From "The Greatest Family in the World."

WHO INFLATED THE CURRENCY?

George E. Roberts Gives Common Sense Explanation for Currency Increase and Decrease.

GOVERNMENT TOOK NO PART

Due to Changes in Supply, Demand and Prices of Commodities Caused by War—Federal Reserve Not to Blame.

The mistaken notion that the currency is inflated and deflated by the government in the United States from motives beyond the understanding of average people is effectually set at rest by George E. Roberts, noted banker and exponent of sound money, in an article in the Journal of the American Bankers Association.

"There has been inflation by the governments of Germany and other European countries, which have is[illegible] purpose of paying their expenses," Mr. Roberts says. "The United States Government has done nothing of this kind since the Civil War.

"There is a genuine need for elasticity in the volume of currency, and for machinery to adjust it to the legitimate needs of the country. The means provided are the Federal Reserve Banks, authorized to issue currency to their member banks, either in payment of deposits or for loans.

Side-Tracked Like Freight Cars.

"More currency is needed in September, October, November and December than in January and February. As business slackens, currency naturally returns from circulation. Money accumulates in the member banks and they send it to the Reserve banks, which in effect retires it, as freight cars are retired when traffic falls off.

"What caused the great inflation of credit and currency? It was due primarily to the war, which made extraordinary demands upon the industries and caused a great rise of wages and prices. It was inevitable that more credit and money would be called for to carry on business.

"The boom year of business that followed the armistice was likewise abnormal. The end of the war released a great many demands that had been held in check. The foreign demands upon us at first increased. There was a temporary stimulus, but the volume of business was abnormal and could not be sustained. Agricultural production in Europe revived, the prices of agricultural products moved back toward normal, importations from the United States fell off, prices declined, 'deflation' began.

"Some say 'inflation should not be permitted,' but if war occurs inflation is unavoidable. Recruiting armies makes a labor scarcity. Contractors bid above going wages to attract men. The war industries did the same and the peace industries raised wages to hold their men. Governments of Europe sent representatives to this country to buy food and they bid up prices on the grain exchanges. Higher levels of wages and prices meant that more credit and money was required to handle business.

More Business, More Money

"The increased issues of currency was a result of allowing business to go ahead, upon the rising level of wages and prices. When a factory pay-roll doubled, twice as much currency had to be furnished for it. When cotton rose from 10 cents a pound to 30 and 40, more currency was required to handle the crop, and so all around the circle.

"Deflation did not come by an act of the government or the Federal Reserve authorities in suddenly withdrawing money from circulation. Deflation came naturally when business fell off and prices declined. Just as an increasing volume of business at higher prices called more currency into use, so a decreasing volume of business at lower prices released currency from use and caused it to return to the Reserve banks.

"There has been absolutely nothing new or strange in these price movements related to the war. Inflation and deflation have been just as always when wars have occurred. The only new factor has been the population. That is always being renewed, and most people do not learn by the experince of others. When hard times come it is always the thing to lay the blamed on somebody, and this time the Federal Reserve System has taken most of it."

Interesting the Boys and Girls

It is hoped that the early date of the Inter-State Fair, namely, July 9 to 14, will afford opportunity for a larger attendance of boys' and girls' clubs, a feature that gained the management so much praise at last year's Fair. H. E. Rilling, state club leader, says: "Club work at the Inter-State Fair means more than just the winning of a prize by the club members. It is simply a part of a year's program where over four thousand young men and women are doing practical and constructive work over the state. The contest feature of the Fair activities is merely a means to an end, rather than any direct end in itself.

Club exhibits show the value of the methods employed, offer an opportunity for one member to see what others are doing and train members to know and to select good products. Any member, for example, who can select a good exhibit of corn will be equally able to select good seed corn.

That the members appreciate this part of the Fair is shown by an incident recently reported by a judge at a 1922 club show. The particular exhibit happened to be potatoes and the competition was keen. After the exhibits were placed, the judge turned to a young man, one of several, who was especially interested, and asked him how he would place the exhibits. He promptly replied: "Just the same as you have. I got third place but I knew I was beaten as soon as I saw the other exhibits." Then, turning to the others, he stated: "I have learned something, and you fellows will have to watch me next year."

Another judge, upon completing his work the second year at the same show, made the following statement relative to the exhibitors learning the lessons involved in selecting good products: "The young people (referring to club members) have learned these lessons better than their elders."

Contests between demonstration teams or between stock-judging teams likewise have their value. The teams are merely an outgrowth of a program where a large number of members received practical training before a team was selected. The contest feature simply adds zest and spirit.

The practices advocated by the demonstration teams also have a public value. "I learned more than at any meeting on the same subject that I never attended," was the statement of a man upon leaving at the close of a demonstration given by a club team.

We must not forget that club members also gather much practical information at a fair. The opportunity to mingle with and to meet the adult exhibitors and to study the general exhibits is worth much in enabling the club members to carry useful ideas back to their home communities.

"Fairs and expositions are the time keepers of progress, recording the world's achievements and opening mighty storehouses of information to all the people," is a statement once made by President McKinley. Club members make up a part of "all the people" and their work will again be a feature at the Inter-State Fair at Fargo, July 9 to 14.

GROWING RECOGNITION OF ADVERTISING'S USE

Advertising first established its place as an economic factor as a sales aid, but as understanding and use of it have increased, its possibilities in other fields have developed until today we find it employed in many forms of service hitherto unthought of. Advertising has long been hampered in its use by precedent, tradition, conventions, and prejudices, which, under analysis and experience, find little to warrant their existence. Gradually the falsity of their claims is being proved.

We were told for many years that it was undignified for a bank or fiduciary institution to advertise, and this edict, born of some superstition of the past, was accepted without question until finally it was intelligently challenged and it was discovered under analysis that there was no sufficient reason for its support. The inevitable conclusion of logic is that whatever is of genuine use to human beings, whether it be goods or services, can, with truth and dignity, be advertised and sold, and that it is just as proper to merchandise forms of service as various kinds of commodities.

In the logical development of this new understanding of the power of advertising during the last decade, we have seen many of our banking fiduciary and investment institutions actively employing the sales value of advertising in the marketing of their services. In this intelligent use of publicity they are not only increasing their own immediate business returns, but they are also helping to spread a better understanding of financial services and economic fact and theory upon which solid business relations can be built.—Francis H. Sisson, Journal of the American Bankers Association.

WELL BALANCED PROGRAM TO BE SEEN AT FARGO FAIR

The problem that confronts the Fair Board in the preparation of their annual budget is that of balancing their ration so that the tastes of all may be satisfied.

Bearing the fact in mind that no fair can thrive unless its educational features are emphasized, the directors of the Inter-State Fair, to be held in Fargo July 9 to 14, have carefully studied this phase of their work and endeavored to color the program of each of the departments with some outstanding educational feature.

The Livestock Department finds its educational outlet in the boys' and girls' judging contests, in the stock parade, and in the fact that qualified experts are on hand at all times to point out the reasons for the ribbon and premium awards.

The Agricultural Department is similarly fortunate in its ability to give reasons for its awards and from the further fact that it is able to show through its county exhibits the value of the work of the State Extension department.

The Women's Department, in charge of experts from the Home Economics department of the Agricultural college, will find a fertile field for the dissemination of knowledge through its many and varied departments of women's and girls' work.

The Art Department, as a result of a well thought out pre-fair campaign for worth while exhibits will present for inspection, and it is hoped instruction, the best work produced in the state.

Put more "sense" in your dollars. Spend them at home.

Its time you farmers are learning that scrub cows are like double chins—they aren't any good and they take up a lot of room.

"You cannot improve the breed of Fords by crossing them with a locomotive," advises a contemporary.

Why the Good Old Remington Pump Gun Still Outsells all Others

There's a new 20-gauge model, too—the best of the light-gauge guns. See it at your dealer's

ASK any of your friends who shoot a Remington 12-gauge Pump Gun—there are lots of them—what it is that has made this the favorite 12-gauge ever since Remington brought it out in 1900—the first solid-breech hammerless repeating shotgun ever produced.

Or better yet—if he'll let you—borrow his Model 10 and take it out in the fields or down by the water for an afternoon and try it for yourself.

* * *

Fire arms experts always comment on the precision and finish of the Model 10—the result of 245 separate inspections in the Remington plant.

And they remark that the receiver is machined out of solid steel—instead of made of stamped steel metal or a cored casting as is done with many shotguns.

But the man who goes out for a day's sport or to get a few ducks or rabbits for supper isn't so apt to say anything about these technical features.

He'll tell you that the Remington Model 10 shoots harder and straighter than any other 12-gauge he ever had in his hands, has an action that never balks or clogs—and seems to get better the longer he uses it.

If you're in line for something specially good in a 20-gauge—

Get your dealer to show you the new Remington Model 17. This is a hammerless, solid-breech pump action, too. Chambered for 2¾ inch shells which gives it the power and range of a 16-gauge. It is comparatively new—but already many old-timers swear by it as a "real man's gun."

The first time you get a chance go to the gun rack at the store and look at these Remingtons. Your dealer will be glad to tell you anything you want to know about them.

AGED MAN SURVIVES NEAR FATAL BATTLE WITH ENRAGED BULL

Peter Sorenson, 72, of Rosewood, Sustains Broken Ribs and Internal Injuries.

Peter Sorenson, aged 72, farmer residing two miles north of Rosewood, suffered five broken ribs and severe internal injuries to the lungs and stomach, besides many bad body bruises, Friday evening when an enraged four year old bull attacked him. Mr. Sorenson endeavored to drive the animal into the barn, preparatory to shipping him the following day. The bull was being sold on account of his dangerous disposition. When Mr. Sorenson had all but succeeded in his task the animal, which was a large Holstein, turned on him and bore him to the ground. His cries for help brought to the scene his daughter, Mrs. Selmer Hagen, who was in the barn attending to the milking. With the aid of a fork and the dog she frightened the bull off.

However, it was too late to prevent serious injuries, though her action saved the life of the aged man. The bull threw Mr. Sorenson twice into the air, and rushed repeatedly at him as he lay on the ground. Three of the lower ribs on the right side and two of the upper ribs on the left were broken. He also suffered internal injuries to the lungs and stomach and many severe bruises on his body.

Dr. J. T. Bowers of Thief River Falls was called and after administering first aid he secured a truck and cot and brought Mr. Sorenson to the Physicians hospital here where he is recovering from the shock and the injuries which were near fatal. Under the care of a special nurse he is slowly regaining strength and the man, who shows a remarkable constitution, is making a brave fight for recovery.

Mr. Sorenson has been a resident of that vicinity for the past 28 years.

Senator M. Johnson Will Speak at Bemidji Fair

United States Senator Magnus Johnson will deliver an address at the Northern Minnesota fair at Bemidji on Wednesday, August 22nd. This will be but one of the many features of the big exposition that is to be held next week beginning August 21, which is entry day and continuing until Friday the 24th. A big Wild West show with bucking horses, wild steers and a wonderful high school horse will be the principal entertainment number, but there will also be excellent horse races, auto races and motor cycle events. A display of fire works will be shown each evening.

Highway Patrolmen Are Ordered to Cut Weeds

Patrolmen on trunk highways or so-called Babcock roads in Pennington county are cutting weeds on the right-of-way in compliance with special orders received this week. Instructions are to burn sow thistle and other obnoxious weeds to prevent reseeding, first obtaining burning permits where required. A new state law replacing the "weed law" repealed by the last legislature requires the cutting of weeds along state highways before October 15 and the work is ordered now when the maintenance forces generally can handle the work conveniently and get the best results.

MEMBERSHIP IN SPUD CO-OP. PASSES 1,000

Organization Making Rapid Progress in Red River Valley, Says Rubinow.

Membership in the new Minnesota Potato Growers' Exchange passed the 1,000 mark last week, according to an announcement from the state headquarters at St. Paul. Campaign Manager S. G. Rubinow has received 890 contracts for registry and has unofficial reports of more than 200 additional having been obtained by field representatives.

According to the state office, Clearwater, Beltrami and Winona counties, in addition to Red Lake, have obtained their quotas of 50 per cent of the commercial acreage. The total membership to date represents an aggregate acreage of nearly 20,000; nearly double that of ten days ago. This increase is due to the fact that recent memberships have been obtained in the Red Lake Valley, where the potato fields are considerably larger than in the counties first organized.

The campaign in the Red River Valley is moving forward with dispatch, Mr. Rubinow says. A meeting at Ada last week was called the best, in point of interest shown by growers, held thus far in the campaign. The growers in the Valley have entered upon organization work with a degree of enthusiasm that assures the success of the movement in that section, Mr. Rubinow says. Leaders, generally, are attending the meetings, are signing the contract readily and are urging their neighbors to join them in their effort to obtain a better market.

Becker county thus far has the largest acreage under contract, the membership of 179 there representing 3,829 acres. Campaign in Kanabec, Isanti and Chisago counties during the last two weeks obtained a sufficient membership to assure those sections obtaining the quota within a short time.

Rural Children to Compete In Dental Contest at Fair

Rural boys and girls up to twenty years of age are to have an opportunity to compete in the annual state dental contest this year at the Minnesota State fair and Northwest Dairy exposition, Sept. 1 to 8, members of the Boys' and Girls' clubs being allowed to enter the contest for the first time.

The new feature of the contest this year is the naming of a special class for boys and girls from 16 to 20 years of age, who are members of the Boys' and Girls' clubs of the state, of which there are 950 members. Heretofore only children up to 16 years of age were permitted to compete.

Gold watches are to be the prizes for this special class, according to announcement by Thomas Canfield, secretary of the fair. More than $500 in cash prizes will be given to winners in the three general classes, he announced. Ages of the children who may enter in these classes are from 3 to 16 years and those who are judged as having the cleanest, healthiest mouths, with the best sets of teeth will receive the awards.

Dr. F. Denton White, of Minneapolis, chairman of the State Oral Hygiene committee, is in charge of plans for the contest, which is under auspices of the State Dental society.

The general contest will take in three groups: Children from 3 to 6 years of age inclusive; children from 7 to 12, and children from 12 to 16 years. There will be one set of prizes for the rural children, one for the Minneapolis children, one for the St. Paul children, and two gold watches for the Boys' and Girls' clubs, one for the winner among the boys and the other for the winner among the girls.

There will be a first prize of $15 in each age group for the rural children; a second prize of $10, and a third prize of $5. For the city children the prizes are smaller and there are more of them, the same amount of money given but divided differently. There will be three first prizes of $5 each for the Minneapolis and St. Paul children in each of the three age groups, with three second prizes of $3 each and three third prizes of $2 each in each group.

A grand sweepstakes of $50 will be awarded to the child from all groups in the contest who is credited with having the best mouth. The child holding the mouth championship in Minneapolish and St. Paul will each receive a sweepstakes prize of $25.

No charge will be made for entering this contest.

"Masters of Men" Coming to Lyceum Sunday and Monday Depicts Santiago Struggle.

"Masters of Men", Morgan Robertson's great sea novel, adapted for the screen by C. Graham Baker, which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre next Sunday and Monday is a real American story, written by Americans for Americans.

The hero, Dick Halpin, is the sort of a boy every American admires, sensitive to hurts, rebellious against snobbery, quick to fight and big enough to carry a secret wrong to save the girl he loves from humiliation. Dick is falsely accused of theft and runs away from home. He joins the United States Navy and there he learns how to be a man. While on shore leave he and his superior are shangraied on board a four master and sent before the mast. They endure the brutality of captain and mate and the filth in which they are compelled to live until they manage their escape just as the United States declares war on Spain. The boys rejoin their ships and take an active part in the battle of Santiago when Cervera's fleet was destroyed as it came out to sea.

The naval battle is thrillingly presented and through courtesy of the United States Navy department at Washington is authentically reproduced, the Navy permitting Vitagraph, the producers, to take real shots on board men of war when stripped for action and indulging in gun fire.

The cast is an exceptionally strong one of fan favorites. Earle Williams plays Lieutenant Breen, and Cullen Landis Dick Halpin, the two young Americans. Alice Calhoun and Wanda Hawley play the old-fashioned sweethearts of the two boys. The love interest is strong and there is abundant comedy running through the story.

Runaway Boy on Way Home Killed While Beating Way

Running away from home and "beating the way" sometimes has a tragic end, as will be seen by the following item from Monday's Crookston Times:

"A week ago Clifford Hoffmaster, 14, and Lawrence Mahen, the same age, left their home at Turtle River, Minn., against their parents' wishes. Homesick and without funds, the boys decided to return home, and left Crookston stowed away in a freight car filled with lumber, Saturday afternoon. Monday the body of young Hoffmaster was shipped from Crookston to Bemidji, where it will be transported by wagon to Turtle River.

"The young lad was killed near Crookston late Saturday afternoon when the lumber was jammed against him as he sat with his buddy, anxiously awaiting the time when he could return to his worried parents. The accident happened, according to reports, after the freight train had broken in two. As the two sections came together the sudden jar broke a brace and sent the heavy timbers crashing into Hoffmaster. He died almost instantly from a crushed chest and a broken back.

His pal, terror-stricken, gave the alarm at Benoit, and the dead lad was brought to Crookston on the Duluth passenger train. The body was taken to the undertaking parlor and the boy's father, W. H. Hoffmaster, railway section foreman at Turtle River, was notified. He arrived in Crookston Monday and made preparations to send the body of his dead son back home."

Orchard and Garden.
(August 22 to 29)

Celery may be blanched by means of boards, paper, or drain tile. Earth is apt to cause decay if applied when the soil or foliage is wet.

Send for bulb catalogs and plan to plant a few tulips outside and hyacinths, daffodils and narcissus for house flowering.

Geraniums and snap dragons may be lifted from the garden and potted for winter blossoms late this month or early in September.

Go over the fence corners and unused yards with a scythe and remove the burdock and other weeds that have found a home there. It will reduce the weed crop next year and make the place look better.

Carbon bisulphide put on an absorbent like cotton and pushed well into ant hills will destroy the ants. It is a liquid which may be purchased from the druggist. Keep it away from fire at all times, since it is as dangerous as gasoline.

INJUNCTION DENIED IN PAYNE VS. GRAND PLAIN TOWN SUIT

Judge Grindeland Files Decision In Drainage Case. Injunction Not Justified.

A decision for the defendants has been rendered by District Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren in the case of J. Payne, plaintiff, versus Town of Grand Plain and Ole Tharaldson, Carl Habedank and Mons L. Lindwick, as supervisors of Grand Plain township, and Edward Huberspeck, as road overseer, defendents, which was tried before the court here in April, without a jury. The case involved the removal of a certain culvert near the plaintiff's farm, placed there by the supervisors of the township. Payne alleged that the culvert diverted the flow of water onto his land, causing damage.

The decision was of considerable significance as it will have bearing on other drainage problems.

Wm. J. Brown and Olson & Hage represented the plaintiff while County Attorney Theo. Quale represented the defendants.

The judge filed the decision with Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund last Friday when he was in the city to hear a number of appeal cases.

Following were the findings of fact:

That the lands in sections 26, 27, 33 and 34 in said Grand Plain township is level prairie land, sloping west and northwest; that there are no coulees or defined water courses thereon, but that the surface water therefrom flows along natural depressions in the prairie where the same are not intercepted by drainage or road ditches.

That the grade culverts at the southwest corner of plaintiff's land, one taking the water north on the east side of the road going north and the other taking the water west were necessary for the proper construction and drainage of the highways, and that they are properly installed for the purpose of the drainage of the said highways, and as such are public utilities.

The conclusions of law were:

That the prayer for an injunction be denied.

That the action of the plaintiff be dismissed.

That the defendants have judgment for their costs and disbursements.

Judge Grindeland added:

"There is a slight dirt obstruction at the outlet of the east and west culvert, but that is so trivial and so easily removed that I leave it out of consideration.

"The control and disposal of the surface water in this level country is no small problem and people honestly differ as to how it should be done. In this case that is undoubtedly true. In the case of Oftelie vs. Town of Hammond, 78 Minn. 279 the Supreme Court of our state expresses itself as follows: "The truth is that nearly every drainage ditch diverts surface water, to the injury of others, to a greater or less degree; and to hold, in accordance with the request of the plaintiff, that it cannot lawfully be so diverted, no matter what the reason or necessities of the case may be, would seriously embarrass the building of public roads and the drainage of agricultural lands in the Red River Valley and other parts of the state. The evidence in this case fails to bring it within that class of cases where the court would be justified in interfering with the maintenance of the of the culverts by injunction."

TAXPAYERS' SCHOOL WILL FEATURE FAIR

Minnesota Fund Sources and Uses to Be Keynote of Departments Exhibits.

Minnesota taxpayers favoring tax reductions will have an opportunity to gather facts and decide just what things, if any, they will sacrifice to cut taxation, at the state departments exhibits in a big building on machinery hill at the state fair.

Animals will be exhibited by the game and fish department, products from state institutions will be shown by the board of control, the inside work of road building will be demonstrated by the highway department and other state agencies are arranging entertaining and instructive displays. But the big purpose of the combined state exhibits will be to make clear to the taxpayer just what parts of the taxes he pays go for various state activities.

Each taxpayer can decide whether he will advocate curtailment of some public work to cut a few cents off his tax statement, reduce the activities of the dairy and food or the agricultural department to take off a few cents and so on. "Higher taxes are bringing more and more public service," said a prominent state official, "and the property owner who would reduce taxes must expect to discontinue state activities in the same measure. They are higher because people are demanding better schools, more protection for health and property, agricultural aid and in many other ways the state is serving its people. At the state exhibits building can be learned just what state taxes buy for, the man who pays them and he can decide then on the facts just what, if anything, is costing more than it is worth."

The state departments building will be free to all fair visitors.

DELEGATION FROM PENNINGTON WILL HEAR SAPIRO TALK

Nine Counties to Be Represented at Marketing Conference at Crookston Sept. 10.

Plans for having Pennington county well represented at the potato marketing conference at Crookston, Sept. 10 are maturing rapidly. J. J. McCann of Thief River Falls has been named chairman of the county committee on arrangements and is working in close co-operation with General Chairman C. G. Selvig, superintendent of the Northwest Experiment Station, J. S. Jones, secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation and chairmen in other counties.

Delegations to attend the Crookston meeting are being organized in Kittson, Roseau, Pennington, Red Lake, Marshall, Polk, Clearwater, Mahnomen and Norman counties—nine in all.

As already announced, the Crookston meeting is being held to give potato growers of the Northwest part of the state an opportunity to hear the wonderful story of co-operative marketing direct from its most ardent advocate in United States—Aron Sapiro.

Mr. Sapiro is a powerful speaker and is author of the contract the potato organization committee now working in this state is using. He was invited to come to Minnesota by J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation as an aid to the marketing co-operative now being formed.

Mr. Sapiro will make seven addresses in the state—one at the state fair, Sept. 6 on Farm Bureau day and six others in the potato growing sections, of which the meeting at Crookston will be first.

Either half of a two-cent reply postal card may be used separately.

To Succeed Avery.

Jay F. Gould of Minneapolis has been named as head of the state game and fish department to succeed Carlos Avery, whose term expired on July 31. The appointment was made by Governor J. A. O. Preus. Carlos Avery, whose term expired has been at the head of the state department for the past eight years. He has been in all parts of the state in the promotion of the work of his department, and was well known to a number of local men.

PLANS 80 MILES OF ROAD IMPROVEMENT

State Commissioner Calls For Bids on 11 Projects in Different Parts of State.

More than 75 miles of new grading, 7½ of paving, 6 of graveling and 13 new bridges on the Minnesota trunk highway system are to be placed under contract next month by the state highway department. A call for bids to be opened publicly Sept. 5 at St. Paul headquarters of the department was made this week by Commissioner Charles M. Babcock. Contractors in localities where work is planned are asked to bid, their prospects for awards being rated good because they are not obliged to include moving expenses.

Although more of the $11,000,000 additional county reimbursement bonds are being issued to pay for the new improvements, all are needed and rank in order on the regular state highway program, officials said.

In a special bulletin announcing the list, appears the following comment by Commissioner Babcock:

"Reimbursement money can be used only in the county issuing the bonds, regardless of the relative claims of the county to state highway improvements or whether there are less than 50 or more than 200 miles of trunk routes in the county. It is easy to see, therefore, that state highway bonds are preferable if the highway program is to be carried out with fairness to all sections of the state and to best serve the majority of highway users who are paying most of the cost. The department, however, is adhering to the policy against county bond projects which would take for minor improvements the funds needed for more important undertakings and best public service."

The improvements planned total $885,000 in round figures on preliminary estimates by highway engineers and the list follows:

T. H. No. 3—Kellogg-Minneiska, 11 miles grading, 5 bridges, at $250,000.
T. H. No. 3—St. Cloud-St. Joseph, 7.3 miles grading-paving, bridge, at $250,000.
T. H. No. 4—Bemidji-Nary, 6 miles grading, at $25,000.
T. H. No. 10—Benson-Kerkhoven, 20 miles grading, bridge, at $120,000.
T. H. No. 17—Garvin-Currie Corner, 8.6 miles grading, at $35,000.
T. H. No. 23—In St. Cloud, .36 mile paving, at $10,000.
T. H. No. 42—Elgin-Doty, 6 miles gravel surfacing, at $15,000.
T. H. No. 44 — Caledonia-Spring Grove, 10 miles grading, at $60,000.
T. H. No. 44—Spring Grove-Mabel, 8 miles grading, bridge, at $40,000
T. H. No. 44 — Mabel-Prosper, 5 miles grading, 4 bridges, at $50,000
T. H. No. 59—In Rochester, ornamental concrete bridge, at $30,000.

Cable guard rail will be installed wherever necessary with the new improvements. Specifications call for monolithic and farm entrance and other culverts on grading. A certified check for at least five per cent of the bid must accompany each proposal. The bids are to be opened publicly on Sept. 5 at St. Paul offices of the Minnesota Highway department.

FATHER REPORTED DEAD MANY YEARS IS STILL LIVING

Carl Steen Meets Relative at Fair Here and Is Told Remarkable Tale of Father.

While visiting the county fair in Thief River Falls recently, Carl Steen of Warroad, until a few years ago a resident of this city, made the very unexpected discovery that his father, who had been reported dead 33 years ago, is now living in Norway.

The following article which appeared in the Warroad Pioneer last week gives a thorough account of the strange incident:

"Carl Steen, of Warroad, while attending the Pennington county fair week, met a cousin by the name of Wold from Superior, Wis., whom he had never seen. Mr. Wold, in citing some of the family history, informed Mr. Steen that his father was still living and residing in the northern part of Norway.

"It appears that some thirty-three years ago, Mr. Steen, who was a sea captain, left Liverpool, England, in charge of one of the first steel built vessels, for a south African port. The ship never reached her destination and was given up as lost with her crew and cargo. After two years of investigation, without results, Mrs. Steen with her children left Norway and located in London, England. As the children grew up they left England, most of them coming to America.

"The story as told by Mr. Wold has it that Captain Steen and a couple of the sailors were picked up at sea by a small craft which landed them on some part of the coast of China. For three years Mr. Steen wandered on foot to reach some port from which he could embark for his native country. Upon reaching Norway he discovered that his family had departed for parts unknown, he then returned to the sea and on various occasions went to his old home in hopes of finding some trace of the whereabouts of his loved ones. Some years ago he retired from sailing and took up his home in northern Norway, where he now resides hale and hearty notwithstanding that he is nearly 80 years old.

"Mr. Steen is now figuring on plans for a reunion of the family in the near future."

"Dressers" Receive Rough Treatment in Western Town

The modern American sheiks or male fashion fiends apparently are met with reproach in some western towns, judging by the treatment tendered three young Red Lake Falls men, according to an account appearing in the Coos Bay Times, Oregon, reprinted by the Red Lake Falls Gazette last week:

"Fashions in hirsute adornment for the male underwent a rapid change in North Bend last night, which resulted in the sudden departure of three young chaps upon a morning freight train today. The three were Archie and Philip Porter, brothers, and Percy Miller. They came to the Bay some weeks ago from Minnesota, and were easily distinguished from the other chaps of their age upon the streets by their manner of dress and wearing their hair. Peon pants; long and flaring, flopped about their ankles, and their hair was cut, or rather uncut in the 'sheik bob,' long on the back of the neck. It was an innocent enough transgression, but it irked a large number of local young men of more virile tastes, who called then "cake-eaters" with no compunction. Probably the fact that the style was growing among some of the local associates of the three precipitated the action of last night. At any rate, about 15 young fellows clubbed together and started after the tawdry trio with malevolent intent.

Some difficulty was encountered in corralling the quarry, who went in various directions. But the numbers of the attackers swelled to near 40, and finally they had rounded up not only the original three but several of their imitative followers. A pair of clippers was borrowed and a merciless shearing ensued.

Miller and the Porter brothers are the three who came out to work at the Powers logging camps but became disatisfied with the conditions and broke their contract. Coming to North Bend, they registered under assumed names and were arrested for violation of the city ordinance which provides against this.—Coos Bay (Ore.) Times.

Red Lake County Sells Total of $55,000 Bonds

The Board of County commissioners of Red Lake county last Friday disposed of $40,000.00 General Revenue Fund bonds due in from three to twenty years; $5,000.00 of County Ditch No. 4 bonds, due in from one to ten years from date of issue and $9,993.81 of Judicial Ditch No. 71 bonds, due in from five to twenty years.

Several were in Red Lake Falls to bid on the bonds. The bid of the Minneapolis Trust company of Minneapolis, Minn., being the lowest bid presented it was accepted by the board by unanimous decision. The interest rate on the bonds will be 5 per cent per annum.

LOCAL PEOPLE ESCAPE INJURY IN TRAIN WRECK

Northbound Winnipeg Flier on Soo Jumps Rails Near Annandale Last Evening.

Three Seriously Injured and Number of Others Slightly Hurt in Wreck.

Broken Rail Cause of Crash Which Derails Three Pullmans and Observation Car

Three persons were painfully injured and sixteen others slightly hurt when four coaches of the Winnipeg train on the Soo railway left the rails near Annandale last evening at 7:15 three of which toppled into the small ditch along the track.

The mishap is reported by Soo officials here as being due to a broken rail which caused the three sleepers and the observation car to jump the track. The Thief River Falls sleeper was among the cars making the spill.

Victims of the wreck which occurred four miles east of Annandale, were brought there and given surgical treatment at the railroad station, where that part of the train still intact was turned into a temporary hospital.

Mrs. B. F. Scroggin, of Oak, Neb., who suffered a skull depression, was most seriously hurt, while Russell Boise, Sioux City, Iowa, and H. E. House of Winnipeg were painfully injured. Both were cut about the head and three of Boise's ribs were broken, according to report, in the Grand Forks Herald today.

Others injured are:

H. Kay, Winnipeg.
Mrs. Lewis Hansen, Davenport, Ia.
Mrs. John Rohlf, Davenport, Ia.
Mrs. H. N. Cowse, Sanford, Fla.
Mrs. Percy Wood, Senlac, Sask.
Miss Inga Bjorn, Zumbrota, Minn.
Mrs. James Black, Winnipeg.
Mrs. E. Edmonds, Cedersburg, Ind.
E. W. Klindt, Davenport, Ia.
Elmer Kleider, McCausland, Ia.
John S. Nabor, Calgary, Alta.
Mrs. J. O. Turnbull, Winnipeg.
J. O. Turnbull, Winnipeg.
David Johnson, Viola, Ill.
Paul Johnson, Viola, Ill.

J. O. Yotter of this city was also reported injured but he stated to a Times reporter today that he suffered only a violent shaking up. Mr. Yotter was accompanied by his wife, who also escaped any severe injuries.

"The Pullman car which we occupied landed in such a position that we walked along the ceiling and crawled thru the window in order to get out," Mr. Yotter said. "However, we were very fortunate in not getting hurt in the turn-over," he continued.

The passenger train, No. 109, west bound, left Minneapolis at 5:40 p. m., and went thru Maple Lake at 7:06. It did not arrive in Thief River Falls until 9:25 this morning, instead of 2:37, which is the scheduled time.

While traveling at a normal rate of speed, the three rear Pullmans and observation car left the rails, bumped along the ties a short distance, and then turned over onto their sides in the shallow ditch along the track.

Railroad men said the fact that the railway grade is only about two feet high at the point of the wreck probably kept down the casualty list. Passengers declared the crash as the cars turned over did not seem very violent, and flying baggage was responsible for many of the hurts.

Trainmen and passengers on that part of the train remaining on the track immediately went to the relief of those in the capsized coaches, and all the injured were placed aboard the train and hurried to Annandale for treatment.

Doctors were quickly summoned and gave first aid, turning the undamaged coaches into an improvised hospital, but only four or five persons were unable to get about unaided.

Passengers only slightly hurt prepared to continue on toward Winnipeg, while the few more seriously hurt awaited a relief train from Minneapolis, which took them back to that city.

The Pullmans and observation coach were fairly well filled at the time of the wreck, passengers said here.

Most of the injured were in an excursion Pullman, bound for Winnipeg. There were probably 40 persons in that coach, it was said. In each of the other two Pullmans there were about a score of passengers, with a greater number in the observation car, according to information.

A wrecker was sent from this division point and with the aid of another from Minneapolis, the track was cleared and repaired in a few hours. The derailed cars were left beside the track.

A number of the passengers who went thru Thief River Falls on the way north this morning showed evidence of having been subject to light injuries, several being bruised.

Fines of $100 Each Is Handed Two Violators Of Volstead Act Mon.

Liquor law violators are faring ill at the hands of local authorities these days. Last Saturday night Sheriff O. L. Ihle, upon information received from Hazel, arrested F. W. Mack, employed as cook at Thompson's cafe, on a charge of having intoxicating liquor in his possession. The violator was nabbed at Hazel and taken to Thief River Falls where he was placed in jail until Monday morning when he was given a hearing before Judge N. W. Tarrant in municipal court. He pleaded guilty to the charge and the judge assessed him a fine of $100 and costs. The fine was paid and the prisoner released.

Another violator pleaded guilty to a similar charge Monday morning, having been caught with the goods at Hazel the same evening. He gave his name as James Purcell and a resident of Grand Forks, at present employed at repair work on the dam at Red Lake Falls. The arrest was made by Deputy Hans Lokken of Hazel. Upon entering a plea of guilty in municipal court, the judge pronounced a fine of $100 and costs for the offense of creating a nuisance. He expects to be able to pay the fine in a few days but is as yet an occupant of the local jail. If the fine is not paid the liquor law violator must serve sixty days in the county jail.

WHEAT LINE TRAIN CRASHES INTO CAR KILLING OCCUPANT

Young Oslo Farmer Meets Death When He Attempts to Cross In Front of Train.

The first crossing accident to occur on the local branches of the Soo line for some time, happened last Saturday when Conrad Knudson, a young farmer near Oslo, was killed by the Wheat line west-bound passenger train, one mile west of Poland, N. D.

The unfortunate victim who was driving a Ford and delivering meat to farmers in the community, was about to cross the railroad track when the train came at full speed. According to members of the train crew who saw the accident, he apparently intended to stop before crossing but the car gave a sudden start and was hit in the rear with such a force that it was thrown a distance of about 150 feet. The occupant landed 50 feet farther away and when picked up by the train crew was found to have suffered severe injuries to his chest which proved fatal. It is thought that he put his foot on the clutch instead of the brake. There was nothing to obstruct the view at the crossing.

He was immediately rushed back to Oslo to be given medical attention but the attending physician at once saw that there was no hope for his life. He suffered several internal injuries including a puncture of the heart. However, he was conscious until he passed away at 2:15 p. m., about three hours following the crash. As far as is known here the young man was unmarried.

The car had been smashed up in such a manner that it was a complete wreck.

The crew on the train which hit the Knudson car were J. E. Nelson, engineer, J. T. Eisenpeter, conductor and R. H. Burrell, fireman.

PENNINGTON CO. FARMERS GOING TO DAIRY SHOW

Commercial Club to Send Delegation of Ten Prominent Farmers to Exposition.

Thief River Falls Business Men At Meeting Today Give Much Encouragement.

Northwest Dairy Exposition Held in Conjunction With Minnesota State Fair.

The Commercial club of Thief River Falls at the noon luncheon today showed splendid enthusiasm and interest in anything that will tend to promote the dairy industry and incidentally Pennington county as a whole. It has been decided by the club that ten representative dairymen of this county form a delegation to be sent as guests of the club to visit the Northwest Dairy Exposition which will be held in conjunction with the state fair.

This is to be made an annual event by the business men of the city and each year, according to present plans, a similar delegation will be sent to the state fair. Hereafter the selection of farmers to make the trip will be made on a competitive basis, the plan being to send those farmers who show the largest percentage of increase in dairy products produced.

It was the intention of the committee from the Commercial club entrusted with the responsibility of raising the necessary funds to send the Pennington county delegation to the dairy show, to secure only enough money to meet the expenses this year, but their solicitation of the business men of the city met with such generous response that when they had completed their work they found that they had enough money to send a like delegation next year and the surplus money will be kept on deposit in one of the local banks to be used for that purpose.

The farmers selected by the committee to be the guests of the business men are as follows: Hans Anton, F. B. Conklin, Waldie Christensen, Jens Kierk, Hans Rued, Knute Ystesund, Peter Engelstad, John Kilan, H. C. Woolson and Stuart McLeod. They are all active in the dairy business and have contributed much towards placing Pennington county on the map as one of the most enterprising dairy centers in the state, and their visit to the show will give them many new ideas which will enable them to develop their farms and herds to a still greater advantage and convey the message of diversified farming to their neighbors.

THIEF RIVER FALLS MAN INVENTS TIMER MADE OF STEEL WIRE

Milton Forder Gets Patent on Timer For Ford Cars. Simplest Device Satisfactory.

A patent for a new automobile timer for Fords has been awarded Milton Forder of this city. The patent was secured August 7, and Mr. Forder is negotiating a sale of the new invention to various manufacturing concerns which will put it on the market.

The new device differs considerably from the one which has been and is now in use on Ford cars. The one in use at the present is made of six pieces, mostly brass, and is of the roller type, while that invented by Mr. Forder consists of only one piece of spring steel wire which provides a double contact by means of the wiping system. This is said to afford a more even ignition.

Trials which have been given the new timer by a number of motorists in Thief River Falls have proved very satisfactory, it giving perfect ignition and showing no wear during the time it was in use.

It is simple in every sense of the word and can be put on the market at an extremely low price. In fact a Chicago concern has informed Mr. Forder that the wire timer could be manufactured at only a few cents cost.

Application for patent rights in Canada is still pending, but will be forthcoming shortly.

EAST G. FORKS LOCATION FOR BEET FACTORY

$1,500,000 Plant Will Be Erected in Polk County by Minnesota Sugar Company.

Reports Are That Factory Will Handle 1925 Crop. First in Red River Valley.

Company to Put Up Million and Remainder Asked From Residents Near Plant.

Although Pennington county was not favored with the site for the erection of a sugar beet plant in Thief River Falls this vicinity nevertheless will be afforded a better outlet and market for the beet crop by recent action of the Minnesota Sugar company of Chaska, that company having decided to construct a factory in East Grand Forks.

The sugar beet industry in this section of the state is only in its infancy but the location of a plant in the Red River valley, of which this community is a part, will greatly enlarge the possibilities of making it one of the most profitable sources of revenue for the farmers here.

Following is an article regarding the establishing of the factory, which appeared in the Crookston Times last Friday, giving a full account of the action taken:

"That the first Red River Valley sugar beet factory will be erected in Polk county to handle the 1925 crop seems assured as the result of action taken Thursday afternoon at a meeting held at East Grand Forks attended by Grand Forks and East Grand Forks residents and representatives of the Minnesota Sugar company of Chaska.

Under plans adopted at the meeting and sanctioned by S. L. Douglas, president of the sugar company, ground for the factory will be broken about June 1, 1924, and the factory will be completed by September 1, 1925, in time to handle that season's sugar beet production.

Mr. Douglas declared his company would furnish $1,000,000 toward erection of the factory provided an additional $500,000 was raised by the farmers and business men in the territory to be served by the new plant.

The proposed plant will handle from 800 to 1,000 tons of sugar beets daily during the time it is in operation. It will commence operations each year on October 1, and will then run without any let up day and night, Sundays and holidays included for from 80 to 100 days until the sugar beet crop of the region for the year has been disposed of.

The school buildings have been renovated and repaired from roof to basement and the entire equipment is in excellent condition. Practically a complete staff of instructors has been secured, the administration at present being busy filling the remaining vacancies which are expected to be taken care of in short time. A majority of the instructors for the ensuing term were here last year also, making it less difficult to start active work immediately at the opening of school.

I. T. Simley, superintendent of the city schools, returned this week from New York where he spent a part of the summer studying at Columbia University, and is now engaged in the work of making the necessary arrangements for the opening of the school year. He is very desirous that all pupils start when the semester opens in order that all may be given an equal chance and taken care of properly. Parents are therefore urged to see to that the youngsters show up for enrollment on the first day.

Immediate Action Necessary

The response to our appeal for subscription payments has been very gratifying and a large number have favored us with payments of all the way from one to five years. However, it is of the utmost importance that we raise a much larger sum of money and we MUST DO IT AT ONCE. This appeal is not made as a matter of choice. Conditions have forced us to resort to our subscribers to raise the amount of money that we must have and we cannot urge too strongly the importance of doing this at once. It is a small amount to each individual but the total of several thousand means a great help to us.

But it's a good old world after all, and it uses the most of us as we use it—in short, life is just what we make it. Most people are satisfied with a fighting chance, while others are satisfied with a chance of fighting.

SOCIETY NOTES

Miller-Arneson.

Miss Merrian Elvera Miller and Sophus Valdemar Arneson were quietly married Tuesday at high noon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Betsy Miller. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Gerlinger in the presence of relatives, Miss Ella Miller, the bride's sister, taking the role of bridesmaid, and Philip Larson as bestman.

The bride was led to an improvised altar of Dahlias, white asters and pink gladiolias while Mrs. N. Harris played Lohengrin's wedding march. She was clad in a cocoa brown, satin black, crepe gown with bands of cream lace. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom, and carried a shower boquet of brides' roses, lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern. The bride's maid wore a gown of midnight blue in accordian pleated ruffles of satin and lace in apron effect with crepe back, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Vocal solos were rendered by Miss Dorothy Bottelson and Miss Ella Miller. Miss Bottelson sang: "I Love You Truly," before the ceremony and after the ceremony Miss Miller sang: "When Song is Sweet" and "At Dawning." The ring ceremony was used.

The wedding dinner followed. The table was decorated with sweet peas in pink and white color schemes and pink candles. A three tier wedding cake featured the dinner. Covers were laid for thirty-eight guests including the bride and bridegroom; Miss Ella Miller, bridesmaid; Philip Larson, bestman; Mrs. Betsy Miller, the bride's mother; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Arneson, the groom's brother and sister-in-law; Rev. and Mrs. Chas. Gerlinger; Mrs. Levie Arneson, the groom's mother; Roy Miller, brother of the bride; Eileen Arneson, niece of the groom; Margaret Arneson, a niece of the groom; Stephen and Henry Arneson, nephews of the groom; Mrs. Anna Fish; Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Larson and O. A. Larson, of Litchfield; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Arneson, of St. Paul; Miss Vernice Ellofson, of Litchfield; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Larson, Miss Dorothy Larson, Milton Larson, Miss Clarice and Fred Arneson, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Arneson; Miss Lucile and Justus Larson, Mrs. W. H. Frederick of California, Miss Helen Weeks, Mrs. Nate Harris and Miss Mary Von Prichard.

After the dinner the wedded couple left by car for the coast, intending to pass through Yellowstone park and other points of interest. The bride was dressed in a coat dress of dark blue brocaded wool and a cocoa brown hat as her traveling garb.

Mrs. S. V. Arneson was born in Litchfield and came to this city with her mother eighteen years ago and has made this her home since that time. She graduated from the eighth grade and high school here and attended two years at the university of North Dakota, and was engaged as instructor in the schools here the past year.

A SPLENDID INDICATION.

The announcement made this week that a beet sugar factory is to be built at East Grand Forks should be hailed with delight by the people of Northwestern Minnesota. It is the first step in the development of an industry in this part of the state that will do more to place farming on a profitable basis than anything that has taken place in many years. The building of one factory will simply mean that more will follow and the next ten years should bring about the establishment of many such institutions in this vicinity.

The point of greatest consequence to the people generally is a market close at hand for the sugar beet crop and a resultant decrease in transportation charges, which will give the grower a larger margin of profit on his beet crop. As a matter of local pride Thief River Falls, and every other town in Northwestern Minnesota, would delight in having the first sugar factory located within its corporate limits but aside from this feature all have equal reason to rejoice in the establishment of one at East Grand Forks. The factory itself, from a labor employing standpoint, is not an institution that means a great deal to any city. It is in operation but three months during the year and employs a comparatively small number of people. Its great value is in providing a market for the farmers.

The beet crop in Pennington county this year as well as in other counties of the valley, is convincing proof that a splendid quality can be produced and that the yield is sufficient to make a highly profitable crop. With this fact established it remains for the acreage devoted to this crop to be increased to a point where a factory is assured a sufficient amount for a full season's production. With this done a factory will follow without any further effort. The people engaged in the manufacturing of sugar have given substantial evidence of their confidence in this section of the state as a beet raising section by announcing their intention to build a factory at East Grand Forks. This is the first move on their part of investing their money here. It takes but ten thousand acres of beets to supply the demands of a factory such as the one to be built and it will naturally follow that other factories will be constructed as rapidly as the acreage increases to a point to make it necessary.

The beet raising industry is now an established part of the farm operations of this section and every farmer whose land is so located as to make the raising of beets practical should make his plans now to devote a part of his acreage to this crop next year.

THE FARM CREDIT JOKER

It is a deplorable fact that seemingly beneficial legislation can be so manhandled by those entrusted with its operation as to utterly destroy the purpose for which it was intended and make it a joke instead of a benefit. Just how this has been accomplished in connection with the Federal Rural Credits act is forcibly illustrated in the following editorial taken from the Minnesota Daily Star:

"The decision of the assistant secretary of the Department of Agriculture that farmers cannot receive warehouse receipts for grain stored in their own granaries and accepted and put under seal by the government under the provisions of the new federal farm credit law, unless they incorporate their own granaries and use them as public warehouses, makes practically impossible the one remaining project that was counted upon to save thousands of grain growers from ruin this fall.

"Under the assistant secretary's decision, the average farmer will be able to patronize only the established, licensed warehouses at a transportation and storage expense that will prove prohibitive to many.

"Again the farmers are confronted with a law that is good for every purpose—except that of performing the one essential thing that is necessary to save them in a crisis. The one little provision that would have enabled the farmer to do the possible thing, receive negotiable paper for his grain while it was on his farm, so that he could hold it until he could sell it advantageously, is wanting. Instead, a law has been passed whose provisions bring increased trade and prosperity to middlemen.

"This thing has happened so often, that one begins to wonder if it is possible to get through an honest farmer law. For this condition the conservative majority of the dominant political party is to blame. It defeated almost every bill offered by the progressives. It insisted on the passage of the present federal farm credit law and boasted loudly of this 'achievement' in behalf of the farmers.

"Every agricultural law it has passed has been framed with such tender consideration for certain monopolistic and middlemen interests, that they have been almost useless to agriculture. One of this kind was a former farm loan act sponsored by ex-Senator Kellogg, which threw the whole machinery of loans under its provisions into the hands of bankers and middlemen.

"What the farmers must have is more direct representatives of agriculture in congress."

IT'S ALL JOHNSON'S FAULT.

The latest development in the State Rural Credits situation is that the investment houses are having difficulty in disposing of the bonds which are to provide the money to loan to the farmers and the cause of the reluctance on the part of the investing public to buy the bonds, as given by the eastern investment houses, is the election of Magnus Johnson by the voters of the state as United States Senator. This information is conveyed in the following news article which appeared in the Minneapolis Tribune last Friday:

> "A New York banking syndicate offering to investors the new Minnesota Rural Credits bonds are in hopes of being able to dispose of the remainder of the issue in the next week or 10 days. Henry Rines, state treasurer, said Thursday upon his return from New York City.
>
> "About $600,000 of the bonds that have been bought by the investment banking syndicate are still unsold, he said. Purchasers have been wary of the Minnesota bonds, Mr. Rines was told in New York, as a result of the unfavorable newspaper publicity attributing the victory of Magnus Johnson, United states senator, to an alleged bankrupt condition of Minnesota farmers."

This revelation is not surprising to many who have been watching the situation since the law was passed by the legislature some six months ago. It is but another indication of what the political powers of the country that feel their grip slipping will resort to in order to accomplish their aims and force candidates of their choosing on the public.

THE RIGHT ATTITUDE.

The action of the business and professional men of the city in sending a delegation of farmers to the Northwest Dairy Show to be held in connection with the State Fair is highly commendable. It shows a desire of the part of the business interests of the city to co-operate with the farmers in every way possible to bring about better conditions by a greater development of the dairying industry. This farmer delegation should gain a vast amount of valuable information at the Dairy Show and return to give the other farmers in their vicinity the benefit of this. With the establishment of this policy as an annual event by the Commercial club another step has been taken toward the ultimate transformation of this county into a prosperous dairy section.

Any effort on the part of a community to secure new business enterprises is commendable, but the eagerness to do this should not blind the public to loyal support of institutions already established.

BETTER PICTURES AIM OF PRODUCERS

Many Splendid Paramount Pictures to be Released This Season is Announcement.

Observers of things cinematic say that never before in the history of motion pictures have there been so many big and really worth-while film productions waiting for release as there are at this time. Critics of motion pictures who have been demanding for years that the film studios develop their opportunities are likely to be satisfied this year, if promises and reports from production centers are fulfilled.

More time, effort and actual coin of the realm have been spent on the production of pictures this summer than ever before, observers say, and producers are anxiously awaiting the new season in the hope that attendance at motion picture theatres will justify the tremendous effort which has been expended to improve the artistic standards of motion pictures.

The eyes of motion picture producers up and down Broadway are centered on theatrical box offices throughout the country during the week of Sept. 2 to 8, when most of the motion picture theatres in the United States will celebrate the sixth annual Paramount Week.

Paramount Week, the first week in each new season, has come to be established in the motion picture trade as marking the industry's best effort, and this year it is expected by producers that this Paramount Week will be more successful than any other held before. The purpose of each annual Paramount Week is to focus the attention of the public on the advances made during the year in motion picture art and to show that during the coming season the theatres playing the better type of pictures will warrant the patronage of their public.

As one of the steps toward raising the artistic standards of pictures, producers of Paramount Pictures, the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, have reduced the number of pictures which they will release this year. Two years ago there were 104 Paramount Pictures released between September 1st and August 31st. Last year there were 82, and this year there will be only 52 or one a week. Although the number of pictures has been radically reduced, all the production resources of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation have been kept intact and will be concentrated on the production of these fewer pictures. Each of the pictures, according to an announcement by the heads of the Corporation, will be bigger in every way than any pictures hitherto produced by the Company, and as more time has been given to the selection of stories, the casting of the players, and the choice of directors and building of settings, observers here say that the productions made under this policy will do more than anything else toward offsetting the criticism which has been leveled at film productions for the last two or three years.

Sharp Races Between Counties To Attend Northwest Dairy Show

Red River Valley counties are making preparations to attend the first Northwest Dairy Exposition to be held at the Minnesota State Fair, September 1 to 8 as the clincher in the movement for diversified farming begun in this territory, reports from the counties on both sides of the river indicate.

Organization meetings conducted by L. Klima, special representative of the Northwest Dairy Exposition committee in Crookston, Grafton and Grand Forks are meeting with warm response. It is likely that special excursion trains will be made up in the Red River Valley to swell the scores of excursion trains and auto caravans that are planning to pour into the twin cities September 1, from all sections of the Northwest. Mr. Klima was in Thief River Falls Tuesday and was the principal speaker at the noon luncheon of the Commercial Club Thursday. His message was of particular interest to dairy boosters and exposition boosters.

Announcements made from Exposition headquarters indicate that the Exposition has drawn the largest entry list of dairy cattle ever attracted by a state or regional fair—about 900 heads of purebreds about evenly divided between five standard breeds. Great machinery exhibits are arranged for with many educational features in an attraction in its own right the equal of the National Dairy Show, members of the committee assert.

Mr. Klima is conducting organization meetings in Grand Forks, Pembina, Clay, Polk, Ottertail counties and many other sections of the Red River Valley. He is a former director of the Steele county fair and an enthusiastic friend of agriculture. He tells the story of Steele county's growth from a one-crop county to a dairy plus county and asserts that bank deposits in Steele county today are $400 for every man, woman and child, and he attributes it all to the dairy industry.

Minnesota counties that have organized large special excursions to the Northwest Dairy Exposition are: Isanti, a caravan of 80 autos; Sherburne a caravan of 100 autos, with bands and floats; Chicago, a delegation of 500 persons via motor; Redwood; Kandiyohi, a train delegation, which is likely to join neighboring counties; Renville, 300 by auto; Scott, an auto caravan; Nicollet, Pipestone, Martin, 500 via special train; Beltrami, by auto; Yellow Medicine, Ottertail and Douglas by special train; Todd 75 machine loads; Winona by special train; Waseca, Watonan and Swift counties also will charter special trains.

Minnesota Has Total Of 424,000 Telephones

"If all the long distance wire owned by the telephone companies of Minnesota was stretched out in one line it would reach around the world twice," declares the Northwestern Bell, official organ of the concern of that name in an article which also contains the news that the state has 424,000 telephones—one phone to every four persons in the North Star empire.

The article continues:

"Three hundred and fifty-nine connecting companies and 659 rural companies which operate farm lines only co-operative with the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company in Minnesota to give state-wide as well as nation-wide telephone service.

"The Bell Company and the Tri-State Telephone Company, together with the connecting companies all of which join with each other, operate more than 424,000 telephones in the state.

"The Bell Company operates 117 central offices in the state with 172,740 telephones, according to statistics, compiled June 30, and the Tri-State Company operates 40 central offices and 86,874 telephones. Their connecting companies operate 489 central offices and 147,544 telephones, while there are 16,971 telephones owned by farmers that connect with the Bell lines."

New Law Prohibits Use Of Live Ducks as Decoys

Attention of sportsmen is called to a change in the 1923 game and fish laws of the state, whereby the use of live decoys in the taking of waterfowl is prohibited. The provision formerly read that "artificial or live decoys may be used," but the 1923 legislature amended this sentence so as to read, "artificial decoys may be used," thus clearly evincing an intention on its part to forbid the use of live decoys in hunting.

This change in the game laws is said to have been necessitated by excessive slaughter of waterfowl in lake portions of the state. It is contended that this new change in the law will be an added hardship to the sportsmen in the lake districts, for many of the former good shooting points, the marshes and sloughs, have disappeared and the lakes alone provide an opportunity to obtain a few hours of sport and a mess of mallard or teal. It is no longer a case of shooting but of real hunting, and even with the use of live decoys the bag limits had been greatly cut within the last few years.

Many sportsmen formerly kept a few live mallard for use as decoys, but it will now be a case of putting up his few wooden birds against the hundreds owned by the hunting clubs of the larger cities, with the result that the club members will carry off the birds. Three thousand wooden decoys, it is said, have been accumulated by one hunting club at Heron Lake alone.

Giving 'Em the Limit.

"Tell all the bootleggers in your community the sad news that the worst is yet to come," said Deputy U. S. Marshal Converse, of Detroit, Minn., to the Pioneer Journal Saturday last. "At the close of court at Duluth last Thursday," continued Mr. Converse, "Judge McGee announced from the bench that hereafter a new rule would prevail in the matter of sentencing bootleggers and dope peddlers and hereafter conviction for a second offense would meet with a sentence to the federal penitentiary. That the judge means business is proved by the sentences handed out at this term. The last fine was $400 and the highest $500, each accompanied by from 4 to 6 months confinement in jail. And in order to make sure that a prisoner could not profit by good behavior in case of a six months sentence the time of imprisonment was fixed at 5 months and 25 days."—Wadena Pioneer Journal.

NEWSPAPER PRAISES MINNESOTA HIGHWAY

Chicago Tribune Staff Writer on Long Trip Lauds Recent Road Development.

Finding much to commend about Minnesota highways on returning from an extended tour to observe road conditions in Middle and Northwestern states, J. L. Jenkins, automobile editor, writes in the Chicago Tribune:

"One man's energy, forehandedness and good roads salesmanship is credited with the completion in two years' time of a traversable state highway system in Minnesota totaling exactly 7,000 miles.

"The man is Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner and originator of of the road plan which in this surprisingly short length of time brought the state from the rear to one of the foremost ranks in highway development, and from mud trails to smooth gravel roads, each of which carry an average of 710 vehicles a day in both tourist and local traffic."

Reviewing highway improvements under the new plan, the recruiting of the big force of patrolmen, the marking of the trunk routes, and other accomplishments of the first two years, Mr. Jenkins continues:

"All of this work has been done on a trunk highway fund revenue of not more than $10,000,000 a year and without the issuing of state bonds to cover the huge improvement.

"Commissioner Babcock was a member of the original commission. From the beginning he urged a better system of roads to aid the farmer and predicted the rapid development of the automobile and its consequent need of through highways and permanent improvements.

"Advocates of a gasoline tax of 2 cents a gallon to aid in road building are sweeping the state now, and a gasoline tax amendment will be voted, it is believed, at the 1924 general election."

Incidentally, mention is made of the highway bond failure in the last legislature. Illinois already has issued $60,000,000 of highway bonds and soon will vote on and probably authorize a new issue of $100,000,000.

Hogs Grow on Wheat.

In speaking of how hogs will thrive on wheat, James W. Wilson, Director of Animal Husbandry at the South Dakota Experiment Station, says, "Several years ago my brother and I had a load of hogs. Wheat at that time was cheaper than corn. We purchased a carload of wheat and fed those hogs. We found that they did not grind it, but that it came through them whole. Then we ground it and I never saw hogs do better than they did on this ground wheat."

Newspaper Editing.

The sort of newspaper that would be published if everybody edited it would be something wonderful, but nothing that anybody would subscribe for. The newspaper business is perhaps the most competitive of any in existence. People who make up newspapers must have the mass of the people in mind every moment. No newspaper can live by catering to a chosen few.

There is not in any community enough business to support a large newspaper designed especially for what are slangly called the highbrows. The highbrows are a vague class, but are commonly supposed to be the type of citizens who take no interest in any subject except one concerning things that would be discussed in a faculty, or a fine arts convention, or a symposium of the higher clergy. No daily newspaper made to fit a clientele of intellectuals or near-intellectuals could subsist on what the intellectuals would be willing to pay.

A new author made himself unpopular some time ago by saying that as far as he had observed most of the criticisms of his book had come from that class of readers who never buy books, but are keen for borrowing them and picking them to pieces. It might be said of some of those who are severest in their condemnation of the daily press that they do not have to pay its bills nor do they contribute greatly to its support.—East St. Louis (Ill.) Daily Journal.

Noonanisms.

A couple of Frenchmen have just fought a duel over a woman. The barbarous custom is unknown in this country. American men don't fight over women. They fight with them.

An eastern man had a race horse named Money. He ought to go fast, says an exchange.

Now a bunch of sharp nosed reformers want an amendment to prohibit the use of tobacco. The twenty-first amendment will probably compell married couples to use boxing gloves.

Another sign of hard times in Baudette is that there isn't more than $150,000 worth of autoes in the village.

Fewer Marriages.

Marriage licenses issued during the past few months show a decrease the country over compared with the same months last year. Cupid, of course, is not to blame for the situation, for he works as long hours as he ever did. A probable reason for the situation is a lack of homes for the newly-weds. It is likely that many who are not working steadily and are not only willing but eager to assume matrimonial bonds, are deterred by the fact that they can have no home to go to following the ceremony. It is the dream of every bride's heart to have a little nest to fix up and attend to and be mistress of. Marriage changes lives of the newly-married to a degree scarcely realized and one of the changes is an intense desire experienced by the bride and bridegroom to have a home of their own.

Couples long wedded are apt to forget the joys they experienced in fitting up their first home. They think of their early struggles and forget all about the triumphant feeling that came with each addition that tended to increase the comfort of their abode. The newle-weds, however, look forward to all such little occurrences, enjoy the elation of achievement, which they later will recall only as a struggle, but still feeling satisfied with themselves because they made the effort and were successful.

Young men and women of Crookston should not be discouraged by complaints of the high cost of living. Just a step off with a strong heart and a determination to pull together, to take the bitter with the sweet, and you'll find the world a lot better place than those who remain single, give it credit for being.—Polk Co. Leader.

The Proper Spirit.

It doesn't seem possible but this actually happened in Fairbault the other day;—a man thanked a policeman for arresting his son for speeding and, in addition to his thanks, he made the following remark; "I am holding no grudge. Its the best thing that ever happened. I expect to have the lad pay his own fine and keep his word. Next time you catch him make it twice as hard." When we have a few more Spartan Pa's like that Son won't be half so smarty. We have a hunch that that little idea of having the speeder pay his own fine will be the most effective part of the punishment—it will probably call to his attention the direct connection, in more ways than one, between fines and gas.

Facts About Mailing.

If you are a regular subscriber to a daily paper your carrier will not leave the office on his trip until he assures himself that your copy has not arrived.

Every time you hold up a carrier on the street before he reaches your house you rob him of that time that he may be called to account for.

A carrier may not leave the sidewalk to collect letters which you have placed on your box unless he has mail matter to deliver to you.

If you are on a rural route put your pennies for postage in an envelope or wrap in paper. It is wearing on the finger tips to extract the loose coins.

Talk about "price fixing," look what Magnus did to Jake Preus.—Lenser Herald.

Pure-Breds and Prosperity

There is more to the question of pure-bred stock than a matter of pedigree, registry and conformation to type. Successful dairymen will testify that the superiority of the pure-bred over the scrub also shows in the milk pail, and in the cream check.

In prosperous farming communities, herds are headed by pure-bred sires, not because prosperous farmers can afford the luxury of pure-breds, but because the pure-breds have made the farmers prosperous.

The Citizens State Bank stands ready to co-operate at all times with the man who wishes to grade up his herd with pure-breds.

This Unusual Group of Printzess Coats In a Special Sale Event for women who demand the new styles first

WE have made a special purchase of fine fabric Printzess coats, designed and tailored by Printz for the fall and winter season. These charming models are fashioned from the softest and richest of materials, trimmed with luxurious furs, and are all newest styles moderately priced. Why wait until cold weather forces you to choose hastily? Why not be among the first to wear one of these latest originations?

Developed in such deep-piled fabrics as Fashona, Framoso, Lustrosa, Velverette and Arnolaine

THEY have that wrappy tendency which brings them to the front in a small flare, where they fasten with a string tie or single buckle arrangement. Most of them are enhanced by ample collar and cuffs of the season's smartest furs—as lynx, fox, squirrel, beaver and wolf. Embroidery is used as a motif—generally on a side panel or sleeve. All of these new wraps are charming in their distinctive Printzess way, made for every type of woman.

Graceful in every line they are the sort of coats that do not compete with woman's beauty, but subtly enhance it. We invite you to see them all; while the season is only at its verge. There are so many styles that you will find it quite delightful to pick out the coat that suits you best from this authentic group.

And the price is surprisingly reasonable. In spite of the fact that furs and fabrics have steadily increased in price during the past season, you will know that in these Printzess coats now on display, you have more clothes value than is ordinarily represented in such garments.

Reasonably priced at $39 to $169

Other new fur trimmed coats at $15 to $29.50

AREA TESTING TO START IN MEEKER

Intestified War on Tuberculosis Begins Sept. 17, Cotton Announces.

Area testing to stamp out tuberculosis in Minnesota under a law passed and appropriation made by the last Legislature, will start in Meeker county on Sept. 17. This will be followed by a second campaign in Traverse county, to start Oct. 15.

The tests will be under the direction of C. E. Cotton, secretary and executive officer of the State Livestock Sanitary board, co-operating with County Farm Bureau officials.

In Meeker county, 32 veterinarians will be used to inject the tuberculin in Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays. Readings will be made on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays. Provision is made for the men to work Sundays to be sure the ground is well covered.

Arrangements have been made for farmers to drive each veterinarian and to provide him with board and room, so that the work can be carried on from early in the morning until late at night, as it is necessary to complete the first test as quickly as possible.

Every animal in the county will be tested before the campaign is concluded. After the diseased animals are determined, suitable quarantines will be established to prevent re-infection.

The Traverse county campaign will be carried on in the same manner, though with fewer veterinarians.

FARM LOANS IN VALLEY DEMAND CONSIDERATION

Special Committees of R. R. V. Development Ass'n. Make Survey of Conditions.

Relief For Grain Growers and Farm Loans Must Have Immediate Attention.

Committees to Represent Each County in Conference With Loan Organizations.

Special committees of the Minnesota Red River Valley Development association have been hard at work on two matters of importance from which it is hoped benefits of considerable worth will be derived. That which is perhaps of most importance is the obtaining of relief for grain growers of the Northwest. In all four of the northwestern states numerous groups have been promoting one or another plan for effecting relief.

Many requests or demands have already been made upon the administration leaders at Washington but in disorganized manner, and are believed to have served only to cause the Administration to look askance on the proposals rather than favorably.

The Development association is not endeavoring to promote the adoption of any particular plan but at the request of North Dakota leaders has been trying to bring about the formation of a delegation representing all of the states concerned in the matter to lay the situation before the Federal Administration.

Minnesota leaders, without regard to political affiliation or personal views on the best plan to be advocated for relief, have expressed practically unanimous readiness to co-operate with leaders of other grain raising states in trying to get the federal government to see the need of justice of affording immediate relief in some form.

The other matter that is receiving very earnest attention is that of the farm loan situation. Reports were made which at first appeared to indicate a tendency in some circles toward unnecessary rigidness in the matter of loan re-payments. This being brought to the attention of the state Agricultural department, a number of meetings have been held at points variously located throughout the Valley at which bankers, farmers and merchants were in attendance. These meetings disclosed that while there were instances where farmers could not make interest or loan payments, there was an absolute confidence in the valley's ability to eventually pay and readiness on the part of bankers and merchants to stand morally and financially behind the farmers to the fullest possible extent. One particular outcome of these meetings is hoped to be the making by the newly created States Rural Credit bureau of an increased number of loans. These are repayable by smaller payments and extended over longer periods of time than the ordinary mortgage loan and can, on this account, be of much help to the farmers who can not meet ordinary loan payments just now on account of low crop returns.

Committees are being organized in each county on which will be one banker, one farmer and one merchant. Through these committees it is planned to make representation to loan organization officers of the valley's needs and its stability and so through giving satisfactory assurances to them, secure assistance for all farmers who are at all reasonably entitled to it.

CORN YIELD LOWER; OATS YIELD HIGHER

Barley Forecast in State Higher Than Last Month; Wheat Is Lower, Says Report.

The forecasted production of Minnesota's corn crop is about 2,000,000 bushels less than for the August 1 forecast, oats about 5,000,000 bushels more, barley nearly 1,000,000 bushels more and spring wheat 2,000,000 bushels less according to the report of Paul H. Kirk, federal statistician for the Minnesota Cooperative Crop Reporting Service. The dry, hot weather, particularly in the southern part of the state, lowered the corn prospects while rust and scab were the principal factors in the reduction of spring wheat.

Corn condition August 1 was 92 per cent of normal, forecasting a production of 165,557,000 bushels, compared with 131,397,000 the final 1922 estimate. Corn suffered and prospects were lowered, principally in the southern counties of the state.

Oats condition August 1 was 84 per cent of normal, forecasting a crop of 139,861,000 bushels compared with 142,746,000 the 1922 final estimate. Stocks of oats on farms August 1 are estimated at 9,902,000 bushels. Oats apparently came through the hot season very good.

Spring wheat condition was lowered by rust and scab from 84 per cent July 1 to 66 per cent of normal Aug. 1, forecasting a production of 18,481,000 bushels, compared with 25,346,000 bushels the 1922 final.

Winter wheat yield is placed at 16 bushels, or a total production of 1,376,000 bushels, compared with 1,691,000 bushels the 1922 final. In some sections the crop has fair yields, but was affected by hot weather and thin stands.

Barley condition August 1 is placed at 82 per cent of normal, compared with 83 per cent last month, forecasting a production of 22,780,000 bushels, compared with 24,062,000 bushels the final for 1922. Barley did not suffer as much as wheat and escaped some of the hot weather. Threshing returns so far show up very good and indicate no very bad districts and some good yields. Stocks of barley on farms August 1 are estimated at 890,000 bushels, or 3.7 per cent.

Rye acreage harvested this year, especially in the northwestern part of the state, was cut down due to thin, poor stands and the yields were low. The average yield is placed at 13.5 bushels, or a production of only 13,865,000 bushels from an acreage of 1,027,000 acres, compared with 21,926,000 bushels harvested from 1,154,000 acres in 1922. The quality is estimated at 85 per cent, indicating a fairly good quality even with a low yield.

Buckwheat acreage in 1922 was quite large, therefore a reduction of 10 per cent still gives Minnesota 67,500 acres. A condition of 83 per cent of the 1922 final estimate.

Potato condition declined from the July 1 figure of 89 per cent of normal to 79 per cent August 1. This loss of condition is due to heavy rains in the Red River Valley which cut the stand. The extremely dry weather in the southern part of the state also reduced prospects. However, the "set," especially in the late commercial districts, is good, and with favorable weather prospects may show some improvement in these districts. The forecasted production August 1 is 37,510 bushels, compared with the July forecast of 39,772,000 and the 1922 final of 43,740 bushels.

Flax condition August 1 was 84 per cent of normal, forecasting a crop of 5,164,000 bushels, compared with 3,200,000 bushels the 1922 final. This increase in the indicated production is due largely to the increased acreage compared with a year ago. Flax is generally in good condition. Some early fields are harvested. There was some complaint of wilt in a few sections in the southern part of the state.

Returns From Trip.

Miss Edna Larson returned Monday from a vacation trip to various points in Minnesota and Wisconsin where she visited with relatives and friends. She was gone for a period of seven weeks. Miss Larson visited with her brothers, Dr. C. M. Larson in Minneapolis and Lawrence, who is mechanical engineer for Allis Chalmers in Milwaukee. While in LaCrosse, Wis., she visited with Miss Edna Barton who is now located there, having secured a position as manager of the millinery department of the William Doerflinger company, one of the largest department stores in LaCrosse. Miss Barton conducted the Dahlquist millinery in this city for some time until she disposed of her interest this season.

EGG SPROUTS LEGS AND WALKS AWAY

Larry Semon in Baffling Comedy at Lyceum Theatre Next Sunday and Monday.

Larry Semon has accomplished a feat in making film stunts that has baffled the old timers. The trick is one that cannot be explained by double exposure or any mechanical device. Even stop camera action will not account for the uncanny and at the same time amusing antics of the egg which Larry uses in "The Counter Jumper," which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre on Sunday and Monday.

As the clerk in a store, Larry goes to get some eggs for a customer. One rolls away and Larry goes after it. The eggs stops, sprouts two honest-to-goodness legs, not the mechanical kind; but flesh and blood legs that pulsate and move. The legs carry the egg wherever it wants to go, and something inside the egg directs it with human intelligence.

Some funny sequences follow in which the egg cuts up in general, and then Larry gets a swat at it. The result is the production of cute, little duckling on the head of a man.

How Larry produced the legs is a studio secret that is closely guarded, and a close study of the film doesn't enlighten the curious. Apparently Larry has done the impossible, and the only answer to this feat is the meaningless reply that has been in vogue since pictures first became popular, "You can do anything in the movies."

It is a problem for the wise guy to work out, for there is nothing supernatural or uncanny about it. None of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's ghosts had a hand in the production. The legs are worked according to natural law, but Larry defies any one to discover the law and perform the trick.

The Truth About Gasoline Prices

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has announced an immediate reduction in the price of gasoline of 6.6c per gallon applicable throughout the entire territory in which it does business.

It asserts that the retail prices thus made are below the cost of production and distribution.

The Governor of the State of South Dakota, buying distress gasoline below cost of production, and charging against the State no adequate cost of distribution, is selling gasoline to the public in the State of South Dakota at 16c per gallon.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana), operating on its established policy that the customers who purchase its goods should never be compelled to pay a higher price than that fixed and maintained by any competitor, quality and service being duly considered, has met this price.

Other State Executives and Officers of municipalities, with entire propriety, have suggested that any prices made in South Dakota be made applicable in their States. Competitors in other states and communities over the territory, also buying distress gasoline below cost of production, have also cut the prices hitherto established and maintained, in substantial amounts.

In establishing the above price, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is not endeavoring to injure any of its competitors in any way.

It deprecates the stand taken by some of its competitors that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is endeavoring, by reason of meeting these cuts in price and these demands for lower prices, to put its competitors out of business.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) does not wish to put any competitor out of business because it feels that competitors are necessary to the successful conduct of its business. It will welcome a change of attitude on the part of all parties concerned resulting in a reasonable price for gasoline which will enable not only it but all of its competitors to enjoy a reasonable profit.

It recognizes that the majority of its competitors are fine business men, entitled to the fairest treatment both by the public and by this Company.

The present situation is an exact parallel to one where the butcher, the grocer, the druggist, the dry goods and shoe merchants and every other retailer would be forced to sell at less than the wares cost.

How long would it last? What would a condition like this do to all of us—if it persisted and spread?

We want no monopoly—seek none. We want your trade—but only on the basis of quality and service—not as the result of impossible prices.

We want competition—you want us to have it. It makes the scales of business balance.

These are not idle words. They mean just what they say.

Wheat Greatest Hog Feed.

[illegible] L. A. Weaver, of Missouri university, says, "We fed a pen of pigs wheat for one hundred and twenty days, and corn to another pen for the same time. It took 483 pounds of wheat to produce a pound of pork and 582 pounds of corn. In other words, the wheat produced gains 25 per cent faster, and it made a pound of pork on one pound less gain. With corn worth 85 cents per bushel, wheat is worth $1.11 as hog feed." With good, thrifty pigs wheat can be marketed at cost, if not a profit.

Big In Size and Service

THE greatest achievements throughout the ages have been those discoveries and inventions which have made it possible for men to do the work of the world better and at the same time gain the leisure needed to develop their own powers.

No single class of achievements has done more to overcome the obstacles which confront mankind in his climb toward better things than those which are grouped about the discovery of petroleum. From this source he first secured cheap and abundant light, lubricants and power.

The discovery of kerosene gave him a clear, dependable light which made systematic night study possible.

The development of unnumbered lubricants made the operation of the countless machines which serve the world practical.

The refining of gasoline made the internal combustion automotive engine practicable.

In the development of these helps, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been a leader.

For years it has maintained, at its refineries, research laboratories and testing stations where men were constantly at work finding new uses for petroleum, and as the discoveries have been proved of practical worth they have been given to the world.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has done more than develop a large number of products and manufacture them in quantities. It has priced them at reasonable figures and has organized a comprehensive system of distribution which makes it possible for any man in the ten Middle Western States served by the Company to get what he wants quickly and easily.

Of these achievements the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is justly proud—particularly so, as the public has paid no premium for the enjoyment of these comforts.

In contradistinction, every additional product that this Company is able to take from petroleum beats its just proportion of the total manufacturing expense and tends to keep down the manufacturing cost and the selling price of all petroleum products.

Thus do the activities of a big organization, founded and operated on the principles of equity, fairness and justice, accrue to the benefit of the public for the common good.

WARROAD VICTORS IN 2 TO 7 GAME LAST OF SEASON

Errors Responsible For Defeat At Hands of Northerners Last Sunday.

The Thief River Falls boys who went to Warroad to play ball last Sunday had their day of ill fortune, insofar as the result of the game is concerned. Warroad being strengthened by some of the best sluggers in the northern section, proved too strong for the locals during the third and eighth innings in which they pulled in a total of seven, while the Thief River Falls nine succeeded in getting only two, both of which were gained during the eighth period. They were held scoreless during the other innings. The runs by the opponents were made possible largely by reason of errors on the part of the locals. The latter were minus some of the regular members of their lineup.

Yost performed as usual on the mound with McGinn at the receiving end, the regular catcher not being available. McGinn, however, played his end very satisfactorily. Seven hits were allowed by Yost while five were allowed by Jenkins and Swanstrom of the Warroad nine.

Following is the box score:

Warroad—	AB	H	R	A	PO	E

CHECKING UP AUTO TAX DODGERS HERE

State Inspector Assists Local Authorities in Round-up of Tax Delinquents.

Enforcing the motor vehicle tax laws in this vicinity, H. J. Cater, a special state official assigned to the work, is assisting Sheriff Ole L. Ihle in the local drive against auto tax slackers. The special officer will remain until all cars without 1923 licenses are listed. Penalties are being collected and prosecutions are to follow continued noncompliance, Mr. Cater said.

All registered cars on which no new license applications were received by the secretary of state are being carefully checked up, according to the state representative, and no property is exempt from the sheriff's levy to enforce payment. Where the sheriff fails to collect the tax, the law provides, the amounts are to be deducted from his fee bills by county commissioners. Heavier penalties are now in effect for delays in registrations and notices of transfers, applications being required within three days of sale dates.

"The man who can afford to own an automobile should be able to pay the tax on it, especially when it is now in lieu of personal property and all other taxation and the money goes owners have already paid 1923 taxes and there is no excuse now for failure to displace the right license plates."

He added that many cases are found where sets of tags are split, to serve on two machines, and tags are changed between cars, and in these the courts are imposing extra heavy fines. Regardless of whether it is used on the highways, every motor vehicle owned in Minnesota is subject to the license tax which now replaces all other taxes. Besides increasing penalties, persons operating unlicensed cars are liable to arrest daily, and this is one consideration for the close check kept on cars now, according to the officer.

A good road pays for itself, over and over again—but it begins only when it is made a good road, and not as long as it takes excessive amounts for upkeep.—Highway Bulletin.

CROWDED HOUSE ASSURED SAPIRO

Record Breaking Audiences Certain for Meeting at Crookston on Sept. 10.

A crowded house will welcome Aaron Sapiro when he speaks at Crookston on Sept. 10, according to C. G. Selvig chairman of the inter-county committee, organized to urge on farmers and business men generally, the importance of hearing this national authority on co-marketing discuss the far reaching importance of the potato marketing campaign, now under way.

"Every member on the committee is doing excellent work," said Mr. Selvig, "and all indications point to one of the largest meetings that has been held in this vicinity in recent years. Farmers of this section have read a great deal about the California plan of co-operation and about Mr. Sapiro. They know Sun-kist oranges and Sun-Maid raisins. They realize the same idea that has placed those products on the markets of the world is being extended to other commodities in all parts of the country, especially potatoes in Minnesota. They want to hear the man who took the Danish idea of co-operation and perfected it for use in United States, tell his own story. And they are going to come out to the meeting. I look forward to a crowded house and my only fear is that our meeting-place will not large enough."

Arrangements have been made for Mr. Sapiro to talk for 15 minutes from WLAG, the Twin City Radio broadcasting station, on the evening of Sept. 6. He will be on Northwest Farmstead's lecture program, beginning at 7:30.

"American girls are dressy," says an English visitor. How much will the valuable knowledge cost the young men of America? 'Sfunny, don't you know, that we didn't discover this some time ago.

Address Stabilization Meeting at Gully Sun. Much Interest is Shown

Attorney G. Halvorson and Andrew Trovaton of this city motored to Gully last Sunday to take part in a stabilization meeting held in that village. The gathering was very well attended by farmers and business men thruout that vicinity and much interest was shown in the subject of fixing the prices of grain, particularly wheat, to relieve the present condition of the farmer. The principal speaker of the day was Congressman Knud Wefald of Hawley, who was enthusiastically received by the audience. The meeting was also addressed by Mr. Halvorson and Mr. Trovaton, the latter of whom spoke on the inflation and deflation of money and other financial problems.

Resolutions were passed requesting that congress do something to stabilize the price in order to assure the farmer of a fair profit.

Meetings of a similar nature are being held thruout the country and everywhere the demand is for immediate relief, although various theories in the way of remeding the ills of the farmers today, are being presented.

St. Cloud was chosen as the convention city for 1924 and it is the plan of the local post to be represented by a large delegation in trying to secure the 1926 gathering for Thief River Falls.

Government Insurance Reinstated.

From July 1, 1922 to June 1, 1923, the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, in its nation-wide operations, rehabilitated 19,401 disabled soldiers. Of that number all but 961 have been placed in gainful employment, and all except 414 of those are out of employment for reasons outside the control of the Bureau, such as sickness, the desire for a vacation after the training course, or refusal to accept the employment offered. This number, 414, is only about two percent of the total number rehabilitated that have not been placed in employment so far as the employment service of the Veterans' Bureau is concerned.

Private business throughout the country has shown a commendable desire to assist these ex-service men in becoming producing members of society again.

Veterans of the World War are manifesting great interest in Government Insurance. A recent canvass among the veterans taking vocational training in four schools in St. Paul, Minnesota, resulted in insurance to the amount of $254,000 being reinstated and converted into standard forms of policies.

This should serve as a reminder to all ex-service men that now is the time to re-instate their government insurance for the longer they wait the higher the rate, besides the risk of dying and leaving their families unprotected. It is best to play safe and re-instate immediately. All insurance must be re-instated and converted by March 3, 1926.

Only Two Percent Unemployed.

Farming Popular With Veterans.

According to a report recently made by the Helena, Montana Sub-District office of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, the "back to the soil" movement has many adherents among the disabled veterans of that state.

This report shows that 225 disabled soldiers who have been approved for vocational training have selected some phase of agriculture for their vocation. This is approximately one-fifth of the entire number of men who have accepted training.

This marked preference for agriculture among the veterans is probably due to the fact that a large proportion of them were farm boys before entering the army and to their inherent desire to control their own activities and enjoy independence of employment.

The average farm course is thirty months in length and the institutional part of the men's instruction is given at the State Agricultural College. This is supplemented by project training during the spring and summer months on land owned by the trainees.

If the man is not a land owner, he is assisted in obtaining title to a tract that is suitable. At present several large tracts of land, near Eureka, Montana, are under consideration for colonization purposes. Five vocational men and their families are already settled there. Favorable arrangements have been made with a banking institution to finance the men until they are firmly established in their farming operations.

The actual number of disabled veterans who are receiving practical training on farms in Montana this summer, is 170. Their projects are located in practically every county of the state that is suited to farming. Reports indicate that they are making excellent progress. Instructions from the State College of Agriculture and Supervisors from the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, visit the men at intervals to assist them and see that their work is progressing satisfactorily.

The lines of agriculture being followed are, stock raising, dairying, poultry and bee raising, horticulture and general farming.

U. S. Veterans' Bureau,
District Ten News Release:

Complete College Courses.

Three disabled veterans who have been taking training under the U. S. Veterans' Bureau received their degrees from the South Dakota State Agricultural College recently. Clarkson Orvis was elected to membership in the Hopkins Club the honorary agricultural society, because of his excellent record. Glenn R. Prunty passed the civil service examinations and was at once employed by the U. S. Veterans' Bureau as a training assistant to supervise the training of disabled veterans. The third man, Harry Schooler, is employed by the South Dakota State College as an instructor carrying instruction to Veterans' Bureau trainees who are out on agricultural projects.

Two other disabled ex-service men received their degrees in law at the University of South Dakota at Vermillion.

Progress on Veterans Farm Projects.

Four men who are taking training in agriculture under the U. S. Veterans' Bureau at Brookings, South Dakota, have bought ten acre farms under the auspices of the Land Settlement Board of that state. They plan to specialize in poultry, berries and garden truck.

Each man has one and one-fourth acres of pasture, four and one-half acres of alfalfa, with a nurse crop of oats. The remaining three acres are given over to building sites, lawns, chicken runs, kitchen garden and similar uses.

Four houses are being constructed by the Land Settlement Board which is financing the project.

The outlook for productive small farms for these men is excellent.

Veteran Becomes State Manager.

Our readers cannot fail to be interested in the accounts of what men who suffered injuries in the war, have accomplished through the vocational training given them by the U. S. Veterans' Bureau as part of the program for rehabilitating them.

Take, for instance, the case of John W. Sorenson. Before the war he was a carpenter with a seventh grade education. He served in the army as a mechanic in the 147th Field Artillery, Battery B. A gunshot wound injured his right hand so that he would be handicapped in the work of carpentering.

Therefore, he was given vocational training along some line in which his disability would not be a handicap. He decided upon life insurance salesmanship which course was granted him in spite of his meager education. This was done largely because of his pleasing personality; in short, because his adviser deemed him to be of the salesmanship type. Events have proved the correctness of his judgment.

He was placed in training with the New York Life Insurance Company. He simultaneously pursued a correspondence course in insurance salesmanship with the Insurance Research and Review Service, of Indianapolis. He was also sent to the Carnegie Tech. at Pittsburgh to take an institutional course in the same subject.

Having been given the best training possible in line, and having demonstrated, on the practical side, that he was a successful life insurance salesman to such a degree that the Western Union Life Insurance Company of Spokane appointed him its State Manager for Minnesota, he was declared rehabilitated on February 25, 1923.

In a recent contest to select the "first ten producers" of business, Mr. Sorenson led all the agents of this company in the twenty-three states in which they are doing business.

He speaks in terms of highest praise of what the Veterans' Bureau has done for him.

TEACHERS FOR CITY SCHOOLS ARRIVING NOW

Young Folks Will Return to Studies Tuesday After 3 Months Vacation.

Monday Will Be Devoted to Teachers' Meeting and Organization Work.

Efficient Corps of Teachers Secured and Signs Point to Successful Term.

The school bells will again ring thru the morning air next Tuesday to summon the children of Thief River Falls to their respective schools, marking the closing of the summer vacation and the opening of a nine-months period of conscientious and faithful study. Everything has been put in readiness for the comfort and care of the pupils during the coming term and Superintendent I. T. Simley and Morris Bye, high school principal, have been busy the past week making the final preparations and arrangements.

Some of the teachers have already arrived but most of them are expected to come over the week-end. A general teachers' meeting will be held at the high school building Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at which time work for the ensuing year will be planned and a program decided upon.

In the interest of economy it has been decided to discontinue the kindergarten department for this year at least. As in the past two years children will be admitted into the first grade if they are six years of age on or before November 1. No first graders will be admitted after the first two weeks of school, in order to avoid confusion and holding back the department on account of one or two pupils. Pupils who fail to start, or become six years old on or before March 24, will be admitted at the beginning of the second semester.

The automobile and engineering department has also been discontinued but a good deal of the work has been incorporated in the other branches of the industrial department.

Only one normal training teacher has been employed as yet, but as in-

PRINCESS THEATRE READY FOR OPENING AFTER RENOVATION

New Pipe Organ Installed and Many Other Improvements Made For Season.

Beginning with next Sunday the programs of the Thief River Theatre company will be presented at the Princess theatre instead of at the Lyceum, the latter of which has been used as the regular movie house for some time past. This is the announcement made this week by Manager H. A. Brumund.

The Princess has undergone a complete renovation and has been redecorated thruout, presenting a splendid appearance in every respect. The machines some time ago were shipped to a factory in New York where they were rebuilt and equipped with the very latest and best in lenses and condensers. The screen has been perfected and the projection will of the very best.

A new Grand Seeburg pipe organ is now being installed and will be an added feature at the opening of the Princess, this instrument being used in many of the best show houses in the country. It was purchased by John H. Brumund when he was in Chicago last May. The organ will be played by Mrs. Thelma Erickson, popular musician of this city, assuring the best in the rendition of the musical programs.

The ventilation of the building has been improved and it is said to be the best ventilated theatre in the Northwest.

Aiming to present pictures of the highest class and the latest obtainable, Manager Brumund has arranged for some excellent films to be shown here during the coming season. They include productions by stars such as Norma and Constance Talmadge, Richard Barthelmess, Jackie Coogan, Baby Peggy, Theodore Roberts, Thomas Meighan, Pola Negri and many others equally celebrated. The Princess will be opened Sunday with the showing of "Grumpy."

Mary Prichard to Grand Rapids.

Miss Mary Von Prichard will leave Sunday evening for Grand Rapids to assume her duties as instructor in mathematics in the high school there. She has spent the past summer taking a course at the Minnesota University and visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Sr. Miss Prichard taught at Ryder, N. D., last year.

Sons of Norway Lodge Organized at Gonvick

Seven members of the local order of the Sons of Norway lodge motored to Gonvick Saturday evening to assist in the organization of a unit in that village and install the chosen officers. They report a splendid event and state that the new members of the lodge show splendid enthusiasm in the organization.

A total of 33 men and women were initiated into the myteries of the order at this first gathering, but it is expected that the order will number about one hundred within another year, the membership including many from nearby towns and farm communities. Installation of officers also took place, Bernhard Knudsen assisted by other Sons of this city, being the master of ceremonies. The visitors from this city speak very highly of the splendid reception given them at the village to the east.

FORMER ASSISTANT POSTMASTER PASSES AT WISCONSIN HOME

Fred A. Gobler, For Many Years Resident of City, Passes Away Saturday.

Fred A. Gobler, for 17 years a resident of Thief River Falls, and employed in the local post office for 15 years, passed away last Saturday at his home near Rice Lake, Wis. Death was caused by tuberculosis from which he had suffered for some time. He was subject to a severe hemorrhage shortly before the final summons. Information was received here by A. Bottelson of the local Masonic lodge, of which Mr. Gobler was a member.

Mr. Gobler moved with his family to Rice Lake in March, 1922, having purchased a farm there. He began in the government service during the incumbency of Frank Kratka as postmaster and remained until last year, being assistant postmaster for a period of 13 years, at all times rendering the most loyal and faithful services. He was married to Daisy Kratka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kratka, by whom he is survived. To mourn his loss are also two children, Alice and John.

The funeral took place Monday at Rice Lake, with funeral rites by the Masonic lodge of that place. The Masonic and Eastern Star lodges here sent elaborate wreaths. Mr. Gobler was secretary of Northern Lodge No. 36 and Worthy Patron of the Eastern Star at the time he left this city.

Two Caught Filled With "Moon" and Given Fines

Two men, Theodore Joppru and Halvor Blinsom, were assessed fines of $10 each plus costs in municipal court Tuesday morning, the cause of their arrest being that they had appeared drunk on the streets of Thief River Falls the previous evening and were taken in hand by officials in a rather unbalanced condition. Both offenders were taken to the jail where they pent the night before appearing before Judge N. W. Tarrant. They denied having purchased the liquor here, saying that they were "filled" when arriving in the city Tuesday afternoon. Theodore Joppru was taken into custody by Chief O. E. Berge while the arrest of Bunsom was made by Night Patrolman A. Ralston.

Jetland is at liberty under a $300 bond for appearance in court when the matter is taken up again.

OFFICIALS RAID LARGE STILL ON O. LINSTAD FARM

Sheriff Ihle and Deputies Find Large Moonshine Plant West Of City Friday.

Ole Linstad, Twice Convicted of Liquor Law Violation, Charged as Owner.

Released For Appearance in Court Saturday But Disappears From Home.

One of the largest "moonshine" hauls in this section was made last Friday when Sheriff Ole L. Ihle, assisted by his deputies, Andrew Ness and G. C. Stein, discovered a complete plant for the manufacturing of liquor, including all the necessary paraphernalia for the process, on the Ole Linstad farm in Sanders township, ten miles west of Thief River Falls.

Linstad was immediately put under arrest and taken to this city, but due to the absence of County Attorney Quale a hearing could not be held until the following day. Linstad was released by the sherriff on his own recognizance for appearance in municipal court Saturday morning, but did not appear on the scene at the appointed time and was found missing from his farm, the authorities so far having been unable to secure information as to his whereabouts. The authorities feel assured that any effort will not be necessary for his apprehension as he owns the farm where the stills were found and will undoubtedly return voluntarily some time. Operation of the plant has at least been discontinued.

The sheriff and his deputies were on the lookout near the moonshine plant for several days and nights to catch the operator in action but he failed to appear during their presence. The place, which is located in the woods a short distance from Linstad's house, was finally raided and the materials confiscated by the officials. The plant was equipped with two complete stills and five gallons of finished "moon" were found in the shack used for that purpose. Two large barrels of mash in the cooling process and two others just emptied, containers of various kinds, oil stove and numerous other utensils were included. It was all loaded into a truck and taken to Thief River Falls to be placed in the custody of the sheriff. The stills had a capacity of about ten gallons each. The officers state that there was a beaten path between Linstad's house and the plant.

It is not the first time Linstad has bee nin the hands of the authorities for violating the liquor law. Twice before he has been fined and given jail sentence for manufacturing liquor. Last winter he pleaded guilty to a similar charge and served a jail sentence of sixty days in addition to the payment of a $300 fine. Conviction of a third offense would very likely result in a stiff sentence, possibly a term in the penetentiary, according to officials.

Picnic Outing Marks 10th Anniversary of Elk's Lodge Charter

The 10th anniversary of the local order of Elks was celebrated in a very fitting and enjoyable manner by a picnic outing of the entire lodge at the fair grounds last Sunday, Aug. 26. An appetizing dinner was served at 12:30, and the afternoon was spent in various sports and contests of a frolicksomesome nature. Tho the attendance was not large, an exceptionally good time is reported by those present. Quite a goodly delegation from neighboring towns took advantage of the opportunity to visit their brother Elks and were present "with their horns on."

A grand lottery was the feature of the afternoon's entertainment. The ladies were all assembled in the grandstand, and as they marched out were given lottery tickets. First prize a gallon thermos bottle, was won by Olive Olson; second prize, a crate of plums, by Mrs. Geo. Nelson, and third prize, a three pound can of coffee, by Mrs. Roy Lambert.

There were foot races, sack races, three-legged races, pie-eating contests, girls foot races, and a girls' potato race for the youngsters, a ladies' potato race, and a ladies' chicken catching contest, in which Mrs. John Ward and Mrs. Art Johnson were fortunate in capturing the coveted birds, which were awarded as prizes to their captors. In a novelty Ford coupe race, Dr. L. R. Tweete won first prize, a box of Shinola, with Walter Jung finishing second and Oscar Paulson third.

As usual the great American game of baseball formed an interesting part of the day's diversions. All records on file at the Thief River Falls No. 1308, B. P. O. E. were broken in the ladies' baseball batting and throwing contests. The afternoon's sports wound up with a baseball game between the Elks band, challengers, and the rest of the lodge. The game ended in a "misunderstanding" at the end of the fifth inning, with both sides claiming victory. Consequently the grand prize, a ripe, juicy watermelon, was divided by the contending teams and eaten on the field.

The Elks' band has been complimented by several members of the lodge for the excellent music liberally furnished throut the day.

The ingenuity and energetic interest of the following committees were largely responsible for the marked success of the anniversary picnic: Refreshments, Christ Storholm, L. R. Johnston, Louis DeCremer and C. S. Simonson; Sports, Roy Brown, G. W. Connell, R. B. Rasmuson and Andy Anderson. W. J. LaBree acted as official announcer.

The local lodge was granted its charter on August 28, 1913, and the annual picnic is held on the Sunday closest to the anniversary of that date.

No More 1923 Baseball.

There will be no more baseball in Thief River Falls this year, the club having closed the season and placed the horsehide on the shelf over winter. The local aggregation enjoyed a splendid season and the management is to be congratulated for the good showing made.

FIRE LOSSES IN THIS CITY TOTAL $16,546 IN 1922

Bulletin of Minnesota Insurance Department Says City Paid $31,310 in Premiums.

Apportionment of $569.32 Returned by State to Thief River Falls Last Year.

Goodridge Paid Premiums in the Sum of $2,662 and St. Hilaire $2,517 During 1922.

The Minnesota Insurance Department bulletin issued in July contains a number of interesting items regarding insurance in Pennington county municipalities. The bulletin shows the fire premiums in 1922 in all Minnesota cities and villages having fire departments as reported to the Department of Insurance and also the premiums and losses in each town since it began to report to the department, but in no case for a period of more than 30 years. The law governing the taxation of insurance companies was amended by the 1915 session of the legislature so as to exempt domestic mutual fire insurance companies. The premiums paid by such companies are therefore not subject to the two per cent tax and municipalities receive no apportionment from the state upon such premiums. The premiums collected by domestic mutual companies, are, however, included in the statistical figures given in the report.

During 1922 insurance companies received in the city of Thief River Falls fire insurance premiums in the amount of $31,310.78 for which the state returns to this city an apportionment totalling $569.32. The losses incurred during the same period amounted to $16,546.78, the total since the local fire department first reported to the state being $314,705.19. The premium paid during that time totalled $551,357.36.

The 1922 figures for the village of Goodridge are: Premiums paid, $2,662.73; apportionment, $33.59; losses incurred, $25.00; premiums since reports were first made to department, $18,892.94; losses during same period, $597.41. The village of St. Hilaire paid premiums totalling $2,517.16 and received an apportionment of $33.17; The premiums paid during the period reports have been made totals $64,589.92, while the losses incurred amounts to $8,874.92.

The total admitted assets of the ninety-six companies which reported to this department the first of the year were $8,217,268,686.40, as compared with $7,508,136,404.04 January 1, 1921. This was an increase during the year of $709,132,182.36. The total liabilities of the same companies, including reserves and apportioned dividends, December 31, 1922 were $7,875,831,902.50 and the surplus, including capital, was reported as $341,386,683.90.

The amount of insurance in force in Minnesota in legal reserve companies on December 31, 1922, exclusive of Industrial and group business,

FARM DISTRICTS CLOSING UP ON URBAN SCHOOLS

Only About 400 More Pupils in Incorporated Municipalities Than in Country.

Superintendent's Annual Report Shows Total of 2651 Children Of School Age.

Increase of Nearly 150 Pupils Since the Previous Year. Only 5 Male Rural Teachers.

The annual report of schools of Pennington county compiled by Ole R. Sande, county superintendent of schools, and just forwarded to the state board of education, contains many items of interest. It shows there is but a slight difference numerically among school attendants as regards boys and girls, both in the city and country, and there is now about 400 more pupils in the high and graded districts than in the rural and semi graded. The previous year showed a difference of about 500.

The report gives the total enrollment in Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire and Goodridge as 2007 and in the rural schools as 1427, a total of 3434. There is a total of 2651 children of school age in the county, 1245 of these being credited to the cities and villages and 1205 in the outlying sections, showing practically an equal number in the two divisions. The number of pupils entitled to apportionment in the county is 3204 of whom 1907 reside in the municipalties and 1297 in the country districts. There are 230 pupils not entitled to apportionment, 100 of whom were found in the city and villages.

The number of pupils between the ages of five and eight is 745. Of these 425 live in the incorporated city and villages while 320 are from rural districts.

Following is the comparison of the enrollment in the city and country according to grade. In the column giving the city figures are included those for the graded schools in the two villages:

Grade	City	Rural
First	192	288
Second	217	188
Third	159	149
Fourth	178	178
Fifth	170	129
Sixth	168	166
Seventh	160	131
Eighth	132	180

There were 330 children attending school for the first time during the year, 180 of these being in the high and graded school districts and 150 in the rural and semi-graded districts. The number completing the eighth grade was 161 of whom 99 were in the more advanced schools and 62 in the rurals. This total is 36 above the previous year.

There were 69 teachers employed in the high and graded schools and 63 in the rurals and semi-graded. The number of men teachers was 12 in the high and graded and only five in the rural districts. Fourteen teach-

In competition with breeders from all northern Minnesota, Mr. Neset was awarded the following prizes: First and second cock, first cockerel, first, second and third hen; first, second and third pullet; first and special on old pen, and sweepstakes on the best hen in the show.

Masons and Eastern Stars To Hold Joint Picnic at Squaw Point Labor Day

The local orders of the Masons and Eastern Stars will hold their annual joint picnic at Squaw Point next Monday, Sept. 3. As usual lunch will be served at twelve o'clock, and the afternoon spent in sports and other amusements.

Each family is requested to bring a lunch basket. Hot coffee, hot beans, ice cream, pop, milk and cream will be served on the grounds free of charge. Andrew Bottelson, chairman of the refreshment committee, expresses a desire that every Mason and Eastern Star turn out and help make the celebration more enjoyable for everyone. Thomas Chittick is chairman of the amusement committee.

The joint annual picnic has been held on Labor Day for several years. Last year the weather was extremely hot and the year before a threatening storm drove the picnicers in early in the afternoon. This year, however, it is hoped that the jinx will turn and that the weather man will provide ideal weather.

The first regular meeting of the Masons after the summer recess will be held next Thursday, Sept. 6. Much important business has accumulated during the summer which must be taken care of at the first meeting.

County Commissioners Meet.

A brief session of the county board of commissioners was held in the auditor's office in the court house Tuesday, at which the county dads appropriated the sum of $75 toward defraying the expenses connected with the Pennington county exhibit which is sent to the state fair this evening. The local exhibit will have a booth in the agricultural building.

The new cement bridge on State Highway No. 4 west of St. Hilaire was inspected and approved by the commissioners, routine matters taking up the remainder of the meeting.

County Agent Returns.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McCann returned Sunday from Rock Island, Wis., after two weeks visit at the home of Mr. McCann's mother, Mrs. Catherine McCann. They also visited in the twin cities and other points in this state and Wisconsin.

THEODORE ROBERTS AT PRINCESS NEXT SUNDAY - MONDAY

"Grumpy" is a Grouch But His Heart is All Gold in Big Wm. De Mille Picture.

Do you know any person who seems to be an irritable old grouch, but who really has a heart of gold? Do you know such a man; who calls his servants "fat-faced fools and idiots," but is nevertheless loved by those servants, who have grown old in his service?

If you do know such a person, then you know the human personification of "Grumpy," the famous stage character that has been brought to the screen by Theodore Roberts, featured in the title role of William deMille's Paramount production of "Grumpy," which will be shown at the Princess Theatre Sunday and Monday. May McAvoy and Conrad Nagel are also featured with Mr. Roberts in this photoplay.

Critics who have seen the picture declare it is the veteran's greatest motion picture characterization; superior even to Mr. Roberts' "Uncle Josh" in "The Old Homestead," lauded everywhere as the most lovable personage ever portrayed for the silversheet.

There are a million "Grumpies" in the country; perhaps ten million in the world. Yet, at heart, each of the "Grumpies" is the same—a beloved and loving old man, ready to give his life's blood to bring happiness to others; yet grouchy more through force of habit than temperament.

In "Grumpy," Mr. Roberts is the central figure in the hunt for the robber of a valuable diamond. How he follows a clue supplied by a gardenia with a woman's hair wrapped around the stem, and finally brings the culprit to justice and brings two loving hearts together, makes one of the most fascinating picture stories ever told on the screen. "Grumpy" is based on the famous stage play of the same name in which Cyril Maude starred.

LOCAL BOY, 13, CRUSHED UNDER FREIGHT TRAIN

Edward Horejsh Dies at Warren Yesterday from Injuries Received Previous Day.

Falls Under Cars While Jumping Freight at Alvarado, On Way To Harvest Fields.

Arm and Shoulder Crushed by Wheel in Passing Over Boy. Funeral Saturday.

Edward Horejsh, 13 year old son of John Horejsh of this city, died yesterday afternoon at the Warren hospital as a result of injuries received when he was run over by a freight train at Alvarado Tuesday. Young Horejsh was attempting to board the freight when he slipped and fell under the train, a car wheel completely mangling his shoulder and inflicting internal injuries.

Edward, in company with his brother, Emil, and Roland Halvorsen, was beating his way out to the Dakota harvest fields Tuesday when the accident happened about 2 o'clock. The boys got off the train for a few minutes at Alvarado, and attempted to jump on as the train started. Edward missed his hold and fell on the rail, receiving fatal injuries when the car wheel passed over his body. The freight locomotive and caboose were immediately uncoupled and carried the injured boy back to Warren, where he was placed in the hospital, and his arm amputated at the shoulder in an attempt to save his life. The loss of blood had been so great, however, that all efforts were in vain. He passed away at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

John Horejsh, father of the boy, was immediately notified of the tragic accident and arrived in Warren about two hours later, accompanied by other members of the family. Mrs. Horejsh died several years ago.

The body was taken to this city last night. The funeral will be Saturday afternoon from the Methodist church.

Young Horejsh is survived by his father and three brothers, Emil, Bennie and Ray, and three sisters, Mrs. C. L. Schultz, Mrs. R. H. Burrell and Mrs. Oscar Ingersoll of Minneapolis.

CITY COUNCIL HAS BRIEF SESSION ON TUESDAY EVENING

Several Bills Allowed and Interesting Reports From City Departments Heard.

The session of the city council Tuesday night was one of the most brief for some time, yet considerable business of importance was transacted during the hour with only four aldermen present, Andrew Ness and Carl Froseth being out of the city.

Resolutions were passed appropriating $2,093.24 to C. M. Carlson for the paving of the post office alley, including the approaches from Second and Third streets; $880.16 to Colsant Bros., as the final payment on the laying of sewers a year ago; and $870 to Mrs. Katrina Newland for the property known as Tindolph park. The customary resolution covering current bills was also allowed.

Various reports of city officers were also received and after careful perusal were ordered filed. Among them were those of the municipal court, showing $38 collected in fines and fees during the month of July; the police report showing six arrests, and that of the city clerk, A. H. Akre, showing the condition of the city funds. There was on hand July 1st a balance of $15,231.02 with receipts during the month of $39,742.02 and disbursements of $26,379.86, leaving a balance August 1 of $28,593.18. The light department showed earnings of $4,409.62 during July while the water department showed earnings of $2,686.55.

The annual report of the Carnegie library, together with the reports for the months of February, March, April, May and June, was the most lengthy report filed with the council. It showed a total of 5,135 volumes on hand June 30, there having been a gain of 247 during the past year. There are 2,750 borrowers cards in force at the present time, and during the year 27,692 volumes were lent to patrons of the library.

Failure on the part of L. O. Kongolf and E. Hilson to lay sidewalks on the south side of Sixth street along their property reulted in a resolution empowering the city street commissioner to have the walks in question put in before cold weather, the cost thereof to be assessed against the property. The street commissioner was also instructed to see that a walk was also constructed across the alley between Main and Knight avenues on the south side of Sixth street.

A. C. Rasmusson Appeals Case to Supreme Court

A. C. Rasmusson, who was taken to the Warren jail last week for a ninety-day stay, having been convicted by a jury here on a charge of having illicit liquor in his possession, has filed bonds for the appeal of his case to the state supreme court, and was released pending the appeal, which is expected to come before the state tribunal in a short time. The appeal was granted by Judge Watts. Rasmusson returned to Thief River Falls last Friday and is back in the Jefferson cafe of which he is proprietor.

Immediate Action Necessary

The response to our appeal for subscription payments has been very gratifying and a large number have favored us with payments of all the way from one to five years. However, it is of the utmost importance that we raise a much larger sum of money and we MUST DO IT AT ONCE. This appeal is not made as a matter of choice. Conditions have forced us to resort to our subscribers to raise the amount of money that we must have and we cannot urge too strongly the importance of doing this at once. It is a small amount to each individual but the total of several thousand means a great help to us.

Confirmation at Bethania.

On Sunday, Aug. 26, the following five young persons confirmed their babtismal vows:

Clifford Anderson, Ole Homme, Willie Julian Helgeland, Thora Homme and Hannah Angina Johnson.

The beautiful church of Bethania was tastily decorated with flowers for the occasion. Several appropriate psalms were sung by the congregation. Rev. P. A. Thoreson gave a most impressive talk to the congregation after which a concise catechising was given by which the confirmants demonstrated that they were worthy of the honor of becoming active members of the congregation.

The text selected was: "St. John 14 ch. verse: "Let not your hearts be troubled, ye believe in God believe also in Me." Simplicity and inspiration were prominent characteristics of the service.

Prof. Paul Overbo of Goodridge, accompanied by Miss Ella Pederson on the organ, favored the audience with the nice song: "Jeg ved en vei." Immediately after this rendition the little flock of three boys and two girls solemnly pledged themselves to renounce evil in themselves and in the world, and to become disciples of the cross.

The very color of the girls' gowns was typical of purity. This together with the frank and sincere responses of all seemed to express the hope and expectation that the day might come when they shall be found clothed with that inward righteousness. "When they shall walk with Him in white, for they are worthy."

Another nice song given was: "Sku Med Himlen, Hvil Dit Oie," given by a quartet of Bethania. Communion services were also given whereby the confirmants and their parents partook of the Lord's Supper. An offering was given to the Mission.—S. G. Tharaldson, correspondent.

Thoughtfulness is one of the fundamentals of hospitality. When your guest reads the account of his or her visit in your local paper he becomes aware of a hospitality which extends beyond your door—to your city.

Great Northern Pays More; The Public Less, Is Official Statement

Transportation of the superior grade required to meet the needs and and demands of the traveling and shipping public costs the Great Northern Railway today more than double what it did ten years ago, while the increase in revenue for the use of these greatly improved facilities has been far less, it is emphasized in a statement by Chairman Louis W. Hill of the board of directors. Official reports disclose that the increase in the prices which the Great Northern must pay now for passenger and freight equipment and the cost of operation is from 100 to 150 per cent greater than a decade ago.

In discussing this handicap under which the railroad is laboring, Chairman Hill called attention to the public need for adequate transportation, pointing out that all work involves the moving of persons or objects and that the factor of cost always is dominant. Because of the necessity for transportation, individual effort would be futile without the railroad and therefore it is important for the public to know what it costs to provide the service.

"The railway traveler today enjoys the advantages of a high class hotel," said Chairman Hill. "Trains are fully equipped with dining, parlor and sleeping car with superior appointments such as will meet the demands of the traveling public. Naturally this is expensive, yet the cost to the traveler is far less than the charges of the hotel with corresponding facilities.

"Every item in the provision of both passenger and freight service costs far more than it did a few years ago. Passenger and freight shipments speed over a mile of railroad track in a minute or two. Undoubtedly few persons know that this mile of track, exclusive of the grade and right-of-way, which cost $15,000 in 1913 now costs $25,000. Other costs of railway service have increased as much more.

"Locomotives which cost $24,000 in 1913 now cost $54,000. Sleeping car costs have increased from $16,000 to $36,000 each; dining cars from $14,000 to $31,500; day coaches from $9,000 to $20,250; refrigerator cars from $1,200 to $2,700; ore cars from $800 to $1,800; box cars from $800 to $1,800 and flat cars from $650 to $1,462.

"Taxes have increased more than 100 per cent. during the same ten years and are a big item of operating expense of every railroad. Yet at the same time railroad freight and passenger rates paid by the public for this much more costly service have increased only about 40 per cent.

"It is obvious that we must pay for everything we have, for food, shelter, clothing and transportation. Production and distribution of these and other essentials require transportation, which made possible the development of our country. And when transportation is impaired, the whole country suffers. As a matter of self interest alone, as well as a matter of justice, this is worthy of deep thought. When there is talk of railroad rates, it is to the public interest to give careful consideration to the fact that this service is being given, under cost conditions most unfavorable to the carrier and growing more difficult every year, at a price to the public so little over that of ten years ago."

A SPECIAL REQUEST

WE are appealing to our subscribers to pay us one or more years subscription to The Times at this time. Owing to the severe loss sustained by reason of the fire which destroyed our plant May 22, we are badly in need of money to pay the obligations incurred in re-establishing our printing plant. The situation is an extremely serious one for us, and conditions have made it necessary for us to appeal to our subrcribers and depend entirely on their help to help us.

A Small Amount

The payment of one or more years subscription is a small matter to each individual, but several thousand of these payments will mean a great deal to us. Do what you can! We are endeavoring to publish a newspaper truly representative of this community and the best interests of the people, and in order to continue this, we must have the united support of our subscribers. We are firm in our belief that we can depend on this support now when we most need it.

A NEW ANGLE.

During the recent campaign and election of Magnus Johnson as U. S. senator in Minnesota, the public gained the impression that he is a radical. But Magnus Johnson is undoubtedly a different type of a man than the professional politician of the accepted radical type.

He is a hard worker, has raised a large family and his wife and his children are his assistants in running the farm. A man who owns land, farms it himself, earns his money from the soil and wears real working clothes covered with dirt and grease accumulated during manly toil, must have good stuff in him. A "constructive" radical can exercise a far wider influence than a "hard boiled conservative."

A New York paper recently contained the following article, quoting from a speech delivered by Johnson at Albert Lea on Aug. 4. Johnson has sounded a wise keynote and shown himself a student above the average:

"More charity between man and man and teaching of more consideration in schools, coupled with a greater love in churches, is the means which will equip the United States to withstand the onslaughts of radicalism." Senator-elect Magnus Johnson told celebrants at Freeborn County community picnic here today.

"Mr. Johnson paid a tribute to the dead President before discussing economic problems. Good-fellowship and service among business and professional men and the farmer was the keynote of his talk.

"The press of the country has wronged me," said Mr. Johnson. The papers say I am profane—'I am rough and care naught for books.' This is unture. I have access to a wonderful library. I love books. I have read until my eyes are greatly impaired.

"I am sorry that the papers of the country, by their untruthful propaganda, are causing the people to lose confidence in what they have to say. The press should be truthful. The people are entitled to know the truth.

"If this country is to prosper and to withstand the onslaughts of radicalism we must show more love in the churches, teach more consideration in our schools and show more charity between man and man."

THE UNDERPAID FARMER.

The United States Department of Agriculture recently compiled a survey of over 6,000 representative farms in an effort to ascertain what return the average American farmer gets from his invested capital. The results are not only interesting but instructive especially in view of the recent Supreme Court decision which affirms the principle "that legislation which precludes a fair return on the investment which it affects is confiscatory and unconstitutional."

The Department of Agriculture finds that the average invested capital of these 6,000 farms is $16,400.

The average return on this capital in cash was only $715.00—less than 4.5 per cent.

That return, however, does not include one dollar for his labor. To get the less than 4.5 per cent on his investment he has to work for nothing.

He has had, however, an increase of $202 in inventories, crops, live-stock and machinery which makes his total gross earning on his investment a little less than 6 per cent.

Estimating the value of his labor at the figures decided upon by three different surveys, as to how much is required to support a family and live decently without saving a dollar, he should be credited with $1,900 per year in addition to his gross return on his invested capital. From this might be deducted the $294 which the Department reports show was the value of food and fuel consumed on the farm.

Putting the 6,000 farms on the same financial basis with the New York Telephone Company, or the railroads which are allowed 5.5 per cent on their investment, the farm as a commercial enterprise, is losing over $1,500 per year. This may explain the cause of nearly thirteen thousand millions of dollars of indebtedness recorded against American farms and farmers.

Legislation that permits a charge of 9 per cent interest to the farmers for the use of government money, together with high freight rates, might be construed as "confiscatory"—when viewed from the fact that the gross cash earning will not pay it.

The Supreme Court decision, in the case of Prendergast vs. New York Telephone Company, will also have the effect of blocking the "Farm Bloc" in the proposed program to lower railroad rates, and it will effect legislation in nearly every state and city.

Following this line of argument to its logical conclusion, the day may come when professional people, school teachers and superintendents, printers and preachers, engineers and skilled mechanics, will capitalize the money and years of time spent in preparing themselves, and demand a fair return on that investment in addition to a reasonable wage or overhead expense. The knowledge acquired after years of study and expense certainly becomes invested capital—at least as much as a piece of inanimate machinery, or a mine mule.

Great Britain has gone America one better and is subsidizing home-building instead of ships. The buildings are being put up with government aid and are for the working class. This country will have to follow suit if the cost of building, already exorbitant, goes much higher.

Many Counties Will Send Next Sunday, Sept. 2nd

Counties are literally tumbling over themselves to line up official delegations to the first Northwest Dairy Exposition and the Minnesota State Fair, announcements made by Jule M. Hannaford, Jr., executive chairman of the Exposition Committee, St. Paul, indicate.

Merchants and bankers, breeders and farmers, have formed local committees in more than 40 counties and are striving to outdo each other in bringing enthusiastic representations to the home dairy show.

Watonwan county has requested advance ticket receipts of 1000, and have chartered a special train, Mr. Hannaford announced. In Crow Wing county, business men are to be hosts of farmer friends and customers and are to drive their guests to the exposition. Beltrami, though hundreds of miles distant, will send an enthusiastic delegation of business men and farmers.

Ottertail has chartered a special train, and is co-operating with Douglas county to bring a huge delegation.

Delegations have not forgotten, Mr. Hannaford stated, that a recognition of a county's effort is to be made. J. M. Hackney, Arden Farms, Inc., St. Paul, has offered a Holstein bull, son of the noted Segis Pontiac Count, to the county bringing the largest residence delegation.

A similar prize is to be bestowed upon that Wisconsin county making the best showing at the exposition. This bull is to be the gift of Simon Kruse, Radisson Farms, Inc., Anoka. It is a fine Guernsey calf, son of Sunnbrook Royalist, sire, and Elizabeth Pet, dam.

Wednesday, Sept. 5 will be Pope county day, delegation to arrive via train; Lincoln county day, delegation also to arrive by train; Big Stone county day, a good sized delegation coming via special train and Renville county day, delegation coming via auto 300 strong, it was announced.

The following messages have been sent from various county delegations to Mr. Hannaford.

Pope: "Expect us via special train Sept. 5."

Waseca: "Leave New Richland thence to Waseca with at least 500 passengers.

Stearns: "Make Sept. 6 Stearns county day. Strong delegation via motor."

Wadena: "Coming both by train and auto. Parties to join at exposition."

Kandiyohi: "Have arranged for three special cars on regular train."

Renville: "Send 300 stickers for cars in our special auto caravan."

Pipestone: Special pullmans chartered. "We'll be there."

Kanabec: "Expect us September 6, coming strong."

Polk: "One hundred Polk county citizens in delegation."

Red Lake: "Will send delegation."

Marshall: "Delegation will come."

Besides these Minnesota counties, Grafton, Fargo and Grand Forks are co-operating to send a large delegation via special train. Wahpeton, N. D., will send a delegation of 200 automobiles. This delegation will visit 20 dairy farms enroute. St. Croix, Wis., is coming in good numbers via automobile. Iowa and northern Michigan will send delegations.

Visiting at Nelson Home.

Miss Leona Isaacson of Minneapolis arrived this afternoon for a week's visit at the Lewis Nelson home east of town. Miss Isaacson is a sister of Mrs. Nelson, and had previous to coming here been visiting with her sister, Mrs. John Hall of Roseau.

The Lesuer Herald offered a very timely suggestion when it said in last week's issue: "Price-fixing on Ford cars would be more to the point as apparently more people are buying cars than wheat."

There are 55,250 railroad passenger coaches in use, having a seating capacity of 2,270,000. The 9,500,000 automobiles now in operation have seats for approximately 47,000,000.

Miss Bishop Leaves For East.

Miss Miriam Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bishop, left last night for Pittsburg, Pa., where she will be connected with the Children's Service Bureau during the coming year. Miss Bishop will also take a post graduate course at the university while there. Last year Miss Bishop taught in a high school at Oklahoma City, Okla.

Noonanisms.

We're Not Chesty, But—

The Thief River ball club dusted the diamond with all the clubs in that section of the universe, and then went to Warroad, where it was turned inside out to the tune of 9 to 2. Baudette thumped Warroad two out of three. Dump the statistics into the adding machine and figure it out for yourself.

Not Much Difference.

Politicians are giving the farmers a lot of advice as to how to run their farms these days. That's like a baldheaded barber trying to sell hair restorer.

When gasoline is poured into an auto and booze is poured into the driver, it's time for other autoists to take to the ditch.

When women get together they talk about other women, it is claimed, but when men are together do they talk about other men? They do not. They talk about themselves.

The editor of a small country exchange says a family can live nicely on $3600 a year. How does he know?

President Coolidge has a rather low voice. If that's a fault our own Magnus is perfect.

With congress idle, gasoline is going down and wheat is going up. Why not let congress keep on taking a rest?

After being soaked with a $35 fine for starting a rough house at a Williams dance, a young man named Laffin isn't.

Things are back to normal in Baudette. The middle of August is here and the baseball club is broke.

It will soon be time for grouse hunters to crawl through a barbed wire fence with a loaded shot gun for the last time.

Try and Do It.

"In a small town," says an exchange, "a fellow takes his girl to the movies, stops at the ice cream parlor, and is home sitting on his girl's porch at 10:30, having spent seventy cents and had all the fun the town afforded."

They Don't Do It.

A furrier was selling a coat to a lady customer.

"Yes, ma'am," he said. "I guarantee this to be genuine skunk fur that will wear for years."

"But suppose I get it wet in the rain," asked the lady. "What effect will the water have on it? Won't it spoil?"

"Madam," answered the furrier, "I have only one answer. Did you ever hear of a skunk carrying an umbrella?"—London Opinion.

3 MORE "DAKOTA" MEN IN BANKS

The Second National Bank of Minot employed Ted Cruden not long ago. He "caught hold" so quickly that when additional help was needed, the bank got Geo. E. Olson from the same source —Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D. Also, the Security National Bank of Edgeley recently employed A. H. Jackson, then finishing his course of training at Dakota Business College.

Why this preference for "Dakota" graduates in nearly 700 banks? Thoroughness. In method, teachers and equipment, D. B. C. leads all others. "Follow the ſucceſsful" NOW. Write F. L. Watkins, Pres., 806 Front St., Fargo, N. D. for terms, etc.

Pure-Breds and Prosperity

There is more to the question of pure-bred stock than a matter of pedigree, registry and conformation to type. Successful dairymen will testify that the superiority of the pure-bred over the scrub also shows in the milk pail, and in the cream check.

In prosperous farming communinties, herds are headed by pure-bred sires, not because prosperous farmers can afford the luxury of pure-breds, but because the pure-breds have made the farmers prosperous.

The Citizens State Bank stands ready to co-operate at all times with the man who wishes to grade up his herd with pure-breds.

If you have been in the habit of using the same oil in summer as in winter, better change the habit as well as the oil.

If it was a necessity, the motor vehicles registered today could carry every man, woman and child in the country at the same time.

Gas Tax Is Fair Tax.

At the next election the voters of Minnesota will pass judgment on a constitutional amendment to provide for a tax on gasoline used by motor vehicles, and to permit the use of the funds so raised by the state highway department. At the present time gasoline is taxed in this manner in thirty-six states. Five impose a cen a gallon; one places the figure at 2½ cents; six charge 3 cents, and the remainder are satisfied with 2 cents a gallon. Inasmuch as the money will be used for highway maintenance, the persons who get the greatest amount of use out of the roads cannot consistently object to the tax.—St. Peter Herald.

Ideals.

As you think, you travel; and as you love, you attract. You are today where your thought have brought you; you will be tomorrow where your thoughts take you. You can not escape the result of your thoughts, but you can endure and learn, can accept and be glad. You will realize the vision (not the idle wish) of your heart, be it base or beautiful, or a mixture of both, for you will always gravitate toward that which you secretly, must love. Into your hands will be placed the exact results of your thoughts; you will receive that which you earn; no more, no less. Whatever your present environments may be, you will fall, remain, or rise with your thoughts, your vision, your ideal. You will become as small as your controlling desire; as great as your dominant aspiration.—James Allen.

Why Many Farmer's Boys Make Good

"There is often a question in the minds of the public," says James A. Campbell, who was raised on an Ohio farm and is president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., (in Forbes Magazine) "as to why so many boys from the farm make good in business. As I look at it it is first of all because they have the foundation of rugged health without which the average man cannot meet the terrific strain which comes with heavy responsibilities. "The farmer's boy has been brought up in the open, he has lived on simple, nutritious food, has been obliged to depend on himself, and has no false notions of life, because he has studied it from its primitive side. He is simple in his tastes, direct in his action, honest in his intent, and a hard worker. All these traits are essential to the man who is building up a business. "His greatest handicaps are his lack of knowledge of finance and of the world at large. The early difficulties of many men who started from a farm might be traced to the fact that they minimized the need for sufficient funds and depended too much on their own efforts to pull them through. Without doubt, selfconfidence and individual ability were the foundations of their success, but they often passed through serious financial difficulties before it was attained."

Remington Game Loads Wetproof

NOTE—Remington Game Loads are loaded exclusively in "Nitro Club" Wetproof Shells. Wetproof means just what it says.

Why Dealers Here in Town are selling so many Remington Game Loads

IT doesn't take sportsmen long to get the ins and outs of anything new that's offered them.

When Remington announced the Remington Game Loads last year, not all the men who wanted to try them could do so. Because it was their first year and there weren't enough to go 'round.

But those who did shoot them told the others, and this season there is a demand for Remington Game Loads that has never been approached in the history of the loaded shell business.

* * *

Whether you are already a Game Load enthusiast or have yet to shoot your first box—you will be interested in the facts about powder we uncovered in our Bridgeport tests on loaded shells. These are given in the panel at the right.

To the practical minds of the Remington organization, these discoveries indicated that there was just one thing to be done—

Fix a safe working standard of velocity, pattern and penetration for each kind of small game.

Make this standard absolute. And load just the right amount of powder to give it—whether it takes an eighth dram more or an eighth dram less.

* * *

That is the theory and practice of game loads.

Uniform shooting results—instead of a hard and fast loading formula. Powder varies—Remington Game Loads do not.

Naturally, you won't find the weight of powder indicated on Remington Game Load boxes—because the weight is not fixed.

You do not find the name of the powder because Remington takes full responsibility for the shell complete—including the powder.

Go to your dealer's. Get one box of Remington Game Loads and shoot them. We'll leave the rest up to your judgment.

REMINGTON ARMS COMPANY, Inc.—New York City
Established 1816

These are the Facts disclosed by Remington's Ballistic Tests

A—A given weight of the same kind of powder doesn't always give the same velocity, pattern or penetration.

B—Powder varies batch by batch—even the same kind and make. One batch, for instance, gives a velocity of 925 feet per second. Another may fall as low as 840 feet per second.

C—This is nobody's fault. Powder comes that way.

D—The man who buys his shells by the weight and kind of powder—often misses a lot of game and never knows why.

DAMAGING WRECK ON GREAT NORTHERN AT CROOKSTON MONDAY

Seven Box Cars Loaded With Freight Derailed Near Depot. No One Injured.

Flying crushed rock and a broken draw bar caused the derailment of seven freight cars directly north of the Great Northern depot in Crookston early Monday morning. A telephone pole was demolished, a city block of track and five city blocks of ties were torn up and four box cars were thrown from their tracks. No one was injured.

The wreck was the most damaging to occur in this section of Minnesota in recent years. After No. 413, a Dakota division freight train on the Great Northern, had been hooked up, two engines pulled the long train out of the Northern division yards and made for the grade that begins at the G. N. depot. As they reached the foot of the grade more steam was put on and the freight gained momentum as it went up the hill. Then came a crash that awoke residents residing in flats in the downtown district. Seven cars in the middle of the train loaded with freight were piled up and the train was split. Luckily no one was on the cars derailed.

One box car tore up the main line of the Northern division, one crushed into a giant pole breaking it in two, two went skidding to the west while three others ruined the Dakota division main line tracks. A dragging drawbar tore up ties from the Red Lake river bridge to the place of the accident. Crushed rock that seeped through an end-gate caused the cars to skid off the track, it is believed.

A wrecking crew was immediately sent out and began to clear the tracks. Three crews of men were taken from their work and helped in putting the tracks back in order while hundreds of Crookstoners watched.

Passenger trains left Crookston from 30 to 60 minutes behind schedule Monday morning due to the wreck. Half of the freight train was hauled back to the yards while the front half of the train went on to its destination—Grand Forks.

This was the third wreck to occur between the overhead bridge and the Great Northern depot. The first which occurred many years ago was more damaging than this one, it was said by Great Northern officials.

Conductor Reed and Engineer Larson of Grand Forks, N. D., were in charge of the train.

Red Lake County Pioneer Dies Suddenly at Old Age

An account appeared in the Red Lake Falls Gazette regarding the death of Adelord Laurent, well known Red Lake county pioneer, which occurred Tuesday of last week:

"The community received a severe shock Tuesday at the announcement of the sudden death of Adelord Laurent who was fatally stricken with heart disease just after getting up from the breakfast table at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning. Mr. Laurent had been in poor health for some months but was always active and just on the day before his death he was threshing on the Fedime Gregoire farm. No doubt this strenuous exertion hastened his demise.

"Mr. Laurent was born at St. Justin, Quebec, March 13, 1857. When he was 21 years old he came to Red Lake county and settled in Lake Pleasant town where he resided for thirty years, coming to Red Lake Falls in 1908.

"He was first married to Miss Berzimia Perusse who died in 1909. Three children were born to them: Mrs. Robert Quesnell of Mentor, Mrs. George Guerin of Red Lake Falls, and a son, Dona, who died some years ago. On January 23, 1911, he married Mrs. Alexander Theroux of Duluth who survives him.

"Mr. Laurent leaves two brothers: Leon Laurent of Crookston and Joseph Laurent of Yakima, Wash., and three sisters: Mrs. Dolphis Champeau of Red Lake Falls, Mrs. Louis St. Yves of Terrebonne and Mrs. Andre Prudhomme of Crookston. The funeral services were held Thursday morning from St. Joseph's Catholic church with Rev. E. J. Lemire officiating. Interment was made in the family lot in the cemetery of St. Anthony's Catholic church at Terrebonne. Mr. Laurent was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America lodge.

THURSDAY FARMERS' DAY AT STATE FAIR

Dozens of County Tours to Visit Dairy Show and Hear Sapiro Same Day.

Thursday will be distinctly Farmers' Day at the Minnesota state fair. Local leaders in more than a score of counties in which auto tours are being organized, have selected this day for their visit, so as to be able to see the Northwest Dairy show, as well as hear Aaron Sapiro. Mr. Sapiro is to speak on the Farm Bureau day program in the Hippodrome to discuss co-operative marketing and the necessity for farm organizations.

But the Dairy Show and the Sapiro address will not be the only attractions for farmers on the grounds that day. After the Sapiro meeting, county farm bureau directors will hold their annual business session. One delegate from every county in the state is expected to attend. Directors of the state federation also have been called to meet on that date.

President J. F. Reed of the State Federation has issued a special invitation to every member of the Minnesota legislature to hear Mr. Sapiro speak. A large majority already have indicated their decision to be on hand.

The co-operative marketing booths, which are being prepared by the farmer-owned sales agencies in the state, co-operating with the state federation, promises to be one of the most important attractions, from the farmers' standpoint. These, located in the south wing of the Agricultural building, will contain charts and other material which will clearly explain the plans of all co-operative associations now forming or actually doing business in the state.

Thief River Falls Ball Player Gets Recognition

Baseball players of Thief River Falls are being heard of beyond this immediate vicinity. The Minneapolis Journal in last Monday's early edition carried an article concerning the splendid ability and record shown by Sidney Schutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Schutt of this city, who held down various positions in the local lineup during the past season. He also played a stellar game last year, despite his youth and inexperience. Schutt is said by many to be one of the best sluggers among baseballers in this section and deserves recognition for his excellent showing.

The article as it appeared on the sport page of the Journal, accompanied by a photograph of the youthful star, follows:

"Playing errorless ball all season, against some of the fastest teams in the state, Sidney Schutt, midget second baseman of the Thief River Falls team is expected by many to go far up the ladder of baseball fame. Several business men of Thief River Falls are planning to send the youthful star to some minor league team in the hope that he will land a berth with some organized nine.

"Schutt has been playing wonderful ball during the past season. His hitting average is well over the four hundred mark and he has yet to make an error out of the numerous chances he has taken. Schutt is a product of the sandlots of Thief River Falls where he got most of his baseball experience."

1,000 CLUB JUNIORS GOING TO STATE FAIR

Premiums Aggregating $22,000 To Be Distributed Among Young Homemakers.

Approximately 1,000 Minnesota club boys and girls will take part in the club program and activities arranged for the State Fair September 1 to 8. Juniors are coming from every county to participate in this wonderful educational enterprise.

Premium money and prizes so far listed for the juniors for the 1923 fair aggregate $22,000 exclusive of the expense budget, or $24,000 in all, as against $15,000 to $16,000 a year ago.

Detachments making up this gallant young company will consist of 186 boys who will live in the boy's camp under the supervision of R. C. Coffin, general secretary of the Minneapolis Y. M. C. A. 166 breadmakers, 105 girls in canning teams, 80 sewing club members, 100 dairy calf club members, 80 in general livestock judging, 80 in dairy livestock judging, 55 pig club members, 60 members of crop and livestock demonstration teams and 50 juniors who will be in charge of booths containing club exhibits.

Activities of club work in Minnesota, as carried on jointly by the agricultural extension service of the university, the farm bureau, the public schools and various other agencies, will center at the fair in the boys' and girls' club building, which was occupied last year for the first time, at the University Farm camp, where the juniors will live in dormitories under the supervision of Mrs. Margaret Baker, assistant club leader, at the farm boys' camp, at Barn D which will house the dairy calves and at the hog barn reserved for the pig club exhibits.

Several new features of a distinctive order have been added this year. Health work which has been carried on for two years will culminate in a health contest for club boys and girls and will be open to any club member at the fair. Examinations will be held through the week and prize money will be divided among those scoring the highest number of points.

Farm management clubs, organized in Kittson, Steele and Dodge counties for older club boys, will give demonstrations for the first time at a Minnesota state fair. The Steele county team will demonstrate farm accounts. Kittson county's trio will demonstrate costs and profit in handling sheep. Dodge county's particular stunt has not yet been announced.

Entries are already coming in, says the state leader, for a potato exhibit which will be new this year. Substantial prize money has been provided and every exhibitor will get a pro rata share.

Thirty-three counties will send teams of girls to demonstrate sewing work. Each team will bring an exhibit and give a demonstration. Some of the garments made by the girl juniors will be used in the style show in the women's building. Never before has the sewing club work been featured on such a large scale as arranged for this year.

Dairy calf club work has been doubled this year, says Mr. Erickson, and 100 calves will be shown at Barn D. Demonstrations and special contests in exhibiting stock will be put on daily. About 50 counties will send dairy calves and a real contest is assured. More prizes and more expense money are available this year than ever before.

Interest in the various contests is likely to rise to fever heat before the week is over. Some 80 educational trips, 70 of them to Chicago and New York and 10 to Sioux City, are at stake. In Chicago the Minnesota winners will be honored and feted guests of the managers of the National Boys' and Girls' Exposition and the great International Livestock Show. In New York state they will attend the National Dairy show at Syracuse. At Sioux City they will be the guests of the Inter-state fair.

Post Office to Make Count of Mail Handled

During the month of October an exact count of all mail matter passing thru the local post office will be made, with a view of ascertaining the cost of handling each class of mail and if possible, of readjusting postal rates to a basis more based on the actual cost of handling.

Accident As Result of Stepping Off Moving Car

Archie Dupont of Red Lake Falls received injuries about the head Monday of last week, which could easily have proven fatal. Mr. Dupont was riding with Regis Gagnon when his hat blew from his head. Mr. Gagnon applied the brakes of the car to stop, but before the car had come to a standstill, Mr. Dupont had jumped from the running board backwards and was thrown to the ground with great force. The accident happened near the Ed St. Ives farm.

He received injuries about the head which caused concussion of the brain and he remained unconscious for about 36 hours. Several deep gashes on the head required several stitches, but he is now reported to be improving.

FARMER-BANKER CONFERENCES THROUGHOUT NATION DEVELOP WAYS TO AID AGRICULTURE

Collective Marketing, Diversified Farming, Promotion of Agricultural Education and Use of Bank Instead of Mercantile Credits Chief Lines of Suggested Action.

By D. H. OTIS,

Director, Agricultural Commission, American Bankers Association.

D. H. Otis

Four lines of action to improve the business of farming stand out in the discussions that have occurred at a series of farmer-banker conferences now being held throughout the United States. They are, collective marketing, diversified farming, the promotion of agricultural education and the use of the more economical bank credit rather than mercantile credit. At many points active steps to foster action along these lines have been taken.

The conferences were initiated by the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association to the end that the condition of the man on the farm be improved. The first conference was held in conjunction with the Wisconsin College of Agriculture at Madison. An important point of contact for the work of the Commission was established at this meeting in the form of co-operation with the agricultural colleges.

In five other states—California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Utah—it was agreed at subsequent conferences that bankers' agricultural committees would meet at the state agricultural colleges and, in co-operation with the college officials, work out a program that they would recommend to the banks

The Texas Plan

It was at the Texas conference that it was developed that the officials of both the bankers' association and of the state college felt the big problem for that state was the establishment of a system of collective, orderly marketing. In order to bring this problem effectively before the farmers and the bankers it was agreed to hold a banker farmer meeting in December. Efforts will be made to get from 200 to 250 bankers to attend, each banker to bring with him several representative farmers of his community. The program and demonstration will emphasize the need of meeting the marketing problem and point ways to a satisfactory solution.

At Athens, Georgia, the conference recommended that the State Bankers Association take steps to raise a fund for assisting deserving students to complete a college course in agriculture or home economics. This conference, recognizing the valuable work being done by county agricultural and home demonstration agents, also went on record as favoring the employment of agents in each county.

At the Raleigh, North Carolina, conference the pressing problem, in addition to loans for worthy students, was held to be encouragement of the farmer to practice greater crop diversification. The conferees felt that the first big step was to get farmers at least to produce sufficient vegetables, fruit, milk, meat and poultry to live on. Many farmers, it was brought out, now depend entirely on the cotton crop, and buy the products named for their own tables.

More Economical Credit

At the conference at Ithaca, N. Y., those participating felt that a better understanding between farmers and bankers would be beneficial to both. At present a large amount of the credit used by farmers is in the form of mercantile credit, which, it was pointed out, is much more expensive for them than bank credit. It was felt that a campaign of education is needed to acquaint farmers with banking facilities. The conference, therefore, recommended that the Agricultural Committee of the State Bankers Association, the agricultural college and representatives of the Farm Bureau and the State Grange get together for the purpose of working out programs and plans for further meetings to be held in the various counties of the state.

At a conference held at Amherst, Massachusetts, there were representatives from Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. Emphasis was placed on the importance of the Boys' and Girls' Club work. The New England conference also felt that the importance of bank credit over mercantile credit should be stressed. A resolution was adopted and is being sent to agricultural committees in each State urging that they get in touch with their agricultural colleges and map out a program for educating the farmer in regard to the importance and the economy of bank credit over mercantile credit.

The emphasis on this resolution came not so much from the bankers present as it did from the representatives of the agricultural colleges and the farmers.

AMERICA'S NEW PLACE

Many Americans fancy that, because labor is well employed and our industries have been reporting substantial earnings and improvement over the depression period, normalcy has been restored. The truth is, what we must consider normal in the future will be an entirely different thing from what was considered normal prior to the war. One reason is, our new place in the world as the leading creditor nation. That change is a permanent one. We are not going to return to the old position of debtor nation. Bankers in the agricultural communities have come to the conclusion that we cannot afford to maintain an attitude of isolation and their opinion is not a personal one. The men I have talked with are voicing the ideas of the people with whom they have daily business contact.

A great many politico-economists have warned against America's entrance into the European situation, asserting that our foreign trade makes up less than 20 per cent of our production, and therefore is too small an item to be vital or to risk our investment in. They forget, and most people who have listened to them forget, that the unimportant 20 per cent is the difference between full employment of our industries and labor and much unemployment and business depression. If a manufacturing enterprise is running at 90 per cent of capacity, it may be making a fairly good showing of earnings, but it is not running at normal and is not earning the margin which it should earn in order to be fully prosperous. It appears obvious that we shall have to build up foreign investments in this country. But it will be necessary to go slowly in the matter of foreign investments. There must be assurance that whatever we loan will be used for productive purposes.—William E. Knox, Second Vice-President, American Bankers Association.

FACTS ABOUT CHECKS

A bank check is a written order on a bank by one of its depositors to pay a specified sum to another party. This instrument must be dated, the amount written in full in the body, and signed the same as the depositor's signature appears on the bank signature card and ledger sheet.

A check is payable on demand, provided it is not dated ahead. If dated ahead it becomes a promise to pay, the same as a note or acceptance, payable on some future date. United States revenue stamps are required on a check dated ahead, at the rate of 2 cents per hundred dollars, or fraction thereof.

In case a check carries two different figures, that is $2.00 in the figures and "Two Hundred Dollars" in the written part of the body of the check, the latter, or part in writing, always controls.

A check made out to a person "or order," requires identification, and the party presenting the same must assure the bank that he is the payee. A check to a person "or bearer" is payable to the one presenting it at the bank, but a certain amount of identification is necessary, for the bank reserves the right to know that he is entitled to receive the funds.

BANKS HELP CLUB WORK

Yakima County Banks in the State of Washington have loaned $8,670 to boy and girl club members. Yakima County has twenty-nine pig club members, twenty-four poultry club members and forty-three dairy club members. Dairy club members are all using pure-bred stock, local breeders and bankers co-operating with them to the fullest extent.

MAKING CAPITALISTS OUT OF WORKMEN

Festus J. Wade Says Anarchy Disappears With the Development of Thrift.

When the savings pass-book comes into a man's life to stay the red flag goes out. What the country needs is to bring about a condition whereby the man who works with his hands shall take the same interest in his affairs as the capitalist does in his. Probably the best way to do this would be to turn the workman into a capitalist. And this is exactly what he becomes when he saves his money and builds up a reserve fund. He remains a capitalist as long as he holds on to that money. The satisfaction of seeing his money reserve mount up will discourage the waster to take a layoff now and then. It will encourage him to work a full six-day week and thereby increase the labor hours applied to production.

The American people can solve any problem they set themselves to. We provided for a sound currency when the greenbackers and inflationists were routed and the gold basis established. The Federal Reserve Bank was established and solved a problem for which most people thought there was no solution. A number of years ago, when there was a crisis or when a bank failed, we all used to shut up our vaults tight and let nothing get out. Instead of bettering conditions we made them worse. Now if failures occur few people, except those directly interested, are disturbed.

Perhaps the most important problem of all right now is to do away with labor waste. It never can be done by preaching, by agitation or by force. It can be done by selling the workman on the idea of becoming a capitalist. This can be brought about by the right kind of bank advertising. Who is there to say that an advertising dollar bringing about this result would not be a constructive dollar?—Festus J. Wade.
